CSU CALLS STRIKE

Painters and carpenters go out on strike this morning at all major studios. Members of Conference of Studio Unions meeting last night at Hollywood Legion Stadium, cheered news that "economic action" was to be taken to bring the majors into line on contract demands.

Militant picket lines will be swung around Metro and Warners in an effort to close completely both lots. Other studios, laboratories, Technicolor also will be picketed but with nominal lines, according to word given by Herbert Sorrell at last night's meeting.

Disney Studio will be given one day of grace to act on conference demands, it was stated by Sorrell. Company members of Independent Motion Picture Producers Association, including Monogram and PRC, will not be picketed as an interim contract has already been signed with Conference locals.

Supporting painters - carpenters' picket lines will be all other CSU locals, it was believed last night. These include electricians, set designers, story analysts, Screen Publicists Guild, cartoonists, janitors, policemen, firemen and sheetmetal workers. Police will report for work as usual to help maintain order.

AGREEMENT FAILS

Sorrell outlined negotiations meeting with producers Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The first two failed, he said, to come within reason, but for awhile the outlook was hopeful in yesterday's session. Producers finally agreed to meet wage scales and guaranteed work weeks set up in the IMPPA deal but, Sorrell reclared, after attorneys had finished putting it all down on paper, it was not the same deal at all.

Conference prexy charged majors wound up with offer that gave no promise when a contract would actually be inked or what working conditions would be under it. He alleged that other side would claim strike is purely a jurisdictional matter, but said the issue is clear. "We want an immediate contract. We are not going to wait. Tomorrow we are going to hit the bricks. And we'll never go back without a contract."

PRODUCERS ANSWER

Producers' spokesmen said:

"No one who understands the situation can be deceived by any claims that the carpenters and painters are striking because of a refusal to grant

OPA DEATH SEEN BO BLOW

All branches of the amusement industry looked for a decline yesterday as an immediate result of the lifting of OPA controls.

Motion picture industry figures believed that people, with costs of living rising on all commodities and services, will have to retrench on the money spent for amusements and other "luxuries." They indicated that a quick decline in box office figures is anticipated although it was pointed out that during the depression in the 1930s film-going was one of the last so-called luxuries to be eliminated by most people. Night clubs, music publishers, recording companies, legit theatres, dance halls and other branches of show business also look for a slump in revenue if all price controls are unhinged.

Luraschi Set To Return to U.S.

Luigi Luraschi, Paramount studio foreign department chief, will head back to this country July 25, after a three month trip through Europe. Luraschi arrived in Berlin over the weekend. He will tour American zone, ending in Munich July 5, then go through the French zone, arriving finally in Zurich.

BLUMBERG IN WORLD VIEW

New York, June 30.—"American exhibitors already are realizing that one world has arrived in the motion picture business," N. J. Blumberg, prexy of Universal Pictures, declared at the closing session of the Universal national sales convention.

Stating that "we are on the eve of a new world business," Blumberg added:

"The extent of our participation in the new world market depends upon close cooperation with British production."

He said that it is because of the realization by American exhibitors that this is a one-world business that "the six J. Arthur Rank pictures we are releasing are being received so favorably. One of them, 'The Seventh Veil,' is a box office champion and already has passed the million dollar mark."

Further Hearing in Tele Case Ordered

Washington, June 30.—FCC on Friday ordered a further hearing on Los Angeles television applications July 24 in Los Angeles. Howard Hughes and Tommy Lee, owner of the Don Lee network, who were unable to take the stand at two earlier sessions of the LA video hearings will testify.

Metro Wins Round One In Pix Credit War With NBC

Metro won the first round of its fight with NBC over picture credits and on yesterday's Frank Morgan broadcast a film was mentioned in which the comedian does not appear. Clarence Menser, NBC veepee in charge of programming, last week issued an order, effective immediately, that no extraneous credits would be permitted on programs on which film stars appear. At the close of yesterday's Pall Mall broadcast, the following credit line was read:

"Frank Morgan appears through the courtesy of Metro Goldwyn Mayer, producers of "Easy to Wed." Morgan is not in the picture. Understood that

SHOW BIZ IN APRIL SMASH

Washington, June 30. — April was one of the smash show biz months of all time, on the basis of admissions tax reports just made public by the Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Total tax take for the month hit $39,499,268, which was more than $3,000,000 better than the boff figure for the previous month and roughly $7,500,000 above May, 1945. Almost 90 per cent of the 20 per cent bite is estimated to come from pix.

L.A. SYMPH INKS MUSICIANS DEAL

The Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra over weekend penned a new pact with Musicians' Local 47, giving the Symph musikers the same level as recently was obtained for the windjammers working for the Hollywood Bowl Association. Agreement is for eight services weekly, with raise in salary from last year's $70 to $85 per week. Season covered by contract is of 20 weeks' duration, with options for five additional stanzas. Also inserted in contract is stipulation that there will be no reduction in number of musicians used.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

PINE-THOMAS have Ernesto A. Romero, vice-consul for Mexico in Los Angeles, for technical advisor on "Jungle Flight," so they won't run afoul of any Latin-American countries in unconsciously including in action and dialog anything to offend indviduals or nations south of Rio Grande to Cape Horn. Romero was granted leave of absence by his government to undertake task, which already has paid off in number of instances, particularly in case of certain passages of dialog which seemed okay to script writers and in good taste but would have been offensive to both Brazil and Argentina, even though majority of spectators in those countries do not understand English. Technical advisor is in constant conference with producers Pine and Thomas, and director Peter Stewart, as each scene is acted out, so there will be absolutely no kickback later.

TYRONE Power is reported to lead American screen stars in popularity in France, according to Jacques Surmagne, who conducts a weekly broadcast beamed to French public for U.S. State Department. Surmagne, whose government-sponsored program from Hollywood is designed to improve Franco-American relations, asserts that he receives more inquiries from France asking about Power than any other star on American screen. Runnersup include James Cagney, Annabella (Power's wife), Shirley Temple, Greta Garbo and Wallace Beery. Understood that no Powers films have been shown in France since Nazis swept over nation, which makes his continued popularity all the more remarkable.

CONCERTED efforts are being made during 20th-Fox's current Sales Managesrs Drive to plug sale of short subjects product and effect upped price levels. Tom J. Connors, veepee in charge of distribution, is offering special bonuses to salesmen and territorial heads who make new deals for shorts. Paul Terry, too, of Terrytoons, has announced he will award substantial cash bonuses for over-quota delivery of his cartoons. Short subject business has remained practically unchanged for past several seasons, in regard to prices, and company feels that now is time to push prices upward. Paramount some weeks ago made announcement that it would up its levels on shorts.

JOAN Caulfield and Diana Lynn will be featured in two large manufacturer promotions finalized over the weekend by Paramount. Mishawaka Rubber Co. of Indiana will launch campaign in November featuring Miss Caulfield in "Blue Skies." Deal calls for full-page color ads in 20 national mags. A similar mag campaign on Miss Lynn will start in the spring. The other promotion is a tieup with the Bluebird Cedar Chest covering more than two score national mags and other publications.

THE resemblance of actor Roman Bohnen to President Truman, whom he portrays in Metro's "The Beginning or the End," is striking, and with a minimum of effort from Jack Dawn, studio's make-up chief. His features, height and weight are almost identical with those of the President. However, in keeping with a standing White House rule concerning living Presidents, his full face will not be seen on the screen. Director Norman Taurog is shooting his Truman sequence to show a three-quarter view of Bohnen.

"THE Chase" may be the first motion picture to take advertising space in Army publications, such as Army Times, and vet organization journals. Producer Seymour Nebenzal feels that Yolande Lacca, who plays a featured role in the film, still has a strong following among present and former servicemen as result of Italian barmaid role in "G.I. Joe." Actress still gets heavy fan mail from soldiers, and Nebenzal believes a strong advertising format in journals devoted to servicemen-following will pay off.

AFTER 18 years producing Traveltalks for Metro, James A. FitzPatrick is finally starring in his own production. In his latest short subject, "Around the World in California," script called for "a typical California sight-seer." After much consultation, it was decided that FitzPatrick, himself, filled the bill perfectly. Although he has appeared briefly in a few of his Technicolor subjects, this marks the first time the producer has appeared before the cameras in a starring chore.

WAY around current Hollywood studio space shortage has been found by Comet producers, Buddy Rogers and Ralph Cohn. They have ordered art director George Van Marter to build set designs so that "Adventures of Don Coyote" can be filmed entirely outdoors or on location. The Cinecolor feature calls mainly for outdoor shooting but the five sets needed for interiors will be built wherever location site is chosen.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

Bored about the atomic bomb? Tired of hearing and reading about the Bikini experiment? After World War I, too, lots of people wanted to forget all about war. That was one of the reasons we had World War 2. That bomb is the key to our future. We are going to be able to arrive at solutions on Trieste, the Danube, Iceland, the Pacific bases, and so forth, only when we decide how to stop the making of these and other terrifying weapons for good. Right now the atomic bomb is a rare spectacle; whether it becomes an immediate threat tomorrow depends upon how many of us now are bored or alerted.

Privacy in any public amusement always makes you wonder what is cooking behind the closed gates. It recalls the time when Gorgeous Georges Carpentier was ostensibly training for his ostensible battle with Jack Dempsey. Gorgeous Georges was surrounded by barbed wire entanglements, which precluded all and sundry sports reporters who might have reported that Gorgeous Georges was pulling a fast one on a trusting American public, playing the French equivalent of gin rummy when he was supposed to be sweating with his sparring partners. When Gorgeous Georges climbed into the ring he had nothing but a smile and a Sunday punch, which everybody knew beforehand, including Dempsey, who took Gorgeous Georges' Sunday punch and proceeded to slap Georges' ears down without further ado. There is no reason for privacy in boxing, football or any other form of show business. After all these years Bill Shakespeare is showing the boys how to make a motion picture.

METRO IN RECORD GUNS 20 TECHNI CARTOONS

Metro has reached an all-time high in Technicolor cartoon production, with 20 currently before the cameras. Development reflects a marked increase over restricted wartime production. Record slate is maximum number of cartoon shorts studio cartoon department could handle at one time.

Included in the 20 currently going are six of the "Tom and Jerry" series, co-directed by Joseph Barbera and William Hanna; a "Barney Bear" cartoon, directed by Preston Blair; and one short "Uncle Tom's Cabana," featuring Red Hot Riding Hood, which Tex Avery directs.

Exhib Aid Book On 20th Anni Out

Exhib aid for international celebration of Warners 20th Anniversary of talkies goes out this week in form of a 24-page press-book, assembled by Mort Blumenstock's office. Press tipsheet features two tieups on scale never before entered into by RCA Victor and A. T. & T. Victor, among other things, goes all the way on "Night and Day," the anni picture, and is giving a free trip to Hollywood to the best promotions job by a dealer.

KWKW to Carry Nat'l Tennis Match

Indie KWKW will carry national tennis contest via special network from Forest Hills, L.I., NY, on Sept. 7 and 8. Program will be aired between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. on two days, and is sponsored by Spalding. Arrangements are being completed now to pipe games through specially set up group of indie stations across country.

RKO TO HYPO 16M PRODUCT

New York, June 30.—RKO announced plans for expanding in 16m field both domestically and foreign over weekend. Ned Depinet confirmed that on completion of existing distribution pacts, RKO will itself release all 16m versions of its product in the U.S. No change will be made in company policy as to types of locations it will service, and RKO will not permit 16m distribution to conflict with regularly established theatres.

It was also revealed that preliminary plans have been formulated for 16m in world market. While not stating RKO would use 16m versions on all features, Phil Reisman, foreign sales chief, said company would make narrow-gauge versions at first of action and eye-appeal films. Foreign chief urged regular 35m exhibitors to employ 16m prints in outlying and currently unserviced areas of the foreign field. First picture for company with dubbed Spanish narration to go out in 16m will be "Tarzan and Leopard Woman." Robert Maroney is in charge of RKO's foreign 16m division. Reisman is expected to enlarge on foreign 16m plans at company convention opening here tomorrow.

Toppers Converge On RKO Sales Meet At Waldorf

New York, June 30.—Approximately 400 delegates, representing the United States, Canada and several foreign countries, will converge on the RKO Fifteenth Annual Sales Convention, opening tomorrow at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Besides home office execs, district managers, branch managers, salesmen and field exploiteers from the 38 branches in this country and Canada, the three-day conclave will be attended by reps from company's foreign department, RKO theatres, RKO studio, and from indies releasing through the company: Walt Disney, Samuel Goldwyn, Liberty Films, International, Sol Lesser and Pathe.

Convention tees off with the screening of "Sister Kenny," with Ned Depinet slated to open the initial business session. Speakers at the first meeting include N. Peter Rathvon, Major L. E. Thompson, Robert Mochrie, Walter Branson and Nat Levy. Sales chief Mochrie will preside at all sales sessions.

Chores Galore

They have Jacks- and Jills-of-all-trades on "The Secret Heart" set at Metro. Before the final fade-out, Claudette Colbert paints a house, sings, uses a dictaphone, types and dances the Big Apple. Walter Pidgeon's acting chores include playing billiards and jitterbugging. June Allyson pilots a plane, plays the piano and does some fancy horticulture. Director Robert Z. Leonard also has Robert Sterling darning socks.

Harcraft Sponsors Jimmy Roosevelt

Harcraft Household Appliance Stores has been set as sponsor for Jimmy Roosevelt's news analyst bow over KLAC tonight at 6:45. Live broadcast will be transcribed and re-aired over KXLA temporarily at 9 pm. nightly as sustainer. Couple of deals are in works to put Roosevelt broadcasts on networks. One national sponsor is said to be angling for t.c. net, and another deal for Pacific regional networking of Roosevelt is on the fire. Possible that one or the other will be consummated by August 1.

AGVA Pays Off $70,587 Debt

New York, June 30.—American Guild of Variety Artists has wiped out its indebtedness of $70,587, which outfit borrowed from other unions grouped within the Associated Actors & Artistes of America. AGVA received the loan to get its organizational start in 1939, and payoff was made here last Friday at an AAAA meeting, with Screen Actors' Guild getting a return of its $40,212.50, Actors Equity, $18,874.56; Chorus Equity, $11,500.

ARMY TAKES PIX PROGRAM

Washington, June 30. — Entire control of films, theatre and music reorientation programs in the U.S. Occupied Areas abroad will be shifted from State Dept.'s Office of International Information and Cultural Affairs to the War Dept. starting tomorrow. Maj. Gen. Oliver Echols, chief of Army's Civil Affairs Division, announced over weekend he will assume full responsibility for the information program and will push use of film and other media to "encourage the development of democratic ideas" in former enemy countries.

In radio, the State Dept.'s OIC will retain world-wide responsibility, but will maintain policy liaison with the War Dept. Echols says his Civil Affairs Division's primary job will be to furnish documentary films for exhibition in Germany and Japan.

Pare Lorentz, Echols states, is being sought to top the films and theatres section, with budget in excess of $1,000,000 tabbed for the documentaries. The Army also is on the prowl for office space to house pic production in the Signal Corps' photographic center, Long Island, N.Y.

The films and theatres section will maintain "working relationship" with Signal Corps and motion picture industry in its production or procurement of flms. Echols' reorientation personnel will confine activities to buying or making mere "pilot" English language films, with foreign language version to be worked out and prepared according to needs in each of fou roccupied areas—Germany, Japan, Korea, Austria. The industry will be asked to recommend group of features and shorts suitable for program.

PREEM OF 'THE KID FROM BROOKLYN' IS SET FOR SKIES

National interest is being focused on the airborne preem tonight of "The Kid From Brooklyn," when Samuel Goldwyn screens the Danny Kaye starrer aboard a Douglas Skymaster enroute from Los Angeles to San Francisco. Film industry and air transport toppers are standing by to explore the prospects of immediate installation of projection equipment on all planes.

Tonight's junket is jointly sponsored by Goldwyn and Western Airlines. Special projection and sound equipment has been installed in the Skymaster by the Screen Adette Equipment Corp. and RCA. A special non-inflammable narrow-gauge print of the film was made in Kodachrome, over the weekend, by Consolidated Film Laboratories. The airborne preview party will consist of 20 press reps and 20 stars. Latter group includes William Bendix, Vic Mature, Laraine Day, Susan Hayward, Evelyn Ankers, Lionel Stander, Hillary Brooke, Bonita Granville, Cleatus Caldwell, Pat O'Brien and New York's Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Substitute Burlap For Wood Wall Bases

New process for using burlap instead of wood as wall bases for plaster has been worked out by Enterprise mill foreman Al Hall, plaster chief Gordon Lockerby, and paint head Buddy Petzoldt in face of critical wood shortages in set construction for "Arch of Triumph." The three technicians have developed a formula, by means of which burlap can be sized to five times normal strength by coating it with mixture of glue and filler.

3 Ink With MPA

Trio of new film companies have inked non-member title registration agreements with the Motion Picture Association. They are: Diana Productions, releasing through Universal; Alson Productions, Inc., and Sol M. Wurtzel Productions, Inc., latter two releasing through 20th-Fox.

RKO STOCK HEARING SET

New York, June 30.—Deal whereby underwriters group, headed by Lehman Bros., would buy 650,000 shares of RKO common stock from Atlas Corporation, will be examined by the Securities and Exchange Commission at a hearing set for July 8. Order for the hearing was issued over the weekend.

As is customary, RKO registered proposed stock purchase with the SEC about two weeks ago. Atlas Corp. had revealed its announced purpose of disposing of the stock several months ago, actual planned buyers of stock being set after negotiations with Wall Street.

20TH GOES BRITISH IN BACKGROUNDS FOR NEW PIX

Twentieth-Fox is going all-out for British backgrounds in its product, either with plots unfolding entirely in England or part of action taking place there.

"Cluny Brown," soon to be released, is comedy picturing middle-class heroine, and "Forever Amber," which resumes early in September, reverts back into historical England for its period. "House on Berkeley Square" is another which looks backward.

Rex Harrison during past week has been announced for pair, "Brittania Mews" and "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," both of which carry British locales, former in London and latter on English coast. William Eythe already is in England to star in "Meet Me At Dawn," which Marcel Helman will producer-direct for company in 20th-Fox British studios.

"The Home Stretch," which goes before Technicolor cameras on Friday, is laid partially in modern-day England, with Coronation tossed in, and "13 Rue Madeleine" skips from London to Paris and back again for its story backdrop. "The Black Rose," which Louis Lighton will produce in Fall, opens in England. "Bob, Son of Battle," unfolds in country north of England, in Scotland.

Ciro Reopening Set With Sues Ork

Ciro's reopens Wednesday night with Leonard Sues and his orchestra of 16 on the bandstand. Tony and Sally DeMarco are stars of the floorshow. Nitery has been thoroughly re-decorated during its 30-day shutdown.

COL SKEDS 10 IN JULY HIGH GEAR

Columbia production hits high gear during July, with ten films slated to be before the cameras. Scheduled to start this month are: "My Empty Heart," Rosalind Russell-Melvyn -Douglas co-starrer; "Johnny O'Clock," starring Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes; "Mr. District Attorney," with Dennis O'Keefe, Marguerite Chapman and Adolph Menjou; "Ghost Town," Judy Canova starrer; "Lone Star Moonlight," Ken Curtis starrer; "Secret of The Whistler," starring Richard Dix; and a serial, "Son of The Guardsman." Three pictures already started are: "The Return of Monte Cristo," "Dead Reckoning," and "Down To Earth."

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: On the weekend that saw the fourth atomic bomb dropped and OPA controls lifted, it might be well to turn our thoughts to helping someone else. There are several organizations devoted to finding jobs for wounded ex-servicemen. One of them, the Veterans' Service Committee of the National Jewish Welfare Board, writes Varitey that it is endeavoring to aid Joe Kantor, a masseur who "has worked on many celebrities who have nothing but praise for his work." He is almost totally blind, which does not handicap his work, but must confine himself to giving massages in homes. Louis Breslow, sectional representative of the board, asks that any interested in helping Kantor call MUtual 3681 . . . In the same vein, the American Guild of Variety Artists' local office is looking for two ex-servicemen, with some background in show business, to work as field reps . . . Martha Vickers has been working in films for two years but won't be seen on the screen until fall when "The Big Sleep" is released by Warners. She has played leads in four unreleased pictures . . . Jack Carson's home is undergoing interior and exterior decoration . . . Bing Crosby hosted a birthday surprise party for Billy Wilder at Jasper Park Lodge over the weekend . . . Jane Withers will toss a Fourth of July barbecue for all her friends mustered out of service . . . Gabriel Figueroa, Mexico's top cinematographer, is being shown the town by Margo and Eddie Albert . . . Keenan Wynn will play the John Barrymore role in the Laguna Playhouse presentation, "Twentieth Century."

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: "Humoresque" is getting a wow reaction from sneak preview audiences. One of the highlights is the line read by Oscar Levant: "When a woman loves a man, he can make her do anything she wants to do" . . . Leif Erickson is back in town after his Navy service and is preparing to settle down with his bride, whom he married in Florida Christmas Day. He's negotiating for the Al Finkle house in Bel Air . . . Robert Walker and Dorothy Patrick are continuing off-screen their on-screen romance in "Till the Clouds Roll By" . . . Dore Schary, producing "The Bachelor and the Bobby Soxer," almost lost his leading man yesterday. Cary Grant showed up for wardrobe fittings, including a suit of armor. The coat and mail clung to Grant like an iron zoot suit, and they couldn't pry it off until a tinsmith was called and cut him out with a can-opener. Grant says he is going to insist on a new suit of armor equipped with a zipper . . . Dick Powell and John Hodiak, who haven't done themselves any harm playing private eyes on the screen, are reading Oscar Jerome's "The Corpse Awaits," as a possible film vehicle . . . Arturo de Cordova can go back to the newspaper business any time he wants. James I. Miller, South American manager for the United Press, tossed a party at Mocambo at which the actor was a guest, and disclosed that the story of de Cordova's being an ex-reporter is no press agent mallarkey. De Cordova worked for him in Buenos Aires as a reporter and in Santiago as bureau manager, and Miller says he can come back to U.P. any time.

CALL SHEET: HARRY REVEL wires that Washington bigwigs and NY's Mayor O'Dwyer are enthusiastic over his Vetville project and promise their support . . . DALE EVANS is flashing a diamond ring on her third finger, left hand, but won't say who is on the other end of the engagement . . . BILL MARSHALL, husband of Michele Morgan, has found a way to insure safe delivery of medicines to his wife's family in France. Enclosed in a package of food and medicine was Marshall's note asking "anyone who might steal the food" to deliver the badly-needed medicine. His father found the package on his doorstep, minus the food but containing the medicine . . . COKE MILLER was a busy bee at the beach yesterday. Took 11 7-year-old friends of his stepdaughter, Nancy Baker, to the wind and the waves, and he can't swim a stroke . . . BOB TUTON is sure that insects had radar long before the various war departments. Otherwise, he reasons, how could they locate picnics with such deadly accuracy? . . . SHIRLEY ROSS may reject those two eastern vaudeville offers in favor of a South American vacation with her husband, Ken Dolan . . . PATRICIA MORISON'S opening at the Manor Club in San Diego drew a flock of Hollywood admirers, including Natalie Schafer and the John Laurenzes . . . SEYMOUR NEBENZAL held reunion with Peter Lorre, signed for a top role in his production "The Chase." Nebenzal produced "M," the German film which made Lorre famous.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: If ever there was ever a crumby idea, it was putting Rita Hayworth's picture on the atomic bomb dropped at Bikini by the time you read this. Presumably no blame attaches to the studio, or to the actress, but how frivilous can you get? . . . Employment note: Oren Nance, now known as the Orson Welles of Long Beach and promoting a sports show, was approached by an Indian who offered to run from Riverside to Long Beach for three dollars cash as a promotion stunt . . . Irene, Metro's executive designer, will leave in September for a fashion looksee in Great Britain and Europe . . . OFF THE LOTS: Bert Gordon and Kay Gearhart, George White and a party including Monte Proser, the Lloyd Nolans, at the House of Murphy. Tony Martin and Ida Lupino making the rounds. Joan Crawford dining at Romanoff's with her business agent, Bo Ross. Bette Davis will throw a Fourth of July party at her home in Laguna Beach . . . Teriffic business being registered over the country by "Easy to Wed" is making Eddie Buzzell's stock rise at Metro . . . It was one extreme to the other for Mona Freeman in one day's shooting in "That Brennan Girl" at Republic—jail scene in the morning and church scene in the afternoon . . . There's no end to what a Warners flack will do to promote the 20th Anniversary of Sound. Marty Weiser hunted up Joanee Wayne (a 20th-Fox contract player) to take out this weekend because it's her 20th birthday. —D.D.T.

REP TO GUN 8 IN JULY FOR RECORD IN PRODUCTION

Republic production reaches a new high for July, studio announced over the weekend, with eight pictures to go before the cameras, two starting pre-production shooting and four finishing.

Slated to start during the month are "Rio Grande Raiders," final Western in the Sunset Carson series for 1945-46, starting July 5 with Bennett Cohen producing and Thomas Carr directing; "The Magnificent Rogue," Al Santell director and William O'Sullivan producing, starting July 6; Allan Dwan's "Calendar Girl," July 8; Roy Rogers Special, "Heldorado," July 10; "Homesteaders of Paradise Valley," Red Ryder Western, July 13; "Trail to San Antone," Gene Autry starrer, July 23; "That's My Gal," Trucolor, July 25; Don Brown's "Spoilers of the North," July 26.

Starting pre-production shooting during July will be Frank Borzage's "Gallant Man," with camera crew photographing race sequences at Hollywood Park, and Edmund Grainger's "The Fabulous Texan." Finishing this month are "Angel and the Outlaw," "That Brennan Girl," "Home in Oklahoma" and "Son of Zorro."

NAB Works On Broadcasting Biog

Washington, June 30.—National Association of Broadcasters has set up an advisory committee to work with Jerrold T. Brandt in the production of "Magic in the Air" film to be based on the history of broadcasting. Members of the committee include William B. Ryan, KFI; Donald W. Thornburgh, CBS; Lewis Allen Weiss, KHJ; Sidney Strotz, NBC; Don Searle, ABC, and Calvin J. Smith, KFAC.

Hyde Joins Sperling

Donald Hyde checks into new post today as executive assistant to Milton Sperling, veepee of United Pictures. He formerly was head of the William Morris agency literary department. Hyde will leave shortly for New York to set up a talent department there for the indie outfit, which releases through Warner Bros.

'Sue' Beats Sked

"Sioux City Sue," Republic's Gene Autry starrer, was wound up over the weekend three days ahead of schedule by Director Frank McDonald.

REPORT RKO, COL JOINT LOT PLAN

RKO and Columbia, it was reported over the weekend, were studying proposition of acquiring a joint studio site of 625 acres, located at Santa Barbara Ave. and Crenshaw Blvd. Acreage is part of the E. J. "Lucky" Baldwin Estate. The real estate project, if concluded, would represent a reported investment of $3,500,000. Plan, assertedly under discussion, would have the two studios sharing a joint "back lot" with separate office buildings to house the individual companies. Confirmation on the projected deal could not be obtained late last night from either one of the two studios.

AGVA HIKES USO LINEGIRL SCALE TO $65 WEEK NET

American Guild of Variety Artists, commencing today, has raised scale for chorines working USO Camp Shows, either domestically or abroad, from former top level of $50 weekly to $65 net—which means that henceforth they will receive salary coin as a cushion over and above expenses incurred. Move was made to stimulate more interest among hoofers in entertaining servicemen. Of late it has been difficult to induce line girls to join the troupes, especially those pointed over-the-blue.

Figure given chorines for USO tops any classification now current in the U.S. in straight commercial spots save those in the "de luxe" category; in these they get $75 gross, and none are located hereabouts. Tallest take for line girls here is "Class A" sites such as Earl Carroll's and Florentine Gardens, where maximum is $50. AGVA felt it could hike the pay for USO in view of the money the organization has backlogged to continue feeding entertainment to GI garrisons, Marine and Naval installations.

LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

It's the old story of east and west but apparently east will never learn. That problems at the far ends of the continent are dissimilar and require specialized treatment surely must have penetrated the fastness of their logic yet they stubbornly resist any localized action that might be interpreted as an encroachment on their rights. Jealous of their pivotal position, financially, at least, they look askance at what to them is an usurpation of power whenever an autonomous decision is made. It has happened time and again and now it happens again, which is what inspired this incursion into sectional philosophies.

Bringing into full focus a case in point, we latch on at once to the present difficulties which involve two giants of industry—Metro and NBC. Rather than hint we might as well come right out and say the heavy is Clarence Menser, that net's chief of programming. Things have been going along swimmingly between radio and pictures and everybody's happy. There has been mild chiseling here and there but unimportant enough to be winked at. Now comes Menser to make a major issue of what has been a minor necessary evil. If Menser better understood the temper of West Coasters, knew more of their problems and had to live with them he would think twice before cracking down on studios with a ukase demanding conformity with his set policy regardless and albeit. Further and more, if Menser and NBC knew the high regard in which the studio heads hold Sidney Strotz they would be reluctant to interfere with his divisional operation. He has taken problems as they come and with rare tact and diplomacy disposed of them without leaving a hurt feeling or ruffled hair. He knows most of the studio execs personally, has a knowledge of shooting schedules and production problems and knows when to yield a point without penalizing the network he represents. It's easy enough to upset the apple cart from 3,000 miles away but righting it again is no sinecure. Throwing the rule book across the country is one thing, enforcing it at this end is another. Hollywood is perfectly content to string along with Strotz and rather resents knuckle-cracking from the citadel of Radio City.

Fame can be a matter of direction. Doug Corrigan once flew the wrong way and became as famous as Charles Lindbergh, who flew the right way. Now comes Kay Kyser to qualify for posterity by being the guy who went the wrong way in the Hooperatings, farther than any other human. When he came to a stop after his long skid the tape showed a minus 12.9 and left him with an even 2 for the first half and 2.2 for the last segment. Nor was he the only one hurt by opposing the Louis-Conn fiasco. Dave Rose's "Holiday for Music" took a dive below LT (less than one) and wound up with .7 on 5.8 loss. "Great Moments in Music" managed 1.7 on top of 4.9 drop. The fight was caught at 67.2 by the Hooper checkers.

Chain breaks . . . "The Whistler," Columbia's top rated Coast show, gets a network spread starting Wednesday. It's sponsored Coast-wise by Signal Oil and goes as a house job in the Jack Carson spot rest of the way . . . Wick Crider, talent development and television head of BBD&O, flew in to set up the "Sam Spade" show and look in on our brand of video. He'll also make a deal or two on commercial films for the agency . . . Joyce Selznick handling time sales in this country for Radio Luxembourg (France) and Radio Andra (France-Spain) through an arrangement with Jerry Jerosky, U.S. rep for the two stations . . . Joan Davis stays with Lever Bros. (Swan) for another season, all other deals having curdled . . . The trade is grief-stricken at the passing of Walter Johnson. It was our privilege to have known him intimately and a finer chap we never met. (For details see obit column) . . . Dick McKnight, writer on the Jack Carson show, will wed Bette Hogan, CBS receptionist, sometime in August . . . Paul Warwick and Milton Biow in town.

"Mr. District Attorney" broke his biggest case this month-end and won a verdict from a jury of dialers that his is the best show on the air. It has been duly entered in the record and will show up in your Hooper pocket piece. Astride the crest at 15.8 he showed a clean pair of heels to the field making up the First 15. His competitor, Bob Crosby, took a 5.2. Eddie Cantor moved up fast but as close as he could come was 14.7, leaving his chief opponent, "Sad Sack" holding 5.6. Others in the select circle and their opposish tagged along in this wise: Fred Allen 14.3 ("Crime Doctor" 6.8); Lux 13.2 (Telephone Hour 7.6, "Info Please" 6.7); Walter Winchell 12.6 (Merry Go Round 7.9; Corliss Archer 3.9); Screen Guild Players 11.7 (Contented Hour 6.1); Jack Haley 11.4; "Suspense" 10.8; Aldrich Family 10.6; Phil Baker 10.6 (Hour of Charm 6.6); Judy Canova 10.5 (Sat. Night Serenade 6); Fred Waring 10.5 (Encore Theatre 6.9); Ralph Edwards 10.3 (Mayor of Town 6.8); Abbott and Costello 10.2; "Life of Riley" 9.5; "People Are Funny" 9.5 (Pays to Be Ignorant 5.2, Alan Young 4.6); Inner Sanctum 9.5 (Dunninger 7.9); Man Called X 9.5.

Hitch hikes . . . Bert Gordon's "Mad Russian" character will be missing from the Eddie Cantor show next season after seven years. In a letter to Gordon giving him his release, Cantor said he felt it unfair to hold him as he was ready for his own show . . . Joe Bigelow flies in today from NY . . Jack Haley, Producer Bob Redd and Writers Dick Chevillat and Ray Singer taking four weeks off. Ed Cashman reins production, Elon Packard and Stanley Davis dream up the gags and guest starters are Cesar Romero and Pinky Lee . . . Don Lee got a year's extension of its lease on the Melrose studio while its new $1,500,000 radio and television plant at Vine and Fountain is under construction . . . Tom Breneman bounced back in Hooper's Top 10 daytimers and pulled up in third place, less than one point off the pace.

FORD FESTIVAL IS MODEL 'T' STUFF FOR OLDSTERS

Just what kind of audience level Ford hopes to reach with his Festival of American Music, taking its first downbeat over ABC yesterday is hard to imagine. Surely not the youth of the land and certainly not romantically inclined disstaffers. Hour of music projected on the take-off wavered between the long-hair and the crew-cut. The tempo was dull, the tunes folksy, with a heavy overtone of the pioneering spirit.

Some of the finest craftsmen in radio put it together and got it on the air, but it was evident they labored on orders from Detroit. George Zachary's direction, the skilled scripting of George Faulkner and the musicianship of Leigh Harline shouldn't have been weighted down and handcuffed with orders from the Detroit dynasty. But they are footing the bills and that obviates argument.

Alfred Drake, catapulted to fame in pictures from "Oklahoma," is a capable emcee and handled most of the vocals in pleasing voice. He had some help from Anne Jeffreys, called the pretty girl most likely to succeed as a singer and possibly better for sight than sound. Hoagy Carmichael was cut for a piano and vocal bit but seemed out of place with the general serenity of the program temper. Given forty men, Harline went overboard at times on orchestration but by and large his music was impressive. Lead-ins to the numbers were gabby but then there was an hour to fill and the Fords like to hear about pioneers, early settlers, great men of the past and the like.

Rating-wise, the Summer Festival won't chin itself to a fast five. It will have to find an audience among the middle-agers and corner store whittlers. It just isn't for city folks who like a little life with their music. The Fords will like it but they sell cars and this is a pitch for buyers.

STRIKE LOOMS IN INDIE STATIONS AS TALKS FAIL

Strike of indie station engineers looms for July 8 unless impasse in negotiations between International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and indie station managements is overcome by that time. After two months of war of nerves, negotiations were resumed Friday without any result when union adamantly stuck to its original demands while broadcasters refused to alter their standing counter offer.

In re-entering negotiations union did so with proviso that if the matter remains unsettled 10 days after being resumed union will take stronger action. Strike vote was taken few weeks back and still holds, according to Roy Tindell, business rep of Local 40.

IBEW is asking approximate 30 per cent hike in wages, plus other minor considerations, while broadcasters are offering an 18 per cent boost. Originally broadcasters proffered an 18½ cents per hour increase but later changed that to 18 per cent which equalled 31 cents. Throughout union has nixed all management bids, remaining staunch on its demands that broadcasters accept proposal of average 30 per cent hike as is.

No subsequent meeting has been arranged yet and unless problem is dissipated by forthcoming weekend indie stations may be seriously hampered with walkout of technicians on morning of tenth day.

India Scoop

Metro, in its world release of "The Beginning or the End," story of the atomic bomb, will show film throughout India in due course of time, but it won't be first time natives there consider subject on screen. Hindu motion picture company in Bombay, Protima Das Gupta, has already completed film on subject, tagged "Atom Bomb," made in Hindustani. Feature will beat Metro's by good year.

Metro Delays Sky Blimp Advertising

New York, June 30.—Metro has postponed operation of Navy blimp for sky advertising, set for July 4, to some time between July 15 and Aug. 15. Delay is caused by trouble of getting suitable signs on airship. Howard Dietz, director of publicity-advertising, said stunt still will be able to take advantage of crowds at shore resorts.

DE CORDOVA TO DO PIX IN SPAIN AND SOUTH AMERICA

Arturo de Cordova will make pair of pictures in South America and one in Spain following windup of his star role in Eagle-Lion's "Don Juan Murietta," which goes before cameras late in September. Immediately he finishes first of two-picture commitment with E-L, Mexican actor will go directly to Chile, thence to Argentina and Spain for films. Gabriel Figueroa, ace Mexican cameraman, will accompany him and handle lens work on each of three pictures.

Actor, who arrived from Mexico City week ago to ink deal with Eagle-Lion, returns there next Thursday to star in Mexican film for Clasa before he reports back to E-L for "Murietta." Second picture for E-L has not yet been decided upon, but is expected to be along same heroic lines as first, which is story of early California's Robin Hood.

Nagel, Hervey to Team in 'Union'

Conrad Nagel and Irene Hervey will have the lead roles in "State of the Union" Coast company, which opens at the Biltmore theatre Aug. 19. Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse play will be here for five weeks under production auspices of Leland Hayward.

S.F. HYPOS NIGHT SPOT TALENT AS BIZ DROPS OFF

San Francisco, June 30.—With most Frisco nightspots off 40 per cent to 60 per cent in business, and the bar-and-juke spots doing even worse, the town's smarter entrepeneurs are turning to name talent to hypo their take. Result is that Frisco is enjoying the best stance of artistry it has in years with Jerry Lester turning in four big money weeks at the Copacabana, Benny Rubin upping the gross at the Music Box, Dwight Fiske dittoing at the Kona Club, and Sally Rand, in spite of police troubles, making out alright at the Savoy Club, recently renamed Sally Rand's. Jerry Lester's sheckle shill for Joaquin Garay at the Copa will be followed by Lou Holtz to keep the cash register fat. Hildegarde's July 30 premier at the Mark Hopkins will be high point of talent parade, with that hostelry already sold out for first three nights and reservations coming in at pace which will make two week engagement insufficient.

Only spots in town that are currently getting by without name acts are hotel spots which has Ted Steele at Palace, Griff Williams at Mark Hopkins, and Eddie Fitzpatrick at St. Francis, all paying off by attracting bulk of town's dancers.

Rogers, Pickford in NY on 'Iodine' Biz

Buddy Rogers, and his wife, Mary Pickford, planed to New York last night. Rogers is bringing a print of "Little Iodine," which he co-produced with Ralph Cohn, for screening with New York United Artists execs. He is due back next week to begin preparations for third Comet feature, "Adventures of Don Coyote," which rolls this month.

Ted O'Shea Chore

Edward K. "Ted" O'Shea, assistant to Metro sales manager William F. Rodgers, has been named general sales manager in charge of world distribution for Liberty Films. O'Shea, after 26 years with Metro, asked for and received release from his current contract to accept new chore. He takes on new post immediately and will headquarter in New York.

NELSON, INDIES EYE ANTI-TRUST

New York, June 30.—Eastern representatives of 14 indie producers have been urged by Donald Nelson to frame recommendations on the anti-trust decree for submission to the Department of Justice. Interest centers particularly on the auction bidding feature, Nelson said, declaring that this is very favorable for the indie if it can be done without collusion.

Meeting at Samuel Goldwyn's office here, Nelson said he had had extensive experience with collusive practices during the NRA and they were prevented in the construction industry by forcing of open price filing. He suggested this as a possibility for the film industry. Principal purpose of the decision, Nelson stated, was to create greater industry competition, which the indies favor 100 per cent.

ASCAP TO SCOUT THE ALFALFA FOR DITTIE FEES

American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers has started move to tighten its control over music played by itinerant carnivals and small amusement parks throughout the country. New rate card has been drawn and the Society has sent field reps into the tall timber and offbeat alfalfa areas to license outfits which haven't paid fees for dishing copyrighted ditties for years.

During war ASCAP was unable to completely cover carnies, sideshows and meandering midways due to shortage of reps as well as gasoline and rail-travel restrictions. By now enlarging its national staff, the Society has put on a concentrated drive. Of late many ASCAP members have written the national headquarters squawking about the situation, which lessened royalty revenues of writer and publisher categorians.

METRO WINS IN PIX CREDIT ROW

if NBC yanked the credit line yesterday Morgan would be pulled by Metro and would not appear next Sunday. Reported that Menser was overruled by Niles Trammell, NBC prexy, and Sidney Strotz, division veepee, instructed to let the credit ride. Although it is believed that an exception was made in Morgan's case by NBC, other studios will insist on the same treatment on threat of keeping their stars off the network.

GREEN REPUDIATES SORRELL AND CSU HUMBUGGERY

AFL President Instructs All AFL Unions in Studios To Support AFL Machinists in Federal Charter Union No. 23968

A Message of Vital Importance to Every Honest Trade Union Man and Woman in Hollywood

Last Wednesday, Herbert K. Sorrell's Conference of Studio Unions announced in full page trade paper ads that "William Green Backs CSU Machinists." That was a direct and deliberate lie. It is typical of the Sorrell-CSU false leadership.

Here is the proof:
William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor, on Friday afternoon, June 28, telegraphed W. J. Bassett, Secretary-Treasurer, Los Angeles Central Labor Council, as follows:

> THE MACHINISTS WHO ARE RECOGNIZED AS HAVING JURISDICTION OVER MACHINISTS' WORK IN HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS ARE MEMBERS OF AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR MACHINISTS UNION ESTABLISHED AT HOLLYWOOD. INDEPENDENT DUAL ORGANIZATIONS HAVING NO RELATIONSHIP TO THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR ARE IN NO WAY RECOGNIZED BY AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR AS HAVING JURISDICTION OVER WORKERS EMPLOYED IN HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS. FOR THIS REASON, AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR UNIONS AT LOS ANGELES AND HOLLYWOOD SHOULD RECOGNIZE MEMBERS OF FEDERAL LABOR UNION OF MACHINISTS 23968 AS BONAFIDE MACHINISTS UNION ESTABLISHED IN HOLLYWOOD STUDIOS.
> (Signed)* WILLIAM GREEN, President American Federation of Labor

This is President Green's answer to the Sorrell-CSU double-talk and double-dealing. BUT THAT IS NOT ALL. Sorrell and his CSU knew for months that President Green had specifically instructed them to support the legitimate studio machinists' organization, namely A. F. of L. Federal Local 23968. Here is the proof: On April 19, 1946, President Green telegraphed CSU as follows:

> "PRODUCERS AT HOLLYWOOD HAVE ADVISED ME THAT THEY WILL SIGN A CLOSED SHOP AGREEMENT WITH PAINTERS, CARPENTERS, ELECTRICIANS, PLUMBERS AND OTHER UNIONS FOR MEMBERSHIP OF SAID UNIONS AT HOLLYWOOD. A FEDERAL CHARTER HAS BEEN ISSUED TO MACHINISTS AT HOLLYWOOD. ALL MACHINISTS EMPLOYED AT HOLLYWOOD ARE ELIGIBLE TO MEMBERSHIP IN FEDERAL LABOR UNION. INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MACHINISTS IS NO LONGER AFFILIATED WITH THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR. FOR THIS REASON I CALL UPON ALL REPRESENTATIVES OF UNIONS AT HOLLYWOOD TO RECOGNIZE AND SUPPORT AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR UNION OF MACHINISTS, AS A REPLY TO YOUR TELEGRAM OF APRIL 17, 1946."

Thus President Green proves that from April 19 last to date, Sorrell and his Conference of Studio Unions have deliberately misled their own members. WHY? It certainly was NOT to obtain long-overdue pay increases and improved working conditions for Hollywood workers.

Do you think now that Sorrell and his unholy alliances can continue to bring anything but chaos and loss of pay to workers in Hollywood studios? Of course not.

We, the undersigned A. F. of L. unions and guilds representing 26,000 studio workers, say to every honest trade union man and woman: THERE IS NO PLACE IN HOLLYWOOD FOR DISHONEST LABOR LEADERS.

All studio unions must have honest, progressive, intelligent leadership. The time has come for action. We want no more phony threats of outlaw strikes, for they endanger labor's right to strike.

We want no more Sorrell-CSU inspired chaos in the studios. We want no more of Sorrell's devious tactics, which delay all of us from obtaining the contracts and pay raises to which we are entitled.

We, the undersigned A. F. of L. unions and guilds, say to the rank and file members of the few A. F. of L. unions in CSU: ASK SORRELL WHY HE HAS CONTINUALLY MISLED YOU? ASK SORRELL WHY HE HAS LIED TO YOU, AS PROVED BY PRESIDENT GREEN? ASK SORRELL WHY HE PREFERS CHAOS TO PAY RAISES?

We are members of the American Federation of Labor who believe in and follow proved, successful A. F. of L. policies and procedures. We urge all Hollywood workers to insist that their union leaders give them honest, intelligent A. F. of L. leadership.

their demands for a wage contract. Sorrell was notified today in writing that the producers accept in full his latest wage demand and were ready to sign contracts.

"The only part of his demands as presented which was not accepted was a proposal relating to the jurisdictional dispute over the machinists.

"This situation the producers have placed officially before the NLRB, which is the authority constituted by law to make a decision.

"Sorrell asked that pending this decision the producers enter into certain commitments as to the hiring of machintsts. This the producers did not feel that they could do consistently with respect to a situation pending for official determination."

Spade Cooley Ork Sets Holiday Preem

Spade Cooley gets his new band off with a splash over Fourth of July weekend with four-day western jamboree from Santa Monica ballroom. Talent lineup includes, in addition to Spade's own brassed-up crew, Al Dexter, 3d; Bob Wills and Texas Playboys band, 4th; Cliffy Stonehead and T. Texas Tyler, 5th, and Roy Rogers, Sons of Pioneers and Dale Evans, 6th. Ballroom hopes to attract 20,000 over holiady.

'New France' Short Set for Time Series

"New France" will be next release for March of Time series, first postwar picture of Gaul. Richard de Rochemont, who produces MOT for 20th-Fox, has been working on subject for more than a year and will use much footage specially made on French scene for short. It will present subject of what France and its people have done since liberation from Nazis.

200 Extras in 'Pirates' Scene

Total of 200 extras were employed Saturday in fiesta sequences for "Pirates of Monterey" at Universal. Eduardo Cansino was signed to handle dance scenes.

E-L Inks Dowling

Constance Dowling was signed over the weekend to a term ticket by Bryan Foy, Eagle-Lion production head, and immediately assigned a feature role in "Repeat Performance." Film, a Franchot Tone-Marion Parsonnet package deal, rolls August 15 with Parsonnet producing.

'GALILEO' BOUGHT, LAUGHTON TO STAR

Mike Todd will present Bertold Brecht's "Galileo" on Broadway this fall with Charles Laughton in starring role. Producer acquired the property over the weekend on deal which includes the film rights. Understood that Todd, currently producing for Universal release, will not make film version of the play but is dickering with a major studio for sale of filming rights. Vehicle will mark Laughton's initial legit chore in ten years. Actor's last stage role was in "Payment Deferred."

'AMERICAN WAY' TO BE PUT ON AIR BY STATE DEPT.

State Department is starting new program which it will broadcast via short-wave to all parts of world, in effort to show the American way of life. Government agency has contacted Famous Artists, which produces Academy Award Theatre program, requesting right to rebroadcast some of its weekly shows, as illustrative of new airer's motif. Specifically asked for is Warner's "Pride of the Marines," as model for American way of life.

Agency will provide recordings to State Department, as well as clear rights to Government re-broadcasting programs worldwide. Before sending out these shows, they will be decommercialized, so programs will be straight entertainment.

KFOX to Air Cal. Helicopter Flight

KFOX will air special event of the introduction of helicopter mail service in Southern California on July 5. Plans are being laid to cover inaugural flight of Sikorsky R-5D's piloted by Army flyers that will hit score of towns. Coverage will be from ground and in air via direct line and short wave.

OBITUARIES

WALTER JOHNSON

Funeral services for Walter Johnson, radio director and general manager of the A & S Lyons agency, will be held at 4 p.m. tomorrow at Pierce Bros. chapel in Beverly Hills with cremation to follow.

Johnson, who was 38, died suddenly of a heart attack last Friday at his home in Pacific Palisades. At the office he complained of feeling ill and left for home. He was dead several hours later.

One of the veterans of Coast radio, he started with KHJ and later joined Music Corporation as Coast radio director. When war came he entered training school for officers and joined the Marines. He passed three years with the Devil Dogs, mostly overseas, and was mustered out with the rating of captain.

He rejoined KHJ-Don Lee as program director at war's end and several months later moved over to the Lyons agency as radio director. Two weeks ago he was made general manager of the company. His widow, Virginia, classic dancer, and his parents and a sister survive.

ANTIONETTE PERRY

Antoinette Perry, 58, legitimate stage director, died in New York Friday at her apartment. Starting her career as an actress in 1924, playing in "Mr. Pitt" with Walter Huston, Miss Perry appeared in such plays as "Minick," "The Masque of Venice," "The Ladder" and "Electra." She joined Brock Pemberton in 1928 and produced and directed such plays as "Goin' Home," "Strictly Dishonorable," "Personal Appearance," "Ceiling Zero," "Kiss the Boys Goodbye," "Janie" and her last hit, "Harvey." She was chairman of the board and secretary of the American Theatre Wing.

Columbia is celebrating its 25th Anniversary with more important pictures in production and in release than ever before in the history of the company!

Rep Sets Comedy In Trucolor

Republic's first use of Trucolor aside from westerns will be in "That's My Gal," to be directed by George Blair. Armand Schaefer will produce the comedy which rolls July 25.

Ottilie Kruger Inked for 'Happiness'

Ottilie Kruger, daughter of Otto Kruger, has inked deal to be Freddie Bartholomew's leading lady in "The Pursuit of Happiness," currently touring in Connecticut.

Ambassador to Open

The Ambassador Beach Club, formerly the Jonathan Club, which was relinquished by the Army and is being redecorated and refurnished, will be formally opened on July 15. Col. Henry Dutton is managing director.

SAG EDICT

Board of directors of Screen Actors Guild last night issued the following instructions to all guild members:

1—The present strike was called in violation of regular AFL machinery in that CSU failed to consult the other AFL unions through the L.A. Central Labor Council before calling the strike.

2—The guild and its members will respect their contracts and report for work.

3—No screen actor is obliged to cross any picket line where any threat of violence exists. The guild will use its full strength to support any actor who by reason of following this advice is subjected to coercion or penalties of any nature from any source.

Jeanette MacDonald Gets London Raves

London, July 1.—Jeanette MacDonald played to capacity audience last night at Albert Hall. Following several encores, American singer, here on concert tour, was compelled to make a speech to quiet crowd. Thousands of autograph-hunters who besieged her at stage door dislocated traffic.

Anton Lang's Daughter Arrives

Shusheila Shkari von Lang, daughter of Anton Lang of the Oberammergau Passion Play and James Mason's leading woman in several English films, arrived here yesterday to take a role in 20th-Fox's "The Razor's Edge."

Price Says Facts Show Strike Is Jurisdictional

Major studios moved yesterday to refute Conference of Studio Unions' claim that new film strike is a wages and contract issue. Pointing out that studios had agreed to every point of CSU's demands except that concerning machinists, Byron Price, chairman of the board of Association of Motion Picture Producers, branded present studio walkout as "a jurisdictional strike," having nothing whatever to do with wages, hours and working conditions.

In a long resume, published in this issue, AMPP lists demands made by Herbert Sorrell and others representing CSU locals in the contract

Conference of Studio Unions' bid for Central Labor Council sanction of its strike against major studios failed to get action last night. Motion to have major motion picture studios declared unfair to organized labor was taken under advisement by CLC executive committee.

Jones, Bateman In From Midwest

John J. Jones, prexy of Screen Guild Productions, and Francis A. Bateman, Western sales manager for the company, flew in yesterday, the former from series of regional conferences in Chicago and midwest and the latter from sales conferences and checkup with exchanges in Rocky Mountain area.

MPA TO LIFT HUGHES SEAL

New York, July 1.—First official indication of Motion Picture Association's intention of revoking its Production Code Authority seal from "The Outlaw" was given by MPA counsel Samuel Rosenman in U. S. Circuit Court here today.

Rosenman said the MPA planned to lift its okay from the picture because of the bad reputation it had acquired as a result of the type advertising Hughes is employing. He requested Judge Hand to give a ruling on whether Hughes could be expelled and the seal revoked without prejudicing MPA before the court.

As Hughes has several actions pending, the judge asked MPA to wait a few days on penalty action un-

SHAKESPEARE H'D HOTTEST SCRIBE

Hottest writer in Hollywood today is William Shakespeare who used to do stage shows for the Globe in London. Titles to all his plays, long in public domain, have been registered with the Johnston office by David O. Selznick for possible production, it was disclosed yesterday.

Selznick is understood to consider Shakespeare a definite box office bet following success of the Old Vic company in New York and the sensation created by Laurence Olivier's currently showing "Henry V." His chief immediate interest is said to be in "Hamlet" and "Romeo and Juliet."

For the first named he is reportedly dickering with Olivier to play the title role, with the possibility that he might arrange for production in England in case the British star balks at coming over here. Selznick at the moment has Gregory Peck in mind for Romeo—with no one mentioned yet as Juliet for the production.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

THOSE early talkie masters of innuendo, Capt. Flagg and Sgt. Quirt (alias Victor McLaglen and Edmund Lowe), almost were cut off because of talkies. The millions grossed by the dozen adventures of this pair, starting with "What Price Glory," a 1926 silent, when Warners brought in gab for the industry, nearly stopped because of McLaglen's limey accent. "Cockeyed World" was going to be a talker, and Vic's character was to be strictly Brooklynese. Director Raoul Walsh tore his hair, and finally hired two genuine Flatbush Marine Sgts., Bray and Dresden, to take Vic on a fishing jaunt in the mountains. They were instructed to eat, sleep and talk with him in DeLancey dialect in hopes some of it would rub off on Vic. In three weeks, trio reported back to Hollywood and Walsh immediately rushed Curley Dresden for information as to how the project had gone. To Walsh's horror, Dresden, who was supposed to have been born in the bleachers at Ebbet's Field, answered: "Well, old boy, he's done simply ripping, simply ripping."

WINDUP of one of most unusual pub campaigns accorded a new song in some time occurs tomorrow night at Meadowbrook ballroom when a gal is selected who will typify "Gloria," title of ditty cleffed and published by Leon Rene, prexy of Exclusive Records. On a tiein with Bill Anson, KFWB disc jockey, contest has had nearly month-long series of plugs and at station Sunday night hopefuls were weeded out to ten, who will parade at ballroom, to be judged by David Street, John Sutton, Gloria Blondell, Xavier Cugat and John Reed. Although rumors have been sifted around that Warner Bros. will produce pic using song title, there's nothing definite, although Rene had to sign away film rights to WB to title when hookup for contest was effected with Warner-owned station.

MUSICIANS' Local 47 has lined up talent array for its "Music for the Wounded" benefit to be held at Hollywood Bowl on Aug. 26. Funds raised will be used to furnish entertainment for convalescents in military hospitals in Southern California. Talent lineup was promoted by Local prez "Spike" Wallace and veepee John Te Groen. Jack Haley will emcee, and set for bill are Bob Hope, Mickey Rooney, Bob Burns, Lucille Ball, Harry James, Phil Harris, Xavier Cugat, Freddy Martin, Jimmy Dorsey and Matty Malneck. Leopold Stokowski will stick-swish a symph, with Igor Stravinsky on hand to conduct rendition of own composition, "Firebird." Total of 350 musicians have agreed to give services gratis. The three-and-a-half-hour show will be staged by Boris Morros.

ARMY has absorbed some of smart show biz strategy in presentation of Armed Forces Radio Service's "Troop Information Series." Careful check is kept with Special Services to avoid conflict with film showings at camps and in occupation zones. Dramatically presented info was designed as entertainment to get away from bitter pill type of forced attendance and listening usually found. To insure greater listening audience chaplains and special service men are instructed to so schedule pictures and other entertainments, etc., so as to avoid confliction with radio.

NEW West Coast speed record for turning out discs was set last week for the Mello-Larks, new vocal quartet, by the Mel-O-Disc Recording Co. The quartet, with The Three Dons, instrumentalists, waxed four sides late on Wednesday, and 1000 platters, coupling "Azusa" and "Sez Here," were ready for shipment to the juke boxes of the country on Friday. This is the first release of a vocal group's rendition of "Azusa" and beat the time of the Andrews Sisters' version, which will be out this week.

LOCAL disc jockey is fuming over allegation that he "takes" for playing of platters. Inside, however, is that former associate who acted as middleman, or some other staff sharpshooter, was the self-appointed collector of gratuities from artists and recording films.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

Was the atomic bomb spectacle a dud? No, we of the radio and press built it up too much, and did not allow for modifying factors. At least that's the way it looks. For one thing, this was one bomb—and the usual bombing practice is to drop a chain of bombs. And a chain would probably have blown up all the 73 ships, but destroyed the evidence for the scientists. Further, when we bomb vessels at sea, we try to get direct hits or put the missles off the sides. This one was intended to explode some hundreds of feet in the air. The next one will be just below the surface. But why didn't we hit the target ship? Actually to miss by half a mile from 33,000 feet is good. That's one of the reasons we usually drop more than one bomb on a target. It's different in a city. On Hiroshima and Nagasaki, for instance, one bomb was bound to hit such a large target and cause terrific damage. Bombs always are more effective anyway on land, because water rolls with a punch, and because also the buildings in a city contain and add to the destructiveness of a bomb. The atomic bomb at Bikini was not the spectacle we had anticipated, but it must not be minimized. I still don't want the day to come when it explodes over Hollywood. And also don't minimize the present effect of the OPA bomb drop. That's a time bomb.

Trade Showing

Of Human Bondage

(Drama)

WARNERS RELEASE. Producer, Henry Blanke. Director, Edmund Goulding. Screenplay, Catherine Turney, from novel by Somerset Maugham. Photography, Peverell Marley. Art direction, Hugh Reticker, Harry Kelso. Set decorations, George James Hopkins. Sound, Stanley Jones. Editor, Clarence Kolster. Special effects, Warren Lynch. Wardrobe, Milo Anderson. Music, Erich Wolfgang Korngold. Musical director, Leo F. Forbstein. Assistant director, James McMahon.

CAST—Stars Eleanor Parker, Paul Henreid, Alexis Smith. Supporting players, Edmund Gwenn, Janis Paige, Patric Knowles, Henry Stephenson, Marten Lamont, Isobel Elsom, Una O'Connor, Eva Moore, Richard Nugent, Doris Lloyd.

TRADESHOWN at studio, June 21, 1946. Running time: 104 MINS.

Warners' remake of Somerset Maugham's "Of Human Bondage," which RKO presented so successfully with Bette Davis and Leslie Howard co-starred in 1934, is a dramatic piece of work which unquestionably will find response from femme audiences, but it lacks the intensity of its forerunner. However this may be, film still stacks up as a picture which must command attention. Eleanor Parker in the Davis role delivers strongly in a difficult part alien from anything she has attempted in past, and Paul Henreid as club-footed Philip scores from acting standpoint but his interpretation is without sympathy.

The script is against "Bondage," lacking full realization of situations and failing to make the most of characterizations. This is one reason why leading male role fails to click any more than average—you feel no particular compassion for his predicament, a man hopelessly in love with a trollop who nearly ruins his life. Picture belongs strictly to Miss Parker because of her uncompromising performance, that of a London waitress who believes in taking all and giving nothing in return. Role won't do for her what it did previously for Miss Davis, but it will advance her definitely on her stride upward to eminence as a dramatic actress.

This is a story of a frustrated life and love, of a club-footed medical student who cannot resist a cheap and tawdry character he finds in a small London restaurant and falls completely under her spell. She interferes with his medical studies, breaks up his romance with an American novelist, played by Alexis Smith, who is in love with him, brings near calamity upon him before she dies and releases him from his unhealthy bondage.

Miss Parker endows part of Mildred with convincing strength and from acting standpoint it is a personal triumph for her. Henreid's role is never too believable, and Alexis Smith's character seems to be dragged in by the heels for a key figure, then as summarily dropped. Edmund Gwenn contributes to film's quality as Athelny, father of a family who befriends Henreid, and Janis Paige, as daughter in love with medical student, is outstanding. Patric Knowles, Henry Stephenson and Marten Lamont also handle their respective roles with distinction.

Edmund Goulding directed "Bondage" but his treatment is inclined often to be heavy handed. Henry Blanke held producer reins, clothing film with quality values. Screenplay by Catherine Turney, from Maugham's novel of an unpleasant subject, contains both skillful and uncraftsmanlike writing, never completely fulfilling its promise. Photography by Peverell Marley, however, at all times is outstanding and art direction by Hugh Reticker and Harry Kelso, and set decorations by George James Hopkins, adhere perfectly to the period and locale. Other technical departments stack up.

Local First Runs Build Boffola $400,000 Wk.

Local first run theatres are stacking up boffola $400,000 gross this week. Some of the high figure will come from houses whose current week includes Fourth of July, but majority of spots wind up their weeks before holiday bonanza. Hefty weekend trade was registered in majority of spots, despite competition from the atom bomb experiment and public confusion resulting from death of OPA.

"Easy to Wed" closed its first frame at the Belmont, Egyptian, Los Angeles and Wilshire theatres last night with estimated $83,000. "A Stolen Life" at the three Warner houses looks like very large $77,000 or near for its first week. "Smoky," with "Shouldn't Happen To A Dog" supporting, is beating through to socko $68,000 at the Chinese, Uptown and Loew State. "Walk in the Sun" and "Rendezvous 24" finished one-week stay at the Guild, United Artists and Ritz last night with stout $32,500 estimate and moves over to the Four Star today.

Holdover business is lead by "The Well-Groomed Bride" at the two Paramounts. Film closes two-week stay tomorrow night with estimated $34,500 or slightly better in the till for final week. "Blue Dahlia" follows Thursday. "Diary of a Chambermaid" at the four Music Halls is clocking forte $32,000 on its second frame. "Without Reservations" winds up a three-week stay at the Pantages and Hillstreet tomorrow night with likely $25,500. Third and final frame for "Badman's Territory" at the Orpheum, Vogue and El Rey closed last night with estimated $17,000 for blowoff. "The Stranger" debuts today in the trio.

HUGHES UPS AD BUDGET; BLIMP IN CRASH

New York, July 1.—Advertising budget for Howard Hughes' "The Outlaw" has been boosted to $2,000,000, it was announced today by Harry L. Gold, Hughes' distribution head.

But while the budget went up, the Hughes' dirigible, on a 39-city tour, which will tap the treasury for $350,000, came down in a badly-damaged condition after a windstorm battered it in Midland, Texas. Gold said most of the budget will be expended for newspaper and magazine advertising.

Ice Caper Set For El Patio

New El Patio theatre at Hollywood and La Brea has been booked for a summer ice show. House, formerly the Film City, was recently converted by H. E. Woolever to accommodate legit, films or radio. Incoming show, tentatively set for last week of this month, is first stage presentation, and was preceded by one 16m film presentation and couple of one-weekly air shows. Cast of ice caper will comprise 30.

Cartoon Filmers Get Plan For Platter Aid To Dubbers

Plan for use of recordings as productional assists in making of cartoon films is being advanced to filmers by Eccles Recordings. Walt Disney, George Pal and Hugh Harmon have had demonstrations of new synchronization system which is now in partial experimental use preparatory to deals being made.

Eccles plan is to dub sound from cartoon dialogue sequences onto recordings. Platters would then be used by animators to get feel and mood when sketching to better synchronize gestures, expressions, etc. with sound.

ELIMINATES FILM CANS

Under present complex system animators are required to use sound tracks that must be unreeled via "Movieola" machine to point desired by animator. This requires digging into film cans, keeping stacks of cans immediately available, if they contain portions of cartoon in production, extra prints for just such use, messing handling, wear and tear, and other disturbing and expensive angles.

With recording system costly Movieola machines would be eliminated, considerable time saved in escaping waste of unreeling, storage space cut down to small stack of platters, plus other attractions.

SPECIAL MACHINES DESIGNED

Platters are durable acetate and seven to eight sound takes could be recorded to each side of discs. Special playing machines are being designed which each animator will keep handy. Players are estimated to cost for purchase as much as weekly renting of machines requiring film threading, etc.

Idea's also being proposed as new file system for sound effects in all studios. Instead of cataloging sound on film tracks and wearing out features via constant re-playing, idea is to record sound effects from tracks in same manner as for cartoonists to save time and film.

Golden Gate Adds 'Wild Horses'

"Last of the Wild Horses" has been added to the Golden Gate production schedule. William B. David will produce the film, starting next month on location in Oregon.

J. ROOSEVELT IN SCOLDING MOOD ON AIR BOW

James Roosevelt last night joined the ranks of radio commentators on KLAC under local sponsorship of Harcraft Household Appliance Stores. Nightly he will discuss the issues of the day and to those who do not agree with him he invited criticism and comment. In a clear, crisp voice, at times reminiscent of his illustrious father, he told of the line of reasoning he will take in his report to the people.

It was a gloomy picture he painted of the days ahead and at the close declared, "it's the news that makes it so, not I." He had strong words for rent-raising landlords, special interests and Senator Bilbo, whom, he said, inflamed his constituency against allowing Negroes to vote. To Governor Warren he hurled a challenge to freeze rents by special legislative action, and called upon President Truman to meet the opportunity for great leadership.

His only mention of communism was that wanting bread with butter on it does not inspire such a political label. He spoke of and defined reactionaries and progressives and said the latter represented his viewpoint. Strikes, he said, such as will follow the tide of inflation, will be of such magnitude as to make the more recent ones like picnics by comparison. The portents, he warned, point to a depression and he called the action of Congress in killing the OPA "a monstrous thing."

Roosevelt's microphone technique is comparable to any of the others on the network and only a few fluffs were noted in his delivery. His diction was neatly beveled and his voice strong and vibrant. His programs are given a second airing nightly on KXLA. Network deals are said to be in negotiation and the magic name of Roosevelt will have no small part in the consummation if his vocal opinions are to span the nation.

LEGIT OPENING

THE FORTUNE TELLER

San Francisco, July 1.—In spite of a paralyzing street car strike a capacity audience jammed the Curran tonight to cheer Edwin Lester's production of "The Fortune Teller." Combining the scores of Victor Herbert's operetta by the same name and "The Serenade" plus melodies from five other Herbert shows, it emerged as a newly brilliant opera justifying the $135,000 spent on it.

Production has an excellent book by Henry Myers and new lyrics and stage direction by Robert Wright and George Forrest. Title roles are played effectively by Helena Bliss and John Tyers. In featured roles are Gene Lockhart, Walter Catlett, Dale Melbourne, Jack Goode, Joseph Macaulay, George Britton and Gilbert Russell.

Katherine De Mille Inked in 'Unconquered'

Katherine De Mille yesterday was signed for one of the top supporting roles in "Unconquered," Cecil B. De Mille's production at Paramount. This is second time the actress has worked for her father, the first being in "The Crusades" in 1935.

MOREY DROPS OUT OF SUTHERLAND PARTNERSHIP

Morey & Sutherland have split active partnership, although Morey retains his stock interest in company. Hereafter, John Sutherland will head company, which in addition to cartoons for United Artists release, is producing commercial and industrial films. Larry Morey returns to Walt Disney, as lyric writer for musical cartoons.

Company originally was organized by Morey and Sutherland to turn out three-dimensional puppet films for UA. When company branched out to encompass production of commercials and industrials, Morey elected to resume his old job with Disney, so bowed out of actual production with Sutherland. Studio which pair operated on Occidental Blvd., known as Morey-Sutherland studio, now goes under tag of John Sutherland studio.

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: Greta Garbo has been deep in conference with David O. Selznick concerning her return to the screen after a five-year absence. Her last film was "Two-Faced Woman" at Metro in 1941, and in the past ten years she's made only three other pictures, of which Ernst Lubitsch's "Ninotchka" probably did her the most good. Anyway, she's reading an armful of Selznick's scripts and is reported to be eager to return to the screen . . . William and Lucille Demarest returned yesterday from a three-week vacation marred only by fire and earthquake. They were fishing on Vancouver Island when the earth's crust started doing a rhumba. And returning through Medford, Ore., they ran into a big packing house fire. Bill says his vacation contained more perils than "Perils of Pauline," which he finished just before leaving . . . Today's opportunity: From an ad in the Saturday Review of Literature's agony column, "Coarse, jolly woman, just learning to read, invites correspondence from males" . . . Edith Head, Paramount stylist, is setting some kind of record—simultaneously doing the star wardrobes on three productions on her home lot and five loanout chores for other studios . . . After she finishes work in "Life with Father" on loanout to Warners, Elizabeth Taylor will go to London on an extended vacation. She's a native of England . . . Desi Arnaz is reported to be knocking down $8,500 a week, but he has to do six shows daily at the Roxy and three nightly at the Copacabana. He's so weary he hardly has strength enough to count his money.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Trade's talking about a character who has as many fingers in the show biz pie as an octopus in a fish bowl. Though an admitted manager of talent, he also contrives to be a talent employer as well—which is something J. Caesar Petrillo frowns upon. One fellow agent is putting pressure on him to release a performer under pain of being exposed as operating without an agent's license as well as cavorting beyond the pale of Musicians' union regulations . . . Taylor Caldwell, whose best-sellers "This Side of Innocence" and "The Wide House" will be screen-translated by Story Productions, comes by her talent honestly. Her father originated the advertising trademarks "Time to Retire" and "His Master's Voice" . . . OFF THE LOTS: Mrs. Gene Autry and Mrs. Gloria Marvin at House of Murphy. Davie Gladstone of the "Oklahoma" cast at a birthday party in her honor at the Trocadero. Fred MacMurray and wife at the West Side Tennis Club with eastern friends. Johnny Weissmuller and Aileen Gates, June Haver and Dr. John Duzik, a golf foursome. Virginia Field and Bob Taplinger a tennis twosome . . . Domestic note: Bess, the equine star of "Gallant Bess," has a routine in which she picks up papers, moves furniture, dusts walls and mops up the floor. She can do almost anything except demand a Thursday off every week.

CALL SHEET: BING CROSBY held down second base for the Paramount softball team playing the Jasper All-Stars at Jasper National Park over the weekend. Former lost, and Bing went hitless but played host to both teams at a local pub after the game . . . BILL LUNDIGAN says that with hip flasks due to come back because of the liquor shortage, a man's hip will attract as much attention as a woman's . . . JACK KIRKLAND has been informed that his play, "Tobacco Road," is entering its fifth year in Buenos Aires . . . WALTER VINCENT, president of the Actors' Fund of America, will be one of the speakers at the garden party to be given by the Motion Picture Relief Fund July 7 . . . LLOYD CORRIGAN was director on "The Dancing Pirate" when it finished shooting ten years ago this month on Stage Six of the Goldwyn lot. Today he's featured in Seymour Nebenzal's "The Chase," which is shooting on the same stage . . . JACK WRATHER leaves today for Texas to scout locations for "Turning Point" and New York to scout talent for same . . . ROBERT WALKER, who ran away from home twice at the age of 10, rather than take piano lessons, is taking 'em now for scenes in "Sea of Grass" . . . FRANK BORZAGE has enlisted the services of June Haver, Kathryn Grayson, Linda Darnell and Bonita Granville as score-keepers for his golf tournament at the California Country Club.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: "High Barbaree" is high adventure in the Metro-making, but two young men working in the picture on location have had real-life experiences to match the film fiction. Lieut. John Mudio, technical advisor, twice ditched Navy flying boats over enemy territory during the war in the Pacific. Fred Zender, Van Johnson's stand-in, was aboard two submarines sunk by Jap depth charges, once off Rabaul, once off the Philippines. He survived both sinkings by escaping through the Monson lung . . . Paramount flackery can take a pair of bows. Current issues of Life and Collier's have layouts on "Perils of Pauline" . . . Walter Pidgeon says he's through with guest shots on quiz programs. He came out all right on a recent Information, Please airer, scoring 13 correct answers and topped only by John Kieran but he says the quizzers are tougher than a first stage appearance . . . Allan Jones returns to town July 8 from an extensive eastern tour but he isn't looking forward to much rest. He goes into rehearsal immediately for "The Firefly," to be presented in the Greek theatre at Griffith Park, and begins cutting the first of 52 half-hour transcription shows . . . Rudy Vallee left last night on a five-day vacation at Lake Tahoe . . . They almost had a quorum for a Screen Directors Guild meeting the other night at the Beverly Hills Club with Delmer Daves, William Seiter and Eddie Sutherland and their wives gathered around tables.—D.D.T.

RKO LINES UP 176 SHORTS FOR '46, '47 RELEASE

New York, July 1.—With RKO's 15th annual sales convention opened today and the shorts product line-up revealed, the delegates will be given the company's feature product setup for 1946-47 at tomorrow's session at the Waldorf. Salesmen will attend a preview of "Notorious" at the Normandie theatre Tuesday morning.

After Ned Depinet announces next season's line-up, N. Peter Rathvon will discuss production plans for new pictures and other studio activities.

RKO has scheduled 176 shorts for the coming season, a small hike over the current year. This increase is mainly due to new series of musicals, plus revival of previous series of proved popularity. Four two-reelers are in the musical series, with "Follow That Music," featuring Gene Krupa's band, already finished. Shorts revivals are four two-reel Ray Whitley musical westerns. Eighteen Walt Disney shorts in Technicolor and 13 "This Is America" two-reelers top a list which includes six Edgar Kennedy and six Leon Errol comedies.

Delegates tomorrow will see RKO's first 16m feature for the foreign market, "Tarzan and the Leopard Woman" with offstage narrator speaking Spanish. Film will be available in other languages by the same method. Delegates attended a sneak preview of "Lady Luck" at Proctor's 58th Street tonight.

Malcolm Kingsberg, prexy, and Sol Schwartz, veepee of RKO Theatres, will host delegates at a cocktail-buffet reception Wednesday night at the Waldorf. After the company dinner at the Waldorf grand ballroom Tuesday night, delegates will be given their choice of attending "State of the Union" or "Three to Make Ready," legit shows.

THREE WISE FOOLS

IT CAN'T BE JUST LUCK!

There has never been a period in film annals when any company has delivered such a continuous flow of big pictures as M-G-M.

One right after another: "Adventure," "Ziegfeld Follies of 1946" in Technicolor, "The Postman Always Rings Twice," "The Green Years," "Two Sisters from Boston"—and now "Three Wise Fools."

When "Three Wise Fools" had its first Theatre Preview in California,

M-G-M was elated by the reports. The audience laughed and wept and sat enthralled. Hollywood acclaimed a new sensation.

The picture had a heart, they said. They loved the story of the little Irish-girl-with-a-brogue (played by Margaret O'Brien) who brought sunshine into the lives of three hard-bitten bachelors. They predicted that it was the sure-fire stuff to pour gold into the coffers of theatres.

Now the print has come East. We previewed the picture in a typical neighborhood theatre, Loew's 72nd Street in New York City.

Gentlemen, it was simply thrilling to watch those average folks enjoy our picture. Time will confirm what we tell you now, but mark this prophecy: "'Three Wise Fools' will be one of the most beloved pictures of our time—beloved by you for the business it will do—beloved for the joy it will bring to millions of Americans in every corner of the land."

Long overdue for more than passing recognition and certainly deserving the thanks of the trade is the job done by Tom Breneman and Johnny Masterson in spreading a little happiness in the lives of ex-GI's and hospitalized war vets. As has been their custom since war's outbreak, July 4 at "Breakfast in Hollywood" has been set aside exclusively for the lads and lasses in olive drab. Nor was it abandoned after the last shot was fired. Now that the ranks of the khaki clads are thinning, the 17th and final of the all-service affairs will be held Thursday.

As on all previous Independence Days, each of the 500 guests, this time from nearby service hospitals, will be given a crisp $5 bill and scads of other gifts. The giveaway coin was pooled from contributions by women attending the broadcasts, with a goodly wad from Tom and Johnny. It's a noble gesture of lofty purpose and gladdened the heavy heart of many a war hero. The trade not only owes them a debt of gratitude but some recognition of lasting significance would be but a fitting reward for their unselfish and laudatory service to some great Americans whose deeds are too easily forgotten.

By RADIE HARRIS

Kay Francis is the lucky actress who will take over Ruth Hussey's role in "State of the Union" when the "Gorgeous Hussey" retires to heir the Bob Lyonecker nursery again. Incidentally, at the Darryl Zanuck Romanoff soiree for the John Coulters (nee Connie Bennett), that noise you heard was Sonja Henie sounding off to Kay, when she forgot to mind her own business! . . . Binnie Barnes is exhausting her exhaustless energy by opening a shop in the Valley, specializing in children's apparel and tagged "Tot of the Town" . . . Josh Logan, here to find a leading man to "Happy Birthday" Helen Hayes, may trek to Laguna to o.o. John Emery, who won't be the least bit overwhelmed at the prospect of playing opposite Miss Hayes. He's the stage door "Johnny" who teamed professionally AND domestically with La Bankhead! . . . Dorothy Massey checks in at the Bev-Hills tomorrow for a three-week reunion with Ray . . . Hal Wallis is postponing the release date of "The Perfect Marriage" for several months because he feels that in the face of David Niven's recent tragedy, the title is too sadly ironic! Which reminds me that David, as if he already hasn't had enough to tax him, now can't get a phone in his new Pacific Palisades home. Seems to me that with unlimited phones in restaurant and beauty parlor booths to say nothing of the multiple extensions in so many private estates, the telephone company could pull some "wires" and plug one for David . . . Irving Asher wants to know what with the atomic bomb, the OPA ceiling lift and the studio strike, "Aren't you glad you're you?

"THAT'S MY BOY WHO SAID THAT!" Listening to an early Enrico Caruso recording the other p.m., Tom d'Andrea was reminded of the story Joe Frisco tells about the time he appeared on the same benefit bill with that great Italian tenor. Caruso was just about to step on stage when Frisco, waiting for his turn, tapped him on the shoulder and said, "P-p-p-please d-d-d-don't s-s-sing m-m-my n-n-n-number."

Caruso turned around in amazement and asked, "What ees your number?"

"D-d-d-Darktown S-s-s-Strutter's B-b-b-Ball!" stuttered Joe.

ON THE "APLEY" SET: When Richard Ney reported for the first day's shooting of "The Late George Apley" and met Edna Best, whose son he plays, Edna acknowledged the introduction by saying, "The name is Edna, not Mother!" Incidentally, if Nat Wolf is responsible for persuading his "Best" gal to act again, he rates our personal vote of thanks. Ronald Colman, who plays "George Apley" and looks as if he had just stepped out of the Somerset Club, was being interviewed on the set by a visiting correspondent, who, obviously overwhelmed at the Colman presence just stood there tongue-tied. Finally, he managed to blurt out, "How old is your little girl?" "She's just a little over two," answered Ronnie, his face lighting up as it always does at any mention of Juliet. Again, there was a prolonged silence, and then the inquisitor poised this question, "Does she want to go into pictures?"

HAIL AND FAREWELL: To those of us who were privileged to work with Antoinette Perry in the American Theatre Wing, we know that her untimely death is just as much a war casualty as any soldier at the front. She was the unsung heroine, working unceasingly behind the scenes, while others were out front taking the bows. In the midst of all the petty jealousies and politics, she was the oasis to whom everyone turned, because "her heart was as big as the world, but there was no room in it to hold the memory of a wrong." Mine isn't big enough to hold my sorrow at her passing.

MOVIE-ING ALONG: Keenan Wynn, who has always had a yen to direct, is satisfying his ambition at Laguna this week. He is taking over the directorial reins on "Room Service" and following that he will also direct "Twentieth Century" in which he'll star with Tamara Geva as his vis-a-vis. I'll never forget when I saw Keenan debut this Ben Hecht-Charles MacArthur comedy in summer stock at Mt. Kisco—the leading lady, who, magnanimously, shall be nameless blew all her lines and Keenan played both parts! . . . It is Harold Medford, not Salka Viertel, who is writing "Ships in the River" for Viveca Lindfors . . . Sid Silvers off to NY to try to tag Phil Baker to team with him again in the musical farce he's just finished, "Napoleon Without Brandy." Words and music by Eddie Heyman and Harold Spina, which I heard last night are plenty good and commercial . . . When Leonard Sues makes with the baton at Ciro's tomorrow night, don't be surprised to see Stephen Longstreet an interested ringsider. He's got his Warner eyes on him for the title role in "Young Man with a Horn." When someone suggested John Garfield for the part, Longstreet retorted, "No, he's just finished playing a fiddle in 'Humoresque.' We don't want anyone that versatile!"

NIGHT AND DAY (no relation to the picture of the same name!): Lou Calhern, Arlene Francis, Marty Gabel, Susan Douglas, Benay Venuta, Armand Deutsch, Bernie Hart, Celeste Holm, Sandra Gould, Rosemary and Earl Wilson, David Green, Henrietta Kaye, Jim Backus, Nina and Bill Doll at Carolyn Berg and Cy Adler's buffet supper party. It was held on Whittier Drive, but it might just as well have been at Sardi's. Never saw so many fugitives from Shubert Alley in one room! . . . Sig Herzig, hosting a cocktail soiree in his Cold Water Canyon garden for the cast of "Bloomer Girl." Yes, Jack Warner, Jr., beaued Nanette Fabray, but again denied the persistent rumor of wedding plans . . . Laurence Evans, Joyce Redmond, Eve Arden, Raymond Massey, Ona Munson, Peggy Knudsen, Pete Jaeger, Danny Kaye, Geraldine Brook, Nancy Walker and Lon McCallister applauding Johnny Walsh at the Club Gala, and if you haven't heard him sing, "There's No Business Like Show Business," it's your own fault!

JACK KIRKWOOD'S NEW SHOW ZANY LAUGH-CATCHER

From standpoint of humor there's nothing new about Jack Kirkwood's new show but it's just as funny as ever and, therefore, as solidly laugh-latching as anything heard on the air. The format differs from the previous quarter-hour in that Kirkwood is being molded into definite character but zaniness is there, if perhaps more organized.

Almost literally, this is Keystoning the kilocycles. Bellies were frequent and hefty as Kirkwood established himself as an imperious if impecunious ham-at-liberty who will henceforth hold forth as a bucolic Barrymoresque plodder - plotter of a strawhat theatre. He got off to a noble start in burlesquing the bard after establishing the plot, ably assisted by Gene LaValle and others.

CBS' able Ernie Martin supervised, lending deft overall supervision to this sustainer—that comes out the equal of many a commercial, thanks to the writing of Margaret Wilkins, Ned Cronk and Louis Scales, and, as obviously, the direction of Paul Franklin and Milton Stark. Combination has turned out breezily written, sprightly but smoothly acted and fast-moving summer weight combination of comic situation, light running story, listenable lines and well-blended musical interludes. Maestro Lud Gluskin and crew were apparently also captivated with events for they turned in a perfectly blended cleff cushion wherein even guest Connie Haines never jutted but jelled with all.

There's no note of resignation or relegation here as is too often detected in hot spell fillers. In consequence, Kirkwood's latest comes nearer being commercial fodder. There's obviously more in it for studio audiences but that's not saying there isn't plenty for auditors, too.

Cornfield in 20th Foreign Sales Post

New York, July 1.—Albert Cornfield has been appointed 20th-Fox foreign sales supervisor for company home-office by Murray Silverstone, 20th-Fox International prexy. Cornfield joined 20th-International in 1942, having previously been with Metro in charge of European sales.

THE STUDIO STRIKE IS NOT OVER WAGES AND HOURS!

The Facts Are as Follows:

At a meeting held Sunday morning, June 30th, between Pat Casey and Victor Clarke, representing the major Studios, and Herbert Sorrell, representing the Conference of Studio Unions, the following proposals were made by Mr. Sorrell to Mr. Casey and Mr. Clarke:

SORRELL PROPOSED:

1. That the Major Studios meet the rates already agreed upon between the Independents and the Conference of Studio Unions, July 8th.

STUDIOS ACCEPTED

SORRELL PROPOSED:

2. That the Studios take a period of thirty days to make a survey of the 36-hour week, and also a study of an annual wage.

STUDIOS ACCEPTED
with the provision that by doing so they make no commitment as to a final decision.

SORRELL PROPOSED:

3. That within thirty days, contracts for the crafts under Local No. 1421 and the Cartoonists and Story Analysts be negotiated.

STUDIOS ACCEPTED

SORRELL PROPOSED:

4. That as to Machinists and Publicists, these contracts be negotiated when a decision of the National Labor Relations Board is handed down, and that the Studios agree to abide by the decisions and to expedite the procedure.

STUDIOS ACCEPTED

SORRELL PROPOSED:

5. That while these matters are before the N.L.R.B. conditions are to remain frozen . . . that no more Publicists or Machinists be hired pending the N.L.R.B. decision.

STUDIOS REJECTED

SORRELL PROPOSED:

6. That if comparable crafts be given larger general increases than his group, it receive like increases.

STUDIOS ACCEPTED
. . . with the understanding that this shall not apply to cases where upgrading or adjustments are necessary to take care of isolated inequities or with respect to employees in a lower salary group.

IN ADDITION to the above specific matters covered by Mr. Sorrell's proposals, the Studios understand from previous negotiations with him, that he was agreeable to the following:

1. The proposed deal is to extend until December 31st, 1947.
2. The Unions will agree to an arbitration set-up to settle all jurisdictional questions and disputes.
3. The Unions will agree to maintain an adequate supply of competent labor in all classifications to fill calls of the Studios in accordance with production requirements.

CONSIDER THESE FACTS CAREFULLY AND JUDGE FOR YOURSELVES WHETHER OR NOT THE CURRENT STRIKE INVOLVES WAGES AND HOURS OR JURISDICTION.

CRAIG REYNOLDS PLAGIARISM CASE DROPPED

Fourth action in the Craig Reynolds plagiarism action evolved into inaction yesterday when motion to vacate all previous findings in case was withdrawn by plaintiffs. Latest action, instituted in Federal District Court by attorney Jesse Levinson, was based on contention that case was improperly transferred between justices. When Judge Leon Yankwich declared that transfer had, in established custom, been shifted with verbal approval of Senior District Judge Paul J. McCormick, complainants withdrew.

Action had been dismissed three times previously, first in Superior Court on failure to show cause; in Federal District Court on directed verdict, and for third time when brought on charge of disqualification of second judge. Withdrawal yesterday may result in closing of year old battle against Biow Co., National Broadcasting Co., Philip Morris for alleged lifting of actor Reynolds' ''Veteran's Canteen'' idea by Ginny Simms program.

SALLY RAND GETS JUDGE'S OK ON S.F. ARREST CASE

San Francisco, July 1. — Sally Rand, who was arrested twice last week on three counts, was today declared innocent by Judge Daniel R. Shoemaker in municipal court, in a plea by attorney J. W. Ehrlich who recently won a victory for the showing of the motion picture, ''The Outlaw.''

The three counts were: 1. Operating a place where indecent shows are held. 2. Conducting a place where entertainment tends to destroy morals through sex. 3. That she lewdly displayed her person in public.

Judge Shoemaker said, ''Anyone who sees Miss Rand perform, and who thereby gains lewd and obscene thoughts, has a perverted sense of morals.'' Charges were hurled by those in the know that the drive against Miss Rand was provoked by cafe personalities trying to run her out of the night club business.

MAJORS IN BLAST AT CSU

Striker Washed Up

One Paramount secretary who didn't want to go through lines yesterday, but who still didn't want to loiter out in front of studio with some of the hundreds for most of day, settled problem of what to do by going home and doing big wash she'd put off for several weeks.

MPA WILL LIFT HUGHES SEAL COURT TOLD

til the court decides whether it will grant Hughes' application for an appeal from the District Court's denial of his motion for a temporary injunction. It was this action which initiated today's informal hearing.

Judge John Bright of the lower court, in filing findings of fact and conclusions of law, held that Hughes cannot retain the MPA seal and at the same time rescind the contract under which it was granted; that Hughes is not deprived of rights guaranteed under the First Amendment of the U. S. Constitution; that MPA's disapproval of "The Outlaw's" ad material is reasonable and not arbitrary or discriminatory.

In the absence of former New York governor Charles Poletti, Jesse Freidin argued Hughes' case today and took a stiff riding from the judge. Freidin said he objected to Judge Bright's ruling because the District Court justice had not taken enough cognizance of that part of the argument charging MPA with violating anti-trust laws. Judge Hand said he didn't see how that entered the case.

Freidin showed the court some of the disputed ads, picturing Jane Russell, to which Judge Hand remarked: "If you went to the beach, you could see as much any day." Then Rosenman produced "How Would You Like to Tussle with Russell?" copy and declared it "dishonest and lascivious." Court's reply on that was: "Well, it certainly seems lascivious."

RAIN CHECK ON WB CLUB PARTY

The Warner Club, social group of WB employes, yesterday afternoon canceled annual party scheduled for tonight at Florentine Gardens. Strike situation was cause, it being feared tempers would flare or fists flail. More than 800 members had bought tickets at $2 each, with stubs being declared good when event is held later on. The club will lose about $1,000 on call-off, due to loss of sum guaranteeing appearance, which had been given nitery, and also fact that some special entertainment pacted to appear at party had to be paid off.

LITTLE VIOLENCE MARKS STUDIO PICKETING

negotiations and action taken by major film companies on each demand. Price, in a separate statement yesterday, said:

"On Sunday, Herbert Sorrell presented a proposal and the studios agreed to every item except one. That item concerned the jurisdictional dispute over machinists, which is pending before the National Labor Relations Board.

STATES FACTS OBVIOUS

"Nothing can obscure the central fact that the studios accepted explicitly all the union proposals except the one demanding that the machinists situation be frozen.

"Nothing can obscure the central fact that this strike was called on the sole ground of jurisdictional ambition, and specifically to enforce the claims of non-American Federation of Labor machinists."

Acting under strike sanctions granted by union memberships and international prexies last April, Carpenters, Painters, Set Designers and Illustrators, and Screen Story Analysts locals launch second day on major studio picketing with tightened lines and well-planned campaigns to force studios to accede to demands for an immediate contract.

STRIKE LEADERS ANSWER

Strike leaders yesterday were undisturbed by AMPP claims that walkout is a jurisdictional dispute, asserting that studios had failed to make an acceptable offer on a new contract and strikers would stay out until a suitable pact is forthcoming. Lines are up at Metro, Warners, Universal, Republic, 20th - Fox, Hal Roach, RKO, Paramount, Columbia, Samuel Goldwyn and Technicolor. CSU may add Pathe and Consolidated to the list of labs being picketed today. Disney, General Service and other rental studios also may be picketed, depending upon decisions of the strike strategy committee.

CSU announced yesterday that a skeleton negotiations committee will be on hand at union headquarters at all times for convenience of independent producers who may wish to talk contract. This covers, generally, members of Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers as Independent Motion Picture Producers Association has already inked an interim deal with CSU locals. Reported that representatives of Liberty Films, Nero and Sol Wurtzel conferred with the negotiation committee yesterday in an effort to find out necessary steps to be taken to prevent pickets descending on their productions.

AFL REACTION TOLD

Sharp criticism of the strike was reported yesterday from AFL unions and guilds not involved in the fight. AFL unions were called upon by Central Labor Council to ignore picket lines and report for work as usual as CSU had failed to follow accepted AFL practice in staging its walkout. Hollywood guilds, including Screen Actors, Screen Writers, Screen Directors, were meeting yesterday to decide on procedure to be recommended to their members.

Spot of Luck

Sol Lesser and staff hope it's an omen. "No Trespassing" went through six weeks location without a cloudy sky and were just back in the studio when morning fog started. Last shots on the picture were finished just before the strike.

City police and sheriff's office personnel were augmented to maintain order at studios yesterday as picketing got underway at 6 a.m., but, outside of a show of force, little demand was made on them. Picket lines generally were orderly with only a few incidents bordering on the serious reported. Tom Weatherwax, picketing at Warners, received a cut on the ear necessitating several stitches, it was reported by CSU, but how injury occurred was not known.

MILD VIOLENCE

At Columbia, Emil Green, set erector, was reported slugged on the street, sustaining possible fracture of the lower left jaw. He was taken to Hollywood Receiving Hospital in an ambulance but left later by himself. There was some mild violence at RKO-Pathe when several men trying to go through the lines to work on "Katie For Congress" were hustled about and chased off the lot by pickets. No injuries were reported.

That strike "crippled the major studios" was admitted by Byron Price. Hardest hit were Warners and Metro, two studios that are the particular targets of the striking unions. Warners was forced to shutter five pictures, "Cry Wolf," "Deception," "Life With Father," "Possessed" and "Stallion Road," when only about 10 per cent of 2,500 regular employes crossed the four-deep picket lines parading before all entrances.

Metro and RKO-Pathe were closed down, with no shooting. Metro reported that some workers checked on the lot during the afternoon, but production was still crippled, reflecting power of the mass picket lines. Number of pickets were reduced later in the day but effect on production remained. 20th-Fox had two pictures before the cameras, but shooting was halted because of failure of non-striking workers to cross the line before their unions could give them instructions on procedure.

PAR LINE DROPPED

Paramount had no pictures on schedule at the lot, those in work being on location, so picket line was discontinued at 3 p.m. At Goldwyn's work halted on "Secret Life of Walter Mitty" and "The Best Years of Our Lives." Nero's "The Chase," independent production, failed to roll either when electricians failed to show. Everybody else in the company showed for work. RKO reported "Riffraff" and "Beat the Band" continued shooting, but actually there was only one film in work, "It's A Wonderful Life" at the studio ranch. Columbia reported five films before the cameras.

"Bel Ami," Loew-Lewin production, was slated to go at RKO-Pathe but moved to Enterprise because of picket lines at the Culver City studios. It will shoot there today also.

At RKO, a lumber truck refused to go through the lines, and at Paramount a produce truck also failed to go through. Several near-incidents were reported at RKO's Marathon street gate, on one occasion a driver was yanked out of his truck by pickets. Universal got only two pictures before the cameras, a shortage of electricians being the principal reason why production went off-schedule at this lot.

Republic was picket-bound until about 11 a.m. when a number of workers filtered through lines and reported for duty. After generators were started by an unknown workman, four companies were assembled on stages and shooting proceeded on a quartet of pictures.

GOLDWYN SHOWS 'KID' IN CLOUDS WITH SUCCESS

Mills airport, South San Francisco, to prove it could be done.

Five previous attempts to show motion pictures in the wild blue yonder had failed because of technical difficulties, but "Kid From Brooklyn" finally showed the film industry and air transportation officials, both watching the experiment as a boon to long distance travel, that it is feasible.

The Skymaster took off from Burbank at 5:30 p.m., and immediately thereafter the interior was blacked out and "Kid From Brooklyn" came out of his corner fighting. By the time Danny Kaye had become welterweight champion of the world, Virginia Mayo was clutching him for the fadeout and "The End" was flashed on the screen, the Skymaster's wheels touched the good earth of northern California, bringing the world's first aerial projection room out of the clouds at about 7:30 p.m.

Here are some of the technical aspects of the flight:

Print shown was a non-inflammable 16m Kodachrome.

To provide the extra voltage required for the projector, a specially-constructed converter was air-expressed from the East.

A special stand was used to hold the projector and protect it against the vibrations of the plane.

Amplifying system within the plane was boosted to overcome the soundproofed interior of the plane. Even more amplifiers, passengers in the rear of the plane felt, would have provided better hearing in the last rows but the sound was perfect for those in the front.

Happily missing in the airborne version of film-going were such audience hazards as crying babies, popcorn-crunchers, parcel-rustlers and characters who insist on a scene-by-scene commentary for their neighbors.

The band of pioneers who caught the first sky screening were fortified with food and drink at Villa Chartier near the airport and then returned to Los Angeles by the same Western Air Lines plane. "Kid From Brooklyn" is a four-motor picture—at least when viewed in a Skymaster.

Major Bowes Leaves $200,000

New York, July 2.—Maj. Edward Bowes left estate in excess of $200,000, it was disclosed here today when the will was filed for probate. St. Patrick's Cathedral was named as residuary legatee of estate. Legacies ranging from $500 to $10,000 were bequeathed to 61 charitable organizations, including $10,000 each to Society of California Pioneers, San Francisco, and Corpus Christi Monastery, Menlo Park, Calif.

Industry Dividends Run To $2,353,000 In April

Washington, July 2.—Motion picture industry dividends continue to run well ahead of last year, on the basis of latest Department of Commerce figures. Hypoed by a Warner melon of $1,800,000, first of the year for this company, picture dividends for April reached the impressive total of $2,353,000, as contrasted with $386,000 for April, 1945. Republic Pictures added to the total with

TICKET TAX CUT UNLIKELY

Washington, July 2.—There will be no cut in admissions taxes for some time to come if John Snyder, new Secretary of the Treasury, has his way. A spokesman for Snyder said today that the Secretary is opposed to any change in existing excise rates and that the Treasury will refuse to recommend reductions.

Although Rep. Harold Knutson (R. Minn.), ranking minority member of the House ways and means committee, has been pressing for a return to the pre-war rates, he admitted this afternoon there is no chance of getting anything through in the face of Treasury opposition.

NEW BO HIGH SEEN BY POLL

New York, July 2.—Film grosses for next fall and winter will reach new all-time peaks, it was predicted today by Al Sindlinger, head of the Gallup Audience Research Institute. Forecast is based on current surveys made by the organization.

Present slump is strictly temporary, according to the research exec, who said it was a result of pent-up travel desires and other forms of amusements. No indication was shown, however, of a diminution of interest in films. First upswing in b.o. take should start around July 15, with public tiring of traveling.

Vast Distrib Changes, New Theatre Formula Foreseen

New York, July 2.—Vast change in the entire pattern of distribution is anticipated in top bracket film circles when theatre building again is possible, regardless of anti-trust decision.

More first-run houses are in the offing, with longer playing time predicted. Giant super-de luxe theatres will be eliminated in future construction, with plans calling for modest 1,000 seaters.

Product will be more diffused, according to outlook, with first-runs not having fresh film supply easily available, thereby forcing longer runs.

AGREE ON 25 PERCENT INCREASE

Strike against major studios came to an end last night when producers and striking crafts reached an agreement on basic terms of new wage scales. Settlement was marked by entry of all labor factions into the discussion to bring accord once again to the Hollywood production field.

Strikers return to work this morning under the agreement, which pro-

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

WARNER Bros. bombshell in 1926, talking pictures, caused a hurry of all pantomiming artists to elocution experts to learn how to talk, and especially did they go to Professor William Ray MacDonald of USC's school of speech. He had worked out an elaborate classification system guaranteed to make a Gravel Gertie give with pear-shaped tones. Having been on legit boards himself, MacDonald took down the old Greek lexicon and catalogued voice characteristics in an entirely new array of terms. Glance at the professor's charts today indicates how mysterious the switch to talk must have been. His impressive card on Anita Page, Metro player, describes her voice as ''euphthogophonic, poistophonic, malthocophonic, sclerophonic, diaprysiphonic, katohypobariphonic, apneustophonic, ischnophonic, and paphladsophonic.'' Or in simple English: ''Page's pipes perfect.''

ONE of the wonders of the music biz is fact that although Jimmie Rogers died in 1933, ditties he composed have been continually published posthumously at the rate of 30 or 40 a year. The Southern Music Co., to whom Rogers was under pact, already has issued more than 800 of his compositions, and approximately 200 manuscripts are still in files for future feeding to public. Undoubtedly Rogers was the most prolific of all professional hillbilly-song writers. During his lifetime he worked on a straight royalty basis of one cent per sheet-music copy sold, and this figure still is paid widow by Southern. Another distinction enjoyed by Rogers during lifetime was having each of his tunes recorded in one or more versions by Victor; since his demise the plattery has continued practice.

ALTHOUGH the song ''Colonel Buffalo Bill'' no longer is used in the Broadway musical ''Annie Get Your Gun,'' Irving Berlin Music Corp. is publishing ditty along with 14 other tunes still in show. This is rather a rare occurence, but with professional copies of ''Buffalo'' having ben printed in advance, before song was sliced from ''Annie'' during out-of-NY break-in, several orks got sheets and worked up arrangements and now are using tune. Berlin Music feels that with a little pressure, song might be shoved profitably. Piece was dropped from musical when scene in which it was used was deleted to streamline show.

PARAMOUNT is handing Harry Grey, brought in last week under contract as producer, the task of working out musicals which will best project talents of such players as Diana Lynn, Cass Daley and Billy De Wolfe. Company is understood long to have had in mind such a series for development of musical figures, but never put into concrete form until after talks with Grey. Producer came to Paramount with years of musical-picture experience, having turned out some of Republic's best over period of years.

Deal is that B & W will furnish stampers to enable club to make the vinylite platters which it sends its subscribers, and the waxery also handles the royalty payments to talent, composer and publisher. In addition, it is estimated, B & W will profit about four cents on each disc sold.

TRANSCRIPTION peddlers and other itinerants in radio report flock of new indie stations springing up throughout west from border to border, particularly in rural areas. And more and more seem to be going for transcriptions in preference to recordings, it's reported, among both established stations and the newcomers. Trend is reported by old biscuit factories as well as the come-latelies.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

If I were conservative minded, I'd say it's still too early to say whether we shall have a wild period of inflation. That could be based on concentrating my attention on the efforts being made by most grocers, most butchers, most department and specialty stores, to hold the line. Business also is holding back. But all these efforts at restraint can be put at nothing but the other pressures in force. The livestock markets, for instance, have been so thronged with hogs and cattle these last few days, selling at such record high prices, that meat, for one item, already up, will go still higher. If meat were the only one, this pressure would not be important. But the trend is upward in cotton, wool, poultry, dairy products, wheat, and in other commodities. It is so strong a pressure in rents that the Los Angeles city council had to allow a 15 per cent increase, and Congress will probably do the same thing. I do not mean to blame landlords who report losses back over years, or farmers who have been holding back stock and do not refuse a high price. I'm just reporting. But part of the report is also that this pressure will force retail mark-ups not only in these commodities, but in all. Chemicals, as an instance, which have not been controlled, have been selling at less than 1939 costs, but they cannot stay there if costs rise. They were aided by controls on other items. Also, investment funds, now standing back and waiting, will be released. The effect this time may well be beyond 1929, and once the balloons are released and away, you can't call them back. Despite the restraint of some, I'm afraid the wild spree is on.

Down Missouri Way

(Musical)

PRC RELEASE. Producer-director, Josef Berne. Original screenplay, Sam Neuman. Photography, Vincent J. Farrar. Original songs, Kim Gannon, Walter Kent. Vocal and orchestral arrangements, Walter Greene. Musical director, Karl Hajos. Assistant manager, Louis Germonprez. Art director, Edward C. Jewell. Set decorations, Glenn P. Thompson. Costumes, Karlice. Sound, John Carter. Editor, W. Donn Hayes.

CAST—Stars Martha O'Driscoll, William Wright, Eddie Dean, John Carradine. Features Roscoe Karns, Renee Godfrey, Mabel Todd. Supporting players, Chester Clute, Will Wright, Paul Scardon, Earl Hodgins, Eddie Craven, The Tailor Maids, The Notables and "Shirley."

PREVIEWED at Four Star Theatre, Los Angeles, Calif., July 2, 1946. Running time: 73 MINS.

"Down Missouri Way" is a compact cornfed musical which should net PRC plenty of moola on its investment. Piece carries large number of hit songs cleffed by Kim Gannon and Walter Kent, and has been accorded type of production values and treatment which will appeal to PRC market. Laughs are interspersed with musical enjoyment to extent film can stand on its own in any company.

Original screenplay by Sam Neuman actually is a backdrop for the Gannon-Kent tunes, so outstanding are their eight numbers. Starring Martha O'Driscoll, William Wright, Eddie Dean and John Carradine, with Roscoe Ates, Renee Godfrey and Mabel Todd featured, plot unfolds on the Missouri farm owned by Miss O'Driscoll, and numbers go toward narration of action.

Particularly outstanding is "Never Knew That I Could Sing," credited to Miss O'Driscoll, with star also warbling "I'm So In Love With You," both assured high popularity. Renee Godfrey's "Big Town Gal" provides big musical production number of picture, Mabel Todd and Eddie Dean offering slick comedy in their respective renditions.

Story is simple but effective, Miss O'Driscoll playing an agricultural college professor who has trained a donkey, Shirley, which a Hollywood movie troupe, using her farm as a location, casts in a key spot in picture. Josef Berne, as producer-director, has taken this script and contrived piece of entertainment which average audience will leave humming some of its tunes.

Star quartet, with Wright playing opposite Miss O'Driscoll, as movie producer, Dean the farm's hired hand and Carradine presenting a magnificent satire, a la Barrymore, of a movie director, deliver strongly, with other members of cast up to par. Miss Godfrey is an attractive heavy, Roscoe Ates plays Mabel Todd's feudin' father.

Technical departments without exception were well handled.

Hollywood Strike Ends, Workers Get 25 pct Hike

vides a 25 per cent wage increase and other terms offered by producers last Sunday.

New agreement, substantially the same as producers' last offer, runs until Dec. 31, 1947, but may be reopened Jan. 1, 1947 on wages only provided cost of living has advanced more than five per cent between now and that date. Wage increases are effective July 15.

Provision was made that all new contracts shall pledge the local unions to settle disputes among unions by arbitration. Yesterday's four-and-a-half hour session between producers and unions followed a challenge from the IATSE to the CSU to meet with major studios and negotiate on the wages and contract issue, if that was the only reason for the strike.

After agreement had been made, parties involved consumed greater length of time preparing a joint release in an attempt to give all sides credit for the accord.

The agreement provides:

(1) A 25 per cent increase in basic wage scales, with a provision that special inequities will be open to negotiation.

(2) Effective date of the wage agreement to be July 15.

(3) Guarantee of a cumulative 36-hour week for six-hour daily employes, with overtime rate of time and a half to start after six hours of any day; the 36-hour guarantee to apply only to workers off production.

(4) Studios to be free to hire machinists on the open market while the machinists' case is pending before the National Labor Relations Board, with agreement on the part of all unions involved that there will be no work stoppage and no 'hot sets' as result of dispute over machinists' work. Studios to accept the NLRB decision and negotiate with whatever union is certified.

(5) Contracts to be negotiated within 30 days for the crafts under Local 1421 and the Cartoonists and Story Analysts.

(6) The 25 per cent wage increase to apply to machinists and publicists until the bargaining agents for both groups are determined by the National Labor Relations Board, with the understanding that the certified agents will negotiate contracts on the basis of these wage rates.

(7) Contracts to be negotiated for a two-year period, ending December 31, 1947, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1946, with the understanding that the contracts may be reopened on January 1, 1947, solely on the issue of wages if the cost of living as determined by the Bureau of Labor Statistics shall have increased five per cent or more between July 1, 1946 and Jan. 1, 1947; wage negotiations to be based on the amount of increase in living costs.

SWG CALLS MEET

Emergency membership meeting has been called for tonight by the executive board of Screen Writers Guild for discussion of the studio strike and guild's position. Despite yesterday's settlement of strike, SWG is going ahead with meeting, to be held in Beverly Hills hotel Palm Room at 8:15 p.m. A general membership meeting also is scheduled for Friday, July 12 in the California Room of the Roosevelt hotel, but its agenda will cover guild's move for licensing of writer material and other progressive plans of the organization.

NY Niteries To Hold Price Lines

New York City, July 2.—New York niteries will attempt to hold price ceilings though OPA prices are non-operative currently. Bonifaces declare they'll attempt operation with present ceilings unless food prices advance to the point where these cannot be held. Predicting that the ceilings will be re-installed soon, operators are shying away from hikes through fear of public dissatisfaction.

Wayne Winds First As Producer-Star

Film Review

Passkey To Danger

(Melodrama)

REVIEWED at the Million Dollar, Los Angeles, July 2, 1946. Running time: 57 MINS.

"Passkey to Danger" is modest melodrama in light vein. It has been given excellent production values in mounting, plus okay playing and direction to cover a few story flaws in an otherwise competent script. For release intentions, film measures up to requirements, offering chuckles and melodrama in sufficient quantity to keep on the move.

Kane Richmond is seen as a go-getter advertising man who launches a teaser campaign about the "Three Springs" for a fashion house. He keeps secret how the campaign will wind up, even from the man buying it. That's one story implausibility. Another is that three crooks, believed dead for many years, would think that Richmond was referring to them and readying an expose of their mask of respectability. Meller pattern is fitted together nicely to strengthen these basic weaknesses in the original script by O'Leta Rhinehart and William Hagens, and finale leaves audiences with a good chuckle.

Lesley Selander's direction is nicely paced. Richmond is good as the hero, backed up by nifty light performance from Stephanie Bachelor. Adele Mara is a pleasing femme menace. Male heavy work is capably turned in by Gregory Gay, Gerald Mohr, John Eldredge, George J. Lewis.

William J. O'Sullivan functioned as associate producer, correlating material for best effect. William Bradford's lensing, musical direction by Richard Cherwin and other factors measure up.

Briskin Shuts Door On Producers

New York, July 2.—Sam Briskin, veepee-treasurer of Liberty Films, declared today the outfit is not taking in producers in addition to himself, Capra, Wyler and Stevens. Fear that the company might turn out too many pictures yearly for convenient release helped force this decision. Briskin disclosed that the present contract with RKO calls for four pictures at one yearly minimum.

LEGIT OPENING

TALENT TIME

"Talent Time" opened at the Wilshire-Ebell theatre last night and looked like a dancing school Saturday afternoon show for the kiddies' mothers. Without doubt it is the most ineptly performed, badly presented, inexpertly rehearsed production ever offered to an audience for a price. There is nothing to recommend the show at all, and it would be kinder to mention no one's name connected with it.

16M MEN FORM MINIATURE HAYS OFFICE

United Sixteenmillimeter Society has been formed by group of professionals as non-profit organization to act as clearing house of information between producers, distributors and exhibitors. Miniature Hays office is headed by Daniel Clark, former executive director of photography for 20th-Fox, and Jack Stanfield, also formerly with 20th. Allen Stensvold, indie lenser, and Arthur Miller and Clyde De Vinna, both currently with 20th, comprise remainder of five-man board.

Intention is to bring together all those engaged in any phase of 16m business for interchange of information. Producers, writers, directors, photographers, distributors, exhibitors, processors and others are being invited to join. Monthly bulletin will be issued.

WB WILL REBUILD ENGLISH STUDIO

New York, July 2.—Max Milder, managing director of Associated British Picture Corporation, and Warners revealed today that Associated is spending $2,600,000 remodeling the Elstree studios and that Warners is laying out $1,400,000 rebuilding the Teddington studios. Associated is scheduling a big productions line-up, the first picture to be Terence Rattigan's legiter, "While the Sun Shines." A deal with Warners, permitting Associated to import top name American stars, will be finalized after Milder planes to America.

A UNIVERSAL RELEASE

THE GRAPEVINE: British film bigwigs are doing a burn over censorship difficulties encountered in getting their product into the United States. Motion Picture Association demanded retakes and deletions before accepting for distribution in the U.S. two recent British releases, "The Wicked Lady," a Gainsborough production, and "The Rake's Progress," an Individual film. Both films had been distributed in Great Britain without cuts or retakes necessary for U.S. screening . . . Rita Hayworth is expected to file for divorce from Orson Welles Aug. 1. Court calendar is crowded until then. She is turning thumbs down on the idea of a Nevada divorce, declaring she doesn't "want any fake address stuff" or the possibility of Reno divorces being tagged illegal at some future date . . . Anna Magnani, one of the stars of the Italian-made "Open City," who made a vivid impression on U.S. audiences, is coming to Hollywood . . . Andrea King is at Lake Saranac, New York, for a month's stay . . . Kent Smith bought a ranch in Nevada and will vacation there a couple of months each year . . . Major networks are barring "I'm in a Rare Sort of Mood," written by Sidney Miller and Stanley Cowan. It's the lament of a tea-hound—tea-smoking, that is . . . Yes, that's Rudy Vallee tooling around in a new jeep.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Cutest Story Idea of the Day — from Michael Robinson's "Most Likely to Succeed," play bought by Hal Wallis for film production. Comedy revolves around elderly veteran who returns to Princeton under the GI Bill of Rights, after having been expelled from the school 20 years previously . . . The Stan Kenton band will probably be developing protocol and forcing song-pluggers to wear striped pants next. Already it has achieved a diplomatic tone by referring to its band-boy, Ed Gabel, as its official Charge d'Affaires . . . Enterprise has acquired another gadget. Newest gimmick is a cleaning and drying plant for its wardrobe department. Studio soon will be living in its own little world, self-sufficient as an oyster . . . Our downtown agent reports that an ex-GI has set up a 30-power telescope at Pershing Square and is selling peeks at Jupiter each clear evening. Eyepiece is obviously a Jap artillery observation instrument, souvenired and reconverted by the enterprising lad . . . Dog Days note: Buttons, a six-year-old terrier appearing in Paramount's "The Emperor Waltz," watched a poodle, working in the same picture, go through his routine for the camera, including a sneezing trick. Buttons is now sneezing, too. His trainers are undecided whether Buttons has a cold, is clowning or has stolen a gag, like any good comedian.

CALL SHEET: XAVIER CUGAT may take a whirl at a straight acting chore. Keenan Wynn wants him for a role in "The Petrified Forest," which Wynn will direct and star in for the Laguna Beach stock company. However, with all these summer stock yens, it's a question of "will you love me in August (when it comes time to get down to learning lines) as you did in June?" . . . ARCH OBOLER will deliver lectures before University of Washington drama students this fall . . . MAYOR WILLIAM O'DWYER pulled out yesterday for New York after acting as godfather to Pat O'Brien's Kathleen Bridget at her christening and presenting her with a medallion from Archbishop Spellman . . . DR. CAREY McCORD'S just published "A Blind Hog's Acorns" is loaded with medical anecdotes of interest to writers grubbing about for material . . . COL. HANS MEIER-MULLER, chief surgeon of the Swiss Air Force, visited Metro's "The Beginning or the End" set yesterday . . . ETHEL MEGLIN reports that due to the interim meat shortage some Hollywood restaurants, instead of serving meatballs and spaghetti, are putting out one meatball attached to a yo-yo . . . PEGGY RYAN and FAY HOLDEN have been added to the weekend junket to Portland which Walter Wanger is staging for the world preem of "Canyon Passage."

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Eight years ago, when Edward Small first started announcing production of "Life of Rudolph Valentino," one Giovanni Ameralli made a special trip from Rome to bid for the Valentino role. He was turned down as being too old for the part. Yesterday, having heard of Small's revival of plans for the Valentino film, telephoned from Rome to renew his application, insisting that he "feels younger than ever" . . . Coals to Newcastle trend: Rita La Roy, the ex-siren of the screen now operating a model training school and agency, has brought the NY cover girl, June Bright, out here to brighten the fashion ads . . . Hay & Grain note: Paramount has leased a quarter-section of wheat land in Antelope Valley for location shooting on "The Big Haircut" . . . Quite a melee in Republic's "Sioux City Sue" yesterday when "Frisky," a 10-day-old colt, developed an early streak of temperament. He played dead for a scene with Gene Autry, but as soon as the ropes were removed from his hooves he kicked Autry in the shins, booted over a baby floodlight and broke the lens in the still man's camera . . . Hard up for a punchline today, we'll have to crib one from Leslie Charteris' sprightly weekly letter. Charteris was talking with Leonard Keeler, lie detector inventor, the other night. Charteris asked Keeler what reaction his gadget would have on an asylum inmate who believed he was a poached egg, and Keeler said "the detector will vouch for the fact that he is indeed a poached egg." Charteris adds, "Those of my readers who believe themselves to be poached eggs may now relax, assured that science cannot yet take that away from them."—D.D.T.

'SURPRISE PARTY' GOOD DISTAFFER ENTERTAINMENT

Distaffers for whom shows o "Party" calibre are designed should be pleased with this latest effort a entertaining via tried 'n true formula of the hen klatch. It has all the elements of sister shows, giveaways o femme doo-dads and household niceties, semi-exposure of milady's inner thoughts anent home, hubby and other matters in life-of-the-housewife, plus the elements of mild mystery, surprise, satisfaction of curiosity dear to the girls, and enjoyment of amusement at expense of the on-stage Colonel's lady.

Familiar "now girls" pattern is enhanced with addition of note of mystery in remote pickup of three of six interviewees via crosstalk shortwave between studio (live audience participants) and trio of varied and separated gals-at-market. Stu Wilson m.c.'s from Columbia Playhouse and handles studio banter, while Maurie Webster and Bob Shannon "kill" the girls remotely. Then all six women are stage-herded for sponsor largesse of array of gifts and for award of super handout to the winner of day's question and answer finale.

Handling from remote points of homes, markets, etc., give show interestingly different flavoring of human interest. For sponsor, G. Washington's pulverized java the material and usual locale is a natural. For entertainment, femme setters will be with it—but every minute—as the youthful and politely joshing gabbers corral their prey. Share-the-glare contributors who furnish giveaways get slightly robbed with brief mentions while coffee maker, unsatisfied with worked-in plugs, overworks virtues of the brew.

It's not surprising that initialer went off with unusual smoothness since much practice went into the deal prior to supreme test. However, it remains, for the type, a credit to all concerned.

AVODON BALLROOM IN UPROAR ON BOOKING SNARL

Band-booking snarl occurred yesterday causing uproar at Avodon ballroom and in local office of Frederick Bros.' agency which hadn't completely cleared by late last night. Agency recently submitted Georgie Auld's ork to Avodon, and ballroom-corp's prez, Jack Rogers, signed contract to give band $2,700 per week for four stanzas commencing July 17. Pact was then sent to FB for signatures.

Over weekend, Avodon manager Barney McDevitt telephoned Auld in Chicago, where he opened Friday at El Grotto, and batoneer stated he was in present spot for five weeks, which would overlap opening carded here, and also that he had severed from FB. Further, Auld said he had been booked for one-niter tour following El Grotto date by General Artists Corp., precluding entirely possibility of playing here during period for which he was pacted by Avodon.

McDevitt tossed the issue to Tom Kettering, Frederick veepee, who last night said he still somewhat was at sea about the tangled affair. He stated Auld had been peddled to Avodon in good faith, since agency thought it could curtail run of leader at El Grotto and put in Cootie Williams' combo, but that shortly after contract had been sent to Avodon, he learned from Chicago office that El Grotto operator had insisted on keeping Auld and that Frederick Bros. had to oblige since Chi spot was being exclusively booked by agency and hence carefully handled.

Kettering also said that at time he offered Auld here he was under impression that agency and Auld were tied by a pact which extended into late August and therefore date here was covered. Avodon toppers last night were sizzling, since Auld "buy" occurred after long dickering and now site has nothing to follow present ork, Henry Busse crew, which closes in two weeks.

By JACK HELLMAN

More years ago than we care to remember a sage piece of advice seeped into our conscience, and better still, it stuck there. It had to do with honesty being a good policy and even though at times we've teetered (oh, in a small way) we've clung to the general idea. So, being quite honest about it, we're going to say here and now that what lengthens down this pillar isn't what could even carelessly be called news. There just isn't enough of it breaking, being hiatus season and week broken in the middle by a holiday. But if there was you'd know where to read it. There's nothing new on the Bing Crosby-GM deal, the credit fight between NBC and Metro has simmered to a ripple and we're awaiting word on what accounts Bob Colwell, Don Stauffer, Heagen Bayles, et al, are taking with them in their new agency setup. There are a few piddlin' items of passing interest and those you'll find in Hitch Hikes or Chain Breaks. Ergo, the developments being unrevoltin', we'll resort to an old dodge of column packers—reminiscing. So with that thought in mind we latched on to Murray Bolen as he passed our open door. We knew he could go away back and rattle a few skeletons so we asked him to give out with a paragraph or two. Here's what he laid on our desk next day.

"That was a nice bit of reminiscing John Swallow did in your column the other day. Believe me, it set the old memory wheels rolling, not only for me but I imagine a lot of other guys around town. Is it alright if I make John turn one more page back? It's around 1935 and John is general manager of KFVD, representing the O. R. Fuller interests. Under John, and acting as his program manager, was a chap named Tom Breneman. It was a pretty important job, being program manager in those days. Tom's job, as I recall, entailed telling what announcer to spin what records at what time and for what trade deal. But, and that's a big but, KFVD also boasted some very fancy live talent. Live? Well . . .

"There was the Happy Go Lucky Trio (no relation to Al Pearce) and a very snazzy team called Two Jokers of Harmony, which held forth as a piano-singing team for an hour a day. I remember that team well. I should since is consisted of Murray (that's me) and Harris and we worked for a snappy thirty-five a week. Yes, and we were plenty happy to get it considering the competition then in the harmony field. Look who we were bucking: Glenhall Taylor and Arnold Maguire were holding forth as a piano-patter team; Tom and Dud Williamson were having at it as a duo; Cliff Arquette and Lolly were doing a stint on KFWB; Don Wilson was half of a harmony team (now he'd make a whole one) called "The Two Starving Songwriters." Then there were a couple of other lads who looked like they might go places. One was Phil Harris, drummer with the Lofner-Harris orchestra, who was constantly singing "Constantly." But our real competition came from a group known as The Rhythm Boys (Crosby, Barris and Rinker). Even the public thought they were good."

Chain breaks . . . Wanna make something out of this? Jimmie Fidler will share the Carter Products Sunday half hour on ABC with a dramatic piece called "The Policewoman" . . . Herb Lyon is leaving Balaban & Katz television department, which he heads, to join the Stanley & Kramer agency as pic and video rep . . . Vick Knight and Mort Lewis are writing a theatre act for Roddy McDowall . . . Ken Dolan has discovered a new "Beulah" character and is building a show around him similar to the late Marlin Hurt format. Only the voice of the Negro maid will be used by his discovery and if the show is sold a royalty will be paid to Hurt's widow. Lewis-Howe (Tums), which sponsored Hurt, is said to be interested . . . It was Jay Sommers who whipped up that opening script for Jack Kirkwood. Given the assignment Saturday, he turned in the finished article Monday morning with story line, incidental dialog and character establishment . . . Pete Jaeger trains for Chicago today to put Don McNeil between Souvenair album covers . . . Tom Revere, now making pottery in Conn., is being called "King of the Thunder Mugs" . . . Charles O'Malley is now heading up Allied Broadcasting Co.

In the evolution of show business when one art form, so-called, shows signs of tiring another is rushed in. Who is there among us to quarrel with the reasoning that radio is getting a little thin around the edges and would welcome relief? What's coming naturally requires no crystal ball so as the minutes tick off television is getting that much closer. It's here and ready but there's one big question remaining to be answered—who's going to pay for it? Once that is out of the way the hurdles will all be down. Just to give you an idea of how close we are to the real thing we quote a remark by Don Thornburgh, who saw the Louis-Conn thing on television. "It was as perfect as anything you see on a picture screen." Tele is not just close, it's on the doorstep ready to be taken in.

Hitch hikes . . . Hubbell Robinson won out over two network bidders and landed Doug Coulter for Foote, Cone & Belding. He'll be special assistant to Robinson and run the New York end while the headman is shuttling between the two coasts . . . Herschel Williams, Jr., veteran agency producer recently mustered out of the Air Forces with the rank of colonel, joined CBS in NY as director of commercial program development . . . Don Lee's "California Melodies," airing since 1930, gets full play on Mutual starting tomorrow. J. C. Lewis produces and Harry Zimmerman directs the music . . . Al Pearce has been ordered by his medic to forget about radio for a year and rest up following a slight stroke which affected his left leg. It comes at a time when ABC is near closing with a client for his ABC program . . . Production huddles at KNX have as yet failed to develop anything startling but will be continued through next week.

SKIP NELSON GETS AGVA HEARING, TROC TABOOED

At a hearing held yesterday at local office of American Guild of Variety Artists, vocalist Skip Nelson was ordered off floor show at Trocadero. Nelson was pulled out last Thursday after Arthur Kaye, AGVA regional chief, visited Troc on routine check and found that singer could produce neither union-membership card nor contract covering appearance in spot.

Nelson's explanation was that he lost his credentials when a suit was stolen from dressing room several nights before Kaye's visit. At the hearing Nelson paid up two quarter's dues, totaling $24, in which he was in arrears, and promised he would not again perform sans a standard contract. He said he had not been tendered one by Norman Stoller, Troc operator, when he opened at spot on June 20. When he revealed he had been getting $75 per week for the engagement, AGVA officials countered that figure was under union scale for a principal performer.

Warbler's AGVA standing is unimpaired, and he may accept any engagement, providing union rules are abided by, with exception of an immediate return to the Troc, where engagement was of dubious duration because no contract covered it.

CAPITOL BISCUITS HIT MARKET AS DISC WAR LOOMS

Initial releases of Capitol Transcriptions hit market yesterday as newcomer in biscuit field shipped its first platters to some two dozen subscribing stations. Opening batch was on schedule, having been originally promised for July 1. For a time it looked like material shortages and strikes would hold up delivery but extra pressure all around eliminated barriers.

Cap expects to be servicing some 50 stations by end of August and, when contracts between stations and other libraries come up in fall, it expects to move in on considerably more. Event will probably precipitate all-out battle between platteries, unless stations take more than one service. Walter Davidson, general sales manager of Cap, arrives from New York July 9 to hold five-day sales confab here and prepare for drive.

Stress is being laid on fact that Cap has signed exclusive contracts with talent it has plattered, including Duke Ellington, who signed transcription contract for first time. Under terms no Cap personalities are permitted to record for other transcription outfits.

At present all of production of discs is done from here. Majority of recordings were also made here. Initial distribution is also being handled directly by Cap from its Vine Street location, while cabinets, catalog files and other equipment that go with service are being shipped from Globe-Warnecke plant in Cleveland.

Joanell James Inked for 'Wagon'

Joanell James, blonde songstress, was signed yesterday by 20th-Fox and makes her screen debut in George Jessel's "Band Wagon." Gal was spotted by Dick Haymes when she was singing at the Buttery of Ambassador West hotel in Chicago.

Broadway May Get 'Likely To Succeed'

"Most Likely to Succeed" may be produced on Broadway this fall, prior to Hal Wallis filming the production for Paramount. Wallis acquired the comedy by Michael Robinson while in the east. Douglas Dick will star in the film version.

Bacon Seeks Rights For 'In His Arms'

Lloyd Bacon is dickering for film rights to the Rex Beach novel, "World in His Arms," planning to produce it independently. Bacon's contract with 20th-Fox allows him to produce one picture a year elsewhere.

Metro Guns 'Dance'

Metro puts "The Unfinished Dance" before the lenses today with Margaret O'Brien starred. Henry Koster is directing and Joe Pasternak is producing. Cyd Charisse and Danny Thomas are featured.

Forester Inked

Cay Forester has been signed by Arthur Grossman and H. A. Conway for romantic lead in "The Legend of Lou." Opening is slated for August 15 on the Coast.

WASHINGTON HULLABALOO

By FLORENCE S. LOWE

Washington, July 2.—Uncle Sam is, by a wide margin, the largest operator of publicity, promotional and information activities in these United States. An admittedly incomplete survey for the fiscal year which ended on June 30 disclosed that upwards of 45,000 persons were employed either full time or part-time in the work and that the cost for the fiscal year was approximately $75,000,000.

Biggest single unit in the field was the State Department which spent upwards of $30,000,000 on personnel, material, short wave radio time, etc. Most of State's work is in the foreign field where it has taken over informational activities of the defunct Office of War Information and the Office of Inter-American Affairs.

Treasury, which went in extensively for war bond promotion, spent more than $11,000,000, despite the uncounted millions of free assistance it got from Hollywood, the radio stations, advertising industry, etc. If it had had to pay for what it got from these media, it would unquestionably rate No. 1 on the list.

Agriculture, which has important informational functions for farmers and uses radio and special films extensively, spent nearly $10,000,000.

Included in the overall expense is a considerable amount for production of films, radio time and talent, preparation of lantern slides sent out with lecturers, etc.

And while on the subject, it might be mentioned that private radio advertising during March cost a total of more than $17,318,000, according to the latest Government figures. This is close to the all-time high.

Biggest single chunk, as you may have guessed, was $5,408,000 spent to plug patent medicines and toilet articles. Food and beverage advertising rated second with $4,492,000. Soap was in third place with $1,406,000. Automobile advertising moved back into the running with $922,000, plus an additional $700,000 for gasoline and oil.

Elliott Roosevelt and the missus (Faye Emerson) here on one of their rare visits to attend the memorial session of Congress yesterday for FDR . . . Mary Cavanaugh, beauteous WRC-NBC flack, who has handled some of Hollywood's big radio names in their D.C. appearances, quitting to answer the call of wedding bells . . . Nate Golden, Department of Commerce film head, off to the VFW convention . . . Metro's Sam Marks in town to iron out last minute details for "Beginning or the End" . . . Anne Barnovitz, Girl Friday for Loew's Carter Barron, quits to join her husband in Chicago . . . D.C. Motion Picture Theatre Owners playing a prominent part in the big 4th of July "Cavalcade of Freedom" celebration on the Washington Monument grounds. Show, however, will lack the many fancy motion picture names of the war years.

Harry Revel, here to get government cooperation for Vetville, has project for housing disabled vets in each state. He got the blessing of Gen. Omar Bradley, VA chief, as well as many members of Congress. Revel said plenty of money was rolling in, thanks largely to big contributions from Hollywooders . . . Newest development on the silver front, scarcity of which is threatening the raw film supply, is that silver dollars will be "processed" into silver nitrate to prevent the shutdown of many film factories. Actually there is plenty of silver in Government storage, but the Congressional silver bloc won't let it be used.

The new ATA has gone on record in a way that does not give it a very auspicious start. By rejecting the government's food film "Seeds of Destiny" because it was "too gruesome," it has made clear that it will not approve any Government pix for theatrical screenings unless they are properly sugar-coated.

The fact is that starvation is a pretty gruesome subject and the only way to make Americans understand what goes on in Europe and other parts of the world is to tell the whole truth on the screen. Newspaper accounts seem to have failed miserably.

"Hullabaloo" is wondering about the tender stomachs of the ATA executives. Could it be that attending the special screening of the pic, upset the boys so that they could not enjoy their dinners to the full? That is what the picture is intended to do. No watered down version will ever do the job of convincing Americans why they should make sacrifices.

Yet the nix on the film has the Government in a position where it is considering making a mild half-reel length job to get it by the ATA censors. William Wells, film head of UNRRA, hit the roof after the rejection last week and is trying to find a way to get release through other channels. Here's wishing him luck!

Hollywood now dominates the screens of Finland again. Figures show that from July 29, 1945 to last Feb. 7, over 67 per cent of all films shown in Helsinki theatres were made in this country, with Finnish made pictures in second place with only 11 per cent. Sweden had 9.3 per cent and Britain only 3.4 per cent, with Russia close behind.

France, overloaded with studios, is currently trying to crash to market. It is trying to get in 100 films a year, but will probably settle for about 20. Germany used to be a major factor in that market, but it will be some time before German pix get back on Finnish screens. The Germans are not getting in any although even the Italians and Austrians are getting in a very little bit.

Export of U.S. raw film is going ahead merrily. In February, we shipped out over 7,000,000 feet of 35m positive stock and nearly 3,000,000 feet of negative. Large quantities of 16m stock were also exported.

Actual motion pictures exported amounted to a total footage of more than 19,000,000 during February, in addition to another 1,187,000 feet of exposed negatives plus about 3,000,000 feet of prints of shorts.

DON LEE DRIVES TO READY TELE EQUIPMENT

With commercial television station licensing in this area approaching realization, Don Lee experimental video outlet, W6XAO, has instituted campaign of equipment readiness. Station is taking pessimistic view of equipment delivery promises of manufacturers. So, to be prepared for the event equipment improvement drive has been started.

Vet station wants to preclude chance of being caught with its antenna down. So, with an eye to calendar program of repair and rebuilding of equally veteran equipment is in progress. Stress of activity is being confined to technical preparation with check-up extending from antenna to cameras now on hand. Regular programming is being kept on even keel and specials will be avoided until Harry Lubcke, director, gives nod to mechanical makeover of station.

In event new equipment is delivered in time, and after it is delivered in future if late as anticipated, present equipment will be put to use as auxiliaries and as standing equipment for remote pickups requiring portables.

New equipment is reportedly promised by Fall or no later than winter. Don Lee has impression that despite promises materials will be considerably later. Receivers are generally expected to be hitting market in some quantity by Fall and vet station of area wants to be certain to be in there pitching, with or without new stuff, since licensing is expected by August or September.

O'Shea Inked For 'District Attorney'

Michael O'Shea yesterday was inked for one of the leads in "Mr. District Attorney" by Sam Bischoff, who is producing the film for Columbia release. Upon conclusion of this film, O'Shea will go into "The Last of the Mohicans" at the same studio.

its first 1946 dividend, $100,000.

Cash dividend payments for the first four months of 1946 almost doubled the stockholders' take for the same period of last year. First third of 1946 totaled $10,647,000, contrasted with $5,024,000 for the comparable four months of 1945. Commerce figures also show net show business earnings for the first quarter of this year running unusually high. Entertainment field more than held its own with the best of the war years.

Five film, broadcasting and recreation companies showed an increase in profits of more than 102 per cent over the same quarter of 1945. Companies listed are CBS, Loew's, Paramount, 20th-Fox, and the Madison Square Garden in New York. Gains in this group were third highest for all industry groups.

With show business box office uniformly good, and the elimination of excess profits plus some reductions in other corporate levies, new highs in earnings are almost inevitable this year, according to commerce experts.

RKO Announces $60 Million Smash Slate With Top Talent

teenth Annual Sales Convention at the Waldorf-Astoria.

A minimum of 50 features, packed with some of the greatest star-names in the industry, will be distributed in the world market. Of this number, 34 will be produced by RKO producers, exceeding last year's company-produced releases. Sales program will be backed by the most potent advertising and exploitation program in company's history. Biggest part of the slate will be produced at the RKO studios in Hollywood under the active production supervision of prexy N. Peter Rathvon.

AFFILIATES NAMED

Among the group of producers-affiliates, whose product will be a major share of the program, are Walt Disney, Samuel Goldwyn, Liberty Films, Rainbow Productions, Jesse L. Lasky-Walter MacEwen, Robert Riskin Productions, Sol Lesser Productions and the films of Robert and Raymond Hakim.

"Never before in the company's history has there been such a fine balance of name stars, name producers and name properties," Depinet told the 400 delegates at the sales conclave. "The combination of all three elements guarantees top entertainment. We have powerful Hollywood names behind the cameras as well as in front of them. The stories have already proved their appeal in big-figure-circulation magazines and best sellers."

TOP NAME STARS

List of "name stars" featured in the company's forthcoming program includes: Brian Aherne, Pedro Armendariz, Dana Andrews, Lynn Bari, Ethel Barrymore, Lionel Barrymore, Barbara Bel Geddes, Joan Bennett, Ingrid Bergman, Charles Bickford, Wally Brown, Alan Carney, Morgan Conway, Tom Conway, Joseph Cotten, Robert Cummings, Laraine Day, Ralph Edwards, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Henry Fonda, Joan Fontaine, Cary Grant, Barbara Hale, Jack Haley, Susan Hayward, George "Gabby" Hayes, Anne Jeffreys, Boris Karloff, Danny Kaye, Alexander Knox, Gene Krupa, Frances Langford, Myrna Loy, Guy Madison, Fredric March, Maria Elena Marquez, Virginia Mayo, John Mills, Robert Mitchum, Thomas Mitchell, Sharyn Moffett, Frank Morgan, David Niven, Pat O'Brien, Martha O'Driscoll, Maureen O'Hara, Gregory Peck, Eric Portman, Dick Powell, George Raft, Raimu, Donna Reed, Flora Robson, Ginger Rogers, Rosalind Russell, Ann Rutherford, Robert Ryan, Randolph Scott, Martha Scott, Walter Slezak, James Stewart, Shirley Temple, Phillip Terry, Lawrence Tierney, Franchot Tone, Claire Trevor, James Warren, Johnny Weissmuller, Bill Williams, Teresa Wright, Loretta Young and Robert Young.

Features already completed and earmarked for early release are Alfred Hitchcock's "Notorious," which will tee off with a Radio City Music Hall presentation; "Sister Kenny," "Sinbad the Sailor," Dore Schary's production of "Till the End of Time," Frank Capra's first Liberty Films production, "It's A Wonderful Life," International's "The Stranger," "Woman on the Beach," "Honeymoon," "Lady Luck," and "The Locket."

These will be followed by "One Big Happy Family," a George Stevens production under the Liberty Films banner; an untagged Rainbow production directed by Leo McCarey; "Intermission"; initial film of three to be made by the Jesse L. Lasky-Walter MacEwen combo; and the Anatole Litvak production, "A Time To Kill," to be produced by Robert and Raymond Hakim.

MORE RELEASES

Walt Disney will have completed by September, "Song of the South," to be followed by "Fun and Fancy Free." Samuel Goldwyn currently has "The Best Years of Our Lives," and "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty," in production. Upon their completion, Goldwyn will start "The Bishop's Wife" and "Earth and High Heaven."

Also on the release schedules are Dore Schary's "Katie for Congress," "Nocturne," "Deadlier Than the Male," "Crack-Up," and "Mr. Fix."

In preparation for early starts before the cameras are "The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer," Robert Riskin's "The Magic City," "Christabel Caine," Sol Lesser's "Tarzan and the Temptress," "They Won't Believe Me," and "A Very Remarkable Fellow."

Expansion of RKO's international production plans is emphasized by company's foreign production slate. Program includes films already completed or to be produced in England, France and Mexico. Producer Adrian Scott and director Edward Dmytryk are currently in England for shooting there of "So Well Remembered." Company's film made in Great Britain, "Great Day," is now ready for release. Depinet disclosed that "The Pearl," filmization of the John Steinbeck yarn, has been completed bilingually in Mexico. In Paris, Rene Clair is currently readying "Golden Silence" for early production.

Depinet further disclosed that company will have a total of 176 shorts on its forthcoming schedule. Slate is headed by RKO-Pathe News with 104 single-reelers; 18 Walt Disney shorts; 13 "This Is America" releases, and six Edgar Kennedy-Leon Errol two-reel comedies. RKO-Pathe will keep on with i "Sportscopes" and "Flicker Flas backs." Rounding out the impos program, Depinet announced RKO will this year launch a new ies of four miniature musicals gether with choice revivals of a gr of four Ray Whitley two-reel mus westerns.

KITCHEN SCUFFLE TOLD ON RAEBURN AND BREITMAN

Mild fist-fight occured this week between band leader Boyd Raeburn and Jerry Breitman, manager of George Handy, the arranger for the Raeburn crew. Tussle took place in kitchen of Club Morocco, nitery in which band is current, reportedly after batoneer accused Brietman of making derogatory remarks about the combo.

Raeburn invited the manager outside, but punches were tossed before pair had wended their way through the scullery. Eyewitness asserts scuffle was more of a pull-and-tug affair than a slugging set-to, and neither bore marks of battle after they finally were separated by Lou Bolton, band manager.

ENGLISH-SPEAKING CHINA RADIO GOES ON THE ETHER

Shanghai, July 2.—First commercial and, at present, sole English language station to go into postwar operation in China is XORA, Shanghai. Station is operated by Central Broadcasting Administration of the Central Chinese government, and Howard Brown Co., of Hollywood, has been named exclusive U.S. representative. Operation started this month.

XORA is a combination of two stations, one for English and other for Chinese programs. Anglo outlet operates on 590 kilocycles with 500 watts, and Sino station is banded on 900 kilocycles with 1000 watts. Both operate average of 10 hours daily and broadcast time will be gradually expanded. Similar expansion powerwise is also planned, with Chinese tongue station going to 10,000 watts by fall, while other goes first to 2,000 watts. Other increases are planned regularly.

Stations are equipped for remote control programming and are equipped to handle transcriptions, using both 78 and 33 1/3 r.p.m. double turntables for vertical and lateral cut platters.

Strong pitch will be made for U.S. advertisers since station will service all key cities of central and south China, an area of untapped potentialities. Nanking, Hankow, Canton, Peiping and Hong Kong are covered by the Shanghai outlet.

SONGPLUGGER UNEMPLOYMENT HITS PEAK IN CAL.

With six members out of work, Coast songplugger unemployment situation has reached five-year peak and is certain to worsen since other pubs are planning to cut staffs. Off payrolls are Art Piantadosi and Sig Bosley of Southern Music, Al Stool, Stanley Music; Jimmy Campbell, Rudy Vallee Music; Harry Kessell Carol Music; Harry Hume, replaced at Jewel Music by Danny Cameron. Up until recently and through most of war years none of 117 local members of Music Publishers' Contact Employes (songpluggers' union) were unemployed.

Nationally, more pluggers are without affiliation than in many years, also. Pubs are holding up because sheet-music sales are off approximately 60 per cent. Figure was revealed yesterday at meeting of board of governors of Contact Employes, and is based on statistics supplied by the pubs' NY headquarters. Get-together yesterday was called to discuss ways and means of possibly stemming wave of increasing unemployment, but decision was merely to ride it out.

MOTHER'S ILLNESS SENDS ROULIEN BACK TO BRAZIL

Raul Roulien, Brazilian actor who arrived here Sunday from Rio de Janeiro as representative of new Brazilian production company currently in process of formation, received cable yesterday that his mother was critically ill and left last night for return home via plane.

Actor, who formerly was under contract to William Fox Co. about 15 years ago made 15 or 20 pictures for Sol Wurtzel at Western Avenue plant, came north for purpose of purchasing equipment for his new company, as yet unnamed. Company plans building studio in Rio. Roulien is expected back here later to spend two months.

U Denied Motion In Lloyd Case

Universal Pictures' motion for a summary judgment dismissing the $1,000,000 plagiarism suit filed against the company by Harold Lloyd was denied yesterday by Federal Judge Joseph L. Weinberger. The judge overruled Universal contention that Lloyd lost all copyright privileges when picture involved was previewed.

'Dog Shep' Set

"My Dog Shep," original screenplay by Gertrude Walker, was set for July 29 production start yesterday by William B. David, executive producer for Golden Gate Pictures.

U IN BONUS PLAN ON SALES

Plan for a percentage bonus, affecting entire sales personnel and contingent on gross sales, was announced yesterday by W. A. Scully, veepee and general salesmanager of Universal Pictures, in a wire to the studio here. Bonus pool will be made up of five per cent of the increased domestic and Canadian gross over last year's business, starting with the releasing year, September, 1946 and ending August, 1947. Distribution will be one per cent to district manager; one and one-half per cent to branch managers, and two and one-half per cent to salesmen, bookers and office managers.

'TWO SISTERS' TOP COIN GETTER IN JUNE

New York, July 2.—"Two Sisters" set the pace for golden dozen big coin-getters in June, according to Variety's weekly national box-office survey.

Following Metro film came "Postman Always Rings Twice," second, also Metro; "One More Tomorrow," third; with others, "Heartbeat," "Do You Love Me," "Badman's Territory," "Kitty," "Gilda," "The Bride Wore Boots," "Cluny Brown," "To Each His Own" and "The Outlaw."

Bryan Foy Inks Charles Trenet

Charles Trenet, French singer-actor-writer star, signed yesterday by Bryan Foy to a term ticket at Eagle-Lion. He was immediately assigned to write an original, "Of Thee I Dream," as a starring vehicle for himself. Adding still further to his player roster, Foy also signed Ken Farrell to a term contract and immediately set him in a featured role in "It's A Joke Son."

Ed. G. Robinson Sails for Hawaii

Edward G. Robinson, his role in Sol Lesser's "No Trespassing" completed, sails tomorrow with his family aboard S. S. Matsonia for Hawaii. He will be gone for several weeks, making tour of islands.

Shields Chored

Arthur Shields yesterday was set as the father of Dorsey brothers in Charles R. Rogers' "The Fabulous Dorseys."

INDIE STATIONS IN WAGE WRANGLE

Indie station managements went into huddle late yesterday to discuss wage wrangle in progress with International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, following impasse reached last Friday when both sides stuck to their guns on technician pay hikes. Bob Reynolds, g.m. of KMPC and head of Southern California Broadcasters, called management of 12 stations affected together.

It was not disclosed what developed from confab, Reynolds reporting that meeting was strictly a closed one and that all had been committed to silence. However, it's likely that plans were laid to combat effect of union's threat to "take stronger action" if negotiations failed by July 8 deadline. Feeling also is that there will be no action taken by either side until the deadline next Monday.

Theatre Pct. High In Building Nixes

Washington, July 4. — Roughly 10 per cent of all requests denied throughout the U.S. for commercial and industrial construction under the current freeze have been for theatres and other amusement places, a Civilian Production Administration official stated yesterday. CPA nixed 16,605 applications for construction totaling $723,033,000 during the first 13 weeks of the limitation order. Los Angeles was one of the big turndown areas, with 1,956 projects, to cost $67,609,000 rejected.

PROSER, CASSARA, RAFT BUY TROC

Trocadero lease has been sold to Monte Proser and Tom Cassara for a reported price of $60,000. Proser and Cassara head a group of names which include George Raft in the strip night-spot buy-in. $10,000 is understood to have been paid down on a 30 day option which was subsequently picked up by the new owners. Auditing of the stocks in the nightery will start today when the Proser auditors move in for check. The price for the latter will be set after the auditors have completed their estimate. Norman Staller, who sold the spot to Proser and Cassara refused to make any comment on the sale late last night.

SEEK 'HENRY' HOUSE IN NY

New York, July 4.—United Artists is faced with problem of finding suitable moveover house for "Henry V" in September. The J. Arthur Rank Technicolor special is continuing to garner heavy grosses at the City Center but that theatre is only available until the end of August.

Ballet season starts at the house Sept. 2, forcing UA to search for theatre that can carry a moveover, two-a-day roadshow screening of the picture. There is no intention now of going into regular runs.

Byrnes New Metro East Sales Chief

New York, July 4.—William F. Rodgers, Metro veepee in charge of sales, announced that John F. Byrnes, former Detroit district manager, has been appointed to company's eastern sales head berth vacated recently by E. K. O'Shea. Rodgers also disclosed creation of a new department to handle foreign importations, to be headed by William B. Zoelinger, former Atlanta branch manager.

MAY PIX PAY HITS SLOPE

Average weekly earnings in motion picture production by hourly workers decreased to $82.38 during May, from April's $84.57 average per week. Figure was still ahead of the weekly average of $81.10 paid during May, 1945, according to the California Labor Statistics Bulletin. Workers put in slightly more time each week to pick up their checks, averaging 46.9 hours for May as compared with 46.2 during April.

Index of employment showed an increase for May over April, according to the Bulletin. Figure advanced from April's 120.4 per cent to 126.9 per cent for May, and is way ahead of the index of 81.0 per cent for May, 1945. Index of payrolls increased along with employment index, moving up from 227.1 per cent in April to 233.2 per cent in May. Average hourly earnings were $1.807 in April, compared to $1.730 in May this year, and $1.679 in May, 1945.

Court Denies Hughes Stay In 'Outlaw' Case; Backs MPA

New York, July 4.—U. S. Circuit Court of New York okayed Motion Picture Association's desire to yank its purity seal from "The Outlaw" yesterday when Justice Learned Hand denied Howard Hughes' request for a temporary stay pending hearing on an appeal from a previous nix on the injunction.

As in each of the numerous court actions so far, Hughes' forces took a judicial drubbing. Justice Hand declared the producer's position "is so absurd that its mere statement is its reputation." What Hughes wants, the latest decision stated, is "to force the defendant (MPA) to continue as his

WARNER Bros. didn't have enough on their minds, what with opening Vitaphone and "Don Juan," Aug. 6, 1926, but the amusement page of the New York Times of that date had to lay on the whip. Opposition ads show Emil Jannings' "Last Laugh," Ben Lyon and Aileen Pringle in "Great Deception," Tom Mix and Tony in "Hard Boiled," and such other titles as "Big Parade," "Mare Nostrum," and "Scarlet Letter." Legit added a few sidebar magnets with Mae West in "Sex," Marilyn Miller in "Sunny," Robert Woolsey in "Honest Liars," Helen Hayes and Kenneth MacKenna in "What Every Woman Knows," Eugene O'Neill's "Great God Brown," and something called "Passions of 1926" headed by "a cast of international favorites."

HOLLYWOOD Bowl might be better named Radio Bowl and add another to the football string as local radio moves in with a bang. Originally tied up with KFI on young artists competitions, Bowl was inched in for new preview series by KGFJ, which gets personality interviews, etc. in exchange for airing recorded versions of Bowl's forthcoming programs with appropriate plugs. Now along comes KMPC with take similar to KGFJ's, making Bowl slightly overflowing with kilocycles.

METRO was so pleased with producing chore Bob Sisk did on "Uncle Andy Hardy," first in the Hardy series which was formerly produced by Carey Wilson, that studio has handed him another to start within the next 30 days, instead of waiting until the end of the year, as first planned. Sisk is currently in Florida looking for locations on the second in the popular series to which he has been permanently assigned. Film has been tentatively tagged "Andy Hardy, Bachelor."

(Famous CBS Commentator)

You're going to have OPA controls again; the holiday spree will soon be over. That's the way it looks because the bill reported by the Senate Banking Committee is suitable to Paul Porter, who'll have to administer it, and because it appears that Truman has found a means of party unity. At any rate, he had that in the banking committee, in which all ten Democrats voted as a bloc, joined by two Republicans, and the opposition of five was completely Republican. The President's naming of Taft in his veto aided in that. He thus pointed it against the most conservative representative of that party, and has given the Democrats something about which they can rally . . . The news of the Big Four agreement on Italian reparations is very good indeed. That has been the big headache, the main obstacle to our finally settling European peace, and setting the foundation for building world peace. It represents our first compromise in some time, with the Russians also giving in on some points. On our part, we agreed to the payment of some of the reparations out of current income, and on theirs, they agreed to a moratorium on reparations from that source for two years. However there is one important aspect still unsettled, how much comes from internal production. We have been against any, since, because of our financial aid to Italy, that would be almost like funelling the money from us through Italy to Russia, and Russia has been asking 70 per cent from that source. We also won another important victory, in finally obtaining Russian agreement to the 21-nation peace conference. It's encouraging that we have been able to gain these agreements despite the threat of what Russia now calls our atomic diplomacy.

Dead of Night

(Melodrama)

UNIVERSAL RELEASE of an Ealing Studios production, made in England. Producer, Michael Balcon. Directors, Cavalcanti, Basil Dearden, Robert Hamer. Associate producers, Sidney Cole, John Croydon. Screenplay, John Baines, Angus Macphail. Based on original stories by E. F. Benson, John Baines. Photography, Jack Parker, H. Julius. Art direction, Michael Relph. Editor, Charles Hasse. Sound, Eric Williams. Costumes, Bianca Mosca. Music, Georges Auric, played by London Philharmonic Orchestra. Conductor, Ernest Irving.

PREVIEWED at Universal studios, Universal City, Calif., July 3, 1946. Running time: 77 MINS.

"Dead of Night," produced by Michael Balcon in England, is a series of dreams within a dream, presented in episodic manner, which is one of the better offerings from British film industry. High degree of suspense distinguishes its making, and story is sufficiently compelling in achieving this quality to keep spectator well engaged until final half-reel, when it devolves into very ordinary fare. Lack of any familiar names is against it, but it should benefit by word-of-mouth advertising and it provides good show for any audience.

Plot is off the usual channel of psychiatric endeavor, number of people reciting weird experiences to a psychiatrist as small group unburden themselves in an English farmhouse. These recitals are prompted by a late arrival, played by Mervyn Johns, asserting when he is introduced to group, none of whom he has ever met before, that he has seen them all before as a group in his dreams, and asks the doctor, Frederick Valk, to explain this phenomenon.

Episodes are vividly painted, each building steadily to a climax. There is the case of a racing driver who has a strange presentiment not to board a bus, which goes over a cliff. Another relates incident of a mirror nearly causing a murder. Still another tells of a ventriloquist unconsciously adopting the personality of his dummy and going insane.

These are woven together with skillful hand, a trio of directors helming them and catching the eerie spirit which prevails throughout the film. Direction is credited to Cavalcanti, Basil Dearden and Robert Hamer. Photography by Jack Parker and H. Julius is outstanding piece of work, too, low-key lighting accentuating mood early established. Music, composed by Georges Auric, and played by London Philharmonic Orchestra, Ernest Irving conducting, is another potent factor in maintaining suspense. Michael Balcon merits hand for his shrewd craftsmanship as producer.

Cast uniformly is excellent. Standing out in different sequences, in addition to two already mentioned, are Googie Withers, Ralph Michael, Antony Baird, Michael Redgrave, Hartley Power and Roland Culver.

SWG To Meet On No Strike Clause In Union Contract

Recommendation for change in basic agreement clause that binds writers not to strike will be presented Screen Writers Guild membership at a general meeting to be held later this month. Recommendation is result of emergency meeting held Wednesday night at the Beverly Hills hotel to discuss the meaning behind the recent two-day film strike, the treatment of SWG membership during picketing, and guild's future policy in film strikes.

In making the recommendation, SWG points out it has no intention of seeking to scrap the basic agreement it now has with studios, but only for a change in the no-strike clause. SWG will move to join with Screen Actor and Screen Directors Guilds for a study of the clause and how it might be changed for better talent protection in the event of strikes. SWG also recommended setting up of a permanent committee to keep talent guilds in contact with labor and activities at all times.

N.Y. Starts Boffo Holiday Week; Music Hall Eyes 25G

New York, July 4.—Anticipated heavy trade in downtown picture theatres materialized today, first of a four-day weekend which is expected to run gross total up very substantially. While matinee yesterday was under Monday and Tuesday, at night on the eve of the holiday business became very strong. Today's early morning business was somewhat light, with certain exceptions, but after 1 p.m., it became extremely heavy and remained the same after 6 p.m.

Outstanding is the $25,000 which the Music Hall looks for on the day, the beginning of the third week of "Anna and the King of Siam." This is an all-time high for any day in the history of the theatre when it has only four stage shows. Only new picture opening today is "Suspense" at the small Victoria. It teed off very well.

Code Of The Lawless

(Western with Music)

UNIVERSAL RELEASE. Producer-director, Wallace W. Fox. Original screenplay, Patricia Harper. Photography, Maury Gertsman. Film editor, Saul A. Goodkind. Musical director, Mark Levant. Sound, Bernard B. Brown; technician, Jess Moulin. Set decorations, Russell A. Gausman, Ralph Warrington.

CAST—Stars Kirby Grant. Features Fuzzy Knight, Poni Adams, Barbara Sears. With Hugh Prosser, Edward Howard, Rune Hultman, Pierce Lyden, Roy Brent.

REVIEWED at the Hitching Post, Hollywood, July 4, 1946. Running time: 59 MINS.

"Code of the Lawless" is a bit long on plot and dialogue and somewhat short on action but it packs some nice performances, excellent photography and better-than-average production mounting for a western. Too much of the story occurs in parlors and offices and too little out on the ranges where the pay dirt is to be found.

Kirby Grant, a range rider who relies on his wits as well as his fists to bring the lawless to justice, rides into the huge Hilton ranch posing as Chad Hilton's long-lost son. He finds that Hilton, an invalid, has been surrounded by a pack of scoundrels headed by Hugh Prosser, who are rooking, looting and scavenging the surrounding ranchers under the cover of Hilton's name. Grant suspects that Prosser and his henchmen are pulling their capers without Hilton's knowledge. He burglarizes Prosser's office and finds that the latter has been keeping a double set of books. Prosser sashays in and catches Grant in the act, and later bumps old man Hilton and frames Grant as his slayer. Grant is forced to play ball with Prosser until he figures out a way to turn the tables on him, rescue the ranchers from bondage and walk off with the town's postmistress.

Grant plays the hero without jutjawed heroics and handles himself with quiet competence. More accent on the action and he'll be one of the top cowpokes in the business. Fuzzy Knight reaches into the oatbag for his standard brand of amiable comedy. Barbara Sears enacts an icicle blond who strings along with the badmen, and Poni Adams shows nicely as the postmistress. Hugh Prosser and his assistant villains are fairly convincing.

Wallace Fox did the best he could with a script not too loaded with punch, eliciting a nice set of performances from the players. Maury Gertsman rates a low bow for his camera work.

Night Club Review

Ciro's reopened Wednesday night and it now looks like what Hollywood's idea of Ciro's should look like. Completely renovated inside, the nitery resembles a swank motion picture set of a night club and in good taste. Tony and Sally De Marco headline the show, turning in ace terp performances that rate and get encore after encore. Leonard Sues trumpets plenty of horn to open the show and his band, abetted by a top notch pianist, backs the De Marcos in magnificent style. Sues' music for the patrons' dancing is also in the best society manner.

IGOR STRAVINSKY 'FIREBIRD' SUIT SETTLED

Settlement has been made in suit of Igor Stravinsky against Leeds Music. Composer settled declaratory relief litigation on payment of $850, amount originally sought as his share of returns on revised composition, "Firebird Ballet Suite." In return Stravinsky has agreed to pen another unspecified work for Leeds, settlement being regarded as combination down payment on forthcoming work. July 26 was trial date.

Suit was filed on complaint that Leeds refused him 50 per cent cut in $1,700 realized on "Firebird" when first statement of returns was submitted. Leeds had given Stravinsky $2,000 originally which it was claimed was customary advance against royalties and, therefore, Stravinsky would not get split of $1,700 accrued. Contract called for 50-50 split on royalties, and Leeds contended composer was well in lead with the two G's.

However, Stravinsky held that $2,000 was a "down payment" in addition to which he was to get split. "Stravinsky never accepts advances," his attorney claimed.

STARS LEAVE ON PHILLY PREEM

Contingent of 20th-Fox stars left last night for Philadelphia to participate in the world preem there July 10 of studio's "Centennial Summer." Group included: Jeanne Crain, Phil Silvers, Jo-Carol Dennison, Margo Woode, David Street, Cathy Downs, and Kurt Krueger. Carole Landis will join the troupe from New York City and Otto Preminger, who produced-directed the film, will also attend the opening.

PA Buys 'Venus'

"Imperial Venus," best seller by Edgar Maass, dealing with life of Pauline Bonaparte, sister of Napoleon, has been purchased by the recently formed Producing Artists for its second production.

THE GRAPEVINE: All the glamour is rubbing off the fly boys. Motion Picture Pilots Association, whose members pilot location companies, rush back film footage and do other charter jobs for the studios, is being organized by the AFL Teamsters union . . . J. Arthur Rank is planning to set up a meteorological service so his production units can go out on location without getting lost in the fog. The weather problem is eight times as bad on the right little, tight little isle and any film with much exterior shooting can figure on losing a large chunk of budget to the fickle climate . . . Now that Geraldine Brooks, ingenue in Warners' "Cry Wolf," has deserted Broadway for Hollywood she is being swamped with play offers . . . Jack Dalton, who manages his brother Bob's restaurant, is on his honeymoon with the former Marian Simkins . . . A producer with enough money to buy his own made it a practice to filch cigars from an exec's desk, until the latter blew up like a trick cigar the other day . . . If Enterprise is still looking for an actress to play Kate in "Arch of Triumph," Roseanne Murray, formerly under contract to 20th-Fox, would be a case of type casting . . . Hollywood's going to get a sky room. William Shapiro, president of the Hollywood Athletic Club, will convert the club's top floor into a glass-enclosed cocktail lounge at a cost of 75 Gs plus . . . ZaSu Pitts will join her daughter Ann on Broadway when she finishes "Life with Father," preparing for the fall opening of "Cordelia."

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: They had to put in a rush order for DDT, the insecticide, that is, on night shooting on RKO's "The Devil Thumbs a Ride" on San Fernando valley location. Moths descended on the scene so thickly that lights were blotted out and cars, players and props were covered with the pests. Shooting proceeded after a liberal application of DDT . . . "Bumble Boogie" topped "The Gypsy" last week in sheet music sales in Southern California. It's the first time in more than a year that a strictly instrumental tune topped the vocals . . . Connie Haines says she knows a Vine-and-Sunset squatter who never seems to acquire a waiter's check—"he has an impediment in his reach," is the way she puns it . . . Janis Paige has been living with her mother and sister in an apartment so small there wasn't room to swing a cat, to use a folksy phrase. Then they acquired a cat, though not for swing purposes. They named it Buster and assumed the little family was complete. Yesterday Buster had six kittens . . . James Mason, the Lunnon ladies man, is brushing aside myraid offers from Hollywood. If some of the lads waving contracts at the Britisher had taken a look at "Candlelight in Algeria" and some of the Mason films preceding "Seventh Veil," they might lose enthusiasm . . . Dinah Shore is campaigning for her husband, George Montgomery, to play Jerome in "This Side of Innocence."

CALL SHEET: JACK CARSON and DENNIS MORGAN will leave three days early for the Milwaukee premiere of "Two Guys from Milwaukee" late this month. They'll devote their extra 72 hours to a fishing trip with their pal, Hap Gardner, former supply officer on Gen Chennault's staff in China . . . ANDY DEVINE, recalling his experiences with sound for Warner flacks digging up 20th Anniversary data, gave out with this memoir: "They put the mike down my fat back and had me play a waiter. I kept bowing from table to table occupied by actors with lines to say!" . . . TED YERXA is thinking of moving into the transcription field, figuring there's air room for his hot jazz specialty . . . RICHARD WHORF has issued orders for the "This Time for Keeps" company to learn bicycle riding. They're going on location for Mackinac Island, Mich., where no automobiles are allowed . . . CATHERINE McLEOD leaves on a two-week trip to Dallas and Milwaukee today . . . WILL GOULD, who created the Red Barry comic strip, has been engaged by Charles R. Rogers to add comedy touches to "The Fabulous Dorseys" . . . EDWARD ARNOLD and his clan are holding a weekend reunion at Coronando, occasion being the return from overseas of his daughter Betty's husband.

ON THE SOUND TRACK: Metro execs have decided that "The Yearling" is the studio's best bet for Academy Award honors, and have ordered a publicity barrage and increased ad budget. Studio toppers caught the finished version in a projection room the other day and came out raving, in particular, about Jane Wyman's performance opposite Gregory Peck. They figure Sidney Franklin, producer, and Clarence Brown, director, will also be up for awards . . . Shipping news: The S.S. Catalina has resumed its two-a-day schedule between the mainland and the island . . . OFF THE LOTS: Stu Wilson, Al Morrison, Lorraine Krueger at House of Murphy. Jane Withers and Bob Oliver at Beverly Tropics. Ben Bogeaus and Cleatus Caldwell at Henri's. Beverly Tyler and Tom Drake at the Biltmore Bowl. Sonja Henie and Stu Barthelmess at the Troc. Natalie Schaefer and John Houseman at Billingsley's . . . Fred Othman, who formerly covered Hollywood for the United Press, has a book coming out any day . . . REP WINDS 14 TO START 2ND MO. OF SKEDDED 56

Republic starts the second month of its 1946-47 production slate with 14 of the 56 features and four serials slated for release on that program already completed and eight more ready to roll this month, it was disclosed by Allen Wilson, studio production boss.

Films, completed and ready for release on studio's forthcoming program, include: Frank Borzage's initial Technicolor production for Republic, "I've Always Loved You"; "That Brennan Girl," starring James Dunn, Mona Freeman and June Duprez, produced and directed by Al Santell; John Wayne's first starring-producing chore, "The Angel and The Outlaw."

"The Affairs of Geraldine," starring Jane Withers and Jimmy Lydon; "The Pilgrim Lady," starring Lynne Roberts and Warren Douglas, directed by George Blair and produced by William O'Sullivan; "The Ghost Goes Wild," starring James Ellison and Anne Gwynne, directed by George Blair and produced by Armand Schaefer; "The Fabulous Suzanne," starring Barbara Britton and Rudy Vallee, produced and directed by Steve Sekely; "Winter Wonderland," starring Lynne Roberts and Charles Drake, produced by Walter Colmes; "Sioux City Sue," the initial Gene Autry starrer, directed by Frank McDonald and produced by Armand Schaefer; and four Red Ryder westerns starring Allan Lane and produced by Sidney Picker.

Group of eight films slated to go before the cameras this month are: "Rio Grande Raiders," "The Magnificent Rogue," "Calendar Girl," "Heldorado," "Homesteaders of Paradise Valley," "Trail To San Antone," "That's My Gal," and "Spoilers Of The North."

TERRYTOONS IN RACE FOR RECORD

Paul Terry has already completed 16 of the 20 Terrytoons slated for release by 20th-Fox during year starting Aug. 1, and will have remaining four finished by end of October. Seventeenth rolls next week.

New record for delivery of an entire year's output will be chalked up by Terry. Last year, final subject wasn't ended until after first of year, nearly three months later than this year's delivery. Completed shorts have been turned over to Technicolor for processing.

Unless we've been misled or are mistaken about straws in the wind, the general run of comedy shows next fall will take unfamiliar shapes and forms. It is pretty generaly known that formats will undergo alterations from yocks, of varying degrees, to running situation comedy, the longer to preserve the health and well being of the typewriter punishers. That there'll be a wholesale shifting of talent is to be drawn from changes already announced. Abbott and Costello have cleaned house, Bob Hope goes to the autumnal barrier with a new musical setup and some changes in his writing staff, Eddie Cantor has parted with a prize comedy prop of long standing.

Despite high ratings by the comedy clan they are facing the cold, hard fact that no show can be better than what's put on paper by the dream boys. Joe Miller has been bled white and the well is running dry so there's nothing left to do but to make 10 jokes do where 20 were used before. The process is simple: spread them thin and let situation carry the load. It's been done successfully by any number of shows but it requires highly specialized writing. Nor do some of the comics fit into that brand of gentler comedy. From our seat in the stands it looks like a freshening up process all around, long past due but nonetheless welcome. Even the old vauders used to change their acts ever so often and they were around only once a season. Radio has a 39-week route making the same towns every week.

Chain breaks . . . Army Recruiting Service has latched on to its sixth radio show and for eight weeks beginning July 15 will sponsor Spotlight Bands on Mutual three times a week. Two of the programs are half hour affairs and the remainder quarter hours . . . Bernie Schubert in town to set up an office here and wrap up a show with Walter Wanger as emcee. If studio space is available he'll move "Detect and Collect" here . . . Mrs. Elaine Ewing Meservey of the J. Agency and network divotees, who fancy themselves By Nelsons, will get tournament-tested in a series of matches being arranged by Norman Blackburn and Bud Berend. Once a year there'll be an inter-city match between Hollywood and Frisco niblick nudgers.

Hitch hikes . . . Vic Hunter is back in town and Everett Crosby is in Detroit to talk over the GM deal with Paul Garrett, v.p. in charge of public relations for the automotive outfit. By early next week we should know what's what with finality . . . True Boardman's original, "My Father and I," for James Dunn and Peggy Ann Garner on Silver Theatre Sunday also serves as an audition for a series he's packaging . . . Freddy Martin, Duke Ellington, Henry Busse and Paul Whiteman, in that order guest on the Tommy Dorsey summer series.

By RADIE HARRIS

To Universal for a visit with the one actor, who to me, most closely approaches the quiet charm of Leslie Howard—David Niven. I find him in the midst of a scene for "The Magnificent Doll" with the "doll" herself, Ginger Rogers, and Burgess Meredith (James Madison.) This is a reunion for all of them—David and Ginger having played together in "Bachelor Mother" and Ginger and "Buzz" in "Tom, Dick and Harry." David, usually the romantic hero, is cast against type as the traitorous Aaron Burr in this Irving Stone biog of Dolly Madison.

I watch him play the scene where he first learns that Madison has been nominated President (even without looking at the costumes you can tell this is a period story because no one has ever heard of Roosevelt!). And as I watch him run through it faultlessly, I pray that this is the anodyne for his grief, and I try not to remember him as I last saw him in New York three short months ago, so full of his happiness ahead. Later, in his dressing room, we are both aware of so many things unsaid, but because David's heart is with "Primmie," not on his sleeve, we talked gaily of everything else.

"I'm having great fun playing Burr," he confides. "He's a heel, but like all scamps a delightful one until his treachery to his country. Of course, I'm doing three things in this picture that are my three pet hates: (1) Fighting a duel in a tail coat, (2) riding a horse in a top hat, and (3) dancing a minuet, wearing ruffles!"

"How is David, Jr.?" I wanted to know.

"First rate, thank you. I've packed him and the baby off to Ronnie Colman's ranch in Santa Barbara until their nursery is finished in the new house. At the rate the carpenters are going, they're liable to be ready for college by the time they get in it! Incidentally, as I was driving with young David the other day, something happened that made me realize more than ever what an indelible impression the war has made on the children of Europe. We passed a house in the process of being built—just the framework was standing. David, who has been in some 120 air raid shelters in his brief two years, pointed and said, 'Look, Daddy, a bomb!'. It was the first time he had ever seen a house being built, not being blitzed!"

As soon as "The Magnificent Doll" is completed, David will make a flying trip back to England before starting on his third picture, a re-make of "The Good Fairy." While in London, David will be the houseguest of his two closest friends, the Larry Oliviers, at their country home in Buckinghamshire, and they will be his houseguests when they arrive in Hollywood, come January. "How I'd love to tour with Viv and Larry on their Australian season next year!" David exclaimed. "The only time I've ever set foot on a stage before was in Pasadena several years ago, when I was one of twenty wedding guests who toasted the bride. I really think the Old Vic could do with my experience, don't you?"

I'm not quite sure of the answer to that, but of what I am sure is that Hollywood is richer by his talent, humor, charm and superb courage.

HOLLYWOOD HULLABALOO: Although Fred Astaire vows he has packed away his dancing shoes in mothballs, don't be surprised to see his name in lights again—this time marqueeing "The Fred Astaire School for Dancing" throughout the country, the first major threat to Arthur Murray since he taught dancing in a hurry . . . Add there's nothing like knowing the right people dept.: Because barrister, Abe Berman, is one of Buddy de Sylva's best pals, and Berman was left custodian of the late Vince Youmans estate, it will be his "Buddy" who will inherit the unpublished Youmans scores for a Broadway musical . . . Ed Wynn checks in at the Bev-Hills (8) to join the other fugitives from the NY heat . . . Although the title role in "Bloomer Girl" hasn't been cast yet, her hero has—he's Bob Cummings and Vera Ellen is being paged for the part created on Broadway by Joan McCracken . . . Sonja Henie, Stuart Barthelmess, Carmen Miranda, Phil Regan, Martha Stewart, Eddie Elkins, K. T. Stevens, Hugh Marlowe, Dorothy Miles, Dick Krakeur and the Paul Henreids among the S.R.O. crowd who turned out to welcome Sally and Tony de Marco to Ciro's and unanimously agree that as a ballroom team they are "the mostest of the bestest."

DISSA AND DATA: Bob Montgomery is initiating a novel attempt in his "Lady in the Lake" (Metro). Instead of a musical background, he will just employ choral effects. Incidentally, scuttlebut has it that Bob's debut as a director had better make some of the veterans around town look to their laurels. He's THAT good! . . . Groucho Marx, the one personality who could replace Orson Welles in "Around the World" and keep it a b.o. draw, thumbed down Orson's offer because he doesn't want to leave the beeyootiful house his bride, Kay, just finished furnishing all by herself . . . Bob Taplinger tees off at Paramount with his own original, "Slightly Divorced," which he knows all about because he is still one of Hollywood's most eligible bachelors—although I could mention several femmes who wish that he weren't! . . . Rosalind Russell, Joan Bennett, Nunnally Johnson, Danny Kaye, Rufus Le Maire, Johnny Beck, Bill Goetz, Claudette Colbert and Freddie Finklehoffe were the people of "International" importance on the receiving line to greet Betty MacDonald at the "Club-by" affair in her honor. Yes, "eggs" were served, and if the picture is eaten up as quickly, we'll have caviar the next time!

KATE SMITH SIGNED BY METRO WAXERY SUBSIDIARY

Metro's pop-platter subsid has signed its first name recording artist, Kate Smith. The oriole's present pact with Columbia Records expires on October 1, at which time her Metro deal will commence. She will wax 24 sides yearly for three years.

Frank Walker, head of the Metro offspring, which still is laboring under the working-label of Lion, will leave NY on Monday for the Coast. While here on visit of indeterminate duration he will huddle with top studio execs and particularly with Dick Powers, MGM musical chief. While on local scene, it is deemed certain that Walker will pen other chirps and possibly orks to pacts, as promises still are being made that Lion will go into production of platters his autumn.

THANK YOU, ROY BREWER!

For Remembering the Publicists!

As we learn the facts of the settlement of the recent strike, we can appreciate:

1. Had it not been for you, the Publicists would have been ignored in the 25 per cent wage adjustment. (Our case is before the NLRB and no one has the legal right to negotiate for ANY PUBLICISTS!)

2. That you correctly advised us, last Tuesday morning, before the settlement, not to permit the SCREEN PUBLICISTS GUILD to sell out the Chadwick Publicists for a 20 per cent raise which could have established a lower wage rate for ALL Publicists.

3. That under Sorrell's leadership it took more than TWO YEARS to get a MAXIMUM 12 per cent raise for Publicists while you, in TWO HOURS, got us a 25 per cent increase on your first representation for us.

4. For enlisting the tremendous economic power of the IATSE to end the strike quickly.

MOTION PICTURE STUDIO PUBLICISTS,
LOCAL 798, I.A.T.S.E.

The studio Publicists of Local 798 are proud of their affiliation with the IATSE which again has proved that within the framework of the progressive, responsible American Federation of Labor there is a way to end jurisdictional disputes, wildcat strikes, and to improve wages and working conditions in fast, orderly and peaceful negotiation. All Publicists, regardless of their affiliations or convictions, owe a debt of gratitude to the IATSE for its aggressive actions in their behalf.

PLATTERIES MAY FIGHT PETRILLO ON WAGE HIKE

With or without aid of recording companies, transcription firms may fight the forthcoming new demands for pay rate hikes of the American Federation of Musicians. Petrillo's dictum of April that he wanted increases in plattering rates by Oct. 15 was acknowledged as being received. But that doesn't mean acquiescence or that it'll be taken lying down.

Attitude to oppose has been growing among biscuit makers who now wait AFM signal for opening of negotiations.

Platteries also have no intention of taking initiative. First move will come from Petrillo who, it's thought, is now attempting war of nerves, and who will pounce at last minute as deadline approaches to hammer home anticipated enormous demands.

Idea is to let onus of breaking existing contract fall squarely on union. Agreement was reached in September 1943, following long standoff when union banned all platter work to membership. Contract was to extend for four years. Petrillo, however, notified signators in April, 1945 of intention of revising tenure, maturing pact year before due. Four year ticket provided that one year prior to termination union had option of notification of desired change. Firms, then disorganized, in some instances, embattled, and completely lacking in unity, agreed to Petrillo's act—now considered arbitrary.

Charles Irwin In, Inked for 'Battle'

Charles Irwin is back in Hollywood for picture work after playing the comedy lead for year and a half in Broadway production of "Up In Central Park." First assignment is a featured role in "Bob, Son of Battle" at 20th-Fox. Further commitments forced him to by-pass a featured role in forthcoming New York staging of Eugene O'Neill's "The Ice Man Cometh." On Monday night's broadcast of "The Great O'Malley" by Screen Guild Players he'll play a character part.

Ratoff to Meg 'Hollywood Story'

Gregory Ratoff will direct "Hollywood Story," it was announced by 20th-Fox. Sam Engel produces the Cathy Downs-Victor Mature starrer.

OUT OF THE HORN'S MOUTH

Pied Pipers reoptioned for three more weeks at the NY Paramount.

Chuy Reyes musicrew set at Mocambo for two months.

Jimmy Durante waxes "G'wan Home, Your Mudder's Calling" for Majestic Records.

Xavier Cugat and Dorothy Porter pre-recorded "I Love to Dance" for Metro's "This Time for Keeps."

Erich Wolfgang Korngold starts pre-recording special symphonic sequences today for Warners' "Deception."

Freddy Martin has plattered his "Night and Day Concerto" for Victor.

Georgie Auld's band, which last week severed from Frederick Bros.' agency, has signed with Joe Glaser's Associated Booking Corp.

Tommy Dorsey has bought the bar concession at Casino Gardens ballroom. Maestro long has owned one-third piece of terpalace.

Ed Leguno, prez of Sunset Records, flying to NY Monday to set up string of eastern distribs for his product.

Batoneer Stan Kenton will be guest for one hour on disc jock Gene Norman's platter-parade on KFWB on Monday.

L. O. Hopkins named national sales manager of Angelus Recordings.

Foy Willing, oatuner who long has disced for Decca, has switched over to Majestic label.

Freddy Slack band inked into Golden Gate, SF, for week of July 17. Ork, which recently bought its release from William Morris agency, now managed by Maurice Duke.

ARA next week debuts its sales-promotion mag, "Stardust," with pop-plattery's flack, Bruce Altman, doing the editing.

Kermit Beercamp, former manager of Rainbow ballroom, Chicago, next week assumes assistant managerial post under Dick Gabbe at Casino Gardens here.

Bill Hunter and Betty Jaynes have waxed a children's album for Little Folke Favorites. Albert Colombo did the musical background.

Lou Bring and band will cut two sides for ARA on Wednesday.

Lee Finburg moving local office of Bregman, Vocco & Conn Music to new location, in what formerly was private home on Selma near Vine.

Hint Sinatra Backs Savitt At Avodon

Jan Savitt's new band has been set for four weeks at the Avodon Ballroom, opening July 17 at $3,000 per stanza. Ork, which is being spotted on series of one-niters around state in process of being slicked and smoothened, is understood to have partial backing from Frank Sinatra. The Swoonster, incidentally, has not yet relinquished his approximate $30,000 interest in the Buddy Rich crew, although he was trying to peddle his piece recently.

Anti-Trust May Cut U Slate

New York, July 4.—Uncertainty over effect of anti-trust decree is putting Universal production plans in doubt, W. A. Scully, company veepee in charge of sales, asserted. If Universal is forced to abide by auction bidding on each picture separately, total number of pictures, originally slated at 49, may be cut.

STRAWHAT CIRCUIT DRAWING MORE MARQUEE NAMES

With Charles Korvin en route to Abbington, Va., to star in one of weekly plays Abbington Barter Theatre will present this summer, and Gregory Peck already appearing with Cape Cod Players, in Massachusetts, in "Playboy of the Western World," hegira is on for film players to make strawhat appearances in east.

Korvin is returning to his Alma Mater, so to speak, since his American stage career was launched at Barter Theatre. Peck trekked east several weeks ago for lead in "Playboy," and is due back here in couple weeks, treading the boards for two weeks to get his feet wet again.

Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall are slated to make late summer appearance, too, on strawhat circuit. They will enact leads in a revival of William Saroyan's "Time of Your Life," at Stamford, Conn. Couple probably will go east as soon as Bogart winds up in Columbia's "Dead Reckoning."

June Clayworth, now at RKO, is still another set for eastern appearance, to star in "Candida," with Yorktown strawhatters in New York.

Par Ends Season With Only 23 Pix

New York, July 4. — With only four more pictures to be released between now and Sept. 1, Paramount will wind up the current 1945-46 season with only 23 pictures, a new low. Previous film year company had 26.

ARMY TOLERANCE SHORT OPENS AT 9 L.A. HOUSES

"Don't Be A Sucker," Army short aimed at promoting tolerance and warning, opened yesterday at nine Los Angeles houses, including Paramount Los Angeles and Paramount Hollywood, the Los Angeles, Beverly Hills and Hollywood Music Halls, the Wiltern, Warners Hollywood and Warners Downtown. Picture, being released on non-profit basis by Paramount, goes into the two newsreel houses, Fox West Coast and subsequent run houses next week.

The film stars Paul Lukas and Felix Bressart and is series of scenes showing methods used by both Nazis and American subversives to set minority groups against each other—and the dire results suffered by the Germans who were deluded by such propaganda. Scenes are tied together and their meaning stressed by narration by Lloyd Nolan.

Film was originally put out by the Army Signal Corps, with Edmund H. North producing, for showing to the armed forces.

5 Roll At Par In Next Month

Paramount will have five productions lensing at the studio in the next 30 days. "The Emperor Waltz" rolls at the lot today followed by "My Favorite Brunette" July 15. "Golden Earrings" gets under way July 29 as does "Unconquered." Aug. 5 takeoff at the studio is set for "The Big Haircut."

Fabulous H'd

First, it was "The Fabulous Dorseys," in which Charles R. Rogers will star the brothers. Then, Bebe Daniels announced "The Fabulous Joe," for her first Hal Roach producer chore. Now, it's "The Fabulous Gertie," set for fall production by Universal.

UNION ABSOLVES GOLDMARK IN PLUGGER CASE

Goldie Goldmark, Coast songplugger for Leeds Music Corp., has been absolved of charges of offering a band leader free special arrangements, after a hearing before local board of governors of Music Publishers' Contact Employes (songpluggers' union). Laws of organization expressly forbid such a practice by a plugger.

Hearing, at which Goldmark was supported in his testimony by Happy Goday, Leeds' veepee and Coast chief, brought out that what Goldmark offered was a "special vocal" arrangement. It was stated that it is common practice of Leeds to offer three free vocal arrangements, one made here, one in Chicago and one in NY, on every song published. The term "special" was just loosely used, according to Goldmark and Goday. Hearing was first on such charges that a local plugger was presented here in about a year.

RKO SALES MEET ENDS WITH BIG AD DRIVE SET

ager for United Kingdom; Gregory Georgoussy, manager for Near East; Carl Wolman, manager for Scandinavia; S. Barrete McCormick, director of advertising.

Hollister discussed liaison duties between studio and home office on problems affecting advertising, talent, properties and research. Reisman reported an increase of his company's foreign business of 57.2 per cent over the 1945 proceeds and revealed improving global situation for film distribution with new RKO territory being opened, business in the old territories being resumed and a plan for distributing RKO 16m programs to millions of prospective new cinema-goers in countries like China, India and Brazil.

Foreign territories currently serviced by RKO number 34, said Reisman, which he termed "close to par." This company has resumed operations in Belgium, France and Greece and has started operations through its own offices in Siam, Italy, Norway, Denmark and Colombia. Reisman described training of picked men in New York in all aspects of motion picture distribution in foreign countries. They will be assigned foreign territories selling 16m film that RKO will sponsor, in conjunction with local interests, the development and construction of 16m theatres in various countries under plans drawn up by John Eberson, theatre architect. Fertile fields for this market, said Reisman, are China, India and Brazil. Service on both 35m and the narrow gauge programs will be conducted along identical lines, he concluded.

A vast pre-selling schedule of advertising that will aggregate record figure of $6,000,000 and blanket the country with a total of 1,000,000 circulation of magazines and newspapers was outlined by McCormick. Magazine advertising, McCormick told the delegates, is the spearhead of a campaign that will also utilize impressive amounts of newspaper space. "Now that the print paper situation is clearing our newspaper budget will be greatly expanded," he said.

RKO advertising program includes 1200 full page ads in American and Canadian magazines, Sunday supplements and Sunday sections during 1946.

KORDA HERE, TALKS WORLD MARKET WITH GOLDWYN

up, it is expected that the two film toppers will explore possibilities of establishing an American distribution system as well. Goldwyn's current releasing pact with RKO has less than a year to go.

Understood that the projected foreign distribution setup calls for the product of the two producers to be distributed in the United Kingdom by the Korda controlled British Lion, and in France, Belgium and the French Colonies by Korda's Regina Films. Tentative plans point to Laudy Lawrence, who recently made a survey of the South American market, to supervise distribution of the Goldwyn-Korda product in the foreign markets.

Discussions also will center on a reciprocal production-facilities arrangement, which would permit Korda to produce on the Goldwyn lot and Goldwyn to utilize Korda's studio facilities in England. Korda is currently readying films with Paulette Goddard, Cary Grant and Orson Welles and is planning on making at least one of them in Hollywood early next year. During his stay here Korda is expected to negotiate with Bing Crosby and David Niven on participation deals.

Korda is also due to confer with Republic toppers during his current visit. When last here in March, Korda concluded a pact with prexy Herbert Yates whereby British-Lion continued its franchise on the Republic product for distribution in Great Britain for another ten years.

STAY IN 'OUTLAW' CASE NIXED BY NY COURT

accomplice in the combination (Hughes contends that MPA is in restraint of trade) by falsely representing that he has conformed to the conditions which the defendant 'unlawfully' exacts from its members."

It was this stand that the judge called "absurd." If MPA were prevented by the court from revoking the seal it would, in effect, the court stated, be compelling MPA to announce publicly that Hughes has conformed to all its requirements, which "confessedly it has not done as to its advertisements."

Judge pointed out that all Hughes had to do to avoid the whole difficulty was to change the film's ads. Commenting on this, Hand declared: "that the necessary changes will in any substantial way lessen the plaintiff's audience is the merest speculation; it is possible that as many prospective spectators will be offended by the present advertisements as will be attracted."

SCHREIBER CLAIMS HCL KEEPS BANDS FROM BRITAIN

The Music Corp. of America plans to send none of its performers or bands to Great Britain in near future, according to Taft Schreiber, agency veepee who has returned from London look-see. The Ministry will permit Yanks to fill 25 per cent of any variety bill, but militating against American entertainers crossing the blue at this time are the living conditions, food rationing and fact that only 40 per cent of British earnings can be taken out of the Isles.

Many more of its picture names will be committed to English films, states Schreiber. Agency, however, has agreed that future announcements of American stars' loan-out will be made by either J. Arthur Rank or Alexander Korda, with both of whom MCA is working deals.

Schreiber found plenty demand in England for in-person appearance of U.S. top entertainers, chiefly those with radio background. The MCA exec claims popularity of etherites spiraled upwards during war when Armed Forces Radio supplied U.S. servicemen with transcribed shows, and the Britishers got an earful, too. Schreiber says he was bombarded with queries as to when such acts as Abbott and Costello, Edgar Bergen, Jack Benny, Eddie Cantor and Fibber and Molly might be available for stages both in London and the provinces.

Asked what bands are most sought, Schreiber submitted names of Guy Lombardo and Harry James. Coincidentally, both are MCA-booked.

HUGHES FIGHTS FOR LIFE

IBEW DUE TO ACT ON AIR STRIKE

"Stronger action" — that may mean a strike — will be taken today by International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers against 12 indie radio stations, unless there is a new truce proposal from one side or the other.

Roy Tindell, business rep of Local 40 (IBEW) makes official report to men today on broadcasters' last pitch for their standing 18 per cent hike offer. It will be again recommended

Directors Sign Up With Eight Indies

New contracts between eight independent production companies and Society of Motion Picture Art Directors have been inked. Film outfits are Sol Lesser Productions, Constance Bennett Productions, Benedict Bogeaus Productions, Charles Chaplin Productions, Loew-Lewin, Enterprise, Comet Productions and Embassy Productions.

Breen Taking Some Purity To Rank

New York, July 7.—Joseph Breen sails on the Queen Mary Tuesday to clarify film production code for J. Arthur Rank's multiple producers since the British film sex relations standards are freer than those existing in U.S. industry's code. Robert Wolff, RKO United Kingdom general manager, also is sailing on same ship.

Vidor Will Direct Laughton's Scenes

King Vidor, in a deal set over the weekend, has been signed to direct Charles Laughton's section in the forthcoming Benedict Bogeaus-Burgess Meredith production, "A Miracle Can Happen." Film which will co-star Laughton with James Stewart and Henry Fonda, rolls next Monday at General Service.

Motion picture producer Howard Hughes was fighting for his life in Good Samaritan hospital as this edition of Daily Variety went to press. He had suffered serious injuries in a plane crash early Sunday evening.

Hughes, test-piloting an XF-11 photo reconnaissance plane for the Army Air Forces, was struggling to bring his plane down for a forced landing on the grounds of the Los Angeles County Club, when it struck high tension wires 300 yards short of the golf course. The plane tore off a corner of the house at 808 Whittier drive, Beverly Hills, owned by Colonel Charles H. Meyers, ripped off the roof of film actress Rosemary de Camp's garage, and caromed into the residence of G. B. Guston, at 812 Whittier.

UNDER OXYGEN TENT

Hughes was hurled clear from the wreckage and stumbled away from the flames which demolished the Meyers' house and spread to the Guston home. He was rushed to Beverly Hills Emergency Hospital with third degree burns, multiple fractures, including a possible skull fracture, and a punctured lung. He was then removed to Good Samaritan Hospital and placed under an oxygen tent. At his bedside was Johnny Meyers, his film representative.

At midnight Doctor Vern Mason, after conferring with five specialists called into consultation and examining X-rays, was quoted as saying "the crisis should come within 24 hours." He said Hughes had not lost consciousness during the night. X-rays showed six lung punctures, a broken collarbone, broken nose, fractured ribs, deep skull lacerations and possible skull fracture.

Jack Frye, president of Transcontinental and Western Airlines in which Hughes is financially interested, was reached by telephone in Flagstaff, Arizona, and advised to hurry to his bedside.

PLANE FAILS IN TEST

Hughes took off late yesterday from Culver City in the new plane, which he designed and built in cooperation with the AAF, and which he first took up for a secret trial last Wednesday. Shortly before 7:15 p.m., the plane was observed in the vicinity of Olympic and Doheny, its motors sputtering and losing altitude rapidly. Hughes fought to gain altitude over Beverly Hills, then, 50 feet above the ground, maneuvered

U.S. EXECS RUSHING TO RANK

New York, July 7.—Extraordinary board meeting of Universal, International and United World executives with J. Arthur Rank has been called for London. Session is for purpose of clarifying the effect of the anti-trust decision, ordering auction selling of all films, American or foreign, upon new season sales plans.

Queen Mary sails Tuesday with a boatload of American film execs for

Pereira Terminates Contract With RKO

Producer William Pereira's contract has been terminated at RKO. He will, however, produce "Christabel Caine" before checking off the lot sometime next January. Latter film is slated to roll Sept. 16. In the two years Perira has spent at RKO, he produced two pictures, "Johnny Angel" and "From This Day Forward."

Andrews Sisters Get Record 20G Week

Andrews Sisters have been booked for Steel Pier, Atlantic City, at figure that's probably one of tops of all time for an act. Trio will get flat $20,000 for the week, opening August 11. Deal includes only their own pianist for added insurance. They go in especially from their vacations to make the date.

Albert Signed for Eight-Pic Col Deal

Arnold Albert, former Warners producer, has signed an eight-picture contract at Columbia. He is now on vacation in New York and will return shortly to begin the new deal.

THE Batoneering Dorsey brothers are at it again. Bicker this time revolves around bookings into Casino Gardens ballroom, in which each own one-third interest. Site needs a crew to follow Woody Herman when the Herd thunders off on Aug. 18, following four-week stand. At that time the Charles Rogers' film production "The Fabulous Dorseys" will be before lenses. Tommy Dorsey, who closed run at Casino on June 23, is willing to take outfit into spot, doubling from the film lot. Jimmy Dorsey, however, seems unwilling to double from production to terpalace and equally unwilling to follow his brother into ballroom, albeit he is now penciled in to start Sept. 17 at Casino, which is follow-up to the four weeks now open and which Tommy is willing to fill. Stalemate probably will continue until Jimmy returns from present upstate one-nite tour and pic production commences on July 15 and brothers chat it over. Rumors still are insistent that Jimmy wants to sell his interest in Casino, and that his brother is willing to buy holdings, as well as Dick Gabbe, Casino manager, who owns the other third of site along with attorney Lee Eastman.

WITHDRAWAL of fourth and last motion in Craig Reynolds plagiarism action versus Biow Co., National Broadcasting Co., and Philip Morris will not mark end of the case, according to Jesse Levinson, attorney for plaintiff. Action will be further prosecuted under provisions of Federal Courts, where last heard July 1. Withdrawal of motion to vacate matters, heard by Judge Leon Yankwich in relation to alleged disqualification of Judge J.F.T. O'Connor by virtue of owning shares in former KMTR (now KLAC) at time of original trial, was based on statement of Yankwich that Senior District Judge P. J. McCormick had orally approved transfer of the cease from O'Connor to Yankwich. It will again be introduced to District Court or motion brought before Circuit Court of Appeals or U.S. Supreme Court, according to Levinson.

THERE'S nothing new in fact that film studios include television and other clauses in contracts issued to new talent and lesser cinema luminaries. But trade sees some real news developing when time comes that stars take to video, a phase not generally covered in their special contracts and reserved by them. Particularly interesting should be tussles over such names as Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, et al, already airing for National Broadcasting Co., itself a video aspirant, but who are under film contract to Paramount, outright owner of Television Productions, Inc., here. Who's on first?

WARNER Bros.' distribution boss in Egypt and Palestine, Jacques Kroub, in a letter to Jack L. Warner about celebration of the 20th Anniversary of Talking Pictures by the company, remembers Moslem opposition to talkies in their infancy. Most exhibitors, Kroub wrote, were not in the least confident that talkies were to be successful. They were reluctant to install apparatus to fit the new invention, and even, in publicity, they announced with pride in posters and in big letters that they were playing "100 per cent silent pictures."

Contractors will have tower repaired by end of this month, and 15 days later station hopes to make automatic switch without losing time.

DIRECTOR Arthur Ripley and lenser Franz Planer effected a savings of four hours shooting on Seymour Nebenzal's "The Chase," with a master shot which covered three sequences, two pages of script and one minute and 35 seconds of finished picture. During the long shot, the camera covered more than 50 yards and three sound booms were used.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

Of course, Miguel Aleman won yesterday's election in Mexico. The government candidate always wins. But I understand that yesterday's election was different from those of past years in that it was honestly conducted, except maybe for a few minor enthusiasms of local bosses. Ezequiel Padilla just did not have the organization. Also he had the handicap in Mexico of being a man who was liked and respected by the United States. The most successful campaign poster in Mexico was one on which the head of Padilla replaced that of some other man kneeling before and kissing the hand of one of the Vanderbilts . . . It must be our hope that nationalism is not so general in Minnesota today that Isolationist Shipstead wins over the man supported by Stassen, Governor Thye. The ostrich mentality that followed the last war is again catching on in the Middle West. It is natural because of the trouble we're having working out international agreements, but it must therefore be insisted all the more that we need historical patience, and that we cannot afford the luxury of despair.

"I can't compete with that," she said, and went away from there.

MORSE FLACKS FOR WANGER FILM IN SENATE

Washington, July 7.—Call for a special award for Walter Wanger's new film, "Canyon Passage," was voiced on the Senate floor last week by Senator Wayne Morse (R. Ore.)

Pointing to the fact that Senator Wiley (R. Wisc.) recently recommended a special oscar by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts & Sciences for "the best picture representing the highest ideals of American life to our own and other peoples," Morse endorsed the idea and named the Wanger production for such an award.

"I should like to call the attention of the Senate and of those who might be responsible for granting such an award," said Morse, "to a picture about to be released in the major city of my state, Portland, Oregon—Walter Wanger's Universal production entitled "Canyon Passage," starring Susan Hayward, with Brian Donlevy, Dana Andrews, Hoagy Carmichael and Ward Bond.

"I hope the members of the Senate will see this picture at an early date and judge for themselves whether or not this great Technicolor picture is worthy of such an award."

Holmes Will Unwind 'Johnny O'Clock'

Producer Milton Holmes has borrowed Lee J. Cobb from 20th-Fox for a featured role in "Johnny O'Clock," Dick Powell-Evelyn Keyes starrer, which rolls Wednesday at Columbia.

Set Flack Election

Date for election to determine bargaining representative for film flacks is scheduled to be set today by National Labor Relations Board. Fighting it out in the election for right to bargain for flacks will be Screen Publicists Guild and Motion Picture Studio Publicists, IATSE.

Waldo Will Tour

Elizabeth Waldo has been signed for a personal appearance engagement at Teatro Gomez in Rio de Janeiro following her six-week stellar appearance at the Atlantico. Following that she will tour principal cities of Brazil.

Wurtzel Inks Strong

Sol M. Wurtzel has signed Leonard Strong for the role of Tao Ling in "Dangerous Millions," which goes before the cameras tomorrow with Kent Taylor and Dona Drake in key roles. James Tinling will direct.

BIKINI REEL RACES DATE

New York, July 7.—Initial footage of Bikini atomic test is expected to be made available to five newsreels in time for tomorrow's issue. Full story may not be ready until Thursday's issue because bulk of footage needs to be developed, then okayed, by composite Security Panel in Washington.

Bill Park, Navy commander (formerly Paramount's make-up editor in charge of newsreel division of the Navy), arrived back in Washington from Bikini with more than 100,000

Industry Eyes Korda H'd Strategy In War On Rank

International film interest focused on Alexander Korda's maneuvers in Hollywood, as the British producer opened round two in his battle with the J. Arthur Rank film empire.

And while the film world was conjecturing as to Korda's next move, the British film topper, who had slipped into town Thursday night for negotiations with Samuel Goldwyn on a new distribution combo, was spending the weekend aboard a yacht in the Pacific. Korda has been staying at the home of Cary Grant, with whom he already has closed a production deal.

VERIFY WELLES DEAL

Major development over the weekend was official confirmation of a Daily Variety disclosure that Korda and Orson Welles have joined forces for production of several films to be made in London, Hollywood and Europe. First in the group will be based on the current Broadway musical, "Around the World," adapted from Jules Verne's "Around the World in Eighty Days." Film, which will incorporate the music Cole Porter wrote for the stage show, will be made in Technicolor in London early next year.

The Korda-Goldwyn talks, which started last Friday, are to be resumed today. Along with discussions on a new foreign distributing setup, Korda, it is reported, will push for acquiring studio space on the Goldwyn lot. In Korda's plans for global production, making films in Hollywood with combination teams of English and American stars play an important role.

FINANCES SOLIDIFIED

Korda has improved his financial position to a great extent since his last visit here in March, at which time he renewed the British Lion-Republic distribution pact for another ten years. Approximately $5,000,000 was raised early last month from Korda's British-Lion's capital issue of 4,000,000 new "ordinary" shares British-Lion stock. At that time it was announced that the money was to be used in a vast Korda expansion program, under which the Korda interests would acquire all shares in Sound City, Films Ltd.; purchase new equipment for its Shepperton studios and use the balance of the funds raised in a hypoed production program. The Lion Studios at Beaconsfield, which the British government had requisitioned during the war and still has under lease, will be sold by the Korda interests to provide additional working capital. Korda's other current studio holdings in England is a 50 per cent interest in the Worton Hall studios at Isleworth.

White House Session Today On U.S.-Film Biz Co-operation

Washington, July 7.—Si Fabian, Ted Gamble, John Steelman and Paul A. Porter, price administrator, will huddle at the White House tomorrow for a session on government film industry cooperation. Idea is to work out some sort of a yardstick of government standards of films to be offered to American Theatres Association, and industry requirements in connection with the exhibition of official pictures.

Meeting follows one held a couple of months back between Gamble and John Small, civilian production administrator, at the time of the railroad strike. However, the current session is sharpened up by the fact that ATA turned down "Seeds of Destiny," the food film which the government was anxious to have theatres screen.

SIMON SELLS MELROSE INTEREST

George Simon shortly will pull out of Melrose Music Co., selling his minority interest in firm to majority stockholder, Buddy Morris, and will open own publishing outfit. Simon founded Melrose some years back, with Eli Oberstein, now Victor Records' veepee in charge of pop recordings, a silent and small stockholder. At the time Morris was bunching together his present pub combine (Morris, Mayfair and Melrose companies), Simon sold control to him, but has remained as nominal Coast chief of company.

Hughes, MPA Agree On Postponement

New York, July 7.—Attorneys for Howard Hughes and the Motion Picture Association agreed, according to stipulation filed in New York Federal Court over the weekend, to extend the time for MPA to amend answers to Hughes' anti-trust charges until July 30. Original date was next Tuesday.

HARRISON DENIES QUITTING BRITAIN

New York, July 7.—Rex Harrison cabled J. Arthur Rank over the weekend denial of reports he plans deserting English films to become an American citizen and concentrate on Hollywood films. The British star said he was returning to England next April as per his contract with Rank. Harrison further stated that he "hoped my appearance in major American films would prove of value to the British industry on my return."

Indie Outfit Will Do Columbo's Life

Formation of N. Brewster Morse Productions, Inc., new indie setup, was completed over the weekend. Headquarters are at 7904 Santa Monica Blvd. Morse, actor-writer-director, will be in active charge of production. Initial film on the new company's program will be a musical, based on the life of Russ Columbo, starring Beatrice Kay. Morse is currently writing the original screenplay for the film.

Film Preview

Danger Woman

UNIVERSAL RELEASE. Producer, Morgan Cox. Director, Lewis D. Collins. Original screenplay, Josef Mischel. Photography, Maury Gertsman. Art direction, Jack Otterson and Harold MacArthur. Set decorations, Russell A. Gausman and Leigh Smith. Musical director, Paul Sawtell. Dialogue director, Willard Holland. Sound, Bernard B. Brown. Technician, Jess Moulin. Gowns, Vera West. Makeup, Jack P. Pierce. Film editor, Russell Schoengarth.

CAST—Don Porter, Brenda Joyce, Patricia Morison, Milburn Stone, Samuel S. Hinds, Kathleen Howard, Ted Hecht, Leonard East, Charles D. Brown.

PREVIEWED at Universal Studios, Studio City, July 5, 1946. Running time: 60 MINS.

"Danger Woman" is neatly produced modest budgeter that makes timely use of atomic research as motivation for crime melodrama. Combination of a love triangle, (involving a professor of physics, his double crossing wife and his loyal secretary), with two murders and the intrigue of sinister scalawags is one that promises plenty of excitement. The picture, however, doesn't quite come up to the promise. It scores a near-miss on some of the thrills and suspense, muffs the melodrama in places through lack of adequate planting, but adds up to good, average entertainment. Box office should benefit from exploitation of the atom bomb angle.

Cast generally does a good job with a script that gives them more words than action. Brenda Joyce gets across as the sort of secretary a professor couldn't be blamed for falling in love with, and Don Porter carries conviction as the professor. Patricia Morison as the "danger woman" of the piece makes a sufficiently alluring and sinister femme menace.

Samuel S. Hinds and Kathleen Howard are good in featured character roles, and balance of supporting cast performs creditably.

Producer Morgan Cox has made effective use of limited materials, and technical elements of the show, including photography of Maury Gertsman, are above standard.

Direction by Lewis D. Collins probably gets as much drama as possible out of scenes which are introduced without sufficient build-up. Action in the key sequences is well-paced but is allowed to drag a bit elsewhere.

'Waltz' in Studio

"The Emperor Waltz" will start shooting at the Paramount studio today after four weeks on location in Canada. Bing Crosby and Joan Fontaine will go before the lenses under the direction of Billy Wilder.

SAG WANTS EXTRAS DEAL

Screen Actors Guild has served major producers with demand for an immediate contract for Screen Extras Guild. SAG, in unanimous vote by the board, takes position that, while SEG negotiations with producers have proceeded "satisfactorily" to a certain point, there is no reason why a fair contract, acceptable to both parties, should not be effected immediately.

SEG has been negotiating on pact since March 3, when it won NLRB election as exclusive bargaining agent for all extra players.

WB SETS 20TH ANNI LEADOFF PREEM OF 'NIGHT AND DAY'

Warner Bros.' "Night and Day," which will keynote company's 20th anniversary of talking pictures commemoration, will be given a special preem at Warner Bros. Hollywood theatre August 1. Preem will leadoff a week of special events ending on August 6, anniversary of the date when company introduced sound. Studio is mapping a gala program for the preem, calling for the participation of a big roster of stars and civic leaders.

All circuits affiliated with National Theatres will participate in the celebration of Sound's anniversary, according to Charles P. Skouras. Development points to an additional several hundred theatres taking part in the August 4-10 anniversary week event.

Keighley, 20th Near One-A-Year Deal

Director William Keighley and 20th-Fox are nearing the signing stage on a one-picture-a-year deal for a period covering several years. Understood deal would include Keighley's projected production based on the life of Carrie Jacobs Bond.

Baker, Martin Inked For 'Calendar Girl'

Kenny Baker and Janet Martin have been signed by Republic for the singing comedy leads in the top-budgeted musical, "Calendar Girl." Film, originally slated to start today, goes before the cameras Wednesday. Allan Dwan will produce-direct.

McGowan To NY On 'Dream Boat'

Jack McGowan leaves tomorrow for New York to collaborate with Guy Bolton on a new musical comedy, "Dream Boat." Bert Lahr will star in the comedy, which will be presented on Broadway at the end of the year.

Aquatic Show Set

Pacific Coast Sportsmen's Show will be held July 31 to Aug. 4 at the Long Beach Municipal Auditorium. Aquatic events will be held in the adjoining lagoon, Bernard Lurie, director of the show, announced.

' JUST FOR VARIETY '

THE GRAPEVINE: Culver City director is still nursing his souvenir of the recent two-day strike—a lump on the head. The director hired a bodyguard to hustle him through the picket lines. In the process, the muscle-man became involved with a picket and began swinging his blackjack. Only casualty was the man he'd been hired to protect! . . . Studio street scene: Edmund Goulding drove his car onto the 20th-Fox lot the other day and accidentally ran over and ruined a batch of newspapers. He returned to pay the newsboy the full amount of damages, plus largesse. Nothing so strange about that—everybody in the studios has a good word for Goulding . . . Gregory Dixon, oldtime Variety man in New York, paid a courtesy call yesterday and came through with a story. A Kansas City Star dramatic critic back in the 1880's started a review thus—"I saw 'Uncle Tom's Cabin' last night and the hounds were badly supported" . . . The Masked Marvel, that bromidic character who was the darling of wrestling promoters, has now appeared in radio. KWKW's new program, "1430 Club," features an anonymous gent billed as "The Crow" who is purported to be a prominent radioite doing a summer theatre stretch at the indie station . . . L.A. Examiner's circulating dept. will be getting a new manager, according to the rumble downtown. Jack Kenny, general circulation manager for Hearst, is in town supervising change . . . Combo at Mocambo: Tom D'Andrea and Peggy Knudsen . . . Mike Curtiz's brain went round and round the other day. Beauty, the titian canine in "Life with Father," was late for a take, and Curtiz bellowed, "Where's that pooch?" Hairdresser on the set replied, "She'll be here in a minute. She's in makeup—getting tinted!"

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Oh, there's a bucolic side to Hollywood underneath the makeup, tinsel and bright lights. Marlyn Leeper, secretary to Joseph Bernhard, president of United States Pictures, is a milkmaid on the side. She lives on a Newhall ranch with her mother and milks two cows every morning at 5:30 before driving to work . . . Columbia is doing a brave, brave thing issuing a series of shorts on Hollywood figures who have been married for ten years or longer. Fan mags have been red-faced countless times, beaming over some marriage only to have it blow up the day the magazines hit the newsstands. But Columbia is playing it cautious, releasing the shorts immediately on completion . . . "The Razor's Edge" will be a six-star picture. Star billing will be given Tyrone Power, Gene Tierney, John Payne, Anne Baxter, Clifton Webb and Herbert Marshall . . . Note for sybarites: A Hollywood department store is now offering loafer jackets for men woven of mink fur . . . Geraldine Fitzgerald, just returned to Hollywood from a two-month visit in New York, has been offered the top role in an English production of "Precious Bane" . . . Paramount is planning to team Johnny Coy and Dorothy Babb, newlyweds, as dancers in a forthcoming musical . . . William Gargan's role in Mark Hellinger's "A Swell Guy" is 110th since coming out from Broadway.

CALL SHEET: BETTY HUTTON won't have to cut a rug every time she cuts a disc now. Her new RCA-Victor contract stipulates that she will be permitted to sing ballads as well as hot stuff . . . JOAN FONTAINE is driving back to Hollywood from "The Emperor's Waltz" location with her bridegroom, Bill Dozier . . . WALT DISNEY gave a watermelon party to mark Luana Patten's eighth birthday. Event took place at California Hot Springs, where "Song of the South," Disney's Technicolor feature in which Luana makes her debut, is shooting . . . JOHN DECKER'S painting Requiescat, tribute to Van Gogh, exhibited by Francis Taylor galleries, has been bought by Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Maitland for the Los Angeles Museum . . . ROBERT CUMMINGS says he's good luck for assistant directors who have worked on his pictures. Four ex-assistants, Frank Shaw, Howard Christie, Phil Karlson and Vernon Keays, are now either directors or associate producers . . . MORRIS ANKRUM will switch from his test director's job at Metro back to acting in the studio's "Sea of Grass" . . . LYNNE ROBERTS winds up her Republic pictures in a blaze of glory, one kind or another. In "Pilgrim Lady," last scene called for her to take a bubble bath. In her latest, "Sioux City Sue," she gets doused with a bucket of mud in the final scene . . . DOROTHY LAMOUR and William Ross Howard have as house guests his brother and wife, Col. and Mrs. Charles Howard.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Columbia flackery is all excited over Don Hartman's search for "a jovial black horse" in his production of "The Return of October." A Columbia communique reads: "The horse must be handsome, enjoy the company of picture people and feel at home around motion picture cameras." Release adds that Hartman feels the horse role calls for "a new face." If you see a jovial black horse slapping someone on the shoulder, passing out cigars and telling smoking car stories, please let Mr. Hartman know, because we think he has quite a problem there . . . Wonder how Metro, which tossed thousand dollar bills around like confetti for "The Hucksters," feels about Republic's "The Magnificent Rogue," which has been rushed to the cameras. It concerns high jinks in the advertising business . . . OFF THE LOTS: Diana Lynn and Henry Willson gave a party at Mocambo for her secretary, Eileen Horne, on the first anniversary of her job. The Al Sacks tossed a party at the Lecuona Boys opening at the Trocadero. Oakmont County Club fire loused up plans of the Southern California Broadcasters for their annual party. Claude Scott, KECA manager and party chairman, is looking for a new site . . . Nestor Paiva, in for a day's visit from the "Ramrod" location in Utah, was telling tall stories about poker games in the cow country. "One game I saw a man was ahead 20,000 after three hours of play," he related. "Did he quit then?" he was asked. "Sure," said Paiva," who can use more than 20,000 matches?"—D.D.T.

HEAVY SCHEDULE OF CINECOLOR PIX UNDER WAY

Cinecolor embarks upon heavy schedule with start today of Universal's "Vigilantes Return." Hal Roach currently is filming "Here Comes Trouble" in this process, and expected to go within next two weeks will be another PRC western starring Eddie Dean.

Comet will put "Adventures of Don Coyote" before Cinecolor cameras within next two weeks, and Pine-Thomas will roll "Albuquerque" as tinter within next 30 days. Bebe Daniels will produce "The Fabulous Joe" for Roach, as her first producer chore, and Harry Joe Brown and Randolph Scott, for their first indie production together, "Twin Sombreros," have slated film for this process.

When Metro heads huddle in August to make up program for 1947-48, it is expected several will be scheduled for Cinecolor production. Studio is so pleased with results obtained in "Gallant Bess," produced by Harry Rapf, that it plans to turn out additional number in this process, for next season.

Golden Gate has number of films slanted for Cinecolor production and Warners is understood to be considering making at least one feature with this tint. Pine-Thomas has a second Cinecolor commitment, which company will probably take up later in year, and all of Roach's 12-picture program for this year will be shot with Cinecolor camera. Eagle-Lion also is interested in this color, but has not yet gained a commitment.

Lack of facilities currently is preventing Cinecolor from doling out any more commitments at this time, but this situation is expected to be alleviated when company obtains delivery of new equipment in September.

Flynn, Crawford To Co-Star in 'Each Other'

Errol Flynn and Joan Crawford have been set in co-starring chores in "Need For Each Other," the Jerry Wald production at Warner Bros. Film is based on an original by Louis Sobol and Ernest Lehman.

Murphy Chored

Ralph Murphy has been signed to direct "The Legend of Lou." Play will be presented on the Coast with a late August starting date. Author Stephen Gross is due here next week to work with Murphy on the production.

BILL ROBSON OUT OF CORRAL AS A TWO GUN MAN

They've done-gone and made a two-gun man out of Bill Robson. It's a far cry from one of the war's outstanding documentaries, "Man Behind the Gun," to that rip snortin' shooting son of Hawk Durango, with the satirical exhibit of "Request Performance" sandwiched in between, but "Wild Bill" managed the leaping transition with tolerable restraint and not too much gun-play. In a nub, what Robson has done with this prairie opera is to explode tempers with the trigger finger hanging limp.

"Hawk Durango" has been loosed from Ernie Martin's summer corral at CBS for filler duty with the possibility of a continuing life under sponsorship. It has many points in its favor. Robson is a sharp appraiser of dramatic values, Elliot Lewis doesn't let "Hawk" get the draw on him, and Kenneth Perkins flavors the script with patois of the plains. Not in its favor is the tired format of pat situations and telegraphic advance on which way they went. Western pictures, nonetheless, seem to do alright and nothing new has been added. If the show is bought it goes as presently packaged. It would, at least, offer a pleasant respite from comedy, music, quiz and giveaway shows. A few more along and some client is bound to show an interest.

O'Keefe Dickers Here, Returns To Gotham

Winnie O'Keefe, veepee of Lang-Worth Transcriptions, returned to NY over weekend after nearly fortnight here spent casing talent for possible pacting for firm. Miss O'Keefe signed no one, but it is known dickers continue with Eddie Heywood ork, Jack Fina's new band and Page Cavanaugh Trio. Next month Miss O'Keefe again will come coastward, at which time she will open Lang-Worth outpost here. In opening office, primary purpose will be to peddle talent firm has under pact to pictures.

Johnston Denies Resignation Hint

New York, July 7.—Eric Johnston denied today reports he will resign as president of the Motion Picture Association of America to enter national politics. The Journal-American had published a story saying Mayor William O'Dwyer would succeed, with Johnston "planning to enter the national political arena."

Metro Sets Gala 'Green Years' Preem

Metro returns to gala formal preem for West Coast opening of "The Green Years," slated for evening of July 22 at Hollywood Egyptian theatre. Entire cast, headed by Charles Coburn, producer Leon Gordon and director Victor Saville will turn out for event, which studio will ballyhoo with lights and bleachers.

New York, July 7.—Greta Garbo embarked on the liner Gripsholm today for her first visit to her native Sweden in eight years. "I'm joost going to take it easy," she explained to reporters.

LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

A tiny twig of olive branch is being proffered the Lords of the Linotype which may prove to be, in a manner of speaking, the bucket brigade to douse the long-standing feud between two giants of man's estates. (Okay, New Yorker, block that metaphor). It's the idea of Mark Hellinger and Homer Canfield, NBC producer, and should it eventuate satisfactorily a long stride will have been taken in unprejudicing an old gripe. We all know newspaper publishers no like radio for obvious fiscal reasons. What Hellinger and Canfield have in mind, and on a shellacked pancake, is to compose these differences and bring the two into an area of agreement on one point of conflict, to wit, a mutually advantageous radio series. The big sheets have consistently contended that radio gives nothing, takes all.

Just before the platter was shipped east for inspection by NBC's high brass we were called in for a spinning, and asked to pass judgment. What we heard was a workmanike job of dramatics and a solid pitch for sponsorship. Hellinger acted as narrator, a competent cast of AFRANS gave Warren Lewis' script an exciting enactment and it all came off in the best manner of the cops-and-robbers genre. More importantly significant, however, was an epilogue, which pointed up the crux of the context and, trade-wise, the sales pitch. Potential clients are needled thusly:

"The creators of 'The Fourth Estate' walked into the offices of newspapers and press associations and asked newspaper executives three things: (1) What has kept you from giving greater editorial support to radio programs in the past? (2) What do you want in the way of a radio program? (3) If we give you such a show will you support it in print?" said L. D. Hotchkiss, managing editor of the L.A. Times: "Sure a newspaper is hardboiled where radio is concerned. Because up till now we've always been on the 'giving' end. We've supplied the stories and publicity and got nothing in return. You show me a radio program that offers my paper something of value in exchange and we'll talk all the promotion you want." This from Dave Brandman, promotion manager of L.A. Examiner: "If your 'Fourth Estate' story for a particular week concerned one of the Hearst papers we'd want to build the thing as big as possible, even as far as a news story on page one, if it warranted it. After all, if it's handled properly, it's the same as the paper receiving an award." Brandman's reference is to recognition by the sponsor of the reporter's deed of daring my making an award of the Fourth Estate's gold award of merit plus a check for a thousand dollars. At least, that's the plan as is a tieup with Editor and Publisher, trade journal of the newspaper profession.

It all adds up to a foot-in-the-door and a disposition of the dailies to play along with radio. As it were, the lion and lamb lying down together. Good ideas generally travel in pairs so another tempting morsel is being dangled before the dailies by a similar series concocted by Bob Andrews in collaboration with American Newspaper Guild. We're sanguine of success for both projects as the invariable results would be equally shared. Picture studios found out it was more profitable to back-scratch than knife-wield and a happy affinity has been forged. In such a fight nobody wins.

Chain breaks . . . Karl Schullinger heads up the Hollywood office of Pedlar & Ryan to keep tabs on the new Camay series. He recently checked out of Foot, Cone & Belding in NY . . . Jack Benny got behind the wheel of a gas chariot back in the midwest and, tourist fashion, took in all the sights en route back home. On arrival he was taken in tow and lunched at the Dubby by Bourne Ruthrauff, Merritt "Pete" Barnum, Nate Tufts and Bob Ballin . . . The Hal Bocks (Sybil Chism) are having a Hammond organ installed in their home which will be good news for Bob Cobb, Jim Jordan and other self-styled Sinatras . . . NBC's Robert J. McAndrews elected veepee of Pacific Advertising Ass'n. . . . Bob Hope's eight advance men converged at Topeka, Kan., end of the tour, and returned en masse to Hollywood. Hope went on to Cleveland to see about his ball club interests.

The long holiday out of the way and all hands on the ground, there should be some finalizing action on the Bing Crosby-General Motors deal any day now. Hubbell Robinson and Vic Hunter will act for Foote, Cone & Belding and GM; John O'Melveny will be at Bing's elbow and the law firm of Gang, Kopp & Tyre will be around to see that the papers are in order. As the deal now stands, The Groaner reportedly accepted GM's proposal after Harry Lillis Crosby had made the first pitch over his own signature. Only hitch was length of the commercial, Bing first holding out for two and a half minutes. GM insisted on the legal network limit on a 30-minute show—three minutes—and Bing is said to have yielded on this point. So apparently the bugs have been flitted and the formality of exchanging signatures remains the only unfinished business. There has been some difference of opinion on option expiration but this is also said to have been cleaned up. By midweek we should know whether der Bingle swings over on his star from NBC to ABC and becomes the first big name to broadcast by turntable.

Hitch hikes . . . The Eddie Bracken Show gets a waxing at CBS Vine St. theatre tomorrow night. Script is by Bracken and George Hope (Bob's brother), Paul Smith directs the music and cast leads comprise Bill Demarest, Ann Rutherford and Janet Waldo. Buchanan agency gets the first platter . . . John Guedel signed a new six-year deal with Brown & Williamson for "People Are Funny" . . . Ada Leonard all-girl band, en route for an eight-week stand in San Diego, will be auditioned here next week . . . Helen Forrest enters Cedars of Lebanon today for an ear operation . . . Paul Phillips directs the audition of Phil Harris and Alice Faye Wednesday for Fitch . . . Skitch Henderson has gone with MCA.

RADIO GUILD HERE SET TO HURL PAY HIKE DEMANDS

Figuring to have strong majorities in three networks here, Radio Directors Guild is prepping for imminent presentation of wage demands and contracts. Lacking membership in Mutual-Don Lee, union will hit National Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System and American Broadcasting Co., immediately upon election of new officers July 15. Guild will not wait on affiliation with other RDG's across country, nor on the international charter approval now before American Federation of Labor, but will press its own aims pending consummation of other moves. Dealings with agencies will follow.

HOLD FINAL HUDDLES

Final meetings of three units were held this week to thrash out problems and compose proposals to be made to the nets. With facts and figures ready all that remains is for new board to appoint negotiating committees to deal with employers. Contract already exists between CBS and Guild as result of RDG taking over contract held until recently by American Federation of Radio Artists and which embraced directors at CBS.

Though Guild assumed responsibility of meeting conditions of AFRA's agreement with net, it was with proviso that when desired Guild had option to open negotiations for revision of wage clauses only.

Meanwhile, pressure is on to facilitate national consolidation of RDG's in New York, Chicago, Washington and Hollywood. Reported opposition of other theatrical unions, possibly American Federation of Musicians or International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, is holding up grant of charter.

SEEK EASTERN AID

Strong letter appealing for needed support grant would lend to local Guild's activities has been sent East for presentation to AFL biggies, and other locals here of show biz unions have been asked to write favoring grant. But with or without it the Guild will embark on its own drive in order to catch up to New York group which already has net agreements in effect, and which is readying to peg agencies next.

For first time Guild here will elect alternates to its board if proposal to write change into constitution is approved by membership vote. Previously only one person was named to offices. Now two are listed for each slot on ballots which were sent out over weekend. Virtual whole new slate will be incoming, there being but one holdover re-nominated.

Colonna, Gross Settle Contract Suit

Settlement of a $12,000 breach-of-contract damage suit brought against Jerry Colonna by his former manager, John C. Gross, was reported over the weekend when the legal action was dismissed in Superior Court. Gross had charged that the comedian had fired him last April 2 without cause, although his contract had two more years to go. Terms of the settlement were not disclosed, but lawyers representing both parties stated that Gross had received "a satisfactory amount."

THANK YOU, HOLLYWOOD LABOR*

For Remembering the Publicists!

The members of the SCREEN PUBLICISTS GUILD, who received a 25 per cent increase as the result of last week's strike settlement, are grateful to every man and woman in the CSU and IATSE unions whose guts and staying power won this magnificent victory for all Hollywood labor.

We thank the rank-and-file IATSE members and their business agents who refused to let Brewer settle for the 10 per cent he was willing to accept before the strike, and who literally forced him into the 25 per cent raise by their support of the strike.

We are grateful to the CSU members who, knowing the weak and divided position of studio publicists, nevertheless included them in the terms of the settlement.

Nobody's kidding us about who remembered the publicists. The SPG put in its first claim for a 30 per cent increase last February, and has talked these terms ever since. At last Tuesday's meeting, Herb Sorrell, in asking for a general settlement for all CSU unions, brought up the question of the publicists and machinists specifically. Brewer agreed they should get the increase, too. What else could he do?

And thank you, Local 798, IATSE Publicists, for being the only union in Hollywood naive enough to believe that Roy Brewer was responsible for the 25 per cent pay increase received by* every* worker in the industry!

DORSEY IN FORM FOR SUMMER ALLEN PLUGGER

What was Allen's Alley took a turn to Dorsey Drive yesterday and will carry that marker for the next 12 weeks. Master of the sliphorn, T. D., and his merry music men, with the assistance of Bud Paganucci and Roland MacLane for the lighter interludes of persiflage, made their takeoff an auspicious one with a velvety blending of instruments and voice. Improving with the years, Dorsey has a free and easy style at the mike and managed the emcee chore with a gay summery touch.

Back with the band after four years with the Army is Ziggy Elman, high priest of the trumpet, and after the proper accolades gave out with one of his matchless solos. Dorsey aggregation needs no gilding here and inspired by Cy Oliver's highly-polished arrangements flourished in concert pitch. Freddy Martin was guest maestro and after directing the men of Dorsey in the inevitable "Tonight We Love," engaged Dorsey in a round of schmaltzy by-play and finished with a dueting of "What It Seemed To Be." Stuart Foster handled the lone 1m vocal in good voice.

Dorsey aggregation should make a strong seller for the summer season and hold a good portion of the Fred Allen following. Wendell Niles handled the commercials for Shefford Cheese and Tender Leaf Tea in his usual capable manner. Next week's guest is Henry Busse.

Manson Chored

Frances Manson's initial producing chore at Columbia will be "The Mating of Millie McGonigle." Film is an original story by Adele Comandini, who also will do the screenplay.

Vallee Works on Show

Rudy Vallee is due back today from his vacation at Lake Tahoe, where he has been working on his projected new radio show which he will do with comedian Billy House.

McDowall Doing PA's

Roddy McDowall, now in the east on a personal appearance tour, has been signed for the stage of the Palace theatre in Akron, Ohio, August 15 to 17.

feet of film and still pictures. Park described material as greatest color pictures of all time. Newsreels, however, are not likely to use any color film if offered them.

Paramount News films of Operation Crossroads atom bomb experiment are due in today from the east and will be shown immediately in local theatres. Special release is a full reel and was photographed by Sanford Greenwald as a member of the newsreel pool at the Bikini operation. He returned Friday after taking 20,000 feet. Footage was edited at the Navy film laboratory at Anacostia, D.C.

Greenwald photographed the atomic blast from a B-29, flying 8,000 feet up in the air 20 miles away from the explosion.

Jimmie Davis and Lawrence Welk have made a Decca recording of the new tune, "Tired of Crying Over You," written by Davis and published by Peer International.

Rose Marie has made a Mercury recording of "My Mama Says No, No," and "I'm Crying My Heart Out for You."

The Mello-Larks' recording of "Going Home" and "You've Got My Heart Talking Double Talk," the latter an original by Tommy Hamm and Don Roseland, will be released nationally July 12. The vocal group is backed on the disc by The Three Dons, instrumentalists.

Al Sack has written an article, entitled "Music for the Stars," analyzing his experiences as arranger and conductor for many celebrities, including Dinah Shore, Gracie Fields, Frank Morgan and Tony Martin.

Gil Lamb Inked

Gil Lamb signed over the weekend for comedy lead opposite Joan Edwards, in Republic's forthcoming musical, "Hit Parade." Producer Robert North will get the film underway August 26.

'Sportlights' Set

New York, July 7.—Jack Eaton will produce ten Grantland Rice Sportlights for Paramount during the 1946-47 season. Eaton, who is in his 26th year of producing the shorts, has produced approximately 300 Sportlights since the series began in 1921.

Burch Promoted

John Burch, currently RKO unit manager, has been promoted to assistant production manager berth at the studio. He succeeds Dewey Starkey, resigned.

SWEENEY, MARCH SOLSTICER GIVES NO EARACHES

Another of CBS' summer souffles and one that fits the season and will sate listeners who like their domestic comedies light, topical and not too strained. If opener in Sweeney and March solsticer is indicative of the series conjured by pair with aid of Jack Price, they'll stay scheduled.

Gag material was fresh and timely, and situations—in which Jane and Joe Blows will find their own parallels—are common and human. Their characters the young people who are harassed by the imposing hubby's buddy and buffeted about by circumstance, are real, if a little overplayed. Their summertime headaches should be no earache for average auditors.

Frappe note is maintained throughout. Irving Miller's musicking and youngster Patsy Bolton's vocalizing are in tune, in tone, and pleasantly spaced and paced.

Director Charles Vanda rates a nod, too, along with performers and penners.

Ben Barton Due

Ben Barton, nominal head of Barton Music Co., the Frank Sinatra-controlled publishing firm, is due Friday from his NY headquarters for three-week Coast stay. While here, Barton will huddle with Mac Martin, company's Coast rep, on plans to push the songs which will be released in late summer and autumn.

U Oater Rolls

Universal's "The Vigilantes Return" goes before the cameras today on location at Iverson Ranch. Ray Taylor is directing the Cinecolor top-budgeted western for producer Howard Welsch. Cast is headed by Jon Hall, Margaret Lindsay, Paula Drew, Andy Devine, Robert Wilcox and Jack Lambert.

'Two Hearts' Slated

Herman Millakowsky will make "Two Hearts in Three-Quarter Time" the second film on his independent production slate. Musical was originally produced in Germany in 1930. Robert Stolz will write additional music to his original score for the first film.

DISC TOPPERS OFF TO CHI MEET

Flock of local pop-plattery chiefs are junketing to Chicago this week for convention of National Association of Music Merchants, which opens five day session on Sunday. SEG DISOWNS 68 IN BLACKLISTING COURT CASE

Group of screen extras represented in suit brought against Screen Extras Guild and film companies over asserted blacklisting are not legitimate extra players, according to statement issued yesterday by SEG. Action, filed in Superior Court Saturday, charges guild with refusing membership to 68 former extras and asks injunction plus damages based on average earnings of $60 weekly, lost since SEG ban.

SEG statement pointed out that membership roles are open, without initiation fee, to all legitimate extra players who formerly belonged to the Screen Actors Guild. Statement claims extras involved in the suit only started to do extra work in the period between December, 1944 and March of this year when open shop conditions prevailed for extra players and are not now entitled to membership in the guild.

Filing suit were John Lind, Larry Stamps, Ivan Bell, Judy Marlow, Phil Chain, Allen Charles, Tommy La Verne and John Zuniga. Plaintiffs assert they represent 60 other extras similarly blacklisted.

BASSLER STARTS 2 AT 20TH; 'BOB' SET TO FOLLOW

With start of two Robert Bassler productions at 20th-Fox today, "The Homestretch" and "The High Window," producer will put a third, "Bob, Son of Battle," before cameras next Monday, giving him three films shooting concurrently.

"The Homestretch," co-starring Cornel Wilde and Maureen O'Hara, will be filmed in Technicolor under direction of Bruce Humberstone. Reeves Eason will handle direction on second unit, with Henry Weinberger assisting Humberstone. Picture carries 74-day shooting schedule, Art Arling handling cameras.

"The High Window," second Bassler film to go today, pairs George Montgomery and Nancy Guild, with John Brahm directing Raymond Chandler story. Lloyd Aherne is photographing.

"Bob" also will be filmed in Technicolor and will co-star Lon McCallister and Peggy Ann Garner. Louis King is set to direct.

Pete Smith Launching Series On Marriage

Pete Smith is launching a new-type series in his "Specialties" shorts for Metro. New series will deal with a domestic life theme, including shorts on marriage, children and home life. Initial film has been tagged, "I Love My Husband, But—", which has been scripted by Joseph Ansen and David Barclay. Dave O'Brien will direct.

Old Mother Hubbard

Burglars who invaded offices of Negro Musicians' Local 767 over weekend netted nothing. After cutting an entrance through door panel, breakers crawled under burglar - alarm wires and tried to jimmy open the office safe. Apparently after brief attempt to pry the strong-box door, felons gave up and contented selves with strewing files and papers around before exiting. Ed Bailey, 767 prez, comments the thieves did a poor job of casing. He claims the Local never keeps any cash or negotiables in the safe.

that management offer be rejected.

Ten days is up today since opposing sides resumed talks with proviso that if settlement was not reached union would take other steps. Managements will likely be notified by tonight of deadline. What stations will do if they lose their technicians is anyone's guess.

IBEW states it has assurance of American Federation of Radio Artists that combination men (announcer-engineers) will not strike-break by doubling into their mechanical specialty.

Down Mexico Way

By LUISA MARIA ALVAREZ

Mexico City, July 7.—"Las Colegialas," now in its fourth week at the Palacio Chino, is an extraordinarily good light comedy written by Paulino Masip, under contract to Grovas. Maria Elena Marques in stellar role proves one of our most promising young actresses. Sara Guasch is sweet and convincing as teacher and mother of an illegitimate child. Marga Lopez, in role of daughter, did a very good job. Miguel M. Delgado directed.

Pictures like "Las Colegialas" are really a breath of fresh air after heavy doses of melodrama. Box office receipts should convince other producers that our audiences do like comedy, when intelligently presented. Also, that gags in bad taste are not necessary. Some directors seem to think so. By the way, those addicted to messy little jokes are not Mexican.

Rafael Alcayde, one of the Hollywood actors who divides his time between California and Mexico City studios, will have important role in "Dynamite," Cantinflas starrer, and has also drawn lead in melodrama scheduled for production in very near future. Alcayde's role in this will be entirely different from his former ones.

Cantinflas, Alfonso Sanchez Tello and cameramen Alex Phillips and Victor Herrera at Paul Busch's ranch near the city, all heartily eating turkey mole. The "mole" part is heavy sauce, with pepper, sugar and chocolate among its ingredients.

Producer Sanchez Tello was quite happy in his black cowboy outfit, and host Busch had donned an elaborately embroidered coat. Foreign correspondents present couldn't quite figure out if it was Mexican or Texan, but they liked the mole, the mariachis and the Busch hospitality.

Norman Foster vs. "Producciones Mexico" case has reached Supreme Court. Foster filed suit before Labor Relations Board, claiming to be a "worker" contracted by local producing company, "Producciones Mexico," and that said company had broken contract. Company claims that Foster refused to work according to economic possibilities of "Producciones Mexico."

Andrew Heiskill, C. D. Jackson, James Linen, Charles Wertenbacker and Mildred Schwartz, all from "Time" and "Life" magazines, are here for premiere of "Mexico of Tomorrow," a March of Time production.

Director Jack Glenn and associate producer Thomas Orchand also arrived for first showing.

Argentinian motion picture comedian Luis Sandrini's legitimate company—Sandrini is producer, director and actor—is playing to a packed house daily at the Arbeau Theatre. Tita Merello has lead opposite husband Sandrini in comedy, "When The Devil Blows."

HUGHES CRASHES IN TEST PLANE AT BEV HILLS

unsuccessfully for a forced landing on the country club fairway.

Hughes probably could have escaped without injury had he elected to take to his parachute. But, he decided to try for a landing to avoid a crash by an unmanned ship in thickly populated Beverly Hills.

He had tested the plane eight times with runs down the runway, take-offs and landings before taking to the air at 4:30. After he had been up an hour, he radioed the Burbank control tower that he could not get his landing gear down. At 6:00 o'clock he radioed that he was having motor trouble and was coming in. Then started his race for the golf course, which ended in the crash.

Hughes, 41 years old, came to Hollywood almost 20 years ago. As a "boy producer" he made "Two Arabian Nights," "Hell's Angels," "Front Page" and "Scarface"—some of the industry's top grossers in the pre-war era. His latest production was "The Outlaw" which has stirred an industry-wide controversy.

For the past 12 years Hughes has been vitally interested in aviation, forming his own aircraft construction company, becoming one of the country's foremost fliers and establishing a half dozen speed records.

Minutes after the first reports were received that Hughes was critically injured in the crash, the switchboard at the Town House, Hughes' Los Angeles residence, was flooded with calls.

Int Buys Comedy

"Love in the Air," original romantic comedy by Irwin and David Shaw, was purchased over the weekend by International for filming as a musical. Frank Loesser has been signed to write the score and work in advisory capacity with producer Joe Sistrom.

Pasadena Opener

"The Climbers," third play in the Clyde Fitch series now being presented in the Midsummer Drama Festival at Pasadena Playhouse will open tomorrow night. Lenore Shanewise directs.

MUSICRAFT GIRDS FOR WORLD SALES OFFENSIVE

Musicraft Records, which already has nosed into overseas disc market with distrib setups in Hawaii and Cuba, is girding for complete international fling, according to Oliver Sabin, plattery's national sales director who last night left for NY after five-day visit.

Next month, according to Sabin, he will open outlet in Mexico City, thus prying into south-of-border market, which at present is serviced on the scene by Decca, Capitol, Columbia, Victor and Peerless. Latter is American firm, distributing in Mexico only, owned by Charles Washburn, who headquarters here where he also owns Coast Records.

In September, Musicraft plans skein of distribs across Canada; first outlet now is being opened in Montreal. Dickers are on with three European outfits to handle product in British Isles and on Continent. When finally agency there is selected, Musicraft will ship masters and all pressings will be done overseas.

Seattle, Tacoma Differ on 'Outlaw'

Seattle, July 8.—In the opinion of the Seattle Censor Board Howard Hughes film, ''The Outlaw,'' is too naughty for this city. But Tacoma seems willing to chance an onslaught on its morals by permitting the picture to be exhibited there. It is booked into Billy Conner's Roxy theatre, beginning July 23.

Herb Stein Resigns Enterprise Post

Big Move Westward On Wilshire For Theatres

Development of Wilshire boulevard into a west-end ''Broadway'' rivaling the downtown sector is seen in plans for erection of de luxe film showcases in that area. One of the first of the new houses that will go up as soon as materials are available will be the showcase to be erected at Wilshire and Doheny by Paramount Pictures and Fanchon & Marco. Another new theatre talked of for the future is de luxe first run slated for Wilshire and Fairfax by Rodney Pantages and RKO.

New Paramount theatre will give that company three day-date houses for better showcasing of its product locally. It will

HUGHES NEAR CRISIS TODAY

Howard Hughes was given a fighting chance for survival late last night after a third blood transfusion in Good Samaritan hospital following serious injuries suffered in a plane crash Sunday night. Doctor Verne R. Mason said he became more hopeful as he survived each hour, but ''the crisis will probably come Tuesday noon.''

''Mr. Hughes' condition is critical, necessitating three blood transfusions and treatment for rapid fall of blood pressure. The left lung, which suffered concussions from severe crushing of the chest, is not yet functioning.''

''Danger Island,'' adaptation of Robert Louis Stevenson's ''Ebb Tide,'' which Paramount produced in 1922 and again in 1937, replaces ''Albuquerque'' as Pine - Thomas' first Cinecolor production. Film will go before cameras around first of month, with ''Albuquerque'' slated to follow several weeks later.

'Tidbits of 1946' Too Light To Withstand Summer Heat

New York, July 8.—Arthur Klein's presentation of ''Tidbits of 1946'' displays a group of engaging youngsters in a show that hasn't sufficient body to withstand the summer heat. Production consists of a succession of vaudeville bits with a few burlesque skits thrown in under heading of intimate review. Show needs some original comedy, variety of pace and more imagination to put it over. Some of the capable youngsters caught in the show include The Debonairs, a five-man ballet team; Marais and Miranda, in South African ballads; Robert Marshall, a robust tenor; Muriel Gaines, a quick songstress, and Lee Trent, an affable emcee.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

LOUIS Jordan's Tympany Five (actually six musicians) booking into Billy Berg's nitery has been shunted back from original mid-September date to Jan. 9 opening. General Artists Corp. apparently had considerable difficulty in getting Berg to agree to the switch, which was made to clear the way for Jordan to go into the 400 Club, NY, in September at $4,000 per week, plus a percentage deal. Aside from the top coin, another 400 lure that loomed attractive to Jordan and the agency was fact that the NY spot has nine t.c. radio shots weekly. The Jordan combo will get a flat $3,500 per week at Berg's, which is top money ever paid by the spot, which might have held crew to original date, in view of fact the contract had been inked when GAC got the 400 bid. Agency also has obtained okay for Jordan to play the Million Dollar theatre late in winter, rather than week of Sept. 17, for which sepia sextet had been penciled.

SONGPLUGGERS and sundry habitues of the local Music Row are clucking like a covey of old hens over escapade of a plugger recently admitted to Songpluggers union. Long known as one of the town's most persistent lushes, the character found an angel in a top name entertainer who also operates own music publishing firm. Latter personally bent efforts to get the lush into union, promising that he would give him a job and also the angel forked over the $109 initiation fee. First week the swack went to work he also made a party given at home of angel, at which he first braced himself with a quart of bourbon, then started a fight with other guests, and finally smashed about $700 worth of furniture, vases and bric-a-brac. He is now back where he started, jobless, but with weather-eye peeled for another "pigeon."

CONSISTENTLY getting winked at these days is the rule embraced in the Constitution of the American Federation of Musicians expressly forbidding members making residence in any hotel or resort property at which they are employed. Years ago, item was put in Constitution to prevent windjammers from making special deals, whereby they would take below-scale salaries in consideration of free rooms. Housing shortage, however, has caused musikers to seek out a flop wherever it can be found, with result same roof frequently is over them both at work and rest. None of the locals around the country has started a witch hunt to ferret out members who may be guilty of infraction of the old rule.

COLUMBIA Records has made an initial pressing of 350,000 discs of Frank Sinatra's rendition of "Something Old, Something New," thus exceeding customary initial run of a Swoonster platter by 100,000, and lifting Sinatra to top category among pop performers under contract to the waxery. It was rather unusual for discery to go out on the limb, in view of fact song has had no vast buildup and is a first work of two hitherto unknown writers, George Tibbles and Rames Iriss. Sinatra himself, however, was smitten with it and talked up the ditty to such a degree, Columbia took the flyer. The song, incidentally, is published by the Sinatra-controlled publishing house, Barton Music Co.

FIRST RUNS GRAB $440,000

'THE KID' SETTING PACE ALONG WITH 'BLUE DAHLIA'

Smash gross of better than $440,000 is in sight for current week in first run theatres. Helping to gear take to such a healthy figure was the holiday weekend and strong attractions. Top coin is going to "The Kid From Brooklyn," Danny Kaye starrer at the Pantages and Hillstreet theatres. Film opened on July 4 to boffola $15,000 and is heading for great $75,000 on the frame.

"Blue Dahlia" was another big opener, also bowing in July 4 at the two Paramounts with $11,000 on the day. Prospects are for $51,500 on the week. "The Stranger" racked up estimated $44,500 for its first week at the Orpheum, El Rey and Vogue and starts second frame today.

32G FOR "SAINT," "MAISIE"

"Hoodlum Saint" and "Up Goes Maisie" at the Guild, United Artists and Ritz came through with $32,000 estimate for its initial week, ended last night. A big factor in the smart overall outlook for the week was estimated $44,000 pulled into the Million Dollar by Duke Ellington and his orchestra.

Holdover bills are strong. "A Stolen Life" in the three Warner houses, is going for bright $55,500 on its second frame, while "Easy to Wed" closed second stanza at the Belmont, Egyptian, Los Angeles and Wilshire last night with approximately the same figure. "Smoky," with "It Shouldn't Happen to a Dog" supporting, is shaping up to big $53,000 for a second week at the Chinese, State and Uptown after bettering $72,500 on the first week.

"CHAMBERMAID" CLOSES

"Diary of a Chambermaid" closes tonight at the four Music Halls with near $24,000. "Young Widow" opens tomorrow. "Specter of the Rose" closes four-week stay at the Carthay Thursday with estimated $4,000. "Smoky" comes into the house Friday on moveover first run. "Walk in the Sun" and "Rendezvous 24" has outlook for good $5,500 at the Four Star and holds extra three days for opening Friday of "Portrait of Marie."

LEGIT OPENING

"TWO HEARTS IN THREE-QUARTER TIME"

Given a fair break in the weather the Hollywood Starlight Theatre Association will not only be able to come off the nut with its initial season, it should start a tradition of open-air light opera. Last night's offering of "Two Hearts in Three-Quarter time" had only two elements which could have been criticized harshly. One of these was a poor sound system for the 4,200 seat amphitheatre and the other was a bad arrangement for parking.

Irene Manning, Kenny Baker, Pamela Caveness, Alexis Rotov and Chick Chandler were the outstanding performers of this opening production by Barrie O'Daniels. Ray Sinatra conducting the 46-piece orchestra fitted in well with the moods of the light summer offering.

Nighteries Join To Fight AGVA Cash Bond Demand

At least nine of the top niteries here have grouped together to oppose demands recently made by American Guild of Variety Artists for cash bonds covering floorshow salaries as well as the six-day working week for performers, also sought by the union. Meeting of reps of the spots is scheduled for this afternoon, at which the association hopes to advance beyond the formative stage.

Committee of reps already has been appointed and members are Max Sisenwein, Florentine Gardens; Harry Engel, Earl Carroll's; Billy Gray, Band Box; Frank Kern, Brenemans; and Charley Foy, of site bearing his name. Other niteries in group are Bar of Music, Trocadero, Slapsy Maxie's and Ciro's.

Yesterday Arthur Kaye, assistant to Matt Shelvey, national director of AGVA, issued an ultimatum to all niteries hereabouts that they must post bonds with union and agree to six-day stanzas by July 24, or AGVA will jerk shows. Kaye is directing the union's campaign here as well as along entire Pacific coast.

It is known that at least eight niteries already have agreed with AGVA's terms and posted bonds, among them Chi-Chi, Swing Club, Cotton Club and the soon-to-open Rotisserie. Yesterday H. D. Hover, operator of Ciro's, posted a $2,000 check with Kaye, to cover his current floorshow, which is toplined by the De Marcos. However, the understanding is that this bond merely covers show, which is in for three weeks, and at the end of period, Hover will get back his check. Ciro's, incidentally, will dispense with floorshows in future and concentrate on ork entertainment.

Sisenwein, who is acting as spokesman for nitery operators' committee, last night said AGVA cash-bond demands are "unwarranted," and stressed fact that the union will not accept a surety bond. Kaye, upon hearing that niteries were banding together in common front, said that under no circumstances will union deal collectively with operators, but that each agreement reached will be separate. He also is pointing up his bond demands with disclosure that Ken Murray's "Blackouts" has had a $4,500 bond in AGVA coffers since June, 1942, on which no interest is drawn.

New York, July 8. — Story of Marilyn Silverstone, daughter of 20th-Fox International prexy, being invited to British royal garden party at Buckingham Palace on July 16 was given heavy play today by Barclay Beekman, N.Y. Daily Mirror society editor. Story featured two-column cut of girl, a short biography and how she'd met Royal Princesses while living in England when her father headed United Artists there.

Silverstone family is sailing tomorrow aboard Queen Mary for England, where Silverstone will attend 20th-Fox's British sales meet starting July 19. He will install Otto Bolle as new British managing director for company, then tour throughout Europe with Francis Harley, new European director.

Gayety Cafe Squares Up With Union

Gayety cafe, downtown black-and-tannery, has been removed from black-list of Negro Musicians' Local 767 following payment of $396 in back-salaries owed Bill Rowland's five-piece ork. Crew was pulled out of nitery ten days ago, following complaint of Rowland that spot wouldn't pay off. Local reps were unable to immediately collect, so Gayety operated music-less until adjustment was made. Rowland's combo now is back in spot.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The peculiar point about the Russian agreement on the 21-nation peace conference and on settling the Trieste issue is that Molotov, in accepting the French "compromise" idea, in both cases actually agreed to what Byrnes had previously suggested. It begins to look as if it's true that Molotov bargains like the Orientals, feeling that one should never accept the first proposal, but must argue for a decent length of time first. Under the circumstances, the French come in handy. Bidault, usually a silent man with a half smile, sits on the sidelines, careful not to side during the heated arguments with either Britain and the United States or with the Soviet, and then comes up—like the innocent bystander in the market—to make a "compromise" suggestion. In this role, Bidault, astute, and the man who was able to head the various conflicting elements in the French underground, must not be personally under-estimated. Further, he's building a place for France in the world, even though there were many who said not so long ago that France is through. Not so long as—out of her rich background—she is able to produce Bidaults.

TRADESHOWN at Warners' Hollywood, Hollywood, Cal., July 2, 1946. Running time: 128 MINS.

They've broken out the high-gloss production enamel and impressed a lot of top talent to make "Night and Day" an outstanding film musical. Story is billed as "based on the career of Cole Porter"—which means that a lead character is given the name of "Cole Porter" and put through the sequences of the standard biographical film. But neither Porter nor the audience has any reason to cavil on this point, for the yarn serves excellently to feature the Cole Porter tunes in colorful, elaborately staged production numbers that are close to tops in eye-and-ear entertainment.

Show also gives Monty Woolley a chance to play Monty Woolley, a part in which he does all right, though it is not the most convincing role of his career. Woolley shares comedy honors with Jane Wyman, the latter also figuring to much advantage in some of the song production numbers.

Cary Grant in the lead role as Cole Porter and Alexis Smith as his wife keep the romantic interest of the script bright and vivid. Also earning a hand in secondary romantic sequences are Paul Cavanaugh and Dorothy Malone. Selena Royle puts on a good performance as Cole's mother, and Henry Stephenson gives a neat characterization as Grandfather Cole.

Ginny Simms, Eve Arden and Carlos Ramirez all come in for a share of praise in the song-selling department. Balance of the cast matches up to the performance of the principals, with Milada Mladova, George Zoritch and Estelle Sloan, specialty dancers, and Adam and Jayne Di Gatano, specialty team, can take a bow for their work in the production numbers. Oh yes, Mary Martin plays herself in the picture and scores with—you guessed it—"My Heart Belongs to Daddy."

The Porter music needs no special

RICHARD DE MILLE JOINS PAR TELE; PLANS HYPOED

Richard DeMille, son of Cecil B. DeMille, joined Television Productions, Inc. (Paramount), yesterday to conduct special research. DeMille's association with Paramount affiliate is in line with plans to develop special video programming and to minimize radio styles and use of film.

Returning from New York over weekend, Klaus Landsberg, director of Television and manager of station W6XYZ, embarked on campaign of hypoing operations in preparation for fall splurge. Whether or not commercial video is approved in Los Angeles area by that time, Par plans expansion and improved operations.

Additional studio space is planned and preperations are in works to take over new space within Paramount lot. Present telecasting equipment is considered adequate to handle operations but new inside equipment for pickup and production is being added. Two new cameras were installed yesterday and will soon be put in operation.

With increase in facilities, space, etc., Tele plans increasing its time on the air. Same number of hours now devoted to live shows will be continued, and sports, special events will be added until Tele is ready to dig into added dramatics for which special research is now in progress. On premise that video demands its own formats and not adaptations of present day radio, legit or films, Landsberg is stressing development of form and presentation peculiar to the medium. Film will be used to some extent but not to extent where it demonstrates reliance.

THE GRAPEVINE: Those who saw Howard Hughes after he was removed to Beverly Hills emergency and later Good Samaritan hospital marveled at his stoic courage. He remained conscious during the long hours while doctors assessed the extent of his injuries. He chatted with people around his bedside. Yesterday he insisted on dictating letters and conferring with associates, as though a plane crash and "50-50 chance to live" were every day occurences, until Dr. Verne Mason posted a deputy sheriff at his door and ordered him to keep out everyone except doctors and nurses . . . Colin "Coke" Miller, now an Enterprise exec, went back into the newspaper business briefly Sunday night. He lives a block from where Hughes' plane crashed, and covered the story for the United Press, for which he formerly worked . . . George Marshall, who directed Raymond Chandler's "The Blue Dahlia," is tossing a dinner for Hollywood mystery writers at Lucey's tonight. On the guest list are Erle Stanley Gardner, Jonathan Latimer, Frank Gruber, Craig Rice, Leslie Charteris, Geoffrey Homes, Richard Sale, Philip Mac Donald, Whitman Chambers, Anthony Boucher, Dwight Babcock, Raymond Chandler, Jimmy Starr and Jo Eisinger . . . New talent head at a studio was introduced to his staff by his superior, who indicated, however, that he was still boss of everything except assigning dressing rooms. And don't think the n.t.h. isn't burning . . . Charlie Bickford, after years of scowling, leering and sneering, is playing his first comedy role in "Katie for Congress" at RKO. Studio is happy over the rushes and may give him another chance at clowning in "The Bachelor and the Bobby Soxer."

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Indie producer issued orders that all lights be turned off on all stages, the minute production ended, in order to pare down his budget. The other day he was lost for almost an hour on one of the darkened stages he was checking until he managed to stumble into a door . . . Robert Kent dropped in on his own funeral yesterday. Reported for his role in Pine-Thomas' "Jungle Flight" and watched Robert Lowery and Ann Savage doing a scene. "Who's the dead man?" he asked the doorman. "Some actor named Robert Kent," the doorman yawned . . . Jack Carson and Dennis Morgan, for their appearance with the world preem of "Two Guys from Milwaukee," in Milwaukee, will establish a beachhead with a flotilla of 25 Coast Guard Reserve vessels, four Coast Guard cutters and an air umbrella of 25 Navy planes. They will travel to Milwaukee lakefront by yacht from Chicago. It's probably the first amphibious red carpet in the history of exploitation . . . OFF THE LOTS: Johnny Coy and Dorothy Babb found a completely furnished apartment waiting for them when they returned from their honeymoon, with Sammy Ledner, Marjorie Reynolds and John Hoyt among those providing the surprise. In the guest room was a baby carriage, with card attached reading, "Please don't name it Bing." It was signed Bob Hope . . . Lois Andrews and Louis Shurr at Henri's. Rita Hayworth and Tony Martin at Beverly Tropics. Robert Walker and June Blanchard at California Country Club. Robert Stack is rushing Gloria Stroock, sister of Geraldine Brooks, Warners starlet. Gloria is being tested by three studios.

CALL SHEET: MARION HUTTON will come out for a visit with her sister Betty Hutton as soon as she's able to travel. Marion underwent blood transfusions after the birth of her second son . . . KATINA PAXINOU brought her sister, Maria Ralli, Greece's foremost poetess, to the set of "The Chase," where Miss Paxinou's husband, Alexis Minotis, is working . . . ALICE TALTON, wife of Lew Kerner, Goldwyn casting director, is playing lead in "Blind Alley" in the Laguna summer stock company . . . MICHAEL ST. ANGEL has been called up by his NY draft board for a July 15 appearance . . . ESTHER WILLIAMS and husband, Ben Gage, took off a couple of days ahead of the "This Time for Keeps" company so they could visit his family in Chicago and Wisconsin before proceeding to the Mackinac Island location . . . PAUL MANTZ tossed a Troc party to mark his 18th year as a Hollywood charter pilot . . . STEVE FISHER got a bonus for an added dialogue chore on "Dead Reckoning," which Milt Holmes is producing for Columbia.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Presumably after bitter experience in the field, Tom D'Andrea, writer-actor at Warners, came up with this definition of a glamour girl: "A young lady you try to get a second date with, when you are fully aware that on the first one she ate only two bites of the seven-dollar steak you bought for her" . . . Frank Borzage plans to journey to England for the premiere of "I've Always Loved You" in October . . . Kent Smith received an unusual honor for an old Harvard boy. His picture is on the cover of the current issue of The Hobo Chronicle . . . Spencer Tracy's son, John, will enter the University of California at Los Angeles this fall. He is now on a Grand Tour of the United States by air . . . Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse have been advised that "Life with Father" will open the season at the Royal Dramatic theatre in Stockholm . . . En route from "The Emperor Waltz" location, Bing Crosby stopped off in his hometown, Spokane, and bought $2500 worth of tickets for the benefit of families of nine players killed in a bus crash a couple of weeks ago. Tickets were to be distributed to servicemen . . . Prentice-Hall will publish Walter Steigleman's book on horse racing, "Money Makes the Mare Go." Cynical editors of the publishing house have suggested, however, that it be re-titled "The Mare Makes the Money Go."—D.D.T.

of American Theatres Association, asked for continued cooperation by the industry on government's requests for screen time, but pointed out that "any assistance which this government may request of any part of the film industry must not be interpreted as interfering in any way with the complete freedom of expression and complete freedom of the screen."

Letter was read at huddle today between ATA spokesmen and government officials and officially designated the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion to serve as clearing house for all government requests for screen time. ATA said it was willing to cooperate with screening of official films, provided they were short, factual and non-controversial.

Present at the huddle at the Mayflower Hotel this afternoon were John R. Steelman, OWMR director; Secretary of the Treasury, John Snyder; Attorney General Tom C. Clark; Secretary of Commerce Henry A. Wallace; Acting Secretary of the Navy John Sullivan; General Omar Bradley, Chief of Veterans Administration; Price Administrator Paul A. Porter; Anthony Hyde, Deputy Director of OWMR; Arch A. Mercey, OWMR Motion Picture chief and others.

Representing ATA were Fabian, Robert Coyne, ATA executive director; R. B. Willby of Atlanta, chairman of the ATA program committee; J. Edward Shugrue and Arthur Mayer.

Willby laid down the law on the kind of pix which would be acceptable for the theatres. Since the film houses are primarily for the purpose of entertainment and have an audience representing all viewpoints he said the films must be non-controversial and must not contain any propaganda.

Schwartz Signed for Three Yrs. By Guild

Jack Schwartz yesterday was signed to a three-year producer deal by Screen Guild Productions. Pact calls for Schwartz to produce a minimum of ten films during the period. Initial film will be "Return of Buffalo Bill," which is slated to roll within 60 days.

Berlin Skies In

New York, July 8.—Irving Berlin is Clippering in from Bermuda Wednesday for a midnight preview of "Blue Skies," which is being shown to the local music bunch.

NAB OPENS SERIES OF NEWS CLINICS

News clinics to improve local coverage of southern California stations will be conducted here by Art Stringer, of National Association of Broadcasters, who arrived here over weekend. "School" time is being set up by William B. Ryan, head of NAB's 16th district, for Stringer to instruct managements and news department heads of stations, on NAB's studies and experience throughout country. Session with northern California's and Nevada's 15th NAB district, will probably follow.

JEFFREY LYNN BACK ON WB STAR LIST AFTER WAR CHORE

Warners announced yesterday that its star list has now reached total of 30, with the return of Jeffrey Lynn, after four years' service in the Army. Talent line-up also includes 41 featured players, 14 performers signed to film commitments, 37 writers, four composers, nine producers and 15 directors. Composers include Ray Heindorf, Max Steiner, Erich Wolfgang Korngold and Franz Waxman. Producers are Henry Blanke, Robert Buckner, Owen Crump, Jules Furthman, Alex Gottlieb, Charles Hoffman, Gordon Hollingshead, William Jacobs and Jerry Wald. Directors are:

Curtis Bernhardt, David Butler, Michael Curtiz, Delmer Daves, Frederick de Cordova, Peter Godfrey, John Huston, James V. Kern, Norman Krasna, Jean Negulesco, LeRoy Prinz, Irving Rapper, Vincent Sherman, Don Siegel and Raoul Walsh.

Rep Skeds Four Trucolor Films

Republic has slated four Trucolor productions for the 1946-47 releasing schedule, in addition to the westerns already skedded, Allen Wilson announced yesterday. Initial film will be "That's My Gal," followed by "Slippy McGee," "Down Tahiti Way" and "Singapore Sal."

'Suds' Going On Road

"Suds in Your Eye" will open a road tour in Portland, Ore., Aug. 29. Play is slated for Detroit and Pittsburgh dates also. It opens here Aug. 1.

HOLLYWOOD RUNAROUND

By RADIE HARRIS

When the Delmar Turf Club preems Aug. 6, Mike Todd, with his usual showmanship, is initiating a novel stunt. Instead of the conventional souvenirs, everyone will receive a bound booklet of Damon Runyon's popular horse stories, including his famous ode, "You Can Beat a Race, But You Can't Beat the Races." If you already haven't a tag for this giveaway, Mike, how about "For Better or Worse!" . . . Stuart Cheney, one of Broadway's most brilliant scenic designers, is hovering between life and death at Santa Monica hospital after an auto smash-up. Luba Malina, with whom he had been spending the evening at the Cafe Gala, narrowly escaped when the accident occured right after he had dropped her at the Bev-Wilshire . . . Since practically all the familiar faces at "21" are now at Romanoff's and Chasen's, it is only fitting that boniface Mac Kriendler should also be here. He is—as the houseguest of Anatol Litvak . . . What's with the Collier Youngs? . . . Oscar Hammerstein, who has had enough of travel since his recent trip abroad, won't make the trek here for the Jerome Kern memorial, but will hibernate at his Bucks County farm to finish the second act of the new musical he whipped up on the long boat trip to Australia. Dick Rodgers will do the score, 'natch . . . Not only is Enterprise paying Louis Calhern a fat lump sum for his services as "Boris Morosow" in "Arch of Triumph," but they are also doling out $30,000 to Arthur Hopkins for delaying the road tour of "The Magnificent Yankee" until Oct., instead of Sept. as originally skedded. No wonder that Hopkins thinks Einfeld-Loew a very "Enterprising" young company!

LIFE WITH DAUGHTER: Jack Warner, entertaining Al Goetz and some other NY guests with a very funny, albeit plenty censorable reel of "fluffs" made on the lot, turned to his young daughter, Barbara, and said, "Darling, isn't it past your bedtime?" Whereupon 10-year-old Barbara retorted, "Oh, don't worry about me Daddy," I've already seen it!"

BULLETIN BOARD: Freddie March, his Goldwyn chore finished, is off for his Conn. farm on Friday. Whether or not he and Florence Eldridge will resume their Broadway careers as co-stars in Ruth Gordon's "Miss Jones" is still in the indecisive stage. What is definite, however, is the contract they have signed with Del Guidice to hop to London for one picture sometime in '47.

Russell Lewis and Howard Young, who have a very valuable property in their hands—a play of Thomas Wolfe's—are trying to snare Raymond Massey and Vincent Price for the two star leads. It's drama of the Civil War period, tagged "Mannerhouse." Speaking of Massey reminds me that he rates the sole credit for suggesting the inspirational casting of Godfrey Tearle for the role of Franklin D. in "The Beginning or the End" (Metro). I met him at the Masseys yesterday, and I've never seen such a startling resemblance!

Bob Montgomery and Elliot Nugent would love to have Ida Lupino for the femme lead in their first Broadway production, "The Big Two," and Ida is maad to do it, if she can ever free herself of contractual obligations here. Elliot thinks the male lead would be perfect for an actor named Bob Montgomery . . . if he can get him!

STOP THIEF: At the Armand Deutsch's gay supper party the other p.m., Dore Schary was discussing a Broadway producer who was threatened with kidnaping, only the plot fell through because the ransomers quickly discovered there was no one to contact!

SCOOPING AROUND: Johnny Green and Frank Loesser have written an entire new score for "Day Before Spring" that is terrif—especially a Hit Parader called "You're Reliable" and I can rave even after hearing Green and Loesser sing it! . . . During Moss Hart's brief casting whirl here, he confided to his intimates that if Kitty Carlisle says "yes," he'll finally desert his bachelor freedom . . . Robert Capa is putting the finishing touches to a novelette, illustrated with his own pictures, and called, "Slightly under Focus" (Henry Holt). As soon as his deadline is reached, he'll burn his bridges behind him to satisfy his yen to produce and direct in Vienna . . . Here's a parlay of writers for you—p.a. Bill Doll, radio actor Jimmy Backus and Sears Roebucker, Cyrus Adler. This assorted trio have just collaborated on a tongue-in-cheek horror comedy, "Skin Deep" that has already hypoed a lot of excitement from the advance peepers . . . That was a very nostalgic meeting between Arch Selwyn and Arthur Hammerstein, who met for their first reunion in ten years at the home of Arthur's daughter, Edith, now Mrs. Walter Kay . . . Theresa Helburn and Lawrence Langner, known for their shrewd business acumen, are getting their outdoor exercise kicking themselves black and blue for the deal they made with Grad Sears on "Henry V."

PASSING PARADE: Gov. Warren, Russell Crouse, Lina Romay, Edna Best, Ella Ungar, Nat Wolf in the dinner crowd at Chasen's only discussing one topic of conversation—the Howard Hughes accident . . . Marie Louise Elkins and Jimmy Todd holding open house on Elm Drive for Elliot and Norma Nugent, Dick Basehart, Bianca Stroock, Tom and Mary Elmore, Russell Medcraft, Jacques Daniels, Elizabeth Patterson and Amy Powell . . . The Brian Ahernes exuding their marital happiness at John Brahm's barbecue . . . Another picture of domestic bliss: Doug and Mary Lee Fairbanks entertaining their offspring, Daphne and Victoria, at luncheon in the patio of Romanoff's.

MCA OPENING NEW OFFICE IN CANADA FOR BAND BIZ

Music Corp. of America is opening a Canadian office in Montreal to facilitate bookings of bands and acts north-of-the-border. The agency's NY office in past has handled Canuck dates, but MCA expects nitery business to boom there since recent repeal of prohibition laws in Ontario province, hence the establishment of an on-the-scene outpost.

Bud Overbeck, of MCA's Coast band-booking department, has been offered top spot in Montreal. Last night he would not comment on acceptance, stating he had just returned from vacation and wanted to mull matter. Another change in local MCA setup will be imminent arrival of Joe Sully, from NY office, to move into act-booking department here. This function has been handled by Sam Rosey, who in addition to selling acts will also handle concerts in future.

Light 'n' Airy

by JACK HELLMAN

If the Hooperatings seem lower this early summer than in previous years don't stew over it. There isn't enough difference to raise a sweat despite what you may think. In fact, we thought so too until we jingled Ruth Arnold at Hooper. In no time at all she was back at us with these evening averages. For the month of May: 1940, 29.6; 1941, 25.5; 1945, 30.1; 1946, 25.6. For June: 1940, 25; 1941, 24.9; 1945, 23.1; 1946, 22.9. There was good reason for last year's high May figure if you but recall that VE Day happened along about then.

Should you favor the other school of thought that ratings are down, figures notwithstanding, you would have some factual reasoning to back you up. For the first time in four years vacations are back in vogue and there's still a lot of loose war coin around itching to be spent. Weekend shows should have suffered most because of the urge to get outdoors, beyond reach of the Hooper checkers. Sets in use tumble with the degree of Fahrenheit and that, after all, is the true barometer of how the audience is split up. Percentages are struck off on the basis of listeners rather than calls made.

Chain breaks . . . Frank Morgan show for Pall Mall remains with Ruthrauff & Ryan in the fall, giving that agency another slice of the American Tobacco biz to supplement its billing on Luckies with Jack Benny. Morgan takes the last half of the current Kay Kyser time. Incidentally, the Morgan show is costing the ciggie roller around $16,000 a week, exclusive of time, which should be a new high for summer budgets . . . Eddie Holden's $200,000 suit against Fitch, MCA and NBC gets under way today in federal court. Copyright violation and restraint of trade is charged in the use by Fitch of "Rogue's Gallery," Holden claiming registration and prior use of the title and format . . . Myron Kirk in town on a Texaco deal without any Crosby attachment . . . Frances Scully now has 19 sponsors splitting up the cost of "Star Gazing" . . . John Heiney holidaying here on leave from his writer-producer duties with J. Walter Thompson in NY.

Hitch hikes . . . Z. Wayne Griffin directs tonight's plattering of the Eddie Bracken show, which will carry Texaco commercials . . . Kenyon & Eckhardt is submitting Bing Crosby to Ford. So-o-o-o! . . . Brown & Williamson moved in fast to re-sign "People Are Funny" a year in advance of contract's run-out when two other clients evinced an interest in bankrolling the Linkletter-Guedel fun special . . . Indie station spieler, on the prowl for loot to feather his bridal nest, got heaved off "Bride and Groom" yesterday when it leaked that he carried off a bundle of swag from "Hope Chest" . . . Goldwyn flacks have it all figured out that $35,000 in free air time was snagged for "Kid from Brooklyn," which they call a record. Did they ever hear of a guy named George Jessel?

More Fulltime L. A. Radio Stations Is Plea To FCC

Washington, July 8.—A plea for more powerful full-time radio stations in the Los Angeles Metropolitan District was made today by Royal V. Howard, director of engineering for Station KXLA, Pasadena. Testifying at the FCC hearing on clear channel radio service Howard declared that while the L. A. Metropolitan District is the second largest in the country in land area and third in population it ranks last among the five largest metropolitan districts in broadcast facilities.

Howard called on FCC to consider ways to improve the quality of AM coverage in the Los Angeles area.

Said he: We insist that the rather popular idea that Los Angeles is surfeited with service because of a large number of low quality stations is completely erroneous.

Tables introduced at the hearing by Howard showed that New York metropolitan area had six 50 kw night time stations, Chicago four, and Los Angeles only two. While New York City has three 1-A clears, and Chicago tour, KFI is the only L.A. station operating as a dominant clear channel station and its channel was recently broken down to accommodate a Cuban station.

AGVA Pays Off Cast Of 'Talent Time'

American Guild of Variety Artists last night paid off cast of "Talent Time" revue, as it closed one-week stand at Wilshire-Ebell. The union, prior to show's opening, exacted a $1,350 cash bond from producer Dave Allison to cover salaries of the 21 performers. Just prior to final performance, Allison asked AGVA to pass out the money to cast. "Time" took a severe press panning, and the box-office take during engagement was negligible.

'Loved You' Held

"I've Always Loved You," Frank Borzage Technicolor production for Republic, has been held up until late September pending on number of tint prints turned out between now and that time. Picture was shot last fall but heavy Technicolor sked has caused the stall on the release.

Morse Moving Into Transcription Field

Carlton Morse is planning expansion into general production in transcription field and currently conducting sales experiments among Texas stations. Via tieup with Selected Radio Features test is being made with "Mysteries by Morse" series which Jack Ross is sampling through Long Star territory. If successful, Morse who writes, produces and owns "One Man's Family" series will dig deeper into field and launch another new series entitled "I Love a Mystery."

Cleveland New Indie

George Cleveland is entering the independent production field with "Flotsam," Coast Guard drama, to be produced in 1947. Picture will be shot in the North Pacific area. Cleveland, character actor, is being financed by Seattle and Vancouver capital.

cost approximately $2,500,000 and contain the latest innovations in theatre planning and equipment. Theatre also will serve as a television outlet for Paramount, which means a possibility of live stage shows being played before regular theatre audience as well as being televised to home receivers.

Site of the house is on the northwest corner of Wilshire and Doheny. Property, which includes the adjoining block to the west, was recently acquired by Paramount for reported $500,000. Company will retain enough of the vacant site to assure ample parking facilities for patrons and remainder of property not needed for theatre will be sold later, it is understood.

Design of the new theatre will be in the hands of William Pereira. Latter also handled plans for conversion of the old El Capitan theatre on Hollywood boulevard into the Hollywood Paramount theatre several years ago.

Local first run theatre business has been featured past few years by strong growth of Hollywood and Wilshire west-end sectors into potent grossing areas. Trend in the downtown Los Angeles section has been slightly downward, largely due to parking and transportation problems.

KORDA, CROSBY IN NEGOTIATION FOR CONTRACT

ada with Paramount's "The Emperor Waltz" company.

Many film toppers believe that Korda has gained considerable ground in his battle for supremacy with J. Arthur Rank since his last visit here in March. Backed by a multi-million dollar expansion program, it was indicated that Korda's British-Lion is to become the central unit in the projected world-wide film combo. British-Lion strategy is chiefly to attract top indie producers and stars on both sides of the Atlantic to its banner. Korda has met with significant success in the British indie field, and indications point to the same type of maneuvers in Hollywood.

Korda believes that British films will continue their upward trend of success and places most of the credit for the development onto indie producers. It is indicated that he feels if adequate studio facilities were extended indie producers he would be in position to distribute their product. To this end, Daily Variety learned that the Korda interests acquired a 75 per cent controlling interest in Sound City Films, Ltd., for around $2,000,000.

He is planning on an immediate modernization program for the studios with the objective of making them available shortly for Technicolor and black and white production. The Korda interests already owned Lion Studios and Beaconsfield Studios, latter still requisitioned by the British government. In addition, the combo has an interest in Worton Hall studios.

In his negotiations with Hollvwood producers and stars, Korda's big argument are the studios and distribution organization which he can make available. Most recent arrangements with British producers include Leslie Arliss, Edward Black, Anthony Kimmins and Herbert Wilcox.

30G PAID COOLEY IN SANTA MONICA BALLROOM SHARE

Dean Simmons, head of ad agency bearing his name, has bought into Santa Monica Ballroom for reported $30,000. Deal was concluded over weekend with Spade Cooley, lease holder, whereby Simmons will share operation with band leader.

With closing of deal, Al Levine, b.r. manager, exited, reportedly due to disagreement with Cooley. Latter, however, reports Levine was let out after nine weeks of association with Cooley. Though denied by operators, spot is said to have been steadily losing money.

Levine states he was also managing Cooley and the band at time of severance, while Cooley counters with statement that Levine managed only ballroom and that not as it should have been. Split up of b.r. operation and manager's exit marks latest in series of events in which Cooley has been involved over past months.

Rowland Film Gets Four Mexican Weeks

Mexico City, July 8.—"Woman Against Woman," Spanish-language picture which William Rowland as producer-director completed here two months ago, has been guaranteed four-week engagement at local 4,000 - seater Metropolitan theatre, largest motion picture house in Latin America. This is first time any picture has been guaranteed such long playing time in Mexican capital.

comment. Max Steiner has done a good job in composing and adapting additional music, Leo Forbstein's musical direction is tops and the orchestrations by Ray Heindorf and vocal arrangements by Dudley Chambers are fortunate.

Production by Arthur Schwartz leaves little to be desired in the matter of showmanship, mounting and technical finish. Film is one of the smoothest color jobs yet and a credit to the skill of photographers Peverell Marley and William V. Skall.

Michael Curtiz succeeds admirably in the tough task of keeping a musical show that runs more than two hours moving along smartly and free of flat spots.

MUSICRAFT SEEKS ELLINGTON SESH

Legal reps of Musicraft Records this week will approach Victor officials in NY with plea to let former disc Duke Ellington at a three-day session here, starting Aug. 15. Ellington still is under pact to Victor, with approximately 20 sides yet to cut, but also he some time ago signed three-year paper with Musicraft, which goes into effect on Nov. 1.

Musicraft is anxious to get Ellington on wax as soon as possible, due to certainty that American Federation of Musicians will steeply tilt musikers' scale when present pact between platteries and union expires in October. In asking favor of Victor, Musicraft will promise not to release Ellington's product until mid-winter.

Honorable Justin Miller, President,
National Association of Broadcasters,
1760 "N" Street Northwest,
Washington (6) D. C.

Dear Judge Miller:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank you for your expression of confidence in appointment of the splendid working committee on the west coast to assist in planning for "Magic in the Air" - the saga of radio from crystal set to television.

Your spirit of cooperation has been demonstrated by the fact that you chose west coast vice presidents of the four major networks to serve on the committee, namely: Sidney Strotz of NBC, Don Thornburgh of CBS, Lewis Allen Weiss of Mutual and Don Searle of ABC, as well as such well-known Los Angeles radio executives as the chairman, William Ryan of KFI, and Cal Smith of KFAC, and Robert Coleson, west coast head of NAB.

In 1919 when one of your great pioneers of radio, Lee DeForrest, was denied further use of the airways, and was informed "there's no place for entertainment on the air," that challenge was met squarely by not only DeForrest but by all the pioneers. It is through their efforts and foresight that radio has become the great dynamic force that it is today.

With your splendid cooperation already assured, we plan to produce a picture which for the first time will weld those two great media of entertainment - screen and radio. It is now up to us of the motion picture industry to make "Magic in the Air" the breathing tribute to the greats in your field, as well as the most thrilling package of entertainment ever brought to the screen.

Sincerely,

Jerrold T. Brandt

Par Flashes Tele 116 Miles to San Diego

Clear and constant television signals to San Diego — 116 miles distant — have been attained by W6XYZ, station of Paramount's subsid, Television Productions, Inc. This, in addition to disclosure that station's signals are being received in San Bernardino, Santa Barbara, Riverside and Redlands, will be reported tonight at meeting of Society of Television Engineers.

Upsetting theory held by Federal Communications Commission that such coverage was not possible, Klaus Landsberg, director of Television Productions, will demonstrate his findings with field test measurements. W6XYZ operates with four kilowatts without antenna gain to boost its power.

PAR STARTING TRIAL THEATRE

Paramount is taking over the Phoenix Theatre in Westwood Village for summer stock. Development marks initial step in that direction by any studio, although idea had been bantered about by other studios for years. Primary motive back of the step is to try out plays and players. Understood that studio will develop a large stock company to implement the program. It was further learned that Paramount directors will put the players through their paces.

Project is expected to be launched in mid-August and successful plays will be routed to New York.

Louis B. Mayer is spending several days in San Francisco on a business trip and to visit Lawrence Weingarten, who recently underwent an eye operation.

Friars Stop Games

New York, July 9.—The police prowled the Friars Club last night on an anonymous complaint that professional gamblers were running open games. It appears all gambling will cease at the club henceforth, with exception of private gin rummy set-tos.

FRED ALLEN GETS PROUDFOOT KICK

New York, July 9.—Fred Allen's use of the Tom Proudfoot gag boomeranged. Guy with that name in California wrote, saying that since Allen had used his name to such good effect would he please send someone from Paramount or Metro to scout three-year-old Proudfoot, Jr.

Hughes 'Sleeps Like Baby' After Passing Shock Crisis

Penicillin injections were being given Howard Hughes last night, 48 hours after he was critically injured in the crash of his new Army plane, as he successfully passed the shock phase and fought against possible pneumonia and other complications resulting from his crushed left lung. In Good Samaritan hospital, with Dr. Verne R. Mason in almost constant attendance, he was given the penicillin every three hours. Dr. Mason said the severe shock had been controlled by blood transfusions. Late yesterday he was reported "sleeping like a baby."

PROTESTS by an extra player over asserted favoritism at a major studio has now led to threats of physical violence unless he lays off charges, according to extra. Charges of discrimination and favoritism were made against a femme employe in the casting department who, it was claimed, kept a certain clique working and brushed off all others on extra and dress work calls. Complaint was made to studio manager and extra offered to pass up all future calls at studio if situation was corrected, just to show he wasn't pushing a personal angle. As result of charges, extra was approached other day with warning to lay off or be worked over, threat apparently coming from friends of casting employe.

IOWA is celebrating its centennial this summer and the state commission promoting the affair this week commenced notifying every band booked for tour through state that the song "Ioway" is a must on every date. Tune was cleffed and worded by Meredith Willson, and move is afoot to have the ditty named official song of state. Bing Crosby recently was induced to disc it for Decca. It is carded for release within two weeks when centennial capers will be at peak. Miller Music Co., which is publishing the item, now is preparing giant shipments of sheet copies into Iowa, on tie-in with state commission, which has promised to push sales.

PITCH before Federal Communications Commission by KXLA's Royal Howard confirms reports that station is interested in upping its power and possibly switching its broadcast band location. KXLA now operates on 1110 kilocycles with 10,000 watts. When Royal King, manager, was queried couple of weeks ago he denied station's interest in any change, pooh-poohing report as gossip. Howard's move looks like warmer-upper from here.

SCREEN Actors Guild is reported to be very unhappy over corporate name being used by a comparatively new independent distribution-production company, Screen Guild Productions, Inc. Talent organization has gone so far as to have its counsel write Screen Guild a letter, protesting use of the title. Screen Actors stand is believed to be based on fact that the word guild, particularly in connection with Hollywood and films, has a definite meaning in the minds of the public and its continued exploitation by the film firm might give misleading impression that actors guild is involved in the production and distribution of pictures.

WHEN Charles Barton, currently directing "White Tie and Tails" at Universal, was an office boy at Famous Players-Lasky, the person who treated him with greatest kindness was Lois Wilson, then one of lot's reigning stars. Director, hearing she was in town for brief visit, communicated with her and talked her into making brief appearance in his picture, after she had turned down number of far more lucrative offers from other studios. Film will mark Miss Wilson's first screen role in more than seven years, intervening period having been devoted to stage.

PARAMOUNT is putting up 50 per cent of the coin for the Broadway presentation this fall of the super musical, "Park Avenue," and is being cut in for 25 per cent of the take. Dope has it that the show, authored by Ira Gershwin, George S. Kaufman, Nunnally Johnson and Arthur Schwartz, will be one of the most ambitious ones launched in New York in several seasons. Paramount has film rights to the show and understood that production is earmarked for middle of next year.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

With the Senate voting to exempt meat, poultry and dairy products from its new proposal for OPA controls, the chances for OPA extension become less. The President can be considered certain to veto such a bill. The only agreement for controls appears to be on rents. Also, unless prices begin to go wild, the pressure for OPA extension will probably not be strong enough to affect the attitude of Congress. The intransigent attitude of the House is now apparent in the fear that the British loan will not be passed, with even wheel-horses like Sabath of Illinois off the administration range. Some of the reaction against the loan has been due to the Bevin statement and actions on Palestine, but some of this reaction will be adjusted from its false logic by the force of arguments made by men like Sol Bloom, and by the public statement soon to be made in favor of the loan by the American League for a Free Palestine. They will say that although they oppose Bevin's policy on Palestine, they are nevertheless for steps toward maintaining international economic peace.

One stormy night in old New York when Edgar Allen Poe
By candlelight immortalized his alcoholic crow
He never dreamed that one fine day in many a studio
A raven would be sitting there, demanding high-class dough.
A raven or a nightingale, a linnet or a thrush
In Hollywood will cause a lot of golden notes to gush.
The birds and bees in yonder trees are worth a lot today
If you can only train them for a motion picture play.

When P. T. Barnum was a lad he played up his menagerie on the theory that human and other animals enjoyed looking at each other, face to face. For a time the motion pictures went human, in a sort of way, but now there is a distinct trend toward the zoo. Never before has there been so many animal actors on the screen. Horses, of course, are the bread-and-butter of the westerns, but the westerns grow into colossal pioneer pictures, and you can't pull a pioneer picture without old Joe Hoss in the immediate vicinity. Dog films grow and prosper, with canine stars more important than the human thesps who provide the dialog. Parrots speak their lines and remind you of a lot of actors who do the same thing in the same way. If you have a pet mandril, or elephant or hippopotamus, you can get a job for your client quicker than you can get a job for a two-legged actor.

NAME TRIO TO RULE SONGWRITERS ON COAST

The Council of the Songwriters' Protective Association, from its NY headquarters, last night appointed a Committee of three, L. Wolfe Gilbert, Frank Loesser and Jule Styne, to rep the organization on the Coast. The action obviously was taken after numerous members here had bombarded headquarters during past fortnight with demands that a rep or reps be appointed.

The SPA has been without rep here for more than two years, or since Gilbert quit as veepee and Coast official following series of quarrels with organization's hierarchy. Last month the Council requested that Gilbert rejoin and he did.

It is known that it was with some initial reluctance that the Council named reps here. A meeting was held in NY last Friday at which arguments pro and con were presented, but no decision forthcame. On Monday, a special session of the Council was held, at which the three reps were chosen.

First general meeting of Coast SPA members in years will be called in August, according to prez Sigmund Romberg, who presently is here. Council-chieftain Fred Ahlert and the organization's counsel John Schulman will journey from NY for the confab.

Music, Hanns Eisler. Musical conductor, Heinz Roemheld. Lyrics of "Flame Song," Paul Webster. Musical supervisor, David Chudnow.

CAST — Stars George Sanders, Signe Hasso, Carole Landis. Features Akim Tamiroff, Gene Lockhart. Supporting players, Alma Kruger, Alan Napier, Jo Ann Marlowe, Vladimir Sokoloff, Pedro de Cordoba, Gisella Werbiseck, Leona Maricle, Fritz Leiber, Skelton Knaggs, Fred Nurney, Marvin Davis.

PREVIEWED at Samuel Goldwyn Studios, Hollywood, Calif., July 9, 1946. Running time: 97 MINS.

"A Scandal in Paris" is the story of Vidocq, chief of police of Paris in the period of 1810, and events leading up through a life-time of thievery to his assuming this trusted post. Arnold Pressburger has taken this real-life character and turned out a high-quality film both entertaining and endowed with the faults of so many foreign producers in reaching for American audiences, a picture of rare satire which frequently suffers from too great footage. Its foreign tone is offset and compensated for by cleverly-drawn portrayals and top direction. Feature undoubtedly will draw at the box-office through force of its cast, George Sanders, Signe Hasso and Carole Landis, co-starred, and Akim Tamiroff and Gene Lockhart in top featured roles.

Sanders, as Vidocq, delivers one of his strongest characterizations, making of this early-day crook a charming fellow, whose tongue is as nimble as his deeds. Tamiroff, a low criminal, is his lieutenant up until the last, when he tries to kill Vidocq after latter refuses to go through with plan to rob the Bank of Paris of its entire fortune. It is Signe Hasso, as the daughter of Minister of Police, who reforms Vidocq and causes him to turn honest, shifting from the pursued to righteous upholder of the law. Carole Landis, as wife of deposed police chief, whom Vidocq succeeds, and who tries to romance with the successor, very nearly brings ruin upon Vidocq before she is murdered by her husband.

Douglas Sirk's direction of Ellis St. Joseph's screenplay catches the satire intended, and Guy Roe's low-key photography graphically pictures mood of the piece. What is basically wrong, though, is heavy handling of situations from script and production standpoint, pointed more for foreign appreciation than American. Plenty of production values are at all times evident, however, a credit to both Arnold and Fred Pressburger, as producers, Gordon Wiles, production designer, and Eugene Shuftan, production supervisor. Norma's costumes are interesting, and Frank Sylos' sets atmospheric of period. Hanns Eisler composed music which frequently sustains story interest.

Entire cast contributes outstandingly, each part colorfully delineated and splendidly enacted. Sanders easily is standout, but often is hard-pressed by Tamiroff, and Miss Landis in sexy role scores highly, beautiful in revealing costumes. Miss Hasso makes an appealing figure of girl in love with Sanders, and Gene Lockhart, as Miss Landis' husband, gives another of his dramatic impersonations. Alan Napier and Alma Kruger head list of capable supporting players.

The Dark Horse

(Comedy)

UNIVERSAL RELEASE. Associate producer, Will Cowan. Executive producer, Howard Welsch. Director, Will Jason. Screenplay, Charles R. Marion and Leo Solomon. Original story by Sam Hellman. Photography, Paul Ivano. Art direction, Jack Otterson and Harold MacArthur. Set decorations, Russell A. Gausman and Fred B. Martin. Musical director, Hans J. Salter. Sound, Bernard B. Brown. Technician, Glen Anderson. Gowns, Vera West. Make-up, Jack P. Pierce. Film editor, Paul Landres.

CAST—Phillip Terry, Ann Savage, Allen Jenkins, Jane Darwell, Donald MacBride, Edward Gargan, Raymond Largay, Ruth Lee, Mary Gordon, Si Jenks, Arthur Q. Bryan, Henri De Soto.

PREVIEWED at Universal Studios, Studio City, July 9, 1946. Running time: 59 MINS.

Audiences for "The Dark Horse" run no danger of laughing themselves into apoplexy, but they run no danger of being bored, either. Comedy is replete with corn, but enough of the corn has fresh, green tassels to brighten the show. The picture is fast moving, mildly amusing throughout and approaches hilarity in spots. Will do nicely in the secondary product market.

The story is concerned with the involuntary adventures of Phil Terry in the corrupt politics of Westhaven. Terry, just out of the army, starts downtown to look up his old job in the hardware store when he gets into the middle of a political brawl and is knocked out. Allen Jenkins as the henchman of the local ward boss rescues Terry and a copy of a "Life of George Washington" which Terry is delivering for his aunt. Right away Jenkins sees the returned soldier as "George Washington Kelly," the people's champion.

From there on Terry is a candidate for alderman in spite of himself and undergoes much distress in a campaign directed by "Honest John Rooney" (Donald MacBride).

Low-spot in his misery and high light of the comedy is his experience at a political picnic of the "Downtown Fish and Chowder Club," engineered by MacBride. Pay-off is his rebellion against MacBride and Jenkins in which he denounces them to assembled voters and retires from the campaign, only to be elected for his honesty.

Alleviating his embarrassment and softening the harshness of political chicanery is a successful romance with Ann Savage, secretary of "Honest John."

Terry and Miss Savage give good account of themselves in the matter of romantic interest, and Jenkins and MacBride work their parts for all available laughs. Edward Gargan garners a few of the chuckles himself and Jane Darwell scores in the chief femme character role. Rest of the cast gives excellent support.

Howard Welsch and Will Cowan have handled the production chores creditably, and Will Jason's direction keeps the yarn moving snappily and livens up the cornier passages. Jason can also take a bow for the lyrics and music of his song, "George Washington Kelly," featured in the show. Camera work of Paul Ivano is above standard.

Film Review

Dark Alibi

(Melodrama)

MONOGRAM RELEASE. Producer, James S. Burkett. Director, Phil Karlson. Screenplay, George Callahan. Photography, William A. Sickner. Art direction, Dave Milton. Film editor, Ace Herman.

REVIEWED at the Million Dollar, Los Angeles, July 9, 1946. Running time: 60 MINS.

"Dark Alibi" is another Charlie Chan whodunit from the Monogram mill, slated for smaller situations. Novelty line of the plot is rather badly exploited by the scripting and save for a few moments of chuckles carved out of Mantan Moreland's funnying, pace is slow under Phil Karlson's direction. Production by James S. Burkett is budget-wise but okay for expenditure.

Sidney Toler as the Chinese detective this time is called upon to save a man from the electric chair. Condemned has been found guilty of killing a bank guard during a robbery, conviction hinging on fact his finger tips are found on the scene of the crime. Chan answers the challenge and takes the long way around to proving it's a nefarious plot of forged finger prints, crooked prison guards and just plain skullduggery.

Moreland, as his driver, and Benson Fong, his fumbling son, both aid and complicate Chan's detecting. Moreland works in his broken-speech routine with Ben Carter. Tela Loring, George Holmes, Joyce Compton, John Eldredge, Russell Hicks, Tim Ryan, Janet Shaw are among others in the cast. Photography and other functions are standard.

Par Promotes Trio In Sales Division

New York, July 9.—Trio of promotions in Paramount distribution department was announced by company today. Clyde Goodson has been upped from branch manager in New Orleans to same post in Atlanta, succeeding Grover Parsons, resigned, and Gordon Bradley switches from Atlanta sales manager to head New Orleans branch. Albert Duren steps up from salesman in Atlanta to post of sales manager.

RANK GRABS STORY AWAY FROM KORDA

While Alexander Korda was busy here yesterday continuing negotiations with indie producers and stars, J. Arthur Rank stole a march on him, 20th-Fox and Milton Sperling of United States Pictures. Latter three had all been bidding on Nancy Mitford's "Pursuit of Love," a best seller on both sides of the Atlantic. It was learned yesterday, however, that Rank had acquired the story property and is readying it for early production in London.

E-L PLANS TO FILM 2 PIX IN MEXICO IN AUTUMN

Eagle-Lion, due to stage space limitations in its own studio for company's forthcoming heavy production schedule, is making plans to send troupes to Mexico City for filming of at least two pictures in studios there this Fall. Most of "Don Juan Murietta" will be shot in and around Mexico City, with one other to follow suit, minimum of shooting to take place in E-L studio here.

When Arturo de Cordova, who will star in "Murietta," was here last week, before returning to Mexican capital, Bryan Foy, E-L production head, huddled with actor on his arranging for space in Mexican studios. De Cordova heads his own production organization in Mexico City, in association with Dolores del Rio, G. Martinez Solaris, producer-director, and Gabriel Figueroa, cameraman, and is in position to bargain to best advantage for space there for E-L.

Probability is that deal will be set for space at Churubusco studios, newly-completed and providing latest in equipment and service. It is reported there are approximately 100 stages in Mexico City.

'Laura' Folds in Chi; May Go To Main Stem

Chicago, July 9.—Despite ads proclaiming "Laura" as the "love story they dared not tell on the screen," the Hunt Stromberg, Jr.,-produced legiter suffered much the same fate as "Rebecca," another post-film play. Show folded here after four weeks at the Harris. Despite poor business here, Stromberg said he'll chance it on the Main Stem this fall.

New Par Posts

New York, July 9.—Clyde Goodson, Paramount branch manager in New Orleans, has been upped to same post in the Atlanta office, succeeding Grover Parsons, resigned. Gordon Bradley, Atlanta sales manager, moves over to branch manager spot at New Orleans, and Albert Duren, Atlanta salesman, succeeds him as sales manager.

Calhern in 'Triumph'

Louis Calhern yesterday was inked by Enterprise to enact role of Morosow in "Arch of Triumph," joining Charles Boyer and Ingrid Bergman in two top roles.

THE GRAPEVINE: The Lauritz Melchiors hosted a big razzle-dazzle the other night for Joe Pasternak, with a gag windup. After dinner, the Falstaffian singer announced the party would move over to Metro "by special and secret arrangement" to view a super film very much under wraps. In the studio projection room the Melchiors' guests waited in hushed expectancy for the film to be shown. And then "Destry Rides Again," which Pasternak produced nine years ago at Universal and which didn't do too well, was flashed on the screen . . . Sir Alexander Korda is leading a nomadic existence on his visit to Hollywood. Hasn't been able to latch onto a hotel room, outside of the flophouse district. He was Cary Grant's guest for a day or two and stayed on a yacht over night, but he's still looking for a place where he can unpack . . . Ought to be news when a horse bites a man on the nose—and what a nose! Posing with Metro's new horse star, Bess, Jimmy Durante's nose was nipped by his fellow actor . . . NY bluenoses finally caught up with Edmund Wilson's "Memoirs of Hecate County" and raided bookstores for copies of the critic's X-ray picture of suburban life. Since word got around that, beneath a lot of heavy-handed prose, "Memoirs" contains some of the purplest passages in American literature, the book has risen to top place on the best seller lists . . . Bing Crosby and Bob Hope both checked into Paramount yesterday after a month's absence, and the quips, gags and insults filled the embattled air.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Top feminine star is giving the flacks a lot of trouble. Known to the press as one of the most gracious of the topflighters, she makes the poor publicists miserable by demanding that she be notified in advance of all visiting members of the press, what questions they will ask and whether they will be properly humble when brought into the Presence . . . Alexis Smith and Craig Stevens will take their first vacation together after "Night and Day" is preemed Aug. 1. They'll head for the Sierras . . . No sarong for Dorothy Lamour in "My Favorite Brunette" with Bob Hope, but designer Edith Head has whipped up a white slip with bare midriff which Dorothy will wear in one scene and satisfy the epidermis enthusiasts . . . Well, we lost a fast five grand. Walter Winchell offered $5,000 if we could prove he ripped a phone out by the roots and hurled it against the wall. We can't. So we must have been wrong, and hereby, in the white glare of publicity, admit it. Sorry, Walter . . . While we're eating humble pie (no shortage of that around here), it's Richard Thorpe, not Richard Whorf, who's directing "This Time for Keeps" at Metro . . . Laraine Day is knocking off work for the summer so she can spend a few months with her three adopted children.

CALL SHEET: MILTON HOLMES starts his producing career today as "Johnny O'Clock" goes before the Columbia cameras. He's the wonder boy of the typewriter—four screenplays, "Mr. Lucky," "Salty O'Rourke," "Torch Song" and "Johnny O'Clock," are his total output and every one of them has been snatched up by producers. "Torch Song" still awaits production. Holmes has a topflight cast for his first producer effort, including Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes, and Robert Rossen taking his first whirl as a film director . . . CAPT. ERNEST K. GANN, who wrote "Blaze of Noon" for Paramount and is writing "The Lives of Benjamin Lawless" for the same studio, has been signed as chief pilot for the new Matson Airlines operating between San Francisco and Honolulu. Maybe they've added a typewriter to all those gadgets on a plane's control board . . . CLAUDE RAINS has a topsy-turvy design for living. While working in "Deception" at Warners, he takes a nap from 8 p.m. to 1 a.m. every night so he can read in the hushed early morning hours . . . SAMUEL GOLDWYN and DANNY KAYE have been awarded scrolls by the Society for the Prevention of Disparaging Remarks about Brooklyn or—how far can you reach for a publicity item? . . . LYNNE SHERMAN leaves for New York July 20 to appear in the Provincetown Theatre production of "The Man Who Never Lived" . . . THEDA BARA, it was learned by Warner flacks researching for Anniversary of Sound material, made 40 films in a little over four years. No tax inflation then, of course.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Worst scene stealer of the week is Prince Carl, a Great Dane working in Andrew Stone's "Strange Bedfellows." Playing against the canny canine are Arthur Treacher, Eddie Bracken and Priscilla Lane. Complained Treacher, "Imagine a man who does his own writing and producing deliberately writing a dog into the script" . . . Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse wanted Dore Schary to produce "State of the Union" at Paramount, but David O. Selznick had to turn down their loanout request. Schary is tied up at RKO for two more films and has a flock of Selznick pictures waiting for him when he returns . . . Aboriginal note: Iron Eyes Cody, a Cherokee Indian, is playing a Senaca tribesman in "Unconquered" . . . Now that the ceilings have been lifted, Jerry Hoffman says they're going to bill it "Henry XV" . . . OFF THE LOTS: Woody Herman and Bob Crosby catching Boyd Raeburn's band at Club Morocco. Tom Drake and Beverly Tyler, the William Bachers and Carmen Miranda, Jack Oakie and Victoria Horne, at the Trocadero. Roger Marchetti and Ruby Sully, Jackie Coogan and Ann McCormick, at The Kings . . . Capitol Transcriptions is opening a clients' lounge, complete with bar and p.a. system. Calling all freeloaders! . . . Cliff Gans, story editor for Sol Wurtzel, tells about the man with a hangover watching his cat walk across the deep pile rug. Ripping off his ice-bag, the sufferer screamed, "You would pick a day like this to go stomping around the house!"—D.D.T.

TIJUANA STUDIO BUILDING STARTS IN 15 DAYS

Construction on Estudios Baja California, first studio to be built in Tijuana, will start within 15 days Santiago Martinez, managing directo of project, announced yesterday Plant, with four stages, carpente shop and other buildings pertaining to motion picture studio, will b erected on 1,000-acre site about fiv miles from Tijuana, at cost of ap proximately $300,000, and will be completed within 90 days afte breaking ground.

Martinez and William Rowland, who will direct first picture to be made at new studio, under banner of Internacional Films, leaves today for border town, former to set final details and director to arrange casting. Picture will be filmed in both English and Spanish, with part of cast to be recruited here. Present plan is to have two stages ready for occupancy in about 30 days after start, with remainder of stages and buildings finished within 90-day limit.

Thomascolor's Use By October Seen

Thomascolor, new color process invented by Richard Thomas, will be actively used in production by October. At that time, Thomas anticipates having a minimum of 20 cameras equipped with the special Thomascolor lenses. Negotiations are on currently with four major studios and one prominent indie producer to start using the color process simultaneously. Thomas is also conferring with various producers of commercial films on utilizing the process.

Schless Resignation Surprise To Par

Light 'n' Airy

(on the ½ shell)

by JACK HELLMAN

An era of transcribed programming will bloom full-flower with the coming of the autumnal ides if certain elements, now stirring and fermenting, come to a full boil. Naturally, the all-important factor and motivating force behind the canned project is the outcome of negotiations now progressing between Bing Crosby and General Motors. If that deal is finalized this week, as seems probable, the flood gates will be loosed and policies of the two big chains due for a jolting reversal.

Another straw in the wind is the edging toward the turntable by the big nets on repeat broadcasts. It's only a technical point of difference that programs are taken off the line by individual stations and played back at a later time. For all the public knows or cares it's a network airing of a pancake. Biggest advantage for the advertiser is the time element in spot booking on stations. When an outfit like Walgreen will spend $55,000 for an hour production on wax, spot book it around the country and consider the investment rewarding enough to come back for more it's time to take stock of this new adventure in advertising. If NBC and CBS hold fast to their proscription of mechanized means of broadcast then the affiliate stations will come off the winner. Time being the dominant consideration, admen would prefer spot booking to a network spread, take what we have. Once the FCC lets down the bars on identification of platters, tape or recorder, the ripple will become a surge and the webs rendered powerless to stem the rising tide of sentiment.

Chain breaks . . . Bob Hope has finally said it, "I'm tired." On his p.a. tour he wined and dined day and night, kissed babies, made speeches, sparked charity drives and slept the other three hours . . . Ken Carpenter has been re-signed as Chase & Sanborn announcer . . . What agency radio head is shopping around for a man to head up the Hollywood office? Can't mention his name for obvious reasons . . . Al Pearce is said to have recovered from his recent illness and is now whipping the streams up north. He'll be ready to tee up his ABC strip for Armour in September, we're assured . . . Lewis Allen Weiss takes his first vacation in five years Aug. 1 when he sails on the Matsonia with his wife and daughter Patsy for Hawaii. Another island visitor is Ione Tollinger, who'll work up some ad copy for Hawaiian Sugar Planters Ass'n.

He was formerly director of sales promotion and research. Walter Craig due out in a fortnight . . . Colgate bought the NBC Thursday night time (7:30 EDT and 9:30 Coast repeat) for Dennis Day. What's a Top Bid?

New York, July 9.—Question as to what constitutes the best bid under the film auctioning plan ordered in the anti-trust decision is one of the principal points being discussed by independent sales representatives in huddles with Donald Nelson. Hypothetical case was drawn between the Astor, offering 40 per cent and the Music Hall offering 25 per cent. With all factors but length of run being equal, the highest percentage bid might not mean the highest gross. Discussions will result in recommendations to the Department of Justice in regards to auction sales.

ABC Plans $3,200,000 Issue; Big Spending Sked in L. A.

the refinancing plan at FCC hearing here today. Also up for scrutiny was ABC's proposed purchase of the King-Trendle Broadcasting Co. for $3,650,000.

Part of the new capital, ABC said, would be plowed into construction of new FM and television stations in Los Angeles at total cost of $1,022,578.

The net's overall financing plan calls for sale of 950,000 shares of common stock to the public at approximately $15 a share. But affiliates will be given options to buy a total of 100,000 of these shares at $14 a share—with no brokers' fee involved. Amount of the affiliates' purchases will be limited in proportion to the network's payments to them during the past year. Both Woods and Priaulz emphasized however that the sale would not influence the net-station relationships in any way. Top amount to be purchased by any web affiliate is $42,000 dollars worth of stock, with no station in any event getting shares over 10 per cent of the value of the net's payments to them.

At the same time Noble dispelled any doubts about his staying with American by declaring: "I did not buy the Blue Network as a speculative venture." He added he did not intend to dispose of any of his stock in the near or foreseeable future.

BIG INDIES HOLD UP EXPORTS

tions to pro-rated returns on total grosses rather than on what each film does, plus limited number of pictures being taken by MPEA for foreign selling.

Top independents feel that their war-manufactured backlog enables them to work alone in the 13 countries, primarily in the Russian orbit, but will do nothing at this time to upset the MPEA apple cart.

Indies also say that steamroller tactics will do more harm than good in the long run. Some independents are looking for flat deals with local distributors in other countries with no questions asked. Position of United Artists also is clouded since some producers releasing through the company are against the MPEA. Making it all more difficult is fact that other film companies will refuse to share profits with U.S. unless top product is sent over.

Foreign 'B' Pix Imports Hit By Single Sale Rule

New York, July 9.—Importation of foreign "B" pictures is expected to feel the effect of the Big Five decision requiring single selling. Majority of companies have been selling their "A" product as single feature specials for some time, but often included foreign "B" films in blocks. This latter product is expected to suffer considerably under the new court rules.

Elimination of formula deals, master agreements and franchises will hit Paramount and RKO, both with independent and affiliated circuit deals. Stopping of minimum price selling is expected to have little effect due to the market boom.

'Bloomer Girl' Struts Her Stuff Next Month

International announced that "Bloomer Girl" will go before the lenses Aug. 15 as a Technicolor Special with a $2,300,000 budget. Milton H. Feld will produce. Harold Arlen-E. Y. Harburg score for the stage show will be retained virtually intact for the screen version with several new tunes expected to be added. Casting for the show is expected to be announced within a fortnight.

RKO, Loew Move Up Changeover A Day

New York, July 9.—RKO and Loew circuits are moving their change days from Thursday to Wednesday. Move is to offset summer weekend slump. If experiment of getting patrons into theatres earlier in the week proves successful, it is expected that the change will become permanent. Houses not included in the change are Loew State, Capitol, Loew's houses in Newark and Jersey City and RKO's Palace.

2 MORE PAR PIX TREK ON HEELS OF 'UNCONQUERED'

Paramount is in midst of its heaviest location slate in number of years, with one company already on location, another leaving today and a third scheduled to head northward tomorrow. "The Emperor Waltz" troupe, 120 strong, returned last week from seven weeks at Jasper National Park.

"The Big Haircut" troupe trains tonight for Spokane, Wash., for four weeks of filming in and around this city. Mitchell Leisen heads "Golden Earrings" troupe which goes to Portland, Ore., tomorrow, two to three weeks to be consumed in filming backgrounds here and in Bend, Ore. Ray Milland will join company on Friday.

Already filming Indian sequences, second unit of "Unconquered," C. B. DeMille production, arrived at Boise, Ida., on Monday and will remain there several weeks. Company previously spent four weeks in Pennsylvania, but due to storms washing out locations had to move west.

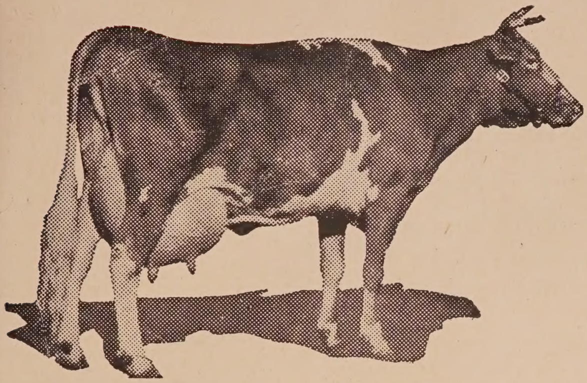
HEIFERS FOR RELIEF

". . . that they might have life, and have it abundantly"



It is estimated that one heifer will save the lives of 10 children

QUESTIONS

1. What does a heifer cost?

   ANS. We have found the average price to be about $150.00 including shipping expenses to port of embarkation.

2. How can I be sure that the heifer is given to the person in need?

   ANS. Our own representatives help distribute them.

3. Are heifers contributed given free of charge to those in need?

   ANS. Yes, they are, but the recipient is expected to share the gift by passing along new heifer calves and any extra milk, to other neighboring families.

4. How many heifers have been shipped to date?

   ANS. Over 2,000.

5. Will there be feed for Heifers?

   ANS. We ship only after investigating and finding feed possibilities.

6. To what countries have heifers now been sent?

   ANS. Belgium, France, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Italy and Greece.

NATIONAL INTER-FAITH MOVEMENT TO SAVE LIVES OF EUROPE'S STARVING CHILDREN

MILLIONS abroad are trying to exist on less than half the food the average American eats.

Thousands of dairy cattle were war victims, and now, protein foods, including milk, are almost entirely lacking.

"HEIFERS FOR RELIEF" is a project bringing practical relief to those European families who do not have milk.

The heifers furnish milk for hungry children, fertilizer to restore depleted soil, and form a nucleus for future herds, as all heifers are bred before shipment.

As well as being kept alive, Europeans must be made self-sustaining. The Heifer Project offers hope and future security to thousands of hungry, discouraged people.

To be good neighbors, people must be healthy! We cannot achieve international security with anything less than that.

Mr. Henry Ginsberg
Paramount Studios
Hollywood, California

My dear Henry:

It is with great pride that as National Chief Barker of the Variety Clubs of America, I am privileged to advise you that Paramount Pictures has been granted sole and exclusive rights to the exciting and heart-warming story behind the Variety Clubs, for your motion picture to be known as "Variety Girl".

The Variety Clubs are the largest organization in the show world anywhere. They are composed of twenty-seven Tents in every large city in the United States, and several in Canada and Mexico. They have a membership of 6000 exhibitors representing 16,500 theatres in the United States.

What is more vital and impressive than these figures are their outstanding and humanitarian accomplishments. "Sweet Charity" in this case are not mere words, but an unending multiplication of good deeds.

I know something of your planning and thinking in connection with the production of "Variety Girl". It promises to be one of the truly big-showmanship screen entertainments.

We in turn promise you the complete cooperation of the Variety Clubs of America and their memberships, to help make "Variety Girl" one of the all-time greats when it reaches the screens of our theatres.

With best wishes,

R. J. O'Donnell

My dear Bob:

Permit me to thank you for your letter and your gracious offer of cooperation in connection with "Variety Girl".

I can assure you that we are not unaware of the high purposes and outstanding achievements of the Variety Clubs of America. You will be pleased to know that these are serving as an inspiration to the Paramount personnel concerned with the production, writing and casting of "Variety Girl."

It may be of particular interest to you and your membership to know something of Paramount's plans which encompass this as one of its most important productions.

We plan to assemble one of the all-time biggest cast of stars for "Variety Girl". We are hopeful of including Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Ray Milland, Betty Hutton, Alan Ladd, Dorothy Lamour, Paulette Goddard, Barry Fitzgerald, Joan Caulfield, Veronica Lake, Bill Bendix, Sterling Hayden, Mary Hatcher, Diana Lynn, Sonny Tufts, William Holden, Gail Russell, and many more, too numerous to mention.

I am particularly enthusiastic about the way the story of this highly romantic musical comedy is shaping up.

George Marshall, who did an outstanding job on "Star Spangled Rhythm", has been assigned to direct "Variety Girl". Danny Dare will be the producer. We intend to start shooting early in August.

Enthusiasm for "Variety Girl" is running very high at the studio and this is bound to be reflected in the completed picture. I am certain that we will all have cause to be proud of this Paramount production.

With kindest regards,

Henry Ginsberg

NIGHTERIES LOAD LEGAL GUNS FOR WAR WITH AGVA

Brief meeting yesterday of reps of the nine local niteries which have grouped to fight demands of American Guild of Variety Artists for cash bonds to cover floorshow salaries and for six-day work weeks resulted chiefly in planning a mass get-together on Friday afternoon. In addition to such spots as Earl Carroll's, Florentine Gardens, Band Box, Charley Foy's, Trocadero, Ciro's, Slapsy Maxie's, Bar of Music and Brenemans, which previously had banded together and girded for a fight, Larry Potter, operator of chain of small spots, joined in yesterday.

Group also has started making legal preparation for show-down here with AGVA, with appointment of Max Sisenwein, Florentine attorney, to rep niteries. It is known that Sisenwein has communicated all details of niteries' organizational moves to date to Arthur Kaye, union's national No. Two man, who still stoutly insists he will not negotiate with niteries collectively. Kaye on Monday gave spots ultimatum of posting bonds and agreeing to six-day weeks by July 24 or shows will be pulled.

WB Sales Meet Set For Atlantic City

New York, July 9.—Warner Bros. sales convention will be staged at Atlantic City August 5-7. Ben Kalmenson will preside at the conclave, which is expected to attract more than 100 delegates. Contingent representing the home office will include Kalmenson, Harry M. Kalmine, Harry Goldberg, Clayton Bond and Leonard Schlesinger.

Shubert, Fischer Eye 'Belle de Cadix'

New York, July 9.—Lee Shubert and Clifford L. Fischer are mulling idea of Broadway production of French musicomedy, "Belle de Cadix," currently playing Casino de Montparnasse, nabe house. Plan is to give class mounting to presentation. Musical score, published by Salabert, was written by Francisco Lopez.

Lamour At Par

Dorothy Lamour checked into Paramount yesterday to appear opposite Bob Hope in "My Favorite Brunette," her first screen appearance in more than a year. Actress took time out to have a baby, following completion of "Masquerade in Mexico."

WASHINGTON HULLABALOO

By FLORENCE S. LOWE

Washington, July 9.—This column learns that the French are considering imposition of a $3,000,000 annual transfer fund on Hollywood pix for two years. This means that we could not take more than $3,000,000 a year out of France no matter how many of our films were screened there and how much money they made.

Along with this, and in the same connection, comes a report that the French will introduce an import license system. Both prospective moves on the part of the French Film Commission—which is under heavy pressure from film industry groups there—are a violation of the spirit of the recent film accord with that country. And the license system would appear to be a violation of the letter as well as the spirit.

Government officials are taking a non-committal attitude of the situation at this point, although it is obvious that interested officials in both State and Commerce Departments are really disturbed. After all the ink is hardly dry on the pact that our industry applauded so heartily.

One source of worry is that a normal license system—even though it should permit unlimited imports as provided in the treaty—can be used later on to restrict the number of pix we export to France.

What gripes most of all is that the French, officially, declared the film accord more favorable to them than the one provided in the 1936 trade treaty, the terms of which—by the way—the French have been violating since D-Day. Despite this, our Government has continued to give the French the full benefits of the 1936 treaty.

The entire public campaign in France against the recent motion picture agreement appears based on ignorance of the facts, but nobody seems to be doing anything to air the truth.

The new annual report of the Alien Property Custodian to the President discloses that the agency collected $1,095,026 in copyright royalties from March 11, 1942 to June 30, 1945. Of this sum, about 45 per cent has come from music and 10 per cent from plays and a few other similar items.

APC is now getting ready to go after another $350,000 which it believes it should collect for that period. Much of this is for music and a number of suits have already been filed.

A recent Department of Commerce report on corporate profits listed, among the entertainment industry members such as films and radio, unusually high gains for the American Playing Card Co.

When this reporter asked "how come that classification?", she was told it appeared the logical classification to the Commerce experts

"After all," explained one bureaucrat, "isn't card playing entertainment?" That guy ought to hear what my husband says about mine.

Joyce O'Hara, of MPA, off to North Carolina for a week's fishing . . . Camera crew currently in town shooting background scenes for a MOT short on atomic energy . . . George Canty, able film specialist for State Department's commercial policy, upped a grade in rank . . . Nate Golden, Department of Commerce motion picture chief, to speak at the IATSE convention in Chicago July 22 . . . James L. Middlebrook, new engineering director of the National Association of Broadcasters, has received the Legion of Merit for his work on electronics while in the Navy during the war . . . Bobby Gilbert, who still calls Hollywood home, clicking here in his first vaude appearance after 4½ years around the world with USO . . . Radio set production is now moving along at a faster clip than during the peak year of 1941, according to newest Census Bureau figures. However, there is little production of FM and video receivers yet . . . In that connection it might be mentioned that almost 80 applicants for television outlets have already withdrawn their applications from FCC to await the coming of color video.

"Play Is Our Business," short made for State Department's OIICA on New York's play schools, to be translated into 20 languages for the world circuit . . . Ben Piazza, RKO casting director, who advised the country's drama cricks that he would personally view any 16m tinter sent to him by would-be screen stars, is being taken seriously here. One Aaron Miller, ex-newspaper photog, has hung out his shingle and is doing a flourishing biz on 100-foot scenarios of Hollywood aspirants. Garnering plenty of publicity for the project, too . . . Film reps expected to take part in the NAB "Freedom of Radio Committee" huddles in New York, July 17-18. NAB prexy Justin Miller has contacted Eric Johnston in an effort to get his support in opposition to the FCC Blue Book on radio programming.

UNRRA officials, still chafing under ATA rejection of "Seeds of Destiny," screened another film made under their auspices last week. Pic is "Out of the Ruins," 3-reeler produced by the Canadian film board, covering efforts of Greece to recover from ravages of war, with special emphasis on aid through UNRRA. Photography, which is spectacular in parts, is the work of Nicholas Read, who shot the entire footage in Greece with an Eyemo.

Commercial distribution is planned through newsreel and art theatres in the U.S.A. A French version to be shown at the UNRRA council session in Paris Aug. 2.

Latest Library of Congress news: Capt. John Bradley, motion picture head, is starting a recruiting program for film specialists for the enlarged program of the Library, now that funds are available . . . 42 tons of film, mostly UFA, now stored in Library vaults, pending acquisition of personnel to sort and classify . . . Visitors to the Library last week included John La Touche, to deposit manuscript of his "Ballad for Americans," and Ferde Grofe to add manuscript of his piano-ork arrangement of "Rhapsody in Blue" to the growing collection of musical Americana . . . Forum of American Library Association Audio-Visual Committee, in session past week, agreed that cost of films, in terms of number of people reached, was less than the cost of books. There is a rapidly growing audience for library screenings all over the country. Also stressed was the fact that local theatrical exhibitors are universally cooperative . . . Library has just received two films from the War Department—the four-hour, uncut version of "Nazi Plan," which was shown at the Nurnberg trials; and "German Concentration Camps." Present use of these pix is restricted but lid may come off after the trials are concluded.

OXLEY CHALLENGES AGVA ON TEXAS COLLECTIONS

American Guild of Variety Artists yesterday opened a haggle with the Harold F. Oxley agency's local office over the band-and-act bookery accepting advance salary deposits on performers inked into nine niteries dotted across Texas. AGVA's Arthur Kaye made the demand that union hold the money, with agency countering that it is an old Oxley practice of keeping coin in "trust fund" for bands and acts until it is seen that salaries are forthcoming.

Al Katz, local office chief of Oxley office, challenged right of AGVA to hold funds on grounds that union has no contracts with most of the Texas spots booked, and has made but scant headway in ever organizing the territory. Last night he stated that agency would let AGVA do the "protecting" if union made deals directly with niteries, but that his office would not serve as mere middle-man collector. It is Oxley policy to get cash advance of one week's salary on four-week booking, with money utilized as payoff for final stanza, providing act had been paid regularly during first three weeks of stand.

Court Holds Up Gal's Contract At 20th

Court approval was postponed yesterday on 18-year-old Joanell James' term ticket at 20th-Fox. Although Superior Judge Alfred L. Bartlett directed the singer-actress to invest 12½ per cent of her $350 a week salary in government bonds, the jurist ordered Miss James to return to the court for instructions as to expenditures upon exercising each option during the seven-year period of the contract. Judge Bartlett explained that he was not granting approval to the contract on the grounds that actress "can disaffirm her contract when she is 21."

KMPC Launches Free Speech Prize Contest

Winding up its "Free Speech Mike" promotional campaign, KMPC has launched contest in which prize winning listener letters on theme, "I believe in free speech because . . ." will garner new car and other cash prizes. Contest concludes in December, with grand awards being made then from weekly winners. Latter collect $10 apiece and will then be adjudged in finals.

'Pappy' Sold to Films

Milton Sperling and Niven Bush yesterday completed deal with Col. Greg "Pappy" Boyington for story of his life for United States Pictures.

PASTOR BLASTS PIX BASED ON OLD TRIANGLE THEME

Chicago, July 9.—Part the film industry is allegedly playing in fostering postwar immorality was blasted here by Rev. Charles Ray Goff, Methodist leader and pastor of Chicago Temple, who said that film-makers are guilty of "excessive use" of the marital triangle theme.

Instead of attempting to impress upon the public that divorce is a tragic event, with disastrous results for children of broken homes, Dr. Goff charged that film-makers treat the subject humorously. The press, he added, is equally guilty for over-publicizing divorce cases, giving columns of space to the sensational angles with complete disregard for the social implications involved.

Not Cafe Sisters, Not Even for 12G A Week

Andrews Sisters have set another record—this time in reverse. Trio refused what amounts to peak nitery salary with rejection of $12,500 for week at Forbidden City, San Francisco. Date was nixed purely on basis that gals don't want to play cafes, according to manager Lou Levy.

Straw Hat Clicks

Roddy McDowall's opening Monday night (8) in "Young Woodley" at Westport, Conn., brought stage offers from New York producers. The Theatre Guild contacted McDowall's agent, Wynn Rocamora, with an offer for a Broadway show this coming winter.

Reno Calling

Barney Gould is in town to sign either an ex-GI film or stage name or a USO-Camp Shows biggie to star in Reno's forthcoming Liberty Day Celebration Aug. 17-18. Show to be held at the fair grounds will be for the benefit of a veteran home in Reno.

HEAVY STAR LIST FOR 'VARIETY GIRL'

Henry Ginsberg, Paramount production head, yesterday formally announced completion of production plans on "Variety Girl," super musical comedy to be made in collaboration with the Variety Clubs of America. Development confirms an exclusive Daily Variety disclosure of last June 3. R. J. O'Donnell, National Chief Barker of the philanthropic theatrical organization, okayed the deal, giving exclusive rights to the story of the humanitarian group to Paramount.

Paramount is planning on casting nearly its entire contingent of name players in the film. Already set are Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Ray Milland, Betty Hutton, Alan Ladd, Dorothy Lamour, Paulette Goddard, Barry Fitzgerald, Joan Caulfield, Veronica Lake, Bill Bendix, Sterling Hayden, Diana Lynn, Sonny Tufts, William Holden, John Lund, Robert Preston, Gail Russell, Billy De Wolfe, Macdonald Carey, Cass Daley, Marjorie Reynolds, Mary Hatcher, William Demarest, Olga San Juan, Arleen Whelan, Patric Knowles, Cecil Kellaway, Virginia Welles, Howard Da Silva, John Hoyt, Wanda Hendrix, Johnny Coy and Frank Faylen.

Ravinia Cocktail

Chicago, July 9. — Mosquitos, always the bane of outdoor attractions, are getting a run for their coin this summer at suburban Ravinia Park, where Citronella has been one of the most popular items with opera goers for the past umpteen years. This year, however, the pavilion, trees and shrubbery have been doused with DDT. Slaps, which used to punctuate the "Romeo and Juliet Fantasia Overture," are practically non-existent as a result.

H'D CANTEEN ASKS INJUNCTION ON NEW NIGHTERY

Hollywood Canteen will put on file today in Superior Court a request for a restraining order against a commercial night club now occupying premises formerly occupied by the Canteen at 1451 Cahuenga. Bette Davis, president of the Canteen, verified that the complaint cites two large signs, reading "Hollywood Canteen" in large letters, with the word "Former" in small print at the top are on display at the nitery. Complaint asserts with or without the word "Former" such identification as a night club would be damaging to the prestige of the wartime service organization.

Injunction will be asked to restrain permanently the night club from representing itself as the Canteen's successor or to use the Canteen's name in any way. Creation Enterprises, Inc., Thomas Lee, Guy Francis and 10 fictitiously identified persons are named as defendants. Attorneys Dudley R. Furse and Walter L. Bruington will bring the action for the Canteen.

Jerome Kern Will Be Honored At Bowl

Jerome Kern will be honored July 20 in a Symphony Under the Stars program at Hollywood Bowl. Lennie Hayton and Johnny Green will baton the Bowl Symphony and Peter Meremblum will conduct the Junior symphony. Stars of Metro's "Till the Clouds Roll By" will appear, including Robert Walker, Kathryn Grayson, Johnnie Johnston, Tony Martin, Judy Garland, Frank Sinatra, Lena Horne and Virginia O'Brien.

Meggs Agency VP

Charles Winfield Meggs has been appointed veepee of the Dunn-Fenwick & Co. advertising agency. He will function as head of the agency's motion picture division. A veteran in the motion picture advertising field, Meggs has been in charge of many ad campaigns for leading indie producers. Since 1944 he was motion picture art director for Buchanan & Company.

Warshauer to E-L

Alan Warshauer, who recently resigned his post of assistant to Frank Whitbeck at MGM, will join Sam Israel's staff at Eagle-Lion as advertising manager. Warshauer will handle advertising, radio and exploitation, moving in on August first.

SCHWARTZ IN SPLIT WITH MARTIN, TO OPERATE SOLO

Ork leader Freddy Martin and Artie Schwartz, who have been associated in the operations of Martin and Maestro Music companies since firm's inception, yesterday agreed to split up. Pair assert parting is amicable and that it has been under discussion for several months.

It is known that first rift occurred late last winter when Martin received offer to sell companies, but Schwartz argued he would "be left out in the cold" if sale went through. Martin actually is sole owner of pair of pubs, with Schwartz in the picture on a strictly profit-sharing arrangement. When the batoneer offered to sell the properties to Schwartz, latter said amount asked was too great.

Probably Schwartz, who actively has operated firms for Martin, will not exit for at least three months. On his own he controls the sheet-music jobbing Pacific Music Sales, and in a partnership with ex-batoneer Harry Owens he operates Royal Music Co., which specializes in publishing Hawaiian ditties. Schwartz will continue with these enterprises, and also last night said he is planning to purchase a pub firm with an ASCAP catalog and continue in the business. Martin also will solo-operate after Schwartz departs.

Kennedy, Shaw Inked

Daun Kennedy and Bob Shaw were signed yesterday for leads in Columbia's "Son of the Guardsman."

$200 Snit

Chicago, July 9.—Assistant manager Ed Chroback of the nabe Schindler theatre was across the street at a tavern having a short beer one night last week when he saw flashlight beams in the lobby. Quick like, he ran over to see what gave and was promptly bopped on the bean by burglars who were carrying off a 500-pound safe. They got away with $200. Pic showing was "Lost Weekend."

FLACK REVERSES GUEST STAR GAG

Chicago, July 9.—Reverse Eng-on the old gag of having film stars guest on radio shows to plug a picture is being practiced here. Danny Newman, flack for the Loop Oriental theatre, is appearing on six local interview shows to sell "Postman Always Rings Twice," which is playing at the Essaness house. Newman is doing the shows due to the shortage of film names in the town. "Postman" incidentally, is expected to do $70,000 for the week.

PAR BACKS LEGIT, PUTTING 80G IN 'PARK AVENUE'

New York, July 9.—Contrasted to the Metro decision to stop bankrolling legit Paramount continued its season plans, committing self for $80,000 in Max Gordon's "Park Avenue" with no strings on the film rights involved. Book is by Nunnally Johnson and George Kaufman, score by Arthur Schwartz and lyrics by Ira Gershwin. Paramount profited by last season's legit investments while Metro lost.

Jean Parker Inked In 4 Straw Hatters

Jean Parker, now in New York, has been signed to star in four plays on strawhat circuit, starting next Monday with "Guest in the House" at Milford, Conn. Each appearance will be one week. Other engagements include "Candlelight," "Berkeley Square" and "The Hasty Heart," at other summer theatres in New Jersey, Connecticut and Long Island. If time element can be worked out, actress will return to do femme lead in Pine-Thomas pic.

Carmen Voices Inked

Three singers who made their Hollywood Bowl debut in "Carmen" last night have been signed to picture contracts by Boris Morros. The trio are Winifred Heidt, Ramon Vinay, Chilean tenor, and James Pease.

Who Said War?

Jimmy Stewart, nursing a swollen jaw today, wishes Frank Capra wouldn't be so realistic. Sequence in "It's a Wonderful Life" yesterday called for Jimmy to tangle with Stanley Andrews in a bar-room brawl. Jimmy took three hard rights to the chin and as many trips to the floor before Capra was satisfied with the shot.

METRO, SKOURAS SPLIT ON 5 PIX

New York, July 9.—Metro and the Skouras circuit are unable to agree on a deal for five pictures available—"Postman Always Rings Twice," "Two Sisters from Boston," "Bad Bascomb," "Hoodlum Saint" and "Last Chance." Terms are not involved, but clearance and other conditions. Circuit includes 73 houses in New York and New Jersey.

RANKS $96 MILLION STOCK OVERSOLD

London, July 10. — J. Arthur Rank's new $96,000,000 stock issue for Odeon Theatres has been oversubscribed, with 33,000 separate applications for stock recorded. Underwriters of the new debentures have been guaranteed a $10,000,000 share in the issue. With Odeon employes also getting preferential treatment, outside subscription in the firm will be limited.

Sound Men Tilted 25%; $137.55 for 52 Hours

Membership of Sound Technicians, Local 695 has approved new contract with producers calling for general increase of 25 per cent in wage scales and cut in hours from 54 to 52 per week. Deal is the first to be concluded between a key craft in the industry and major film companies, and also the first to be passed on by the membership of local affected.

Increase is retroactive to Jan. 1, 1946 and goes into effect July 15. As an example of what raise will mean to Local 695 membership, rate for a member in Class Y-5 to Y-8, Schedule C, will now be $2.65 per hour for a 52-hour week, or $137.55. Such a member previously worked 54 hours for $110.04. Members voted unanimously for a 25 per cent increase in dues.

WB LONDON STUDIO JELLS

One new sound stage at Warners Teddington studio near London is nearing completion and two more will be finished by late November, Warners here was advised yesterday by its London office. Report stated that company's British production would be in full swing by December.

Warners is spending $4,000,000 on building program in Britain, to include rebuilding of Teddington and modernization of Elstree studio. Latter will be ready for occupancy and use before end of year. Studio yesterday announced that when project is completed it will give Warners most up-to-date studio facilities outside U.S.

LANGER BILL TO SENATE

Washington, July 10.—Anti-block booking and theatre divorcement bill prepared by Senator Langer (R. N.D.), will be introduced, despite assertions of Attorney General Tom Clark that the Department of Justice will oppose the bill in committee, the senator said here today.

Langer contends the bill is "legal" and a final Supreme Court ruling on it will only strengthen the measure. "I think the legislation is as necessary as a high court ruling in the case," he said. "We should have both to protect independent producers and distributors."

Lehman Bros. Bidding For 670,000 RKO Common Shares

Philadelphia, Penn., July 10.—Lehman Brothers appeared before the Securities and Exchange Commission today asking for permission to purchase 670,000 shares of RKO common from the Atlas Corporation.

R. R. Rusmisel, appearing as an expert for Lehman Brothers, told the commission that the shares will be offered for re-sale to the public. No more than 25,000 shares will be sold to one individual. The commission took the petition under advisement and is expected to hand down its decision the early part of next week.

MOVES ON LOT; DEAL IN MAKING

Alexander Korda got himself a new landlord yesterday—Samuel Goldwyn. The British producer, currently engaged in far-flung negotiations on matters ranging from a foreign distribution combo with Goldwyn to participation deals with name players and producers, moved himself and his retinue into offices on the Goldwyn lot.

Korda would not state whether

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

LOS Angeles operetta lovers are going to be in a squirrel-cage July 22, when the Hollywood Starlight Theatre Association and the Los Angeles Civic Light Opera Association lock horns in a day and date opening of "Firefly" and "Fortune Teller." Here is a cross-town, subway series that may not exactly have the same quality of noise in the rooting as a baseball series, but it certainly won't lack for enthusiasm on the part of the rooters. Boxoffice returns for the respective opening nights may be a tip-off as to whether Southern Californians want their music in the fresh air or under a roof. Other considerations however are Victor Herbert opposed to Rudolf Friml, Allan Jones' tenor versus John Tyers' baritone and a long haul downtown against a drive up the mountainside. From here it looks like a Mexican stand-off.

NEW "remote control" still camera boom that makes easy the fanciest quirks in camera angles and will virtually let the photog shoot around corners and over obstacles has been developed by Scotty Welbourne, still chief at Enterprise. Device will get its first try-out on production stills for "Arch of Triumph" where small sets make normal still camera set-ups troublesome. Camera is set on a perpendicular shaft, 18 feet high, and can be raised or lowered at will and is balanced by an offset weight pendulum. It can describe a 360-degree circle by means of a large, single ball-bearing joint. But most novel gimmick is a flexible periscopic lens by which the photog, from distances 40 feet away, or on other side of a set wall from the camera can mirror exactly what is caught by the camera lens.

JULES Levey, who is producing "New Orleans," film which will slice into footage flashback to early jazz era of Crescent City, has enlisted aid of National Jazz Foundation in helping him uncover any living members of the legendary Reliance Band. That outfit flourished in N.O. at turn of century, batoned by Jack "Pappy" Laine, and is credited with being first white ragtime crew to gain any renown. Levey wants to slip members of combo, who probably now would be in 70's, into a sequence which will be cavalcade of all-time jazz greats. The Foundation, which has promised help in search, is organization of Louisiana businessmen who take avocational interest in jam music.

SOLICITATION of new membership by mail is being tried by Radio Writers Guild. Union is watching trade papers and other sources for names newly associated with radio writing and penning come-on letters to scribblers thus uncovered. Particular attention is being paid transcription shows and reviews of same wherein writers are credited. Letters, which originate from New York headquarters of Guild, point up benefits already gained for other scribblers and prospect of even better things if agreement now in works with American Association of Advertising Agencies is made.

THOUGH suit has actually been filed opposing sides in John Huddleston versus Pied Pipers litigants are still trying to effect out-of-court settlement. Huddleston is holding out for $11,000, plus $900 share in recording royalties, while Pipers are said to be offering flat $5,000. Federal Bureau of Investigation was dragged into matter as investigators for U.S. Attorney's office which is interested in matter from standpoint of Huddleston being a veteran. Suit stemmed from Pipers refusing to accept plaintiff back into group on discharge from Army.

CRACKUP of Howard Hughes in plane crash Sunday will effect, for time being, at least, plan for converting Hughes' Culver City airplane plant into studio. Millionaire had intended starting reconversion as soon as his giant Hercules was completely moved, having already procured certain necessary materials and equipment for purpose. Postponement may change plans of Preston Sturges, who was to move into the new quarters following completion of "Vendetta," which will roll Aug. 7 at Samuel Goldwyn studio.

STARTING his own method of price control, Ray Johnson, of KXLA, started yesterday calling copper on Pasadena merchants, hotels, etc., who have raised prices since OPA dropped vigil. On 9:15 to 9:30 p.m. news show, which follows Jimmy Roosevelt's commentary, Johnson is inviting listeners to submit names and addresses of shopkeepers and others who have instituted excessive increases on merchandise and services. Names, along with former and new prices in effect, are then aired for all to hear.

ONE of reasons behind holdback of International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in wage negotiations with indie stations is fear of stations reverting to 40-hour week. In seeking hefty increase that averages between 25 and 40 per cent, union sees technicians actually taking home more pay than at present even if working hours, now 48 weekly, are cut to 40. But if accepting broadcasters 18 per cent hike, union sees engineers as being no better off financially should managements cut to 40 hours.

OFFICIAL signing of the Enterprise-Universal distributing deal took place yesterday. Adolph Schimel, Universal lawyer, brought the document over to Charles Einfeld and David Loew yesterday and it was signed within five minutes of his arrival. Signing of the contract within the short five-week period since the announcement of the deal on June 4, marks a new record for the industry. Usually months are spent with lawyers on both sides going over every detail of the pact.

GALLUP GIMMICK TAKES PULSE OF AUDIENCE

Mechanized audience reaction to a picture by means of hand dials operated by an invited audience of from 50 to 100 persons has been adopted by eight studios and in some quarters is being accepted as a substitute for sneak previews. Serviced by Dr. George Gallup's Audience Research Institute, the electrical device is known both as the Preview Profile Machine and Hopkins Televoting Machine.

Audiences selected for their immediate reactions to sequences in a film are drawn to represent a miniature of a national audience for the picture shown. Interviewing is done previous to the test in all parts of the country for the best possible cross-section of opinion.

Seated in a studio projection room or theatre on the lot, each of the auditors is given a dial to be operated by hand. The dial holds five positions — neutral, like, like very much, dull and very dull. As a scene is run off the dialers express their reaction. Each dial is wired into a master machine back of the screen, which electrically and automatically charts an average for each scene. After the picture is run off the cardiagraph has recorded reactions to every scene change and by referring to the chart can trace the dialing to every sequence.

Studio heads, who have bought the service, claim it is more reliable as an index to audience reaction than outside sneaks. As a result of the dialing test, one studio cut 2,000 feet from a picture, and another 1,500 feet.

Ent in TWA Deal To Fly 'Arch' Film

Rushes filmed in Europe by "Arch of Triumph" unit working there will be flown to the United States daily for screening here under deal made by Enterprise with TWA yesterday. Rushes shot in Paris, the Riviera and Southern Germany will be viewed by studio execs here 26 hours after actual filming.

3 Comics Inked

Trio of comedians, Franklyn Pangborn, Charles Arnt and Lou Nova, yesterday were inked by Republic for leading roles in Allan Dwan's "Calendar Girl," which rolled last night on Columbia ranch.

'HOPALONG' SERIES GETS QUICK SHIFT

A quick shift in the production schedule for the Hopalong Cassidy series was forced by stage space difficulties at General Service Studios yesterday. "Whispering Walls," ready to go as number three of the series, had too many interiors which required studio filming. So it was shoved into the background and a new Hoppy was cast within eight hours. Picture will get under way at Lone Pine location next Wednesday.

New "number three" is an untitled original by Doris Schroeder, Ande Lamb and Director George Archainbaud. "Whispering Walls" is now scheduled as fourth production of the series.

Court Frees Autry From Pre-War Rep Contracts

Gene Autry was declared free of all pre-war bonds to Republic studio yesterday in decision handed down by District Court of Appeal. Opinion, a reversal of a previous court ruling, held that film cowpoke is no longer under obligation to perform for studio, as of March 7, 1945.

Ruling may well be the last for Autry in the long court fight to rid himself of all commitments entered into with Republic prior to his war service. Next step, if taken, will be for studio to ask the State Supreme Court for a hearing on a motion of appeal. It leaves Autry with only a four-picture pact with Republic, made after leaving the service and under which he is currently making the first musical western.

SHIMM OPINION

District Court of Appeal opinion, according to notice received yesterday by Gang, Kopp & Tyre, cowpoke's attorneys, was written by Justice Clemment Shimm, and concurred in by Justices Walter Desmond and Parker Wood. It read:

"The judgement is reversed with instructions that the conclusions of law be amended to provide that on March 7, 1945, all obligations of the plaintiff to render further service under said contracts of either of them is terminated, and to enter judgment in favor of the plaintiff accordingly."

Autry had previously won precedental victory in another suit against Republic, when Superior Judge William J. Palmer ruled that actor's time in service counts against term of contract exactly as though he had worked during the period.

VOIDS 5-YEAR PACT

Judge Palmer's decision voided a five-year pact between Republic and Autry. Studio had sought to add Autry's three years Army service time to the contract. At same time, judge held Autry was committed to fulfill a one-year ticket calling for four pictures, inked in May, 1942, and to start after expiration of five-year deal, inasmuch as actor had never started to work under the new pact.

Decision of District Court of Appeal wipes out the one-year contract and leaves Autry free of Republic as soon as he completes the four pictures called for in the pact under which he is now performing.

Jaffe Pays 15G a Year for Building He Sold for 30G

Sam Jaffe agency has leased entire 8553 Sunset Boulevard building its picture department now occupies and will consolidate all its activities under one roof. Radio department, now located at 8303 Sunset, will move in as soon as space now occupied is available. Present tenants who have received notices to vacate include Fawcett Publications, Henry Rogers' flackery and Lou Levy.

Ironic twist to deal is fact that several years ago Jaffe sold the building he now leases. Sale was for reported $30,000. Now, with real estate prices riding cloud line, rent is reported $15,000 annually.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

Our renunciation of claims to any reparations in Austria and our statement that we will not recognize any Russian claims to reparations in that country is obviously a move to gain favor in Austria. The Russians have been seeking to include Austria within their fold along with the Balkans, Hungary and Yugoslavia, and make their bid through trying to reduce the economic (and consequently political) independence of the country. We now counter with a stand that backs up the Austrian government. What this will mean later is anyone's guess . . . The Russian attempt to invoke the veto again, for the sixth time, this time against Canada's having a seat in the atomic energy commission, is undoubtedly part of the Russian effort to establish its interpretation of the veto in a way it considers necessary for its protection. It may, however, bring about a showdown, with efforts to do away with it entirely, or to decide definitely what questions are substantive and what ones are procedural . . . With the Senate now voting to exempt milk and dairy products from OPA controls, along with meat and poultry, a veto is certain, and there is now little question but that the controls are out—unless, of course, there is a wild increase in prices.

RIN-TIN-TIN KIN FOLLOWS FAMILY FILM TRADE

Lee Duncan, with Rin-Tin-Tin III, grandson of the dog who topped human stars in b.o. pull in the '20s, signed yesterday with Wally Klein for seven pictures to be produced in the next 3½ years. Price is reported to be $45,000 per year, with Klein doing the writing and producing chores. Deal is part of George Schaeffer's indie production program.

Duncan, who lives on a ranch near Riverside, just got the dog back from the Army, after three years service in the Canine Corps. It was his grandsire, playing in New York on a p.a. engagement with "Night Cry," who was lured over to Warner Bros. Brooklyn studios, more than 20 years ago, to make one of the first sound tests for Nathan Levinson.

IBEW, Indie Station Peace Seen On Wages

Hope for peaceful settlement of wage dispute between 12 indie stations and International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers looms again. Following meeting all yesterday afternoon with Roy Tindall, IBEW rep, broadcasters negotiating committee came up with increased counter offer. New offer of 25 per cent pay hikes for two classifications of lower powered stations, and 18 per cent for top three stations was presented to broadcast unit of IBEW last night for vote and reaction will be wired broadcasters this morning.

Aqua Show Opens

Aqua Follies, produced by Larry Crosby, will open tonight at the Olympic stadium, under the aegis of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Helen Crlenkovich Morgan, Harold Smith, Adolph Kiefer, Lita O'Neill and Patsy and Martha Brown top the show. Production is slated for two-week stand.

Fitzgerald Play Buy

Barry Fitzgerald, Paramount star, vacationing in Ireland, yesterday cabled studio he has taken an option on a new play by George Shields, Irish playwright, as possible Broadway starring vehicle.

AGVA ANGLES FOR TALENT AGENTS

American Guild of Variety Artists yesterday instituted campaign to license assorted bookers and associates working for local talent agencies. Union claims it has evidence that many lesser lights employed by per center outfits have been inking in acts and shows sans AGVA agent-franchise. To operate with union's blessing, each agency must have $50-per-year license, and each member of firm selling talent must have $25-per-year franchise.

Whistled up on carpet yesterday were Al Katz, Coast chief of Harold F. Oxley agency, and Bill De Zita, an associate of the Noel Frederick agency. Both admitted last night that they had no personal AGVA franchises, but stated they were filing immediately.

20TH SKED WILL JUMP 8 MORE IN 90 DAYS

Production has been speeded up at 20th-Fox after a temporary lull. With five pictures currently before the cameras, production scheduled for the next 90 days will see eight more top-budgeted films rolling.

Two films are slated to go before the cameras next Monday. George Jessel's musical tinter, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," with Lloyd Bacon directing and with June Haver and Mark Stevens heading the cast, and "Bob, Son of Battle," based on the Alfred Olliphant dog classic. Latter film will be produced by Robert Bassler and Louis King will direct the Lon McCallister-Peggy Ann Garner starrer.

"GHOST" WALKS AUG. 5

Producer Fred Kohlmar has scheduled for August 5 "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," with Rex Harrison in starring role. Month of September will see five films start production. For September 2 starts are Gene Markey's "No Wedding Ring," which he wrote and will produce, and "Chicken Every Sunday," which has been assigned to William Perlberg for production. "The Perfect Case," an FBI story to be produced by Louis de Rochemont, has a September 9 shooting date. Producer Lamar Trotti's "Mother Wore Tights," starring Betty Grable, is slated to start September 13 with Walter Land directing. William Perlberg's "Forever Amber" will resume shooting September 30 with Otto Preminger directing.

QUINT BEFORE CAMERAS

Pictures before the cameras yesterday included "The Razor's Edge," "The Late George Apley," "13 Rue Madeleine," on location at Quebec, Canada; "The Homestretch" and "The High Window." Latter film, based on the Raymond Chandler mystery yarn, started yesterday with George Montgomery and Nancy Guild in the co-starring roles. John Brahm directs for producer Robert Bassler.

THE GRAPEVINE: Film talent scouts are bending an ear to Fred Waring's morning radio show. Waring, who discovered the Lane Sisters (Rosemary and Priscilla), has a vocalist who, the experts say, is in the Sinatra-Como-Russell class . . . Louella Parsons' recovery from her recent operation has been so rapid at San Simeon she wants to return to column-writing by the end of the month . . . Marilyn Maxwell has canceled all studio dates this week. She's so badly sunburned she can't put on any clothes . . . Another casualty is Lina Romay, who tore off a toenail during a dance sequence. She's hobbling around on a cane . . . A "Howard Hughes press room" has been established at Good Samaritan hospital with a 24-hour staff to answer the hundreds of queries from the press and his well-wishers . . . Ivor Novello, who's been a British matinee idol since Sir Aubrey Smith was a juvenile, will make his first Hollywood visit this summer. He'll be a guest of Constance Collier, who once collaborated with him on "The Rat" and other London legiters. Currently he's starring in the West End hit "And So to Dream" . . . Warners are planning a lush, plush preem for "Night and Day" here Aug. 1 . . . Eyecatcher in oils: John Decker's portrait of Barbara Stanwyck in the Bevhills hotel galleries . . . Local hotel management is making a coast-to-coast network of enemies by confirming reservations two weeks in advance, then, when would-be guests arrive from the east, the manager says unforeseen difficulties have canceled out their reservations . . . Samuel Goldwyn checked into a Cedars of Lebanon hospital room the other day, stayed seven or eight hours and then mysteriously checked out. Evidently Darius, his astrologer, learned from his Zodiac tables that a trade paper editor was in a room directly above him.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Much merriment on the "Johnny O'Clock" set yesterday at Columbia where Milt Holmes is bowing as a producer and Robert Rossen as director. Metro director Jules Dassin wired this bit of advice for Rossen: "Don't beat the actors. Don't let the cameraman say 'impossible.' Sit down between setups. Don't stay married to that silly script. Above all fall madly in love with Evelyn Keyes. I spit on your shoulder three times." And Humphrey Bogart working in "Dead Reckoning" nearby to his ex-comrade in the Warner stock company: "The old Bogart sends best wishes to the new Dick Powell." June Allyson, Powell's wife, also brightened the set on the first day of shooting . . . Ginger Rogers is going first class at Enterprise. Studio announces "she and her staff will occupy a suite of rebuilt offices on the lot" when she checks in for "Maggi July" . . . Pat O'Brien is passing out St. Christopher medals to his friends. Attached is a tag reading: "Good up to 45 miles per hour" . . . Republic has started shooting on "Calendar Girl," using a nostalgic 1900 background. If the calendars are good for story material, why not the almanacs? The Old Farmers' Almanac is still available—and probably in the public domain . . . Yucca Salamunich, the sculptor, has completed a bust of Ben Blue, the comedian. Yucca is quoted as saying Blue's face was "an inspiration for its sensitiveness and seriousness, like Chopin's." What ! ! ! !

FRANCES LANGFORD is planning construction of a yacht harbor and airfield on her Florida estate, when she takes off for her vacation on completion of "Beat the Band" . . . JUNE HAVER will be one of the scorekeepers in the Frank Borzage golf tournament Sunday at California Country Club . . . EDDIE BUZZELL, Metro director, will address the summer drama classes at U.C.L.A. next month . . . RUTH GUNNING, secretary to Darryl Zanuck, has taken a three-month leave of absence . . . OLGA SAN JUAN and MARY EDWARDS, both Paramount starlets, are showcasing their vocal talents on the Ford Sunday evening hour . . . WILLIAM GARGAN overheard it at Glenn Billingsley's: "She's the sort of girl who lives for others—you can always tell the others by their hunted expression" . . . RALPH STAUB will shoot a Screen Snapshot Saturday on film columnists, with George Fisher interviewing Kathryn Grayson, Johnny Weissmuller, Jimmy Dunn, Forest Tucker and Robert Preston on the first tee at California Country Club . . . HARRY RAPF, ill at home with his second heart attack in two years, has everyone on the Metro lot pulling for "Gallant Bess," his latest production, and studio is putting plenty of exploitation steam behind it . . . VICTOR VARCONI and CURTIS BERNHARDT held their first reunion since 1932 on the Warner lot yesterday. Bernhardt directed Varconi in "The Rebel" with Vilma Banky that year in Austria and Switzerland.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: An element of anarchy has come to the hoss opera field. Producer-director Bill Berke's "Rolling Home"—the most sympathetic character dies, the heroine is brushed off by the hero in the last reel, and the hero loses the horse race . . . Study in pungency: Jack Moffitt's Esquire review on "Henry V"—"Laurence Olivier made it more for the dons of Oxford than the dames of Omaha" . . . Bill Latham, the Goldwyn flack, is marrying Betty Thomas next Tuesday on the "Bride and Groom" program . . . OFF THE LOTS: Lilli Damita and Bob Oliver at Earl Carroll's. Marie McDonald and Jay Rothman at Beverly Tropics. Janis Paige and Don McGuire at Henri's . . . Veronica Lake and Director Andre De Toth tossed a birthday party for Nestor Paiva at the "Ramrod" location in Zion National Park . . . Ralph B. Jordan, now a top praiser at Metro, has his biography of Admiral William Halsey on the bookstands, "Born to Fight!" Jordan was an INS war correspondent in the Pacific . . . The Jesters Club has been formed by a group including Eddie Bracken, George Jessel, Judge Edward R. Brand, Hal Roach, Jr., Max Gilford, Charles Vanda, John Wayne, Frank Seltzer, Leo Fields and Robert Arthur. It will take over the old Clover Club for an elaborate layout of club facilities . . . Linda Darnell asked a girl who applied for a job as her secretary, "Can you write shorthand?" "Oh, yes," the girl replied, "only it takes me a little longer."—D.D.T.

NELSON RETAKES HALF INTEREST IN GILT EDGE

Following protracted series of confabs this week, Richard A. Nelson last night again moved back into the 4 Star and Gilt Edge Record companies and emerged with a 50 per cent interest in the combine. Two months ago, Nelson sold the firms, of which he was prez, to associates Cliff McDonald and Don Pierce, for a reported $250,000, which covered all properties, including pressing plants, biscuit mills and two-thirds stock of Consolidated Record Distributors.

As noted some time ago in Daily Variety, actual cash never exchanged hands, due to mix-ups over liabilities incurred during Nelson regime and reportedly confused state of ledgers. Lately McDonald and Pierce realized that in assuming the platteries and paying off, they would not have enough coin to carry on sales and promotion and waxing operations, hence door was left open for Nelson to re-enter the picture.

In new setup, Nelson will have no official say personally in policies of labels, he being pegged only as national sales chief. However, he will be represented on board of directors by Harvey Scribner, one of his attorneys, and also NY rep of waxeries, and Scribner will have a 50 per cent vote. Officers in re-shuffled layout are: McDonald, prez; Pierce, treasurer; Jerry Ralston, secretary. Latter is local attorney who not only has been repping both Nelson and McDonald of late, but also is Coast legal light of Music Publishers' Protective Association, which has been pressuring 4 Star and Gilt Edge to pay the approximate $7,000 in royalties owed writers and publishers on tunes disced. Ralston, it is understood, has now dumped chunk of own coin in the firms.

'CENTENNIAL' IN PHILLY PREEM CAVALCADE

Philadelphia, July 10.—A crowd estimated at more than 200,000 today watched the parade of Hollywood stars and civic dignitaries climaxing a three day municipal celebration in conjunction with the world premiere of "Centennial Summer" tonight.

The cavalcade went through central city streets during the noon hour and returned to the Bellevue Stratford Hotel where the film contingent were guests at a luncheon sponsored by the mayor's sponsoring committee for the premiere. Approximately 1000 persons attended the luncheon in the Bellevue ballroom.

Mayor Bernard Samuel welcomed the guests, praising 20th Century-Fox for the "good taste and showmanship" in handling the premiere. Other speakers were Albert M. Greenfield, chairman of the mayor's committee, Roger W. Clipp, general manager of WFIL, was chairman of the luncheon committee. Phil Silvers was M.C.

A last minute guest was the "forgotten man" of the celebration—Albert E. Idell, Philadelphia born author of the book, "Centennial Summer," on which the picture was based. Idell came into town yesterday, revealing that he hadn't even been invited to the premiere or any of the functions surrounding the opening of the picture. The "forgotten man" angle is getting plenty of attention from the dailies and the Fox publicity department claim they didn't have anything to do with it—officially, that is.

A special premiere was held tonight with the house sold out at $1.30 a head ($1) plus tax.

Ole Olsen Here To Rest, Spurns Films

Ole Olsen will not talk any picture deals while here, he announced yesterday upon his arrival, following closing of Olsen & Johnson show, "Laughing Room Only," in New York. Comic is here to spend summer with his family at their Santa Monica home, first vacation he has enjoyed in 10 years. Johnson, instead of coming west with his partner, went to his farm at Carmel, NY, for sultry months.

Francis Tells Side Of Canteen Suit

Guy Francis, one of the proprietors of the nitery at 1451 Cahuenga and named yesterday as co-defendant in the Hollywood Canteen suit for injunction, stated last night that the Canteen "has no case against us." According to Francis, the song "Formerly Hollywood Canteen" is merely used as "identification" and that the nitery which has taken over the premises uses "a question mark for a title."

$44G a Day For 'Razor'

20th-Fox hit production cost peak last week, when "Razor's Edge" cut into a $44,000 per day shooting budget. Reason for the mighty moola expenditure was because six stars, six supporting players and 300 extras worked on a single set representing the Ritz hotel in Paris. Tyrone Power, Gene Tierney, John Payne, Anne Baxter, Clifton Webb and Herbert Marshall worked out in the stellar bracket, while Elsa Lanchester, Cobina Wright, Sr., Patti Behrs, Barry Norton, Harry Pilcer and Shusheila von Lang were in support.

LESSER'S $6 MILLION SKED

will range from $800,000 to a million and a half each.

Next to go before the cameras, in early September, is tentatively tagged "Tarzan And The Huntress," starring Johnny Weissmuller, Brenda Joyce and Johnny Sheffield, which Kurt Neumann will co-produce and direct. Film will carry a $800,000 budget and will get an RKO release. Leslie Charteris is adapting screenplay with Jerry Gruskin from latter's original.

Lesser just concluded a new pact with Weissmuller, calling for one picture a year for three years. Producer, in addition, last week signed a new deal with Edgar Rice Burroughs which gives him extension of 20 years on exclusive rights to the "Tarzan" yarns.

With the exception of the "Tarzan" pictures for RKO release, rest of Lesser's product is earmarked for United Artists distribution. Heading the list is "Show Me A Land," from the Clark McMeekin novel, a Lon McCallister starrer. Winston Miller was signed yesterday to adapt the race horse story, which has been ticketed with a $1,200,000 budget.

Most of the shooting will be on location in Kentucky. Remaining two productions include an untagged drama for Edward G. Robinson, and a musical, titled "Crazy To Dance." Latter two pictures have been given budgets of $1,500,000 each.

'Unconquered' Will Roll July 29

"Unconquered" will be given the greenlight July 29 on a 90-day shooting schedule, Paramount announced yesterday. Cecil B. DeMille will produce the film, his first in two years, with Paulette Goddard and Gary Cooper co-starred. Backgrounds have been lensed for past weeks under Arthur Rosson near Pittsburgh and Boise.

'Hasty Heart' Set for Santa Barbara

"The Hasty Heart," Broadway hit of last season, will be produced by Russell Lewis and Howard Young, with a Santa Barbara opening set for Aug. 16. Erin O'Brien-Moore, Dean Heron, Whitner Bissell, Gilbert Frye, Michael Garrison, Charles Waldron and Vernon Steele head the cast. Harry Ellerbe directs and Raymond Sovey designed the production. Following Santa Barbara break-in, play tours the Northwest, opening at the Biltmore here Oct. 21.

Messenger Girl Inked As Messenger Girl

Another Filmland Cinderella — Marilyn Budgeon, 18-year-old studio messenger girl at RKO, was signed to a term contract by the studio yesterday. First role will be that of a messenger girl in "Mr. Fix," and she's changing her name to Marilyn Messenger.

'Abie' Being Readied For Aug. Preview

Eddie Sutherland will have "Abie's Irish Rose" ready for preview about August 1. Scoring of the Bing Crosby Producers Inc. picture, with score by John Scott Trotter, will begin within the next ten days.

Lee Bennett Inked

Lee Bennett has been signed by Eagle-Lion to play the lead in "Drifting River." Cinecolor film starts lensing Friday.

'PURSUED' HALTED FOR LACK OF LEADING MAN

Dearth of name leading men has caused United States Pictures to postpone for at least one week the start of "Pursued," slated originally for next Monday, with likelihood cameras will not roll for an additional two to three weeks.

Producers are up against matter of top male stars preferring to remain inactive after having already completed two pictures this year, due to income tax situation and fact they would be working practically for nothing by undertaking third assignment. More than 20 leading men have been tested thus far, with further tests scheduled daily until actor is set for star role opposite Teresa Wright.

Perrett, Mendelsohn Join E-L Flackery

Sam Israel, organizing new Eagle-Lion flackery, has signed Frank Perrett as his assistant, and brought Harold Mendelsohn from Columbia. Perrett was 15 years with 20th-Fox, leaving there several months ago. Mendelsohn has been unit man at Columbia for two years and previously was downtown newspaperman.

Broughton in 'Vendetta'

Clifford Broughton has been borrowed from Howard Hughes Productions by Preston Sturges to serve as production manager for "Vendetta." Film rolls Aug. 7 for California Pictures.

PUBS DEMAND OF 2 CENTS A SIDE TO HIT DISC OUTFITS

Pop-platteries, which have been jittering since April in anticipation of American Federation of Musicians seeking steeper scale in October, this week got an added case of shakes when they learned that with certainty music publishers are going to ask a minimum royalty of two cents per side for tunes disced. At present royalty rate is one and one-quarter cents for 35c platter, one and one-half cents for 50c label, and full two cents for 75c item.

Move to exact more revenue from recording companies started with Songwriters' Protective Association, which now is refining terms of ten-year pact which writers will sign with publishers in December, and which will endure a decade. SPA is insisting that pubs get greater royalty fee per side, which is split between writers and pub firms.

Heavy Kelly Dance Chores Set for 'Living'

Gene Kelly will have heavy dancing chores as the lead in ''Life's for the Living'' at Metro. It is actor's first film since returning from Navy duty. Marie MacDonald will have the femme lead, with Pandro S. Berman producing. Gregory La Cava will direct his original story.

Producers Shot

International yesterday lensed producers Nunnally Johnson, Leonard Goldstein, Chester Erskine, Fred Finklehoffe, Sam Wood and Joseph Sistrom for appearances in a special short to be screened at the first sales convention of United World in New York. Others who appeared were Howard Bay, and writers Charles Bennett and James Hilton.

Fitch 'Girls' Set

Clyde Fitch's ''Girls'' has been slated for the next of the Pasadena Playhouse Midsummer Drama Festival offerings. George Reeves tops the cast of the play which will run from July 16 to 21.

LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

We get it thrown up at us time and again but no amount of space or urging on our part seems to have done any good. The question before the multitude is, ''What's being done to groom new talent?'' If you want a quick answer it's nuthin', but nuthin'. Who's to blame? The networks say the agencies and right back into their teeth it's tossed. Both are in semi-agreement that the agents should do something about it, that, in the end, they're the ones who'll profit most. The fact that another Hope, Benny, Cantor or Skelton might be nursed along and hold millions in billing over a stretch of years doesn't seem to enter into the picture at all.

The summer season is pretty well along now and what bounced off our eardrums hasn't the true ring of seasonal quality. Our candidate among the fillers for a continuing life after the regulars come marching home is ''Sad Sack,'' holding the fort for Frank Sinatra. The others have been of variable quality but lack the spark that might ignite the interest of a sponsor. The networks have made a mild stab at calking the gaps but the formats and casting strike a familiar note. After Columbia's William S. Paley gets into the swing of things at KNX there may be some encouraging progress. It's pretty generally conceded, east and west, that all the big shows must eventually take the Hollywood signoff.

An almost complete monopoly has been retarded only by the lack of studio space but come it must and nothing can stop it. Come September, the lineup of shows will be pretty much like they've been for the past few years. That borders dangerously on stagnation but the men who spend millions would rather play safe than be sorry. If the summer season fails to turn up a few shows of seasonal merit the rap will have to be taken by the networks. That's where the incubation should begin.

We've always come to expect something new and different from Bobby Lee and Jerry Lawrence, the boy wonders of radio, so it shouldn't surprise you to know they're doing the book for a stage musical to be called ''Look Ma, I'm Dancin'!'' That title, they explain, has to do with a group of dancers on a backstage tour of the U.S. Dick Dorso will have a hand in the production and Hugh Martin is writing the music. Show is slated to open on Broadway in January, with breakins at New Haven and in Philadelphia. Their youthful drive and industry not content to be contained in only one project, they must also be working on some radio innovation, we allowed. That they are and you'll soon be hearing about it.

Chain breaks . . . Peter Donald, dialect artist on ''Can You Top This?'' becomes a character in ''Allen's Alley'' next season as replacement for the defecting Falstaff . . . Jim Wright being moved back to NY for an important berth with Kastor, Farrell, Chesley & Clifford . . . Roger Price, in the Bob Hope stable of writers, being checked and double checked as a comic by Ed Cashman . . . Howard Connell, who writes the radio copy for American Tobacco, left Foote, Cone & Belding for Biow . . . Jay Faggan, NY flack, setting up shop here . . . Mark Hellinger's ''Fourth Estate'' has been approved by NBC's Clarence Menser, who ordered it niched in the RCA Sunday time but it's no go with Hellinger as a house job. If it isn't commercial it isn't for him . . . Bud Edwards back in production at ABC after four months of roughing it on his rancho.

ADD REMINISCING: or going way back with Joe Rines. ''It only seems like the day before yesterday yet it was back in the early 20's. It was at the Amrad station in Medford Hillside, Mass., where I worked with ''Big Brother'' Bob Emery. Everyone who heard you on the air sent you a postcard saying so. If we received 26 we knew we had 26 families listening to us. Shades of Hooper! One of the shows we did was ''Big Brother Club,'' where every member (kids) had to pay dues of one letter a week telling of their good deeds. When the membership grew to 150 we thought seriously of dropping the show as there was too much mail to handle. Three years later we ran an outing for members only and 44,000 showed up.

''I remember the night a listener called the station and asked that we get off the air because he wanted to listen to a fight broadcast on the opposite station and the competition from us was too great. We promptly obliged and urged our listeners to tune the other station. We signed off until the fight was over. Later at NBC I remember Bertha Brainard assigning an announcer to a show created by Ray Knight and myself. He got us off in a corner and asked us to write him into the script with some comedy lines. Said he, 'I want to prove to you fellows that I'm an actor.' We wrote him in and he did alright. His name—Phil Carlin, now program head of Mutual.''

Hitch hikes . . . Are Bob Hope and Charlie Luckman hitting it off or would radio's top comic (we're quoting Mr. Hooper) like to make a change? . . . Of the 15 top Hooperated shows on the Coast, six fall in the cops-and-robbers category . . . Bill Randol checked out of Don Lee where he has been production manager for the past year . . . Hank Booraem around for a month scouting talent for the Hutchins agency of which he is radio director. Incidently, Hutchins has given Paul Whiteman the title of radio consultant . . . MCA is handling negotiations for an Andrews Sisters show with two interested clients . . . Alfred Paddison, prexy of Australian Federation of Commercial Broadcasting Stations, looking in on the television scene after a cross-country tour . . . Jack O'Mara's promotional brochure on KECA's 70.1 Hooperating on the Louis-Conn fight rates a 70.1 in sales voltage . . . It should please the Fords very much that Judy Garland will warble on the Bob Crosby show next Wednesday. Now if they can only get her to stay.

OLMAN HERE FOR PICK OF METRO FILM SONGS

Abe Olman, who recently moved into top spot in Robbins-Feist-Miller music publishing combine following departure of Jack Robbins, will return to NY headquarters Sunday. For past few days Olman has been huddling with Metro studio execs, listening to new tunes which will go into company's forthcoming films and allocating these scores to each of the three different pub houses, all of which are Metro-controlled.

Precise spotting of specific songs from each projected Metro picture will not be made until late Friday or Saturday, Olman said last night. However, distribution will be made equally, thus switching from past practice when Feist firm got bulk of Metro film tunes, and the Robbins subsid got none, due to enduring feud which existed between Jack Robbins and almost all studio execs right up until time when Robbins sold out his holdings in combine for $500,000 net.

Bowl Symphonies Set for 2nd Week

Second week of Symphonies Under the Stars will tee off in Hollywood Bowl Tuesday night with Leopold Stokowski conducting concert. Jan Peerce appears as guest soloist Thursday night with Charles O'Connell batoning. Saturday night will be the Jerome Kern memorial program featuring stars from Metro.

SIMON TO NY TO OPEN EASTERN HQ OF NEW FIRM

George Simon, veteran music publisher, flies to NY tomorrow to open eastern office of new firm he has founded and will headquarter there. Deal has been consummated whereby his minority holdings in Melrose Music have been taken up by majority stockholder E. H. (Buddy) Morris. In sale to Morris, in addition to cash, Simon also has emerged with six standard songs, culled from catalogs of three Morris-controlled companies, Mayfair, Morris and Melrose. Ditties, "Someday, Sweetheart," "Starlight," "That's A - Plenty," "Muskrat Ramble," "On Revival Day," and "I'd Do Anything For You," all were hits in past and Simon's new firm, which will bear his name, will revive them. Company also shortly will issue new tune, "You Can't See the Sun When You're Crying." This item, by Doris Fisher and Allan Roberts, was originally cleffed for inclusion in Columbia film, "Life of Jolson," but finally was shelved.

'Wyoming' Roles Set

Six top roles have been set for Joseph Kane's director-production, "Wyoming," at Republic, studio announced yesterday, with Sept. 16 slated as starting date. William Elliott and Vera Ralston will head cast, Maria Ouspenskaya, Bruce Cabot, George "Gabby" Hayes and Jimmy Ellison in support.

ANIMAL TRAINERS FORM UNION AND ASK FOR CHARTER

Film animal trainers and handlers have banded together in union to negotiate closed shop agreement with studios. Application has been made for an autonomous charter from the American Federation of Labor and as soon as granted new union will open contract negotiations. Union's aim is to improve present scales paid the trainer and handler classifications for their work with filmdom's famous animals.

Organization, now known as Animal Trainers & Handlers Union, will cover approximately 62 skilled animal and bird workers, many of whom are also owners. From its membership it will be able to provide anything from a trained cocker to a giraffe. While planning to bargain for a closed shop agreement, ATHU will maintain its own school for training of new members into intricacies of working animals before the cameras.

Prexy of union is Henry East. Other officers are Carl Spitz, vice president; Loverne Weber, executive secretary; Earl Johnson, treasurer; John Kerr, business agent, and Rudd Weatherwax, assistant biz agent.

'Boogie-Woogie' Life

Meade Lux Lewis, boogie-woogie pianist, checked in yesterday for featured role in Liberty's "It's a Wonderful Life."

KORDA MOVES ON GOLDWYN LOT; DEAL PENDS

move meant that he had reached agreement with Goldwyn on discussions relating to a production facilities-reciprocity deal. Korda is pushing plans for a program which would allow him to produce, starting early next year, on the Goldwyn lot and in turn would make available to Goldwyn his studio facilities in London.

"TALK OF MANY THINGS"

"I have not finished my conversations with Mr. Goldwyn," Korda told Daily Variety last night. "We are talking about many things. It was so nice of him to offer us office space and we gladly accepted. Right now I can't say how long we will be in them."

Korda, who is spearheading a British indie battle against the J. Arthur Rank film empire, is slated for discussions, early next week, with Republic prexy Herbert J. Yates. Latter is returning from New York to meet with Korda. In his last visit in Hollywood in March, Korda and Yates renewed the British Lion-Republic distribution pact for another ten years. Forthcoming talks, it is reported, will center on production.

SOME JEALOUSY

And last night—although wishing Korda lots of luck in his undertakings—nearly a score of indie producers without studio office space or shooting facilities indicated they would like to acquire the same magic touch and, too, get space—on the Goldwyn lot.

OBITUARY

FLORENCE SHORT

Funeral services will be held tomorrow, 3:00 p.m., at Little Church of the Flowers, Forest Lawn, for Florence Short, 57, stage and silent screen actress who died yesterday at her Hollywood home. She is survived by a sister, Gertrude Short.

Miss Short came to Hollywood 20 years ago, after having started her stage career with Avenue Stock Company, in Wilmington, Del., in 1910. While in stock at Royal Alexander theatre, in Toronto, she was seen by Henry W. Savage, who cast her in role of "Experience" in original Broadway cast of "Everyman." Later, in Hollywood, she appeared opposite such stars as Lew Cody and John Ince.

E-L Inks Sands for 2

Johnny Sands, currently working opposite Shirley Temple in "The Bachelor and the Bobby Soxer," was signed yesterday by Eagle-Lion for two pictures. Sands will be starred in "Born to Speed," which starts shooting July 22 with Terry Austin as femme lead. Deal for Sands, who is under contract to Vanguard Films, was set by Irving Lazar, executive assistant to Bryan Foy.

JUDGE DISSOLVES 8 EXTRAS SUIT AGAINST SEG

Restraining order issued last Saturday in suit brought by eight former film extras against Screen Extras Guild was dissolved yesterday by Superior Judge Henry M. Willis. Hearing on motion for an injunction against SEG, charged with refusing membership to the plaintiffs, comes up Monday. Also defendants are Central Casting and major studios.

In finding in favor of SEG yesterday, Judge Willis commented that guild's contract shows it is not a closed union but admits extras on demand of the producers. Suit charged SEG with operating a closed union and barring plaintiffs from film work.

10 IA Locals Given New Deals, 25% Raises

Interim agreements covering 10 IATSE studio locals have been concluded in negotiations this week with major studios. Agreements are for most of the IA local unions and call for general 25 per cent wage increase, retroactive to Jan. 1. Increases are effective July 15 and retroactive pay checks will be figured after final agreements are negotiated and signed.

Conclusion of interim agreements come on eve of departure of most delegates to the 38th bi-annual IATSE convention, being held at the Hotel Stevens in Chicago, opening July 22.

PAR BACKED PLAY PIC SET

Although Paramount put up 50 per cent of the coin for the Broadway presentation this Fall of "Park Avenue," it was learned last night that Arthur Schwartz and Nunnally Johnson, co-authors of the musical with George S. Kaufman and Ira Gershwin, will do the filmization as an indie producing chore.

Despite fact that Johnson is closely associated with Bill Goetz at International, understood that Charles Einfeld is making a pitch to incorporate the production at Enterprise.

Tele Outfit Gets Power Move Okay

Washington, July 11.—Television Productions, Inc., today received approval of FCC to change transmitter site of Station W6XYZ, Hollywood. Tower was originally licensed for operation from Paramount studio site but was moved to Mt. Wilson pending okay. Official notice is only a formality since the move is already accomplished.

HUGHES HIT BY SETBACK

Howard Hughes' condition became more critical late last night in his fight for life at Good Samaritan hospital, Dr. Verne R. Mason reported. His bulletin read:

"Mr. Hughes has taken a turn for the worse. His left lung has failed to respond and is still functionless. He is surviving through the restricted use of his right lung to the extent permitted by his crushed chest which includes nine broken ribs. He is breathing pure oxygen 24 hours a day."

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

MUSICRAFT Records has apparently given up on try to induce Victor to let it wax Duke Ellington until batoneer's pact with latter expires and his recently signatured agreement commences with Musicraft on Nov. 1. Musicraft had wanted Victor to grant consideration so the indie plattery could cut and shelve a flock of Ellington sides against the tilt in recording scales for American Federation of Musicians, sure to pop in October. Deft overtures made by Musicraft at outset are reported to have received rather a brusque brush from Victor, which still has 12 Ellington sides to cut, discounting the eight sliced here this week, before pact with bandsman dissolves. It is known that Ellington still frowns when Victor deal is mentioned, as tieup long has been unhappy one. Trade teems with talk over fact that Victor, with huge backlog of Ellington wax, hasn't released a platter by band in more than six months. Situation has given rise to rumors that waxery may never issue the items, but will exact full measure from contract, thus freezing a lot of prime tunes, since Ellington, according to contract, couldn't disc a selection for Musicraft for five years after recording it for Victor.

ALTHOUGH Stan Kenton ork was able to ease out of its booking into Pennsylvania hotel, NY, carded for September, the crew still will have to play site before next summer, having been definitely committed by General Artists Corp. for at least four weeks, in a deal which included a whole package of GAC-booked bands. Kenton is willing to play the Penn late next winter, probably following month-long booking at Paramount, NY, but plans to hold out for more coin than original September date called for—$3,000 per week with 25 per cent of covers. Now Kenton wants $5,000, plus same cut on covers. Batoneer feels that his price has been nudging upwards of late, and that worth will be far greater next January than it was last spring when penciled for the Penn in September. Also, number of high-priced sidemen, plus size presently of musicrew have tilted weekly nut on Kenton crew until it is in neighborhood of $5,200 weekly. Currently at Meadowbrook ballroom here, Kenton is getting $4,500 per week against 70 per cent of the gate. Opening this week was best Meadowbrook business since Benny Goodman blared into the terpalace last January.

INDICATIVE of the salutary manner in which all parts of the country are pitching in to join Warner Bros. in commemorating the 20th anniversary of sound is the "civic celebration" aspect the event has taken in two typical cities, Cincinnati and San Antonio. In the former city, every theatre in town has lobby displays and is running a trailer at all shows announcing the event. Newspaper coverage of the anniversary will be topped off with an eight-column banner spread in the Cincinnati Enquirer and similar banner stories in the Times-Star and Post. The San Antonio all-out celebration includes a proclamation by Mayor Mauermann, a city-wide celebration climaxed by the selection of "Miss 20th Anniversary of Sound," salutes on all radio programs, and a preview of "Night and Day" and "Okay for Sound" at the Majestic theatre July 31 attended by the mayor, civic and industrial leaders. Proclamations in honor of the event have been issued by the governors of both Ohio and Kentucky.

HORACE Heidt last night scotched a rumor recently riffed by the Vine St. Voltaires that he would pick up the baton again and lead a dance band. Ex-leader admitted, however, he would front a crew if he could inspire a radio commercial on a web, but stated he would limit performing activities to the ozone. Heidt presently devotes himself fulltime to his sundry biz ventures, which include a steak house here, Lone Palm, hostelry at Palm Springs and his recently acquired Nevada Biltmore hotel, Las Vegas, as well as the Trianon ballroom, in South Gate. Despite some woeful weeks at Trianon recently, Heidt discounted reports he would be found willing to peddle the place, which he finished redecorating last month. Obviously he plans to hold through summer and await developments when Lionel Hampton's currently high-voltage boxoffice band opens month stand on Sept. 3. Trianon has been a goldmine for Heidt, in the main. During past three years profits have topped $160,000.

PARAMOUNT is going propmen who make trees one better by creating an artificial wheat field covering one-half acre on studio's back lot for scenes in "The Big Haircut." Object is to match up background scenes filmed on location of wheat fields in central California and near Pasco, Wash. Four acres of wheat now under water at Russell Griffin ranch north of Fresno will be brought to studio for "transplanting" in dirt-filled flats. This artificial wheatfield will be constructed under supervision of Gordon Messer, technical advisor on picture. Messer estimates that harvest yield for this wheat, after scenes are completed, will be approximately 200 bushels.

TOUGHEST camera job of the week, according to Franz Planer, lens chief for Seymour Nebenzal's "The Chase" is keeping the camera in focus during a 90-degree angle pan from a cablegram burning on top of a stove to a scene between Robert Cummings and Yolanda Lacca in a Havana tenement flat. It took 20 takes to get a perfect shot. The shot got added complication from the intense heat and the fact that the cameraman had to keep his eye glued to the eyepiece while moving from standing to sitting position.

CONTRACT which Radio Directors Guild will seek from networks here will be uniform, it's reported, with RDG now working out details of its initial ticket since organizing late last year. Same standard agreement will hold for Columbia Broadcasting System, National Broadcasting Co., and American Broadcasting Co., with exception that special clause will be inserted in CBS' agreement affecting its specialized "contact producers." Nets also will be dealt with joint under present RDG plan.

JACK SEAMAN OUT, PLANET PICTURES REORGANIZES

Complete reorganization of Planet Pictures was effected late yesterday with 16m outfit relieving prexy Jack Seaman, electing new board and setting up refinancing through tie-ups with indie producers similar to system employed by major studios.

New officers and associate producers will be named today, following another meeting last night. Planet, through its associates, plans releasing 104 16m features for 1946-47 season.

Meanwhile, Sam Nathanson, sales manager of Planet, tendered resignation yesterday by registered letter. He will form his own 16m producing and distributing company, and announcement will be made today of trade name and others interested in new company.

"AQUA FOLLIES"

Crosby Production of the "Aqua Follies" opened last night at the Olympic Swim Stadium and, once its kinks are ironed out, it will be a snappy show with plenty of color and entertainment per dollar spent. Production leans heavily on comedy antics of Dutch Smith, Adolph Kiefer, Rusty Smith, Tex Thomas and Bill Shaw, with Aquabelles and waterping to give production niceties and color. Helen Crlenkovich Morgan displays star talent from the diving board as do the same gentlemen involved in the comedy routines. Lita O'Neill, Brown Twins and Russell and Paulette handle featured assignments niftily with dance numbers both in and out of the water. Jay Freeman's music backs the show well and Mildred Stone and Lee Harmon work out on the vocals. When the damp display has a few more tightening rehearsals, some pacing and light routines sharpened up, it will keep customers coming during the warm season.

Bomb Reels Give 12 Min. Look at Atomic Inferno

First atomic bomb test footage from Bikini hit first-run houses here yesterday for 12 minutes of breathless running-time. Footage was edited from more than 100,000 feet of film shot by different war services and newsreel pool, and distributed to each of the five newsreel services, Paramount, RKO, Metro, 20th-Fox, and Universal.

Film, which shows some of preparation through actual gigantic blast and later examination of damage wrought, is one of the most gripping, tense and dramatic subjects ever shown in a theatre. Part of it is awesome, as though the camera were visiting another and a dead world. This is particularly true as the cameras train their lens on the hulks of twisted steel after the holocaust.

CONCUSSION SCENE GREATEST

One scene is unquestionably the greatest ever filmed, that showing the visible concussion before the actual explosion can be seen. Sound like the whistling of a mammoth bullet accompanies the touch-off of the bomb, dropped 30,000 feet by bombardiers on Dave's Dream, the craft selected for the world's most famous battle test.

Leading up to the dropping of the bomb are offered large number of scenes, preparing animals for the test—such as shearing goats and smearing them with oil to ward off the deadly heat-blast—loading the bomb behind canvas, men aboard ships 30 miles away from the atoll donning black-glass goggles so they might watch the phenomena without fear of eye injury.

Later, scenes of havoc aboard some of the 59 out of 73 ships damaged, are glimpsed. This latter footage is particularly gruesome, as hazards of radioactivity are risked by men specially trained to examine the wreckage.

Following the explosion, scene of concussion and actual blast a column of dense smoke rises to 30,000 feet in the form of a giant mushroom, similar to that glimpsed previously by still cameras of the two Jap atomic bomb explosions. Billowing upwards, it is so dense as to appear solid. From footage shown, it cannot be doubted that Operation Crossroads was a mighty experiment from which great results will accrue.

Freeman Reveals $1,546,090 In Industry Charity Fund

The motion picture industry contributed $1,546,090.66 to the first Annual United Appeal, prexy Y. Frank Freeman of the industry's Permanent Charities Committee disclosed at last night's annual board of director's meeting. Overcoming the handicap of last year's eight-month strike, 20,145 subscribers helped roll up the "outstanding success," Freeman stated. Total represents an average contribution of $76.75 per person.

Freeman praised the volunteer campaign workers headed by David L. Loew in declaring: "I feel that the program will prove a pattern for solicitation by other organizations and industries in the years to come."

The funds raised have been allocated, on a proportional basis, to the American Red Cross, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and to the various Victory Chests throughout Los Angeles County. Only $35,000, equivalent to 2.26 per cent of the total raised, was allocated for the year-round administration.

With payroll deductions and collections on installment accounts holding up to expectations, the committee has already distributed the sum of $1,049,925 to the three humanitarian organizations. Of this figure the Victory Chests received $677,875, the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis received $15,000, and the Red Cross $357,050.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

What was your reaction to the Russian proposal for Germany? When you read it, did you consider that it sounded reasonable? Was your next thought then: "What's the joker? What are they trying to do? Build up a strong Germany against us?" That was the way most of the news agencies treated the story. And it's interesting and should be instructive. It should help us to understand why Molotov argues against every plan we bring up. He also wonders what we're plotting in what sounds sensible. Actually the Soviet has proposed what we have been asking for all along—a centralized government and centralization of economics for Germany. That's why Jimmy Byrnes came right back with approval of that part of the plan. There's sense, too, in the idea that Germany should not be made an agricultural nation, and that she should not be dismembered nor have her Saar, Rhineland or Ruhr amputated. This last crosses up the French Communists, but Communists in other lands often find themselves walking up the wrong road. The proposal may enable us to make important progress on the key issue in European peace, Germany, and thus to advance well toward the kind of situation in which there will be less suspicion and a better chance of peace. But don't expect speed, or an end of arguments even though we are in basic agreement.

MONOGRAM RELEASE. Producer, Scott R. Dunlap. Director, Lambert Hillyer. Screenplay, J. Benton Cheney. Photography, Harry Neumann. Production manager, Charles J. Bigelow. Editor, Fred Maguire. Sound, Frank McWhorter. Musical director, Edward Kay. Sets, Vin Taylor. Assistant director, Eddie Davis.

REVIEWED at the Hitching Post, Hollywood, Calif., July 11, 1946. Running time: 59 MINS.

Another average Johnny Mack Brown starrer from Monogram's mesa melodrama mill. It is somewhat short on outdoor action, and the plot too frequently is permitted to proceed pawkily. In majority of oat-opera situations, film probably will find itself braced by stronger fare toplining marquee.

Star is still in same old stride—a Fed marshal ordered into a lawless cowtown to clean it up. Not unexpectedly, he does, aided chiefly by a slow grin, a drawl and a quick-draw. He has so many heavies to dispose of, it gets pretty monotonous watching him drop 'em in saloons; several more chases should have been sliced into footage.

Brown's habitual humorous sidekick, Raymond Hatton, sifts in his customary blustery bits of broad comedy, and Tristram Coffin weighs in strongly as store-suit villain. Picture has far more pulchritude than usually sighted in a sagebrush saga—Claudia Drake, Christine McIntyre and Reno Blair. Latter is a crusading gal newspaper editor, others are dancehall denizens. But the single-purpose hero hasn't time for dallying with such fripperies. Veteran villain-portrayers such as Marshall Reed, Terry Frost, Lynton Brent and Frank LaRue put some sinews into story's telling.

Producer Scott R. Dunlap graced this one with better than average trappings tossed to his Brown series. Director Lambert Hillyer did adequately on whole and only critical shaft to which he is vulnerable is lack of enough robust action. The hosses hardly earned their hay. Harry Neumann, an old hand at this, knowingly framed what his camera was assigned to catch. Vin Taylor's sets definitely merit a mention.

PIONEERTOWN TO GIVE 'MESSIAH'

Plans to produce Handel's oratorio, the "Messiah," were announced yesterday by Pioneertown Corp., in amphitheatre of its acreage near Yucca Valley in San Bernardino Co. Pioneertown is corporate name of group of film personalities which include Russell Hayden, Sons of the Pioneers, Frank McDonald, Tom Carr and others. No date yet has been set for presentation, which is announced as first of series of annual stage productions.

"Messiah" also will be filmed in color for release in both 35m and 16m, it was announced. Group is negotiating with Alfred Stury, who produced and directed offering in Chicago, to take over as director.

ELLINGTON BILLED BY AGVA FOR EXTRA ACTS

American Guild of Variety Artists yesterday made representations to Duke Ellington, demanding that batoneer pay three acts, used on his unit show last week at Million Dollar, for six performances which exceeded weekly maximum permitted by contract between union and theatre. AGVA assertedly is acting on complaint said to have been registered by one of the turns on the bill.

Pact between Million Dollar and union calls for maximum of 30 performances in any given week, with acts to get pro rata added pay for each show beyond limit. Ellington put on 36 performances during seven-day stand ending Monday, with comedy twain of Patterson and Jackson, singer Albert Hibler, and terp twosome Jesse and James getting paid for standard number of shows only. Ellington booking was package deal, with leader hiring specialty acts himself and being responsible for their salaries.

New York, July 11.—Herbert Erlanger, former Warners supervisor over all legal matters in Europe, joined Motion Picture Export Association today to handle group's legal problems. He is now on terminal leave from the Army.

Marsha Hunt To East

Marsha Hunt will leave for New York July 28 to start work as femme lead in "Carnegie Hall," Boris Morros' production to be filmed entirely in the east. Film is Miss Hunt's first as a freelancer since leaving Metro.

Talk Marathon

Claude Rains enacted the longest unbroken scene of his career yesterday for Warner Bros.' "Deception." The Rains dialogue ran for six and one-half minutes, which is more than half a standard reel.

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: "Kiss the Blood Off My Hands," the British shocker by Gerald Butler, got the kissoff from Eagle-Lion. Brynie Foy sold the property to Charles Feldman for $10,000, same price as he paid for it . . . Van Heflin's wife, the former Frances Neal, enters St. John's hospital in Santa Monica tomorrow. She will give birth to her baby by Caesarian section . . . Anne Baxter, who had been crocked for two months for her role in "The Razor's Edge," has been notified by 20th-Fox she will have to cut short her Colorado honeymoon with John Hodiak and get back on the grog July 17 . . . An old military gag came to life for Lauritz Melchior recently. At a reunion of former Danish guardsmen, with which the singer was once an officer, Melchior staged a drill in his backyard. He gave the commands in Danish and everything was going fine until they marched toward the swimming pool. Melchior forgot the Danish word for "Halt!" Finally he cried, "For heffin's sake, stop!" but not before a few of the hussars fell into the pool . . . Jack LaRue is cutting short his Canadian film career to return to Hollywood for a role in Paramount's "My Favorite Brunette." He made one picture in Toronto and had been asked to play in another . . . Rehearsing on "Night and Day," Warners flacks were going through a stack of stills from Cole Porter's "Leave It to Me," the Broadway musical which brought Mary Martin to fame. Under a parka in the "Eskimo" number they spotted a familiar face—Gene Kelly. Yes, the same feller.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: The Loew-Lewin outfit barely (and we do mean barely) missed a lot of trouble with their art contest held in connection with "Bel Ami." They staged a competition among 11 prominent artists and Albert Lewis signed a contract agreeing to use in the film the painting on "The Temptation of St. Anthony" selected by an art jury. And the studio execs shook and shivered while the jury tried to decide between the entries of Max Ernst and Paul Delvaux. When the judges finally gave the award to the Ernst entry Lewin's sigh could be heard in Long Beach. For the Delvaux painting displayed three life-sized nudes so thoroughly nude that any picture in which they were filmed would have had to be released on the stag smoker circuit . . . Political note: Stewart Deighton, who ran for U.S. senator and later for governor in Utah several years ago, is now working on the Enterprise lot as a laborer . . . Geraldine Brooks had to learn to ride for her role in "Cry Wolf," was thrown by her horse, got right back on again. But driving a car is different with Geraldine. She hasn't worked up courage to take her second driving lesson because she nicked a fender the first time . . . Postcard from William Boyd reads: "There are billions of Browns, jillions of Johnsons, smytries of Smiths and bevies of Bill Boyds—but there is only one 'Hopalong Cassidy' and he is WILLIAM BOYD. Thanks for aiding in clearing up the confusion." Thanks, Bill.

CALL SHEET: LINDA DARNELL has reserved a block of 25 seats for wounded vets from various hospitals in the area for the "Anna and the King of Siam" preem . . . OSCAR RODRIGUEZ, ex-Marine employed in Columbia's wardrobe department, will receive the proceeds from a benefit game to be played by the Columbia baseball team and Lockheed Aircraft . . . MYRA McKINNEY, now playing in RKO's "Beat the Band," will have her new cookbook, "Feed the Brute," published shortly . . . JEAN LOUIS, chief fashion designer for Columbia, returned from a trip to Paris yesterday with the news that the Parisian fashions are "created in a mood of nostalgia, attempting to capture the days prior to the outbreak of the first World War" . . . RICHARD BARBEE, Loew-Lewin accountant on "Bel Ami," took 12 hours flying instruction, made his first solo flight, immediately bought himself an Aeronca . . . LEO GUILD, Warners flack who authored "You Bet Your Life," will autograph copies of his book Saturday afternoon at the Readers Library on Hollywood boulevard, with Jane Harker, Warners starlet, assisting . . . KENNETH FRIEDE, publisher of Screen Guide, will present gold statuettes to Clark Gable, Van Johnson and Margaret O'Brien tonight at a dinner at Atwater Kent's home . . . WENDY DAY, daughter of Clarence Day, Jr., who wrote "Life with Father," was cast in the film version at Warners yesterday. She's 14 and has the red hair traditional in the family . . . TOM D'ANDREA, actor-writer, now under contract to Warners, will present his musical revue, "A World of Laughs"—whose initials add up to A.W.O.L.—in Los Angeles with all-GI talent.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: With the usual trepidation, Stanley Kramer, Story Productions veepee, sent Taylor Caldwell a copy of the screenplay written from her best-seller "This Side Innocence." Yesterday he got a wire from Miss Caldwell reading: "It's wonderful. Wish I'd read it before I wrote the book." Don Attlinger wrote the screenplay . . . Dickie Tyler, juvenile who scored in "Tomorrow Is Forever," has been signed for Moss Hart's new play on Broadway this fall . . . Pat O'Brien is going to save money on his role in "Mr. Fix." He's a chain smoker of cigars on and off screen in the RKO picture now in production . . . OFF THE LOTS: The William Gargans tossed a party in their Bevhills home. June Haver showed up with Bob Stack at Ciro's one night, with Dave Rose at Sportsman's Lodge the next . . . George Strock, Life photog, renewed acquaintance with Carl Shattuck, now a Republic driver and one of the Marines he photographed in the South Pacific in 1942, at the valley studio . . . Charlie Einfeld's moved into his new Colonial style offices at Enterprise . . . Elizabeth Taylor will take her pet chipmunk, Nibbles, and her cockateel with her to London this summer. Some fauna, eh, kid? as a certain wit expressed it . . . Oran Nance yucked mightily over this one. Chief Shortcake had been missing from the reservation and the Indian agent stopped by his wigwam and asked his squaw what had happened to him. "Shortcake dead," said the madam. "Well, what did you do with him?" demanded the agent. "Squaw bury shortcake."

INDIE STATIONS IN IMPASSE ON PAY NEGOTIATIONS

Hoped for settlement of wage dispute between indie stations and Local 40 was tossed for loss again yesterday. International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers rejected second counter offer of broadcasters, notifying them by wire that union's standing by its 25 to 40 per cent hike. Managements had offered 25 per cent hikes on two top groups of stations and 18 per cent for lesser three.

Rejection followed membership meeting of union's broadcast unit at Cartoonist Hall. Broadcasters had answered union deadline of 5 p.m. Wednesday with second, and what's believed to be last offer. Entire group of managers will meet again today to discuss latest refusal, and it's likely matter will be carried over until Monday now that opposing sides are again negotiating after two months of impasse.

Keith Beckwith Quits Col To Eye Own BO

Seattle, July 11.—Keith Beckwith, who has been identified with motion picture distribution in Seattle for thirty years, has resigned from the sales staff of Columbia Pictures here to devote his time to his own theatre interests. He is associated with Walter Seale of Spokane in the Ritz theatre there; the new Motor-In theatre at Millwood, the Rialto in Hillyard, and is also interested, with Seale, in the new Ritz theatre in Moses Lake, soon to open. With his wife, Beckwith has a theatre at North Bend. He will remain in Seattle, booking for his group of theatres.

Col Pfd. Dividend

New York, July 11.—The Columbia Pictures board of directors today declared a quarterly dividend of $1.06¼ per share on $4.25 cumulative preferred stock, payable August 15 to stockholders of record August 1.

Universal takes great pride in presenting

Walter Wanger's

Technicolor production of Ernest Haycox'

Saturday Evening Post story and novel,

"CANYON PASSAGE"

One of the truly great motion pictures in the American tradition.

The distinguished producer of "Stagecoach", "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine" and other noteworthy interpretations of our nation's magnificent heritage, now brings to the screen a sincerely dramatic saga of the pioneer struggle to conquer the great American Northwest... a motion picture destined to take its place with such films as "Cimarron", "The Covered Wagon" and "Union Pacific" in the hearts and minds of the American people.

The seersucker season we're passing through, rarely conducive to ratings higher than a cat's ear, again offers proof positive that the best shows of all come from out our way. Our yardstick for "best" is the Hooperating or maybe you have a better index? Commend us to the programs most people listen to. Topping the Monday list is Screen Guild Players with 10.5, off 1.2, and Tuesday's leader is "Man Called X" at 9.8, up .3.

Others took the count thusly: Jackie Coogan 4.2, up .6; Lum and Abner 2.5, off 1.4; "Date with Judy" 8.1 (no change); Encore Theatre 6.3, off .6; "Evening with Romberg" 7.7 (no change); Fred Waring 7.6, off 2.9.

Couple of ex-Iowa boys, Meredith Willson and Wayne Tiss, were whooping it up, as only Iowans can, and the sparks flew from this electrified conversation piece.

Tiss: "Are the acoustics good?"

Willson: "Yes, the acoustics is good."

"They ARE good, you say?"

Willson: "I said they IS good."

And you know what? The guy's right.

WB Shows History of Sound in Two-Reeler

"Okay for Sound," the Warner Bros. two-reeler commemorating the 20th anniversary of the first successful public showing of talking pictures on August 6, 1926, will be given the widest distribution of any short subject yet released by the studio.

Film, shown yesterday in studio projection room, vividly traces the amazing transition and evolution of the sound process from 1926 to studio's most recent production, "Night and Day," which will be given its local preem at Warners Hollywood on August 1. In addition to U.S. distribution, film is also being dubbed in French, Spanish and possibly Italian. The documentary short also will be made available as a narrow gauger for 16mm circuits, schools and colleges.

MERCURY TIES UP LANGFORD

Frances Langford yesterday was pacted exclusively for platters by Mercury Records. Warbler last waxed for ARA, cutting away about three months ago in dissatisfaction over not getting as many releases on sales stalls as she thought contract warranted.

First discing by Miss Langford for new label will be recorded on July 21, when Jimmy Hilliard, Mercury's waxing chief, arrives from Chicago headquarters. In addition to supervising Miss Langford's cutting of four sides, Hilliard will also stage sessions with Tony Martin, Anita Ellis and Milton DeLugg ork during his week on Coast.

Brenner Sets Latin America Look-See

Richard J. Brenner, assistant regional director for Latin America of Loew's International Corp., leaves Monday for inspection tour of all Metro sales offices and theatres under his supervision. Brenner will start in Puerto Rico then tour for six months in Latin America.

KLAC KNITS BONDS WITH KYA BY DISCOUNT OFFER

Definite business ties have been established between stations KYA, San Francisco, and KLAC, here, via discount being offered agencies and advertisers if they buy time on both outlets. Five per cent salver is come-on Thackrey stations are using as bait, though denying talk that network operation between twain is imminent. Such a plan, however, is not regarded as impossibility and is known to be nestling in noggins of management.

For some time pair have, under generalship of Don Fedderson, g.m. and v.p., been working toward closer cooperation. Sales have been consolidated under Dave Lundy, who operates between pair, as does Fedderson. Last week Adam Young, Jr. agency was appointed national sales rep, with offices in Chicago and New York, replacing former separate representation. Two are also definitely aligned on operation policies and activities in virtually all departments are coordinated.

Special line between two is now in operation carrying morning stock reports from San Francisco for simultaneous broadcast in both places. Horse race features have been piped north from here. However, both stations will probably get strong local build-up first to insure position. Northern station is now on application for power boost and it's probable that KLAC will also seek a boost in near future.

By RADIE HARRIS

Milton Sperling, who has been having his headaches trying to find a leading man for "Pursued" (United States) can put the aspirin back on the shelf. He's "John Hancocked" Fred MacMurray . . . After looking at Geraldine Brook's rushes on "Cry Wolf" the Front Office decided she was young emotional dynamite, and lifted her option pronto—which means that Michael Myerberg, who was waiting for her in Ogunquit to play the femme lead in his try-out of "Balloon" will now have to find another ingenue . . . Add more Bev-Hills arrivals to make the lobby look like a process shot of NY: The Paul Hollisters (Carol-Irwin), Constance Hope, Fred Sammis, Lillian Waldman, Patricia Harris and the Dan Golenpauls . . . Claire Trevor will tackle "Dark Victory" at the Laguna Playhouse in one week's rehearsal, with Robert Milton, who directed the original Broadway production starring Tallulah (you don't need her last name because as she admits herself there's only one Tallulah!) helping Claire hurdle this terrific job . . . Bob Taplinger and Sonja Henie have finally caught up with each other . . . Now that 20th-Fox has made all that publicity splurge on the pronunciation of Nancy Guild's name (to rhyme with wild), they're gandering her Jane Russell appeal and thinking of switching it to rhyme with build!

ADD IT'S A SMALL WORLD DEPT.—or these are the kind of long arm of coincident stories I like: Twenty years ago, a play tagged "Swiftly" opened on Broadway. In it, a young, struggling actor made his stage debut at the munificent sum (for him) of $40. But the director thought he was overpaid—that's what he thought of his future in the theatre. The curtain is now lowered 20 times to denote the lapse of 20 years and the scene shifts to Hollywood and the Columbia lot, where this same actor and this same director have caught up with each other professionally for the first time since then. And if Humphrey Bogart hadn't strayed from the home lot for "Dead Reckoning," it is doubtful whether he and John Cromwell would have ever worked together again.

P.S.: Cromwell thinks the "creep" has something now, and is deserving of the salary tilt he is getting!

THE EGG AND ME: Betty MacDonald and her brood—husband, sister and two offspring—returned to Seattle last night, leaving behind one of the most favorable impressions of any lit'ry light, who has visited these Hollywoods in a long time. Although she's now an author of "International" importance, she's going back to her farm and lead exactly the same kind of life she led before she transformed an "egg" into Claudette Colbert, and in the process hatched basketsfull of golden ones for herself. Why, she isn't even going to sit on her royalties in a mink coat!

"I bought a shirred beaver and thought it very elergernt," she told me over eggs (natch) at a terrace breakfast," and then I got to NY and discovered the only way to be exclusive is to own a cloth coat!"

In between managing all her own household chores, she'll complete her next novel for Lippincott, already skedded for the book stalls in the fall of '48. This one will be autobiographical toc—about her experiences in a tuburcular sanatorium, where she was a patient four years ago. Only instead of treating the subject in the usual serious vein, hers will be as gay and humorous as she was all during her treatment. She'd like to call it "In Bed We Laugh," but she doesn't want to leave herself wide open for the same kind of capsule criticism that greeted another w.k. authoress who wrote a book with a similar title. It was heralded as "In Bed We Try."

SCOOPING AROUND: Roz Russell, testing for "The Hasty Heart," had to miss the cocktail party held in her honor, following the Ambassador prevue of "Sister Kenny" (RKO). But, her spouse, Fred Brisson, was on hand to collect all the raves on her brilliant characterization. Which reminds me that next week, Fred will announce his plans for an indie set-up, with Jack Gaige already tagged to make his directorial debut . . . Sights you don't see when you stay home: Ingrid Bergman, doing the samba at Mocambo, and incidentally, her medico husband is just as agile with his feet as he is with his surgical hands . . . Kay and Groucho Marx have the name "Melinda" all picked out for their heiress, due any cradle now, so "she" had better not turn out to be a Marx-man! . . . Howard Reinheimer, the busiest barrister around, back to NY until Aug 1, while his Elly and two sons ignore the eastern heat at the Garden of Allah . . . Never saw so many Hedda Hopperish chapeaux as at Lou Smith's "Club-by" party for milliner Sally Victor. But the prettiest gal there was Martha Vickers, who came hatless! . . . Ed Wynn is now dunking in his own swimming pool on Crescent Drive . . . Joe Bigelow is at the Roosevelt, where all those huddles with Tony Stanford are to try to persuade him to return to J.W.T. in the NY office . . . Credit Moss Hart with this one: He's just heard of a new problem play in which a colored girl wants to marry a colored boy!

named veepee of International, checks into company Monday to start new chores. All six of the films are earmarked for UWP distribution and are part of the 10 International films to be released next year. The first two, "The Dark Mirror" and "Bella Donna" have already been completed.

The Nat Goldstone-Milton H. Feld package deal, "Bloomer Girl," will tee off the last half of the year's production program. Film is slated to roll around August 12. Balance of the slate includes "The Egg and I," starring Claudette Colbert; "Ashenden," a Joseph Sistrom production; "The Exile," with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., as producer-star; "The Story of Ivy," the Sam Wood production; and "Mr. Peabody and the Mermaid," to be produced by Nunnally Johnson.

Awards for Scribes

Fred R. Sammis, editorial director of Photoplay, announced that screen writers have ben added to the list of Photoplay Gold Medal Awards, starting with this year. Annual presentations, made on basis of Gallup poll, have not been inclusive of writers up to now.

NEXT LOUIS FIGHT SET FOR TELE

New York, July 11.—The Louis-Mauriello fight scheduled for the Yankee Stadium Sept. 18 may be the next big television blow-off. Arrangements are indefinite but it is almost certain NBC, through standing engagements with Mike Jacobs, will televise it, with Gillette sponsoring, same as with the Louis-Conn bout.

NBC and Gillette have a year's contract with Jacobs, covering weekly fights from Madison Square Garden, but the Louis fight probably will be a special event requiring a a special contract.

CHI RELEASE PLAN HIT AS CONSPIRACY BY FEDERAL COURT

findings were applicable in plaintiff's current litigation to have release system abolished. Other rulings were jury findings in the original Jackson Park case in March, 1945, and subsequent affirmation by Supreme Court in February, 1946. Defendants in case had argued this was an entirely different case and prior decisions did not apply.

CITES CONSPIRACY

In his findings, Judge Igoe said: "Defendants have knowingly entered into a combination and conspiracy to fix minimum admission prices in successive runs, and contracts, license and agreements shown in evidence as to clearance, playing position and licensing of pictures by exhibitor defendants are an integral and inseparable part of such conspiracy, and said conspiracy and combination is evidenced by the so-called Chicago system of release."

Thomas McConnell, attorney for plaintiff, said that Judge Igoe's decision would eventually result in the death of the Chicago release system, elimination of fixing prices at theatres, and the privilege of buying pictures at auctions.

DECREE AUG. 20

In entering his findings of fact and conclusions of law, Judge Igoe requested McConnell to prepare a final decree to be presented in court Aug. 20, after which defendants will have 20 days to file an appeal.

Defendants are RKO, Loew's, 20th-Fox, Vitagraph, Balaban & Katz, Warner Bros., Circuit Manager Corp., and Warner Bros., Theatres.

Anti-Trust Action By Louisville Theatre

New York, July 11.—Anti-trust suit in New York Federal Court today was filed by Albert Hoffman, operator, and the Fifth and Walnut, Inc., owners of the National Theatre in Louisville, against Metro, Paramount, RKO, Warners, Universal, Republic, United Artists, Columbia, Loew's Booking Agency and the UA Theatre Circuit, charging them with illegal conspiracy to build up a first run monopoly in that city. Paintiffs seek $700,000 triple damages.

Permanent injunction restraining defendants from licensing any theatre on terms more favorable than those granted the National is asked for. The action claims that defendants established illegally uniform clearance of 60 days over second run houses and 30 days over houses catering to exclusively colored patronage.

FILM AIR JUNKET OFF TO 'CANYON' PORTLAND PREEM

First of the big postwar premiere film junkets takes off this morning for Portland from the Lockheed Airport. Sky trippers head north to attend opening of "Canyon Passage," Walter Wanger Technicolor production being released by Universal, in Portland tomorrow night.

Two-day celebration is scheduled for the 35 stars, news and trade paper correspondents making the junket. Events include parades, a western barbecue dinner and other entertainment. On the list of those leaving today are Walter Wanger, Joan Bennett, Jess Barker, Peggy Ryan, Hoagy Carmichael, Lou Costello and 20 press representatives. Others attending left yesterday by train.

Group returns Sunday night.

10 IA LOCALS ARE GIVEN NEW DEALS AND 25% RAISES

Deals provide same 25 per cent general wage increase secured last week through united action of all AFL studio unions in negotiations arranged by Roy Brewer.

NO LAB WORKERS DEAL

Laboratory Technicians, Local 683, was not included in the agreements, following failure of local's representatives to agree on equity adjustments averaging 52 cents an hour and rates for various classifications. One in controversy was that of positive technicians. Producers offered wage increase from $1.28 to $1.80 an hour, but local held out for $1.94. Under producers' propposal, minimum rate in labs would have been $1.40 and foremen on flat salary would receive a flat 25 per cent jump. Failure to agree means negotiations are stymied until after the Chicago convention.

Negotiations for Local 44 were also continued until after the convention. Local was dissatisfied with the effect of the 36-hour week on take-home pay for members now receiving 54 hours pay, but producers insisted upon making 36-hour week general in the industry because of necessity of placing all other crafts on that schedule.

COSTUMERS GET 25 PER CENT

Members of Costumers Local 705 who are on a weekly basis will receive 25 per cent increase while hourly workers will receive equity adjustments well above the 25 per cent. Other locals covered by agreement are Studio Projectionists, Local 165; Studio Technicians, Local 468; Studio Grips, Local 80; Make-Up Artists, Local 706; International Photographers, Local 659; Sound Technicians, Local 695; Studio Electricians, Local 728; First Aid Local 767; Film Editors, Local 776. Deals all go to individual memberships for approval.

Passing of Loan Saves U.S. Pic Mart in Britain

Washington, July 14.—House of Representatives passage of the British Loan Bill yesterday leaves the film industry breathing easier. Failure of the loan to get through would have resulted in largely cutting off the British market for U.S. films.

Eric Johnston and other industry toppers have been actively plugging for the loan, with Johnston even appearing before Congressional committees when they had it under study. D.C. reps of the large studios have had one eye on Capitol Hill during the past week while the House debated the measure.

MARTIN SETS GROVE MARK

Freddie Martin has smashed his all-time figure for drawing power at the Ambassador's Cocoanut Grove with a score of 108,520 individual cover charges for the first six months of 1946.

Figure is almost 10,000 covers over the previous mark set for an equal amount of time from January through June, 1945. At that time, Martin established a mark of 99,089 covers, which was untoppable for spot of equal draw and size. Martin has been holding down the local spot for over four years.

FCC OKAYS AUTRY RADIO

Washington, July 14.—Gene Autry, the singing cowboy, is a principal in the Old Pueblo Broadcasting Co. of Tucson, Ariz., which today won an FCC construction permit. Station will be a 250-watter and operate on the 1450 kc band.

Erskine Caldwell, playwright and film writer, also got in the radio picture at Tucson. Caldwell is v.p. and minority stockholder in the Cataline Broadcasting Co., which received a permit for a local watter there.

FCC also okayed the bid of the Sun Country Broadcasting Co. in Tucson for a station on 1490 kc, 250 watts.

Hughes Shows Improvement; Definite Gain in Life Fight

"Definite improvement" in Howard Hughes' condition was reported yesterday by the sportsman-producer's physicians at Good Samaritan hospital. Focal point of his fight for life is whether the fluid in his crushed left lung remains uninfected, Dr. Verne Mason said.

Hughes was cheered over the weekend by a telegram from President Harry S. Truman stating, "I feel sure you will win this fight."

The injured lung cannot be drained at present because of serious burns to his chest, Dr. Mason stated, pointing out that "when only one lung is functioning there is a heavy strain on the heart. Anything can happen, but Hughes has great stamina and resistance." The physician added that Hughes has been "fully conscious" except for brief intervals of sleep, ever since the plane crash eight days ago.

One of the doctors speaking to an associate at the hospital said, "Howard's coming through ok." This statement coupled with the optimistic official bulletin aroused strong hope for the recovery of the film producer who has been fighting for his life for the past eight days.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

TWENTY years ago this autumn, Major Albert Warner was trying all over Denver to get one of the theatres to permit installation of the Warner Bros. gadget called Vitaphone. He pointed to the success of the showings in New York of "Don Juan," and argued his belief that talking pictures were in. Turned down at one theatre after another, he finally heard of a store-room next door to a small drugstore in the wrong part of town. He went to the druggist, and leaned against his pill-rolling bench as he was making prescriptions and asked him to permit the building next door which was owned by the apothecary to be wired for sound and converted into a theatre. Warner's argument was that it would be good for his soda fountain to have some traffic in the immediate neighborhood. With some reluctance, the pill-packer agreed, but only after the Major agreed to book the film, assume the expenses of operation, and share in the income, if any. Today, the uneasy prescription filler is part owner with Fox Inter-Mountain of the theatres in Denver and is the city manager there. His name is Harry Huffman.

PLANS are now being made to rush Metro's "The Beginning or the End" to the nation's theatres at the earliest possible time. Government officials, military and scientific leaders have evinced great interest in the atom picture but emphasized fact it should be presented to world-wide audience immediately upon completion. It is believed that the film will give people their clearest understanding to date of the atom bomb and its potentialities. With two weeks of filming still before director Norman Taurog, plus final editing and scoring, it is now expected that the picture will be released by early October. Film has had top priority at the studio ever since it was placed into production.

TWENTIETH-FOX has no intention of typing Nancy Guild, Arizona co-ed who co-starred in "Somewhere in the Night" for her first screen appearance. Actress, in first film, played a self-assured, composed individual who won plaudits for her smart acting. In "The High Window," her second picture, she does an about-face and portrays a neurotic, unsure of herself, a character at other extreme from role she made her film bow. Studio plans big build-up for blonde star who has been compared with Lauren Bacall, but is making sure there will be no further resemblance to Warner actress by casting her in as varied parts as possible.

SPECIAL lamp has been designed and perfected by Mole-Richardson, with high light levels used in color photography in mind. Lamp is reported to cover a greater area with more light than any other lamp ever built commercially. It is being used for first time for filming of Hal Roach's "Here Comes Trouble," photographed in Cinecolor, a 225-ampere super-high intensity arc light with a Fresnel lens.

COMET'S change of title on its "Miss Television" to "Susie Steps Out" came from poll of exhibitors and sales force by United Artists. Majority opinion was that the name "Television" in any film tag was not marquee allure. Therefore the change to "Susie Steps Out," even though producers Buddy Rogers and Ralph Cohn believe that they will be first out with a feature showing television procedure.

PORTLAND GOES H'D FOR A NIGHT AT 'CANYON' PREEM

Portland, July 14.—"Canyon Passage" premiered at Broadway theatre last night climaxing hectic two-day celebration in this "City of Roses." Portland hospitality rivaled Hollywood exploitation and proved a success on all counts.

Theatre seats for two premiere performances were gone long before United Air Lines Mainliner landed at Portland and delivered Hollywood passengers into hands of natives. On Friday film players made two theatre appearances and then copped bows at Press Club of Oregon before calling halt to crowded day.

GETS H'WOOD TRAPPINGS

Universal gave premiere of Wanger production all trappings of Hollywood first night. Brought here for preem were Wanger, Joan Bennett, Yvonne de Carlo, Lou Costello, Peggy Ryan, Jess Barker, and Hoagy Carmichael. Also taking stage bows and getting in Paramount plug were Ray Milland and Mitchell Leisen.

Friday featured grand banquet at Multnomah Hotel attended by Governor Earl Snell and Ernest Haycox, author of "Passage." Saturday saw awarding of degree to Haycox by Lewis and Clark College, buffet luncheon at author's home, visit to Indian village in Chapman Park Square, a parade that would have done Hollywood proud and then preem.

MAXWELL SPURNS PLANE

Portlanders were denied look at Elsa Maxwell until Saturday afternoon. The professional hostess who reportedly received $1,800 as mistress of ceremonies for the film junket didn't arrive until 11 p.m. Friday. Train wreck near Medford, Ore., held up journey. Miss Maxwell refused to ride special plane sent to get her, preferring to make six hour auto ride as guest of governor. Her failure to be at airport to greet arriving celebrities gave Portlanders who had waited in the heat for long overdue plane a good laugh. A big limousine emblazoned with C's name drew up to field. Crowd rushed over to view party giver. Inside were two fat squaws who mightily resented the identification.

IN REAR DOOR

After the Maxwell strikeout, one filmster remarked that Elsa had come into pictures at the wrong end, tripping from Zanuck to Warner to Wanger and offered a bet that she never would get to the middle of the alphabet.

He added that big gal might be all right as hostess for Mike Romanoff as she knew what ought to be worn when, but allowed as how her chore for Wanger was a complete waste of coin.

Elsa did get a good word however, for her knowledge of where to get food in the days of the black market. One associate recalled how she had served a breakfast of ham and bacon during UN meeting, at a Frisco hotel, which had not seen either of the smoked meats for many months.

Hollywood group wings for home and a much needed rest at 11 a.m. today, completing the first big postwar film junket.

Pete Dailey, studio publicity head; Ted Bonnet, Harry Friedman and other members of the Universal publicity staff were credited with a well-organized junket which saw to every need and pleasure of the stars and press.

Cary Grant in Russell, Nichols New Indie Setup

Formation of Independent Artists, Inc., new multi-million dollar indie production outfit, was completed over the weekend. New setup is headed by Frederick Brisson in conjunction with Rosalind Russell, Dudley Nichols and Frank W. Vincent, agency topper. Although not formally announced, Daily Variety learned that Cary Grant has a financial stake in the combo.

The new indie setup is mapping a production slate calling for ten top-budgeted productions over a five-year period. Five of the slate will have Miss Russell in starring chore. Actress will make one picture a year for the five-year term. Grant is slated for at least one starring picture, it was learned, with negotiations currently being conducted with name players for remaining four films.

Nichols will hold down dual chore of writer and director in the new company. He will divide his time between RKO and IA and is slated to write several screenplays for the new company in addition to directing a minimum of one film annually. Brisson, who a little while back was discharged from the Army as lieutenant colonel in charge of radio propagnda for the Air Forces, had considerable experience as a producer in England prior to the war. More recently he has been associated with the Frank Vincent agency.

Negotiations are now under way for studio space and distribution setup. Understood that RKO figures prominently in the discussions, with outfit shooting at that studio and releasing through that company. Temporary offices of the company are located at 242 No. Canon Drive, Beverly Hills.

'Stolen Life' Steals 86 Added Dates

"A Stolen Life," Bette Davis starrer, joins the select group of Warner Bros. record hold-over attractions. Studio, over the weekend, disclosed that the film has been accorded extended playing time in 86 out of its 92 engagements.

'Holiday' Trade Show

Metro will trade show "Holiday in Mexico" Wednesday afternoon at the Belmont theatre. Showing also will afford the press the opportunity of inspecting the recently renovated showcase, which will be the fourth house to be added to local show case group for Metro first-run films.

'Calendar Girl' Home

"Calendar Girl," Republic high budgeter, is shooting at the studio today for the first time. Picture, under Producer-Director Allan Dwan, started on location at Columbia ranch last week.

Lund Gets Lead in 'The Wayfarers'

John Lund has been handed a starring role in Paramount's "The Wayfarers." Harry Tugend will produce the filmization of the Dan Wickenden best seller. Actor was signed to a Paramount contract by Henry Ginsberg on the basis of his performance in the Broadway production of "The Hasty Heart."

Pair for Tripoli

Broderick Crawford and Dona Drake were signed over the weekend by producers-writers Michael Fessier and Ernest Pagano for featured roles in Universal's "Flame of Tripoli." Film rolls Thursday with Charles Lamont handling directorial chore.

Patterson in Lead

Shirley Patterson signed over the weekend by Robert Emmett Tansey for femme lead in "Drifting River," final film in the Eddie Dean action musical for PRC release.

Par Links its Tele and Films In Guinea Pig Plugging Test

Paramount has effected tieup of its film and television activities in preparation for and to test methods of commercialization—with itself as guinea pig. Starting tomorrow night series of regular programs are planned in which Par players, props, materials, etc. will be worked into special program tentatively titled "Movietown Backstage." Current releases will be plugged in dialogue and through use of talent and productional effects from picture concerned.

Initialer in video programming is "Blue Skies," Bing Crosby starrer. Olga San Juan will be televised demonstrating colorful costumes and other film dressing, from feature, assisted by Edith Head, Par designer. Picture plugs will be worked into the commentary. Second in series may be Marjorie Reynolds, plugging "Monsieur Beaucaire." Generally, in followups, attempt will be made to telecast behind-the-scenes phases of film production, accenting scheduled releases.

Another departure in programming will also be made tonight when W6XYZ goes on full week schedule of telecasts, departing from its present part-time activities. Television Productions, Inc. (Par) has made tie up with Pan-Pacific Aude's current home show and will spot Farnsworth receiver at exposition for reception of its programs.

Station telecasts from 7 to 10 p.m. Monday; 8:30 to 10 p.m. Tuesday; 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday; 8:30 to 10 p.m. Thursday and 8:30 to 9:30 p.m. Friday. Saturday and Sunday may be added to continue until expo closes July 21. In addition to regularly scheduled shows, special boxing bouts and test pictures will be flashed.

Mack, Gene Stutenroth, Karl Hackett, Jack Clifford, Daral Hudson, Dick Alexander, Wallace Scott, Chief Yowlachi.

PREVIEWED at Warners Beverly Theatre, July 12, 1946. Running time: 92 MINS.

"Canyon Passage" looks like the outstanding outdoor-adventure picture making job of the year to date. The film would be sure box office as a color travelogue of the Oregon Rogue River country alone. Add to this a story of the thrills and hardships of frontier life, depicted by a top cast, and the result is an evident smash hit.

Dana Andrews, Brian Donlevy and Susan Hayward head the list of players and are responsible for the greater part of the romantic interest. Miss Hayward, as the girl Andrews and Donlevy both love and who is engaged to Donlevy, gives a convincing portrayal, and Andrews' deadpan style of acting is used effectively in the role of the tough, generous-hearted and restless pack-train and store operator who is the leading adventurer of the yarn.

Donlevy, with a thinner part, crowds Andrews for acting honors in the role of a luckless gambler, irked by the crudities of frontier village life. Donlevy's weakness forces him rapidly down the scale through embezzlement of miners' gold entrusted to him to murder. Andrews sticks by him to the end, even stifling his love for Miss Hayward because she is engaged to Donlevy.

Donlevy is in danger of lynching and Andrews is in a tough spot trying to protect him when an Indian uprising suddenly demands the full attention of the villagers.

The Indian attack follows on the killing of an Indian girl by Ward Bond, the heavy of the piece. Bond's work is one of the high lights of the film and top thrills of the show are his brutally realistic barroom fight with Andrews and the scene in which he seeks refuge from the Indians and is mercilessly driven back into their clutches by his fellow settlers.

Andy Devine puts on an excellent performance as a settler on an isolated farm and gets able support from his two youngsters, Tad and Denny, making their picture debut in this film.

Patricia Roc, borrowed for this picture on Universal's "lend-lease" player deal with J. Arthur Rank, fits surprisingly well into the American scene and is fully equal to the demands of her part as the girl Andrews almost marries.

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: A few flashes of life in Hollywood during the summer doldrums, or horse latitudes—Clark Gable buying horses at the Riviera Club for his Arizona ranch and letting the rest of the world and Metro drift by. Leroy Prinz, who put in many a rugged year interviewing chorus girls as a dance director, now viewing all types of mongrel dogs for his next Warners short subject, "The Trial." Harve Fishman, the radio Quiz Kid and columnist for the Chicago Times interviewing another juvenile intellect, Elizabeth Taylor, who's also 15 and who has authored a book as well as gracing Metro pictures. Frank Borzage wondering if history will repeat itself if he does a remake of "Bad Girl," with Catherine McLeod in the lead; it brought fame to Jimmy Dunn, Sally Eilers and himself about 15 years ago . . . Mark Hellinger is enthused over the showing Sonny Tufts and Ruth Warrick have made in the leads of "Swell Guy" and is looking for another story in which to team them . . . Dorothy Malone, Warner actress, took off for a three-week stay in Dallas, where her mother is undergoing a major operation . . . Helmut Dantine made himself popular in the Warner flackery by writing the boys his thanks for their kindnesses while he was under contract at the studio . . . Happy birthday to Barbara Stanwyck tomorrow . . . J. Arthur Rank is negotiating for Otto Kruger to play the lead in Madeleine Carroll's first picture since she entered war work . . . Frank Lloyd and family took off for Walker Lake in the Sierras on a ten-day hunting and fishing expedition.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Bob Hope, back on the old home lot, sauntered on a Paramount sound stage where "The Emperor Waltz" is shooting and remarked to Bing Crosby, the temporary Tyrolean, "I hear you're yodeling now. Well, that's an improvement" . . . Ray Milland is also back on the varsity, returning to Paramount for "Golden Earrings" after a three-month vacation. Only job he took on during his first vacation in a couple of years was teaching his six-year-old son, Danny, the finer points of fishing . . . Shortages File: Veronica Lake and her husband, Andre de Toth, brought back a hand-operated washing machine made in 1861 from the "Ramrod" location in Utah . . . How prolific can you get? Joseph Wechsberg's novel "Homecoming" hit the bookstalls this week, and the current Saturday Evening Post and Esquire are carrying his articles . . . Aboriginal fashion note: A shot in "Canyon Passage" shows an Indian maiden swimming around a forest pool clad in a slightly anachronistic Hollywood swim suit . . . OFF THE LOTS: The Pat O'Briens, Joan Crawford and her two children, Christopher and Christina, at the Beverly Hills Club. Hugh Herbert and William Newell at House of Murphy. Jane Withers and Dean Harens at Biltmore Bowl. Natalie Schafer and Louis Calhern at The Players. The Lou Levys, Ella Mae Morse and Peter Potter, Jo Stafford and Paul Weston, at Meadowbrook.

CALL SHEET: FREDERIC MARCH, having completed his role in Goldwyn's "The Best Years of Our Lives," hopped a rattler for Connecticut to rest up for his return to Broadway this fall . . . FREDDY MARTIN mailed platters to the trade as invites for the pre-opening party for his Ambassador hotel Record shop. His secretary, Jean Barry, wrote a set of lyrics to "Tonight We Love" for the waxed invitations . . . THORNTON DELEHANTY, NY Herald Tribune's Hollywood correspondent, returns from his vacation today . . . JANE FRAZEE, playing the lead in Republic's "Calendar Girl," will be just that next year in most of the nation's barbarshops, pool halls, barrooms, offices. She's posing for Zoe Mozert, who made Jane Russell "mean, moody and magnificent" on theatre posters, for Brown & Bigelow's 1947 calendar . . . LON McCALLISTER left for the Kanab, Utah, location of "Bob, Son of Battle" over the weekend . . . HERBERT STOTHART'S Canadian vacation won't be all play. He's going to attend The Pardons festival in Quebec to gather material for a musical sequence backgrounding "Sacred and Profane" at Metro . . . RAYMOND CHANDLER'S "The Blue Dahlia," produced by Paramount, may give the writer his second award for the year's best mystery picture. At George Marshall's dinner for the writers they also discussed the possibility of an Academy Award for the best whodunit . . . RILEY BRYAN and his talking dog were photographed by Life while entertaining at the Wadsworth Veterans hospital.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Parmount newsreel scored a 24-hour beat on release of the Bikini atom bomb shots. At the reel's first showing at the Hollywood Paramount, the projectionist decided to make the bomb's explosion as realistic as possible. He switched the soundtrack on full blast and almost knocked the customers out of their seats . . . Lou Nova, who once proved that even Yogi doesn't work against Joe Louis, has become a song-and-dance-man in "Calendar Girl" . . . Bill Meikeljohn, Paramount's top talent scout, is being profiled for Maazine Digest by Helen Colton . . . Reconversion note: Jan Savitt is searching for his tenor sax man, Jack Raymond, who went into the service four years ago and hasn't been heard from since . . . Ella Mae Morse has moved into Ann Sheridan's old home . . . Ozie Waters, who cuts discs for Coast Records, has been signed for a pair of Columbia pictures . . . Jackie Cooper and Dick Quine returned yesterday from a Big Bear fishing trip . . . Script of "No Trespassing" called for several antimacassars for one of the interiors. By the time McClure Capps, art director, had explained what an antimacassar is Al Seeger, prop man, was sweating profusely. Seegar is now known as "Auntie Macassar" . . . The Gag-Writers Protective Association has instituted a Humor Hall of Fame and a campaign against people who besmirch their profession with insulting gags. And that's no gag.—D.D.T.

GERSHWIN MUSIC, WHITEMAN BATON JAM H'WOOD BOWL

George Gershwin's music filled the Bowl to overflowing Saturday night, with Paul Whiteman's presence on the podium undoubtedly contributing to the customers' onrush. Program consisted of the expected songs from the rich and memorable catalog of the late composer, and Whiteman extracted the most from the symph ork semi-circled under his baton. The arrangements were all familiar and were of the full, vibrant sort designed to do justice to wealth of melody characteristic of Gershwin jazz.

Jo Stafford never was in better voice. Her renditions of "Man I Love," and "Can't Take That Away From Me," aroused ovations. Johnny Thompson tenored and during the finale dueted with Miss Stafford. Earl Wild was soloist on the 88 and though his "Rhapsody in Blue" was something slightly less than exciting, his keyboard-fingering was adequate in the main. The finale, medley from "Porgy and Bess," was marred by fact the mixed choral group scanned the lyrics off sheets. Warblers might have learned the words, at least.

Truman Bradley read a most fitting and rather moving eulogy of Gershwin as a forepiece. Now an established event, the Gershwin Memorial concert will be followed this Saturday by a salute to Jerome Kern, and if the Hollywood Bowl-brains are acute, they won't overlook a recently departed lad named Vincent Youmans, who also was known to have notched a few notes in his time.

Sam Nathanson Forms New 16m Company

Sam Nathanson, following resignation from Planet Pictures as sales head, has formed Constellation Pictures for production and distribution of 16m product. Maurice Goldman, V. A. George and Mary Alice Scully are associated in new company. Initial release will be "Sundown Riders," all color 16m western, starring Russell Wade and Andy Clyde.

FCC STYMIES CBS MOVE TO GRAB TELE BANDS

Washington, July 14.—Move by CBS to present testimony in support of grabbing off television channels 5 and 6 for FM broadcasting was nipped in the bud here Friday. FCC blocked the network's newest play to discourage low-frequency video to help FM during course of oral argument on the FCC proposal to reserve one out of every five FM bands for later use.

After refusing to let CBS testify on the question of disturbing present TV and FM allocations, acting FCC chairman Charles R. Denny nixed a motion by net v.p. Joe Ream to defer decision on the reservation plan until a hearing had been held on the CBS proposal to enlarge the FM broadcast band.

Ream, in a press statement, declared that the two television channels alone would add 60 more slots on which FM stations could operate. In other words, as he explained it, by taking away from television only 2 and 1/3 per cent of the spectrum space it has, you could increase opportunity for commercial FM by 75 per cent.

Anticipating the CBS move, Col. William Roberts, spokesman for the Television Broadcasters Association, opposed what he called a "move by one segment of the industry" to upset television allocations.

USO Vets Form Unit For Outposts Tour

Group of veterans of the overseas circuit of the USO-Camp Shows, comprising a six-act variety unit, will leave latter part of this week on a six-month tour of scattered military outposts. They will spend the first two months in Alaska and the rest of the time in South America. Roy Mack, West Coast director of USO-Camp Shows, rehearsed the unit, which includes Betty Yeaton, Francine Faye, Murray Parker, Chesney and Lola, Sterling and Silver, and Dick and Dinah.

LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

It is one of the pleasureable duties of a pillar filler to record the advancement of one from the ranks wholly deserving of such recognition beyond the mere call of duty. Such a one is Bob Ballin, whose elevation to a vice presidency of Ruthrauff & Ryan and associate director of the Hollywood operation was made by Bourne Ruthrauff & Merritt "Pete" Barnum just before they shoved off for New York. For the past two years producer of the Jack Benny show, Ballin has endeared himself to all in the trade since he came to the Coast but that's the way of solid troupers. Before branching off into radio, he was a song and patter man in vaude (and good, they tell us) and has climbed the ladder rung by rung.

After a period of writing and producing his own shows in the east he swung over to R & R four years ago and was assigned the production of "Vox Pop." He did so well with the Q and A boys that when Benny and Luckies came into the house he was the logical choice to handle the show. He had proven that a producer can be both amiable and capable and still do a job. It would not be surprising if Benny, grateful for his competent aid and direction, had something to do with Ballin's advancement. To know Jack conjures up such speculation. It is a happy coincidence that Nate Tufts, who will share the operation with Ballin, also won recognition with the agency through his skilled handling of "Vox Pop," long one of the firm's solid accounts but since drifted. The trade will be as happy to learn of Ballin's ascension to the agency's executive ranks as we are to give it this length of type it deserves.

The law of gravity worked in reverse for Kay Kyser and after taking the highest dive in Hooper history (opposite Louis-Conn fight) bounced back and retrieved most of his lost points. Latest report (out today) gives him a pickup of 8.3 on the first half and 7.3 on second 30 for ratings of 10.3 and 9.5. Best normal gain was made by Academy Award Theatre, spiraling 4.1 to 7.8. Dave Rose's "Holiday for Music," also a victim of the big ring busteroo, posted 4.2. Rest of the list sagged, to wit: Bob Crosby 4.1, off 1.1; "Dr. Christian" 8.9, off .2; Lum and Abner 1.9, off 1; "Sad Sack 5.1, off .5. "McGarry and His Mouse" opened with 5.5. On the Wednesday list the ratings read like this: Dick Haymes 4.3, off 3.3; Meredith Willson 4.1, off 1.5; Kraft Music Hall 5.4, off 2.5; "Phone Again Finnegan" 4.2; "Suspense" 7, off 3.8.

Chain breaks . . . Don't be surprised if (1) Ford buys Dinah Shore this weeks and drops Bob Crosby, (2) the auto maker has only one show on the air after Jan. 1. Adv. chiefs are earmarking more and more coin for newspapers, magazines and outdoors . . . Clare Olmstead sounding the prospects for fall after departing the McCann-Erickson fold. Neil Reagan pro temming the Hollywood operation . . . Is Paul Warwick really on the level about his recording venture or is it just an in to something better? As a starter he'll record highlights of top comedy shows to sell over the counter . . . Henry T. Ewald (Campbell &) looking over the town and what may interest him business-wise . . . Joe Bigelow winged back to NY after getting the T. Dorsey show in gear . . . They're still gabbing about Bing's open-end transcription deal in the plushier saloons . . . Standard Oil of Cal. is shopping around for a comedy-mystery show to supplement the symphony . . . Kay Kyser's baton on the summer shift will be shared by Art Linkletter on four shows, Jack Haley, two and possibly Jack Benny for the seventh . . . More calls around town for Mark Hellinger's platter of "Fourth Estate" than any in recent months . . . Bill Robson set aside a day last week for interviewing new talent. He is hopeful that one out of the 30 cuts it . . . You'll want to be at your radio next Saturday at 2:30 and tuned to KHJ. Coming out of your loudspeaker will be a 30-minute defense of his "Hucksters" by Frederic Wakeman under an interrogating volley on the program, "The Author Meets the Critics."

There being such lively interest in television in the wake of the fine reports on the Louis-Conn telecast, we betook ourself to one of the better receiving sets in the vicinage to note video's progress along our own slopes. Two weeks ago we caught Don Lee's swimming exhibition and style pageant around the pool on W6XAO's mountain top. Last Friday, on the same set, we viewed two boxing matches sent out by W6XYZ from the Paramount lot. Avoiding technical pitfalls, we shall report only on the clarity and definition of the relative images and general production values. The Don Lee exhibit was consistently the better of the two. Action was photographed clearer, production far superior and the screened images of better quality. Why a narrator was used to describe the blow-by-blow when they were before our eyes, in a misty way, is beyond our ken. Cameras at times were out of focus and repeated pickup of the bell after each round proved nothing. We're skipping over the Don Lee live pickup because it was reviewed after its display. Harry Lubcke wins round one on our card.

Hitch hikes . . . Cass Daley situation comedy format, originally auditioned for Fitch last year and bought on the strength of it but never used, is being refurbished for fall sale. Plattered with the comedienne was Adolph Menjou. Were television farther along there'd be a Crosby-ish rush for the apple of Frank Kinsella's eye . . . Two of Eddie Cantor's ex-gagmen, Joe Quillen and Bobby O'Brien, may turn their talents to Joan Davis next season, along with Nat Linden . . . Don't sell Mutual short on the Bing Crosby-General Motors wax works if the deal is finally wrapped up by Foote, Cone & Belding. Finalizing process gets under way this morning with the return of John O'Melveny, Bing's biz counsellor. Decision will also be reached this week on the format for Don Ameche's Drene show, with arrival of Procter & Gamble bigwigs.

HAMMETT'S 'SPADE' GIVES LISTENABLE SUMMER FARE

Dashiell Hammett has run the gamut; he's on bookshelves, screen and now the ether, where ace whodunit director, Bill Spier, masters "Adventures of Sam Spade," as summereplacer for Woody Herman's Wildroot Co., show. Both author and producer are toppers in the adventure-mystery realm, according to their talent and media. Combination produces, therefore, plenty listenable fare for fans of such, albeit sharply contrasting the less subtle but no less stimulating maestro Herman.

Howard Duff's essaying of title role was slightly overplayed. However, that may be excused as attempt to forthrightly establish the laconical sluefoot title character. Others in capable cast lend convincing support in dramatized reenactment of events which are blended with Spade's narrative. Method of presentation is dick-dictated report to secretary combined with fades into action. All of familiar formula, slugfests, intrigue, suspects, mystery, etc., are there and deftly molded with typical humor. It'll do.

Lighton Back From Arizona Vacash Chore

Louis D. Lighton returned over weekend from three months at his ranch in Arizona. Producer checks in at 20th-Fox today to resume contract there, next picture to be "The Black Rose," based on Thomas Costain's best-seller. Lighton, during his absence, has been working on preparations for picture which Talbot Jennings will script. Latter arrives today from New York to start writing stint.

Ely Levy to NY

Ely Levy, Columbia studio foreign department head, planed to New York over the weekend. He will spend two weeks in business conferences at the home office.

Darrell in 'Heldorado'

Steve Darrell has been signed for role of lead heavy in Republic's "Heldorado." Roy Rogers tops cast of the Las Vegas backgrounded film.

Hull in 'Miracle'

Henry Hull has been signed by Benedict Bogeaus to a featured role in the Bogeaus-Meredith production, "A Miracle Can Happen."

MARTIN, LOMBARDO NIX SHIFT DEAL

Long-bruited deal, which would shift Guy Lombardo into Freddy Martin spot at Coconut Grove and Martin into Lombardo niche at Roosevelt hotel, NY, this winter, definitely is out. It is understood Music Corp. of America fostered idea, but maestri nixed. Lombardo has played Roosevelt during past 14 winter seasons; Martin is in fifth solid year at the Grove.

There is still a possibility MCA may get Lombardo into the Ambassador, some time late this summer or early autumn, whenever Martin decides at what time he will take annual four-week vacation. MCA has a picture bid for Lombardo, which band could chalk off concurrent with substituting for Martin.

RADIO DIRECTORS PLAN TO MERGE WITHOUT AFL

New York, July 14. — With or without approval and charter from American Federation of Labor, separate Radio Director Guilds here, in Chicago, Hollywood and Washington, D.C., will unite nationally. Being stalled now by AFL, following objections voiced by Joe Weber, honorary prexy of American Federation of Musicians and AFL board member, Guilds are determined to amalgamate in united national front for strength.

Weber's refusal to go along with other assenting AFL board members stemmed from voiced concern over directors' authority to cut scripts, including music. He wants idea of chartering and unification of Guilds studied carefully. Other theatrical unions and trade groups have all given nod to RDG but work threat posed by directors has AFM, officially or otherwise, demurring. Reported that local 47, Los Angeles, is going along with AFM and has ignored Guild's pitch that local 47 send approving letter to AFL as other unions have.

If necessary Guild here may abandon its present Federal charter which AFL issued some time ago to New York group alone. If aligning with non AFL-affiliated groups in other cities local outfit would of necessity be obliged to exit association with AFL. Deal might then be sought from CIO or Guild would remain independent.

OUT OF THE HORN'S MOUTH

Ella Mae Morse will disc first sides of a new Capitol Records album today.

Stan Kenton band will cut four more sides for Capitol Records on July 25.

Peggy Lee set over weekend for vaudate at Paramount, NY, opening Aug. 28.

Diana Lynn tomorrow will cut two sides of her projected pianology album for Capitol Records.

Jack Fina's newly former ork will do its first waxing under new pact with Mercury Records on July 24.

Bibletone Records, which specializes in religious platters, has pacted Stamps Quartet for series of revival songs.

Franz Waxman today starts scoring Warner Bros.' "Nora Prentiss," Ann Sheridan - Kent Smith - Robert Alda starrer.

The Carolina Play Boys have made a Sonora recording of "Let's Be Sweethearts Again," published by Peer International.

Jack Biermann, of the Mello-Larks quartet, will have his own plane this fall and the group will use it on personal ppearance tours.

Spina-Green Music Co. has made deal with London firm of Campbell-Connelly, Ltd., to handle distribution of songs in Great Britain.

Duke Ellington, currently one-niting upstate, set for week at Orpheum, San Diego, opening July 23. Stanza at Golden Gate, SF, follows.

Len Zissu, counsel for Screen Composers' Association, arrived from his NY office over weekend for series of huddles with pic cleffers' group.

Jack Denny, ex-batoneer and until recently a booker with Frederick Bros.' act agency, has joined the McConkey agency to head up ork and picture dept.

Bill Coty, who has been Coast rep of Broadway Music Co., has quit and today starts repping Oxford Music Co. locally. Oxford is newly formed subsid of Santly-Joy.

Sigmund Romberg planes out tomorrow night to guest conduct Robin Hood Dell orchestra in Philadelphia Thursday and New York Philharmonic Saturday. Planes back next day for regular Tuesday NBC airshow here.

Armendo Orefice, one of the founders of the Lecuona Cuban Boys orchestra, has organized his own outfit, which will be called Armando and his Havana Cuban Boys. Orefice will have his headquarters here at Ralph S. Peer's Southern Music Company.

Busch To Conduct Capitol Musicals

Lou Busch set as arranger and conductor of musical aggregation Capitol Transcriptions will assemble to wax musical comedy numbers. Transcribery figures itself to have sufficient number of varied dance bands plattered and is stepping into musical and salon brackets. Classical group will also be set up soon though leader is not yet set. Frank De Vol, musical director for Cap, will supervise operations of both groups.

PANELS PROPOSED TO SETTLE IBEW CLAIM ON INDIES

Panel discussion of wage dispute between indie broadcasters and International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers will be proposed to union today by managements. Idea was adopted by 12 station managers who called special meeting Saturday in law offices of Dean Johnson, following collapse of negotiations between opposing sides. Union refused for second time to accept broadcasters proffered 25 per cent hike and reiterated its position as being 30 per cent boost.

Talks had been going on between negotiating committee, comprised of Bob Reynolds, prexy of Southern California Broadcasters and g.m. of KMPC, Cal Smith, of KFAC, Lee Wynne, of KGER, Johnson, and with Roy Tindall repping union.

With second impasse, managements want to increase their number by adding Larry McDowell, of KFOX, and Don Fedderson, of KLAC. Union will be asked to form panel of six, recruited from its executive council and from among broadcast technicians unit of IBEW's Local 40, to reopen entire matter for discussion from beginning over two months ago to present time.

Heavy 'Beauty' Plug

"Black Beauty" is set to open Labor Day at Victoria Theatre in New York. Edward L. Alperson picture will get heavy exploitation campaign by 20th-Fox, which will release.

McMANUS NAMED HEAD OF THREE WB THEATRES

John G. McManus, manager of Warners Hollywood theatre, has been named supervisor of circuit's three local first run houses, Hollywood, Downtown and Wiltern, in a realignment of Pacific Coast division executives and theatre personnel. J. R. Rodgers has been appointed to supervise neighborhood and out-of-town theatres in California, under changes announced by L. J. Halper, zone manager.

Supervising all Warner theatres in the Pacific Northwest will be Lew Pressler, headquartering in Washington. William Hendricks, former manager of the Downtown here, becomes head of exploitation in the divisions public relations office. Allan Karf takes over the Hendricks spot at the Downtown and Leo Hirshon has been named manager of the Wiltern.

Other Coast changes include Joseph O. Kelly, resident manager of the Elsinore in Salem, Ore., Charles Clark, manager of the Capitol in the same city, Earl V. Jones, resident manager of the New Bijou in Aberdeen, Al Schreiner, resident manager of Hoquiam, in Hoquiam, Washington. Other managers continue in present posts.

Field Joins Galaxy

Arthur W. Field, recently discharged from Army, has joined Galaxy Productions, new transcribery, to handle production of plattered radio shows. He was former deputy director in Adjutant General's office and was discharged as colonel.

Radio Hawkshaw

Tom Hotchkiss, newscaster on KGER, has been labeled the newshawk Hawkshaw following police recovery of an old man amnesia sufferer after one description announcement over former's program. Robert D. Chamberlain, 80, wandered from Long Beach home. His frantic family, after three days of futile searching, asked station to make announcement. Five minutes after Hotchkiss aired description a woman shopper in San Diego called police with info that the man sought could be found at certain local market in Diego from whence she was calling.

BERGEN, CUNNING ROLL TELE PIC

Edgar Bergen and Patrick M. Cunning started their initial television production, "Bergen's Barnyard," over the weekend. Three new dummies, "Effie" and "Sarah," the tele-chickens, and "Willie the Worm" will be introduced in the production. The actor will record the voices.

The show is being made on Telecine with Cunning directing. Latter is using a new tele-miniature technique and a new-type television camera. Show will run ten minutes and will be the first in a projected series. Bert Wrench, Metro foreign cutting department foreman, is editing the show and Anatole Robbins is in charge of the makeup.

PUBLICISTS! DON'T LET 'EM KID YOU!

HERB SORRELL IS NOT AN ISSUE!
THE PAINTERS UNION IS NOT AN ISSUE!
THE ONLY ISSUE IS THE IATSE!

The only issue in Friday's NLRB election is whether Hollywood publicists are to be represented by the IATSE — or by a union of their own.

Within a matter of days after winning the election the SCREEN PUBLICISTS GUILD will be operating INDEPENDENTLY within the A. F. of L. as a federally-chartered union.

Its members have voted in favor of this move and the Painters International has agreed to our withdrawal.

We'd have an A. F. of L. federal charter today if the IATSE had kept out of this brawl. The A. F. of L. was ready to issue one months ago—but the IA chose that moment to hand out a publicists charter of its own. The A. F. of L. then refused to mix in an intramural dispute.

BUT ONCE ALL PUBLICISTS ARE UNITED IN THE GUILD, THE A. F. OF L. WILL ISSUE US A FEDERAL CHARTER!

This charter will give us the independence that experience has taught us we need . . . independence WITHIN the A. F. of L., but with the full support and backing of the A. F. of L. This kind of independence more than outweighs the objections previously raised to a federal charter.

Obviously, we don't belong in a craft union — either the Painters or the IA — however much we appreciate the assistance that certain of the crafts have given us in the past.

The choice Friday is NOT between two craft unions. It's between one craft union—the IA—and an unaffiliated federally-chartered publicists union —the SCREEN PUBLICISTS GUILD.

With nothing else to sell you, the IA is trying to narrow the issues down to Sorrell vs. Brewer.

DON'T LET 'EM KID YOU!
IT'S BREWER vs. PUBLICISTS!

METRO TUNES WILL BE RELEASED FAR AHEAD OF FILMS

Prior to departing for NY home office yesterday, Abe Olman, chief of Metro's subsid music pub combine of Robbins-Feist-Miller, stated that hereafter he will regularly visit Coast every three months. Olman says he now holds that he can get "a better appreciation" of songs prepped for films if he talks to composers while they're cleffing the compositions and sits in on rushes of pictures in production. His idea is that being on scene enables him to better plot promotions of songs and spot releases of them.

Olman also declared that hereafter Robbins-Feist-Miller firm will release songs from Metro product four months ahead of release of films. His conclusion is that the pubs require that amount of time to bring build-up of ditties to a bloom to coincide with freeing of the footage. This decision obviously was reached by Olman after lengthy huddles with Metro studio execs and will put a stop to the dilemma studio long has labored under in never definitely deciding when to release picture tunes.

SIEGEL BUDGETS $2,700,000 FOR THREE INDIE PIX

Dave Siegel, back from New York, yesterday announced overall budget of $2,700,000 for trio of indie pictures he will produce.

First to go will be "Empress Josephine," with rest of program to be "The Band Played On," and "Where Are We Now." For "Band," Siegel will be associated with Sid Grauman, Ken Murray, Jack Oakie and Marie Wilson. "Where" is story of Pappy Boyington, which Siegel recently acquired.

Siegel talked with number of distribution outlets while in east, but will not make any commitment until later, he announced.

trust division, said in a statement:

"A published report stating that the Department of Justice contemplates requesting changes in the decree outlined by the New York District Court in the motion picture case, has absolutely no foundation. It would not be proper procedure at this stage of the case for the Department to make such a recommendation.

"The Department will accept any suggestions from producer, exhibitor and distributor groups on the subject of securing compliance with the decree, which according to the outlined decree will be left up to the government."

Latter part of the statement means merely that under section 8-B of the decree, the anti-trust division must police the selling plan laid down by the court.

Robert Wright, in charge of motion picture cases for the anti-trust division, meets here Thursday with MPTOA execs to go over provisions of the court's orders. Wright also expects to confer with spokesmen for the Allied States Exhibitors, probably this week.

Associated Plans Platter Shows

San Francisco, July 14.—Associated Broadcasters (Universal Broadcasting Co., in Hollywood), is preparing to enter transcription business with plattered shows and possibly a musical library. It's also possible that material plattered would be used as production basis for Universal regional network which will cover Pacific slope.

Network is still in formation stage, connecting KXLA, Los Angeles, with KSFO here. Other stations up to Washington will be added. In Hollywood, Universal operates ostensibly as recording plant for outside jobbing.

Knox to Act, Write In 'Indian Summer'

Alexander Knox signed over the weekend for starring chore in RKO's "Indian Summer." Actor also will collaborate with Boris Ingster in writing the screenplay from latter's original yarn. Ingster, in addition, will direct and Michel Kraike will produce under the supervision of executive producer, Sid Rogell. Film is slated to go before the cameras early next year.

Bombay Filmindia Editor Visit Due

Bombay, July 14.—Baburau Patel, editor of Filmindia, yesterday announced plans of visiting Hollywood in October. Editor will visit Warner Bros. and make a studio-wide survey during his stay.

McDowall Encored

Westport, Conn., July 14.—Roddy McDowall's fire portrayal in "Young Woodley" here brought him a return engagement for July, 1947. The deal was set by Wynn Rocamora.

have been written into the show and are an important contribution to its interest. Dorothy Peterson, Stanley Ridges, Fay Holden, Lloyd Bridges, Victor Cutler, Onslow Stevens, Rose Hobart, Halliwell Hobbes and Wallace Scott are all entitled to special mention for their work — with the rest of the supporting cast earning a word of praise.

Walter Wanger and Associate Producer Alexander Golitzen apparently haven't missed a bet in presentation and Jacques Tourneur's direction, on the quiet, naturalistic side, accents the drama nicely.

The color job is one of the best and Edward Cronjager can be credited with a camera job that is an important factor in the success of the picture.

AGVA, NIGHTERIES SHOWDOWN SEEN IN FRIDAY MEETING

The ten embattled niteries here, which are opposing American Guild of Variety Artists' demands for posting of cash bonds covering two weeks' salary for floor shows, plus six-day work weeks, probably will have a showdown with union on Friday. On that date Max Sisenwein, who has been retained as attorney to rep clubs, will session with Arthur Kaye, assistant to national director of AGVA.

Niteries expect that Kaye will not act on his ultimatum of last week, when he notified spots that if they did not come to terms by July 24 he would jerk shows. None of ten spots involved, Ciro's, Trocadero, Slapsy Maxie's, Charley Foy's, Larry Potter chain, Florentine, Earl Carroll's, Bar of Music, Band Box and Tom Brenemans, believes the troubled waters will have been oiled by that date, and over weekend each site declared stand is adamant.

Sisenwein stated last night that he will approach Kaye with thought that niteries he represents are established businesses and that cash-bond demand is ''unwarranted.'' He also will point up fact that contracts now existent between AGVA and sites contain cash-bond clause, but that union has always waived stipulation. Another pitch will be that none of the ten niteries grouped for fight ever has failed to pay off a performer or ever has been whistled up on carpet by union for breach of contract. Sisenwein's idea is that AGVA would be justified in exacting bonds from newly established sites, but situation should remain static with long-known operators.

FOUR LEGIT SHOWS GRAB 135G FOR WEEK HERE

''Bloomer Girl,'' which collected $51,000 for the third stretch at the Philharmonic. ''Oklahoma'' held down the place position, snagging $38,000 for the 10th week at the Biltmore. ''Two Hearts in Three-Quarter Time'' bowed into the Greek theatre and garnered $27,500 for the initial stanza of the Hollywood Starlight Theatre Association season in the fresh air.

Figure represents less than production's nut, but is heartening for a first week of the new venture.

Ken Murray's ''Blackouts of 1946'' took in standard $17,000 for the 212th frame at El Capitan.

All spots, with the exception of Biltmore, stated the take might have been bigger had not Hollywood Bowl opened this week. But even there, the thousands paid plenty over the hardwood to listen to music, giving LA a straight cleff parlay.

RKO's Garcia Off For Venezuela

New York, July 14.—Antonio Garcia, RKO manager for Venezuela, left by plane yesterday for his headquarters in Caracas. While here he conferred with home office execs and attended company's 15th annual sales meeting.

SAG MOVES TO TAKE IN TELEVISH

Screen Actors Guild yesterday announced appointment of committee to investigate full problem of jurisdiction of talent in television. Move may precipitate prolonged battle between SAG and other artist unions, and was probably motivated by apparent increased interest and activity in video, plus an attempt to hypo Associated Actors and Artists of America which has had problem under advise-

UA CHARGES BO FRAUD

New York, July 15.—United Artists today filed fraud action in New York Federal Court against several corporations asserting false box office receipts on percentage pictures licensed to the Delmar and Dorset theatres in New York. Targets of the action are Harry A. Harris, Harris Theatrical Enterprises, Convent Theatre Corp., and the Dorset Amusement Corporation. Defendants are charged with fraud from the time they took over control of the showcases involved starting January, 1940.

UA, simultaneously, asked for an injunction restraining the defendants from destroying, concealing, or altering their financial records. Suing company also wants judgment in amount considered fair by the court.

LAST YEAR PAYOFF IS DOUBLED

Washington, July 15. — Film industry dividends appear still headed toward an all-time high. Melon for May, just announced by the Department of Commerce, was a fine $1,061,000, as compared with only $329,000 for May, 1945.

Dividends for the three months period ending May 31 hit a boff $9,308,000, contrasted with $4,692,000 for the same period last year. Big current figure was sparked by RKO's first common stock dividend — almost $900,000—in May; and by the $1,800,000 Warner dividend in April.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

HENRY Hedane, Colortone Prod., was a color lighting expert in New York drafted by Sam Warner, of the Warner Bros., to help with the introduction of Vitaphone 20 years ago. Hedane not only attended to lighting problems, but like Sam, odd-jobbed in all phases of wiring and equipment installation. Sam, immediately after the "Don Juan" hit in New York, set forth to missionary the rest of the theatre world for sound. Second place to get it was the Globe, Atlantic City; third the McVickers in Chicago. Sam set his sights on St. Louis for the fourth, and there entered into negotiations with Charles Skouras, and his brothers, George and Spyros, who had the exhibition situation in hand there. Under Sam's eloquence, they gave in, and offered him a 600-seater called the Colony, according to Hedane. There was no time to redêcorate, or fix fading and torn upholstery. Hedane did the best he could by renting seat covers to throw over all the seats to hide the evils of wear and tear. But, he was a lighting expert, and there he saved the day. To make up for lack of paint and cleaning, he unscrewed all the 40-watt bulbs from the lighting fixtures and replaced them with 10-watters which dimmed the theatre's interior sufficiently to hide the rest of the faults.

AS the trend continues on indie producing setups extending participation deals to name players, producers, directors and writers, major studios, it is indicated, may be forced to meet the competition by doing likewise. Back of the trend, of course, is the tax situation. The past year or so has seen top talent in all departments leaving their home studios upon expiration of their contracts and entering into profit-sharing deals, primarily with loner organizations. Exodus is resulting in a heavy blow to marquee strength of the majors' product. Already some of the latter have made like deals with top talent and the trend is only beginning. Only alternative is to develop new stars and directorial talent, but some of the majors believe latter procedure may prove, in the long run, to be too slow and costly.

WAR of the classics is on for sure now with fourth local station, KLAC, making pitch to Hollywood Bowl to cover Bowl program. Newcomer is said to be offering Bowl choice time in early evening to combat KGFJ's longstanding classical session in those hours. With latter now making strong bid to set itself locally as "toney" station, it looks like real battle will ensue. Already KMPC and KFI are covering the Bowl, in addition to other classical music activities, and others may enter the hightoned handicap.

TRADE is wondering if delay in granting power boost of 50,000 watts to KMPC by Federal Communications Commission stems from report that WJR, Detroit, also owned by G. A. As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

Jimmy Byrnes makes it plain that in his opinion the delay in writing peace treaties for Europe is not so much because the Big Four cannot agree, but that the Russians fear they would appear "weak and soft, if they agreed without an argument on anything we wanted, even though they wanted it too." Byrnes made two attempts to change this Russian procedure, one in telling them that this sort of thing increases suspicion and produces differences, and the other in laying down a virtual ultimatum on the centralizing of German finance, transport, communications, trade and industry. He's telling General McNary to get agreement on such centralization with any nations that will agree, as promised at Potsdam, and if any refuse we'll know where to put the responsibility.

KORDA TALKS DEAL WITH SELZNICK; SIGNS NEVIN

Alexander Korda has begun distribution-production talks with David O. Selznick, it was learned yesterday simultaneously with the fact that the British film topper has definitely signed David Niven, via loan-out route from Samuel Goldwyn, for starring chore in "Bonnie Prince Charlie." Latter film is to be made at Korda's Sound City studios in England.

Korda met with Selznick and other film personalities aboard a yacht chartered by Selznick over the last weekend. Burgess Meredith and Warner Bros. director John Huston were among those aboard the yacht entering in the discussions. Selznick, on and off during the past year, had been reported talking distribution deal with Goldwyn. With Korda, currently anchored on the Goldwyn lot and working on a joint production-distribution program with Goldwyn, talking the same line with Selznick, conjecture centered on a possible Korda-Goldwyn-Selznick combo.

With Selznick, like Goldwyn, having a heavy roster of name players under contract, understood that Korda is driving to gain some Selznick stars via loan-out route. Selznick, too, has ambitions to produce in England and basis of deal, it was learned, may be use of Korda's studio facilities in London.

LEGIT OPENING

"MARY HAD A LITTLE"

San Francisco, July 15.—"Mary Had a Little," the Al Rosen farce with Edmund Lowe and Mary Brian at the Curran theatre tonight, had little enough as drama but its hodge-podge of corn, hokum, strip-tease and off-color gags should net it a good box office. It will have to attract civilians instead of servicemen chasing a lear which paid off so well in the previous Rosen production, "Good Night Ladies." Show is more burlesque than comedy drama, acting is adequate and the production is fair.

Sister Kenny

(Drama)

RKO RELEASE. Producer and director, Dudley Nichols. Associate producer, Edward Donahoe. Screenplay by Dudley Nichols, Alexander Knox and Mary McCarthy. Based on "And They Shall Walk" by Elizabeth Kenny in collaboration with Martha Ostenso. Photography, George Barnes. Special effects, Vernon L. Walker. Art direction, Albert S. D'Agostino and William E. Flannery. Set decorations, Darrell Silvera and Harley Miller. Music by Alexandre Tansman. Musical direction, C. Bakaleinikoff. Sound, Earl A. Wolcott and Clem Portman. Assistant director, Harry D'Arcy. Dialogue director, Jack Gage. Rosalind Russell's costumes, Travis Banton. Film editor, Roland Gross.

CAST — Rosalind Russell, Alexander Knox, Dean Jagger, Philip Merivale, Beulah Bondi, Charles Dingle, John Litel, Doreen McCann, Fay Heim, Charles Kemper, Dorothy Peterson.

TRADESHOWN at Ambassador Theatre, Los Angeles, Cal., July 10, 1946. Running time: 120 MINS.

"Sister Kenny" comes to the screen as a surprisingly good picture. "Surprisingly" because the story of Elizabeth Kenny, her treatment of infantile paralysis and her fight for recognition by orthodox medical practitioners is the sort of subject a producer is entitled to approach with fear and trembling. Dudley Nichols may have had his doubts and troubles, but they certainly don't show in the finished film, which is all highly effective drama and sure-fire box office. Every scene clicks, the dangers of preachiness and mawkishness are cleverly avoided and the show makes legitimate and successful demands on the audience's tear ducts from start to finish — with enough mild comedy relief to break monotony and punctuate the poignancy.

The picture is a personal triumph for Rosalind Russell and it is her acting in the title role, even more than Nichols' apt direction, that puts it across. There still is a lot of femme acting to be screened between now and the end of the year, but Miss Russell's performance as Sister Kenny is one they're going to have to beat for the Academy Award.

The role is close to being a 120 minute monologue. The supporting cast, to be sure, does excellent work. Alexander Knox, as the loyal physician friend and champion of Sister Kenny, Philip Merivale, as the unyielding opponent of her theories, and Dean Jagger, as the sweetheart she gives up in the interest of her career, all give strong performances but their chief chore is to "feed" the lead role. Action of the picture extends from some time before World War I to recent times and Miss Russell's portrayal runs the age changes from a young girl just starting as an Australian "bush nurse" to a grey-haired aging woman still fighting for official recognition of her infantile paralysis treatment.

That, incidentally, is all there is basically to the story. But out of this simplicity of theme the script on which Nichols, Knox and Mary McCarthy collaborated, develops incident and situation that doesn't let the audience down at any point.

Nichols displays canny showmanship in both production and direction. Technical elements of the film are all skilfully handled and the camera work of George Barnes is keyed to enhance dramatic effect.

The Cockeyed Miracle

(Comedy-Drama)

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER RELEASE. Producer, Irving Starr. Director, S. Sylvan Simon. Screenplay, Karen De Wolf. Based on play by George Seaton. Photography, Ray June. Editor, Ben Lewis. Musical score, David Snell. Sound, Douglas Shearer. Art, Cedric Gibbons and Richard Duce. Sets, Edwin B. Willis and Mildred Griffiths. Costume supervision, Irene. Costume creations, Valles. Makeup, Jack Dawn.

CAST — Frank Morgan, Keenan Wynn, Cecil Kellaway, Audrey Totter, Richard Quine, Gladys Cooper, Marshall Thompson, Leon Ames, Jane Green, Morris Ankrum, Arthur Space.

TRADESHOWN at Westwood theatre, Westwood Village, Calif., July 10, 1946. Running time: 83 MINS.

This fantasy, which has a difficult time making up its mind whether it wants to be a light-touch comedy or a stark drama, goes over ground which is getting increasingly familiar in films—the post-mortem world. There is enough novelty, interest and good acting to add up satisfactorily at the box office. In most situations "Miracle" will find itself teamed with stronger-name fare on double-bills.

Story kills off Frank Morgan shortly after start and at his exit he's a worried man, for he's stripped the family bank account to get in on a real estate deal of which none of kin is aware. Immediately he meets up with his dad, who happens to have died at much younger age. This role is milked thoroughly by Keenan Wynn, who makes it a colorful, faintly roguish character whose presence does much to alleviate the too-cloying effects of the dramatic aspects of the yarn. There is humor inherent in the two dead men strutting around unseen and unheard, trying to prompt the untangling of the complications. Morgan manages to resolve his daughter's romance, get his son the job he yearns for and finally fix it that his earthly pal, Cecil Kellaway, kicks in with the profits on the secret investment. It would have been a tauter, more punchy film if tightened by ten minutes.

Morgan may be said to have over-acted during several of the sequences, and Kellaway was a little too enthusiastic in emoting, also. Director S. Sylvan Simon should have kept pair reined in more tightly. Audrey Totter turned in a quietly convincing portrayal of the daughter, Marshall Thompson was adequate as the son, and Gladys Cooper strikingly strong as the firm-spined widow. Richard Quine made much of the character of an absent-minded suitor, and Leon Ames scored in another of his brusque character roles.

Producer Irving Starr extracted the most from a rather modest budget. Ray June's camera-catching was of an exceptionally high order, particularly the special effects in handling the meanderings of the "ghosts." David Snell's score gave tone and the art of Cedric Gibbons and Richard Duce dressed the production with taste.

Step By Step

(Melodrama)

RKO RELEASE. Executive producer, Sid Rogell. Director, Phil Rosen. Screenplay, Stuart Palmer. Based on original story by George Callahan. Photography, Frank Redman. Music, Paul Sawtell. Musical director, C. Bakaleinikoff. Special effects, Russell A. Cully. Art direction, Albert S. D'Agostino, Walter E. Keller. Set decorations, Darrell Silvera, Claude Carpenter. Editor, Robert Swink. Sound, Jean L. Speak, Roy Granville. Gowns, Renie.

CAST—Lawrence Tierney, Anne Jeffreys, Lowell Gilmore, George Cleveland, Jason Robards, Myrna Dell, Harry Harvey, Addison Richards, Ray Walker, John Hamilton.

TRADESHOWN at studio, July 11, 1946. Running time: 62 MINS.

RKO has a slick, fast-paced melodrama in "Step By Step," a strong supporting feature which should add measurably to Lawrence Tierney's prestige as an action actor and provide plenty of entertainment for the cash customers. Plot occasionally becomes somewhat fuzzy as to purpose, but this fault is more than compensated for by straight-from-the-shoulder characterizations and events.

Story thread has something to do with plan of German General Staff to rebuild its country's lost power, the how and wherefore being lost early in film's unreeling. This in no wise prevents a host of exciting occurrances as Tierney, a recently discharged Marine, becomes ensnarled in a murder perpetrated by several enemy operatives, with blame thrown upon him and Anne Jeffreys, whose presence as a secretary is never entirely accounted for. How pair extract themselves from this very unsavory situation is basis for enough action to please any audience, result being a thoroughly absorbing picture. Story unfolds in vicinity of Malibu, in Southern California.

Tierney turns in a top performance as the fighting Marine and Miss Jeffreys gives excellent account of herself as his running mate in trouble. Lowell Gilmore scores for a suave performance as chief of the espionage agents, with George Cleveland an agreeable comedy foil for furtherance of the plot. Supporting players make the most of their roles.

"Step" chalks up a mark in Phil Rosen's favor, for the moving direction which distinguishes picture. Action never falters and interest is held to a high tempo throughout. Film is a credit to Sid Rogell, too, as executive producer, and Stuart Palmer's screenplay, based on original story by George Callahan, makes the most of colorful situations. Technical Credits are uniformly up to high standard.

HOLDOVERS HOLD FIRST RUN BIZ TO $285,000

First run theatre business is holding up well the current frame in face of heat and holdover bills. Only two new films are screening, "Young Widow" and "Portrait of Maria," which means overall gross on the week will be held to approximately $285,000.

"Widow" shapes up to an average $37,000 at the four Music Halls while "Maria" is slow at slightly better than $3,500 at the Four Star. "The Kid From Brooklyn" shaping up to good $43,500 for its second week at the Pantages and Hillstreet theatres, while third and final week of "Stolen Life" at the Warner houses will close with estimated $44,000.

Combination of "Smoky" and "It Shouldn't Happen to a Dog" is going for good $28,000 for third week at the State, Chinese and Uptown. Bill will add another $6,500 for week at the Carthay. "Easy to Wed" finaled at the Belmont, Egyptian, Los Angeles and Wilshire last night with estimated $34,000 on third week. "Blue Dahlia" closes second week at the two Paramounts Wednesday night with approximately $31,000. Final frame for "The Stranger" at El Rey, Orpheum and Vogue drew estimated $26,500 while second and final week for "Hoodlum Saint" and "Up Goes Maisie" at the Guild, United Artists and Ritz clocked estimated $19,000.

Woody Herman's orchestra at the Million Dollar, with "Dark Alibi" screening, gave the vaude-film house socko $35,000 estimate for week closed last night.

Frank Morgan's new yacht, Dolphin II, makes its first ocean voyage Friday. Alexis Smith was dubbed an honorary Hoosier by the Indiana State Society because she played the wife of Cole Porter in "Night and Day" . . . Ray Milland almost rebelled at Paramount when he learned that he will wear gold earrings in his Gypsy masquerade in "Golden Earrings."

CALL SHEET: IRVING REIS will have his hands full this week directing scenes for "The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer," having picked 350 teen-agers to play in a long sequence with Cary Grant and Shirley Temple . . . JEROME ELLISON, editor of the new Co-Op mag in which scores of well-known writers are turning part-publisher, in a literary version of the film's participation deals, is at the Beverly-Wilshire for a week . . . VIRGINIA COOK, formerly a secretary on the 20th-Fox lot, has sold a short story to Cosmopolitan . . . JACQUES SURMANGE, of Darryl Zanuck's staff, has written the lyrics to Edmund Goulding's song, "I Love Your Naughty Face," which will be featured in "The Razor's Edge" . . . NESTOR PAIVA had the jitters before a scene in "Ramrod." Director Andre de Toth told him to "relax—we're all for you." "That's just it," Paiva said, "I played Squire Cribbs in 'The Drunkard' for 11 years and ever since it's made me nervous to act without being booed or hissed!" . . . HOWARD DA SILVA'S wife and son arrived from New York to find that the only housing he was able to obtain was a hotel room, so they returned to New York over the weekend . . . BILL GARGAN says an oldtimer is one who can recall when a bureau was just a piece of furniture.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Most newspapermen, in their yearning for re-spectability, will tell you that film portrayals of journalists as a pack of Bohemians, quixotics and lovable lunatics are far-fetched and libellous. They claim reporters have money in the bank, have long stretches of sobriety and join Rotary Clubs just like normal citizens. But the "Front Page" spirit isn't entirely stomped out. In a downtown newspaper city room last week, for instance, a lady reporter marched up to the city desk and told one of the whip-crackers, "I don't like the way you changed my day off, Louie"—then proceeded to whack her city editor over the head with a four-foot barracuda . . . Harry James and his band will rake in $25,000 for its one-week stint at the Steel Pier in Atlantic City, which started Sunday . . . Selena Royle, now playing a top role in Metro's "Summer Holiday," is completing her second volume of verse . . . Loretta Young and Tom Lewis have Dr. Frank Fagin, Detroit physician, and his wife as house-guests . . . Ann Savage returned from Reno yesterday . . . Jeanette MacDonald has added two concerts in Scotland to her tour of the British Isles . . . Patsy Gaile of Hedda Hopper's staff is taking a whirl at acting in "The Vinegar Tree" at the Call Board theatre . . . Quaint stage name dept.: In the cast of "Maid in the Ozarks" opening on Broadway is an actress billed as Evelyn Wells Fargo.

CHI FIRST RUNS BIG DESPITE HEAT; 60G FOR 'POSTMAN'

Chicago, July 15.—First run theatre business here is going along surprisingly well, considering the heat. Oriental is still doing top business in town with $60,000 for the third frame of "The Postman Always Rings Twice," with Mills Brothers on stage. Take is aided by an all-day admission pegged at 95 cents. Same is true of "The Kid From Brooklyn" at the Woods with $33,000 on tap.

"To Each His Own" is also mopping up to the tune of $35,000 as is "Renegades," with $23,000 and pairing of "Lover Come Back" and "She Wrote the Book" is doing nice $25,000 at the Palace. Other sweet grosses are being chalked up by "Smoky," with $25,000 at the Roosevelt and "Do You Love Me?" with Vivian Blaine on stage in the third week at the Chicago theatre.

Screen Guild Opens Sales Conferences

New York, July 15.—Series of sales conferences with Screen Guild exchange heads and sales managers from New England states, and New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Michigan opened here yesterday at the Sherry-Netherlands. Robert L. Lippert, distribution head, and F. A. Bateman, western sales manager, are presiding. Sessions end Saturday and Lippert planes for Chicago and Bateman to Pittsburgh.

Mag Reps in Radio

Keenan & Eickelberg, national magazine reps, have launched agency into radio station repping, and start off new field with signing of WOR, New York, and WGN, Chicago. Eickelberg, who was formerly associated with Lewis A. Weiss, of Don Lee, and one-time Mutual Broadcasting System exec, will expand offices here and in San Francisco to handle new phase.

Light 'n' Airy

by JACK HELLMAN

It's a sign of healthy progress, as piddlin' as it might seem, when big time radio dips below the cream line for stop-gap talent to fall in line with the seersucker parade. Were it not for such air-wise worthies as Ted Sherdeman, the two Bills, Robson and Spier, and Joe Rines the summer lineup would be more beaten-up and tired than now assails the eardrums. Drawn from the top layer of AFRA are four stalwarts who long have done yeoman duty just this side of George Spelvin anonymity. Given their big opportunity they're measuring up to the anticipated stature and may yet be names to be reckoned with as stars of tomorrow. They are Herb Vigran ("Sad Sack"), Elliot Lewis ("Hawk Durango"), Howard Duff ("Sam Spade") and Mel Blanc, who'll head up his own comedy for Colgate in the fall. If one of the four makes the grade the gamble will have been justified. Vigran and Blanc look the most promising but don't sell the other two short, either. If what they say about budgets being trimmed next semester carries through and demands are on the modest side, such shows as these have better than an even chance of getting Hooperated with the greats and near-greats when the barrier lifts in September.

What comes natcherly to Joe Rines is writing parodies on things topical. His favorite subject seems to be The Crosby so here's his own set of lyrics to Irving Berlin's "Always."

He'll be on the air Always.
Please, let's all be fair,. Always.
He's the same old Bing,
Merely likes to sing,
He'll remain the King, Always,
Always.
Fall does come around, Always.
Then you'll hear "Ba . . Boo,"
Always.
Not just on some wax,
Not just by remote,
Not just on there live,
But ALL-WAYS.

Chain breaks . . . Herb Sanford has resigned as Coast radio director for N. W. Ayer to return to production and writing. With Ayer for six years and previously for 13 years with BBD&O, he has had writer-producer credit on 25 network programs, mostly dramatic . . . The chips are down on the Bing Crosby-General Motors negotiations and before many more days we'll know whether The Groaner sells automobiles, cheese or petrol this fall . . . "Take It or Leave It" moves to Hollywood for July 21-28 broadcasts with Kay Kyser and Ralph Edwards officiating in absence of Phil Baker . . . LIFE IN HOLLYWOOD

Hottest, busiest and possibly screwiest trailer in Southern California is undoubtedly the portable dressing room outside Stage 12-A on the Warner Bros. lot. It is simply marked: Private Office of Mr. Lindsay and Mr. Crouse. If you had been looking through their open door yesterday you would have seen Howard Lindsay with a gin rummy hand clenched in his right fist, his left fist flailing the air and a wild, amazed expression on his face. Russel Crouse, also with a hand full of gin rummy, was saying quite casually, "That's good. Just what we need." The answer to the perplexed passerby would have been this: In that cramped, unpretentious little office, this year's Pulitzer Prize drama winners not only play gin rummy, they re-write dialog on the spot for filmization of "Life with Father," answer to the names of Buck and Bubbles when Jack Warner calls them, cast the Coast production of "State of the Union," converse via telephone with Paramount exec Henry Ginsberg who will film the play, sign royalty checks on two of their plays in five foreign countries and knock around a few ideas on "Life with Mother."

Public Seeking Old Vic Show Riled by 'Henry V' Legit Ads

Chicago, July 15.—Boxoffice men at the Civic theatre are taking a beating from customers intent on seeing the Old Vic Players, who recently returned to England from New York City. Reason for the confusion, according to the ticket vendors, is the ads for Laurence Olivier's "Henry V," run in the legit sections of the dailies here instead of film sections, which make it appear as though it's a flesh show. "Theatre Guild Presents Laurence Olivier in William Shakespeare's 'Henry V,'" followed by "In Technicolor" and "Released Through United Artists," but in very small type—the only indication in the ad that it's a film.

To make matters worse, the Civic has never played films, having just wound up a 44-week run of "Anna Lucasta." Olivier just finished his much-publicized repertory run on Broadway, including Shakespeare's similarly titled "Henry IV." This is the first film to be roadshown here in a long time, so the public isn't accustomed to this form of ballyhoo. The ad stresses mail orders, as legiters do, besides playing up "only Chicago engagement—two performances daily" instead of two showings.

JOHNSTON HAILS LOAN AS HUGE INDUSTRY AID

Washington, July 15.—House approval of the British loan agreement was hailed today by Eric Johnston as "one of the most advanced steps taken thus far to insure a peaceful and prosperous postwar world."

"The loan will be an excellent thing for the motion picture industry," Johnston said in a statement, "because of the effect it will have in stabilizing the British market for American pictures. But, still more important, it will be a healthy thing for the entire world because it will lay the foundation for the restoration of international trade on a normal basis.

"But more than helping to expand trade, this agreement will assist in promoting the democratic way of life and the democratic way of doing business.

Johnston, who got in from the coast last night, leaves for New York tomorrow night for a series of huddles with industry people. He returns Friday and the following Monday leaves again for Chicago where he will address the IATSE convention on Tuesday.

Abel, Grahame Signed For Bebe Daniels Pic

Walter Abel and Margot Grahame yesterday were signed by Hal Roach for starring chores in "The Fabulous Joe." Film, initial production effort by Bebe Daniels for Roach, rolls Monday with Harve Foster handling directorial chore. Picture will be shot in Cinecolor.

CHI OPERA WOOS BO WITH DISCOUNT

Chicago, July 15.—Chicago Opera Co. is reviving its pass-the-tambourine tactics this season, appealing to the civic pride of industrial organizations here by asking them to take coupon books at a 10 per cent discount. Tickets—$11 worth for $10—will be redeemable for the six-week opera season opening Sept. 30 for available seats.

Number of Chicago firms with a Sept. 1 deadline for purchase of the books, have gone for the deal. Some of them pass them out gratis to employes, others split the cost, and others merely pass the 10 per cent savings on to the hired help.

Armed Forces On Air Over 8 Big Stations

Armed Forces Radio Service yesterday began transmission from Santa Monica Boulevard headquarters over eight of most powerful shortwave stations in world. Transmitters for KCBR, KGEX, KGEI, KNBI, KNBX, KWID and KWIX will hereafter carry news, special events and entertainment emanating from studios here. Intended coverage will be Alaska, China, Japan, southwest Pacific, Mid-Pacific, Philippines and Navy ships at sea.

H'D BOWL LURES THRONG OF 55,532 FOR TOP WEEK

Last week was best box office in history of the Hollywood Bowl, with draw of 55,532 paying customers. Precise gross is not available as auditors haven't totaled it up. Attractions which brought the amphitheatre to new crest were two nights of "Carmen," George Gershwin Memorial Concert conducted by Paul Whiteman, and two evenings of Leopold Stokowski batoning the Bowl symph, with Camilla Wicks and violinist Isaac Stern each appearing once as soloists.

The Gershwin concert lured more than 22,000 inside, including standees and sod-squatters; at least several thousand more were turned away. It was biggest throng at single attraction in the Bowl in at least five years, according to Bowl Association execs.

Shackleford Sends In Sweden Footage

James Shackleford, Paramount cameraman, sent home first footage to Paramount of scenes he has been shooting in Sweden for three series of shorts to be produced by Jerry Fairbanks. Lensman left for Europe in March and he will remain abroad for over a year, traveling both on the Continent and then to Australia.

HOLLYWOOD RUNAROUND

By RADIE HARRIS

Veronica Lake, who kept everyone (including her director husband) waiting on the "Ramrod" set at Zion City for two and three hours—wouldn't let Arleen Whelan have the same hairdresser—and wound up with the entire company and crew wishing she'd disappear in her own "lake," left with this parting shot, "If you think I was difficult here, just wait until I get back to General Service!" She employed these same tactics at Paramount, but knowing Charlie Einfeld, I'm wondering how far she'll get at Enterprise . . . Condolences to Adrian Samish for losing Carol Irwin at ABC and congrats to Terry Helburn and Lawrence Langner for annexing her as new producer of the Theatre Guild of the Air when it resumes U.S. "Steeling" Hoopers in the fall . . . Looks as if Pat O'Malley will fall heir to the role in "Park Avenue" originally skedded for Charlie Butterworth. And Ray MacDonald will bring his dancing shoes back to Broadway to hoof in this George S. Kaufman-Nunnally Johnson musical. Martha Stewart is out as the femme lead. 20th-Fox has too many plans for her on the home lot . . . Peggy Knudsen off to decorate the sidewalks of New York for her first Mad-hattan whirl since she checked in at Warners. She'll houseguest with the Frank "Time" Norrises at their Park Ave. duplex, where Pete Jaeger is already parked on the welcome mat.

TITLE-TALE: At Paramount, producer Bob Fellowes, director Tay Garnett and writer John Monks are preparing Alan Ladd's next starring vehicle. A story of the wheat harvest, it has been tentatively tagged "The Big Haircut" until some Par employe wins $50 for a better suggestion. So far, the "punners-up" are "The Grains Came" and "Wheatheart Time"!

"I WENT TO A MAH-VELOUS PAHTY!" Georgie Jessel, as usual, garnered all the laughs at Atwater Kent's huge shindig to celebrate Screen Guide's annual popularity poll. He hailed the event as a very sentimental occasion. "Next week, this little shack is being taken over by MGM and will henceforth be known as 'Loew's Atwater Kent.' Mind you, Mr. Kent doesn't want any publicity about it—he hates the stuff. Why, last week he only posed six times with Maxie Rosenbloom! Which reminds me, how about taking my picture just once without Zanuck, Schenck and Skouras!"

Georgie came with Lois Andrews, but assured me that he wasn't warming over cold souffle. In any event, Lois was doing a reverse switch on Georgie by robbing the cradle too! She was completely captivated by Joey Pressman, aged nine, and deserted Helmut Dantine on the dance floor to be Joey's partner. Georgie said he wouldn't hang around to take her home—he'd let Helmut and Joey fight it out between them!

Bette Davis, making one of her rare party appearances, was on hand to accept her award for the best all time actress. Later, as she contemplated the gold slab which looked just like the head of a tombstone, she whispered, "Do you think this portends my final epitaph?"

Ingrid Bergman, voted the best actress for "Spellbound," didn't turn up, neither did director "Hitch," but Lana Turner, last year's No. 1 favorite, came with Bob Hutton, and was one of the few femmes in white, most of the gals choosing black—just like Noo York. Jimmie Stewart stagged it, still sticking to his "safety in numbers" routine. Shirley Temple, instead of capitalizing on her youth, wore her hair with an up-do sweep to make her look older. Nelson Eddy cut loose on the dance floor like Astaire. Rex Harrison got the greatest o.o's from the femme contingent. Earl Wilson spent most of his time talking to Dane Clark. What could he have to talk about to Clark when Dottie Lamour was at the next table! John Lund, being initiated to the Kent hospitality for the first time, signed the guest book, "Open for adoption!"

MOVIE-ING ALONG: When Howard Hughes gets well enough to read them, there are over 2000 telegrams from all over the world, waiting for him to wade through. Incidentally, all that publicity Lana Turner received about keeping vigil at the hospital is just that—publicity. Reporters confused her with Johnny Meyers' favorite blonde, Janet Thomas, when she accompanied him to the Good Samaritan the night of the accident . . . Sylvia Hahlo and Marcus Heiman are at the Bev-Hills . . . John Shepard and Dickie Tyler will both have important parts in Moss Hart's new conversation piece . . . Leo Forbstein went home from Hollywood Park Satdee a $10,000 winner. Eddie Welsh did some celebrating too on a long shot in the fifth. Others spotted in the Turf Club crowd: Mark Hellinger, Carl Laemmle, Jr., Janet Gaynor, Fred Astaire, Charlie Rogers, Jules Stein, Johnny Beck, Jack Benny, Howard Hawks, Sam Marx, Anatol Litvak, Joan Blondell, Hugh Herbert, Ira and Lee Gershwin, Pam Berman, Mike Todd, Ethel Levey and Tina Rapf. For practically everyone it was a wonderful "Honeymoon" . . . If their Nov. event is a girl, the Danny Kayes will call her "Dena." If he's a boy, Sam Goldwyn says he'll set up a trust fund for him if he's named after him. "It's a temptation," confesses Danny, but how can I get Sammy Kaye to retire?"

Ballet Russe To Open at H'd Bowl

Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo will open at the Hollywood Bowl during the third week of Symphonies Under the Stars, playing six nights during its two-week stay here. Company, composed of 150, will be supported by the Hollywood Bowl Symphony. Troupe will play, starting July 25.

Golden Gate Slates 5 Before New Year

Golden Gate will produce five films between July 29 and Jan. 1, William B. David, executive producer, announced yesterday. Pictures to be lensed will be "My Dog Shep," "Yosemite," "Swindler's Harvest," "Angel's Flight" and "Desert Princess."

PETRILLO CHARGES ACTS BY FEDS UNLAWFUL

Chicago, June 15. — James C. Petrillo's challenge to the constitutionality of the Lea Act boiled again today when his attorneys filed a dismissal motion in U.S. District Court here against the criminal information leveled at him last month by the government.

The American Federation of Musicians' prexy, charged with violating the law by calling a strike at WAAF to compel station to hire "unneeded" musicians, claims in his counter-suit that the government's action constituted violations of the fifth, tenth and 13th amendments to the U.S. Constitution since it "abridges freedom of speech, denies liberty of contract and imposes involuntary servitude."

Petrillo's attorneys have until August 5 to file briefs supporting contentions. The government's reply must be filed by September 9 when U.S. District Judge Walter J. Labuy is expected to set a date for oral arguments in court.

SAG MOVES TO TAKE IN TELEVISH PERSONNEL

ment for some time.

In taking action, SAG board stated it took cognizance of fact that Actors Equity, American Federation of Radio Artists, American Guild of Variety Artists and American Guild of Musical Artists had "not yet acted to organize the television field and establish minimum wage scales."

Above is not strictly true since it's believed that all unions have at one time or other made pitch to parent Four A's for jurisdiction or, at least, control of their own people who may work in medium.

SAG adds that primary interest concerns acting in special video film, since it has exclusive jurisdiction over all who perform before motion picture cameras. It's also stated that consultation with heads of other unions will be sought, with Harpo Marx, Dick Powell and Tudor Williams named as members of elastic committee, which will be enlarged as work increases.

Move may force issue before Four A's when other unions start howling because of the inactivity attendant on separate requests. Matter has been a poser for parent group which sought solution that would be fair and acceptable to all. Outcome may be creation of a separate new group to boss all video hamming since Four A's cannot itself operate as a union or clearing house.

Dough, Re, Mi

Chicago, July 15.—Chicago bank depositors got their first glimpse of the brave new banking world today. A Loop bank, the First Federal Savings and Loan, provided wired music while patrons made their deposits, tried to cover weekend checks and sweated out loan applications. Through some snafu, first song wired into the bank was "I Got Plenty O' Nuthin'." Or maybe it wasn't a snafu.

PIC CLEFFERS TOPS TO HEAR ZISSU

The board of directors of the Screen Composers' Association will hold a meeting on Thursday, at which will be heard a report from Len Zissu, organization's counsel who arrived over weekend from his NY office. The board, which is manned by vet screen scorers Max Steiner, Victor Young, Robert Emmett Dolan and Adolph Deutsch, will be advised by the attorney of his recent efforts to get American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers to grant more recognition to film cleffers in elevating their membership ratings, and hence their royalties from ASCAP.

PUBLICISTS!

Don't Let 'em Kid You!

Find Out the Truth . . .

TONIGHT!

Our business is propaganda. Let's not fall for anyone's else efforts in our own professional field.

From the start of our present intramural difficulties, IATSE Local 798 has tried to cover up its own ever-weakening position with a cloud of phoney propaganda about the Screen Publicists Guild.

With nothing to offer themselves (except occasional public obeisance to Roy Brewer) they've discovered sinister machinations and horrifying motivations in every positive move made by the Screen Publicists Guild.

They've lied outright about our negotiations with the Majors and the Chadwick Group, as well as about our union affiliations.

The SPG, however, has nothing up its sleeve. Its program is clear, clean, above-board and open to the scrutiny of anyone interested enough to investigate.

We invite all studio publicists, regardless of present affiliations, to attend our regular membership meeting tonight — to hear what we have to offer, and to get the answers to any honest questions about our past, present or future policies.

We believe that when you know the truth— the plain, unvarnished, undistorted truth — you'll be on our side.

The meeting is at 8:15 p.m. at the Screen Cartoonists Hall, Yucca and Vine. We'll be looking for you.

LOEWS TO HANDLE UNRRA FILM IN LATIN AMERICA

Washington, July 15. — Loew's International will distribute "UNRRA reports to the Americas" in Latin-America, according to announcement today by William Wells, UNRRA film chief.

Wells, on the eve of planing for Europe, said:

"Because Warner Bros. was too slow in making up its mind about Latin-American distribution of 'UNRRA reports to the Americas', Arthur Loew has secured the short for Loew's International. UNRRA is supplying theatrical prints in Spanish and Portuguese.

"The fact that 19 of the 48 UNRRA member countries are in Latin America, all of them contributing to international relief, assures audience interest in the film. Two other UNRRA shorts, 'Friends of Our Children' and 'In the Wake of the Armies,' are being distributed in Latin America by Peliculas Mexicanos."

ALADDIN RECORDS BUYS TIME; WAR FOR ETHER LOOMS

Disceries here were sizzling yesterday when they learned that Aladdin Records, local odd-label operated by Eddie and Leo Messner, had bought a series of 15-min. programs on Al Jarvis' disc jockey sessions on KLAC. While platteries are agreed that such radio shows are their best form of promotion, in past they unofficially grouped together in an understanding that none would pay for advertising on ether, but get their broadcasting breaks through courting the jocks and supplying them with platters.

Jarvis is known to be soliciting other disceries, including the major companies headquartered in NY, now that he has nailed his first time-buying waxery. With ice broken, a rush of rivals vying against each other via paid air time may eventuate. Situation long has been anticipated in many quarters of the recording business.

Two 'Possessed' Units Tee Off at WB

Warners teed off "Possessed" yesterday with two units going in front of the cameras. Curtis Bernhardt is directing the Joan Crawford-Van Heflin starrer. Bernhardt doubles in brass, megging both units, with one working days and the other nights.

Rep Sets 'McGee'

Republic has set Aug. 25 as starting date for "Slippy McGee" which has Don Barry in the top role. Lou Brock produces.

Wrong Sound

Bill Jesson, Warner Bros. studio cop, got over-enthusiastic about company's 20th Anniversary of Talkies campaign, and picked up one of the 10-inch stickers designed to slap on store windows. He stuck it on his windshield and drove through Burbank on the way home. Burbank blueshirt, not quite so enthusiastic, nabbed Jesson, and he was socked $5 for "windshield obstruction."

3 CAL STATIONS GET FCC NOD

Trio of nearby California stations given Federal Communications Commission nod for licensing and improvements. KROP, Brawley, has been given license to cover its construction permit for operation on 1450 kilocycles with 250 watts of power. William B. Gleason is licensee, and head of Broadcasting Corp. of America, firm name for station. In same area, Mrs. Lois M. Daniels has had her application for a station accepted for filing.

KSDJ, new San Diego station, has received approval to modify its construction permit and to change its announced transmitter and transmitter site. Tower will be shifted from Berrytown, Cal., to San Diego proper, at Seminole and 62nd streets. KVOE, Santa Ana, has received okay to erect new vertical antenna.

WB, Par Pool in Okla. City Dissolved

New York, July 16.—One of the larger pools, involving 10 Warner and Paramount houses in Oklahoma City, will be dissolved Saturday in line with the policy to end cooperative operations. Six of the Paramount theatres were owned in partnership with the late Joseph Cooper. Par will take over three and the Cooper company the others for direct operations. Warners will operate four houses directly.

British Fear Loan Coin Will Hurt Film Take

London, July 16.—The American loan may have a desultory effect on British amusement industry. Some segments figure added coin will give the average Briton a chance to buy new imported items long denied and that this spending on necessities will cut down box office take. English show business has been at record peaks because there was little else on which to spend.

The loan is expected to lift permanently the danger of Parliament's again placing restrictions on the withdrawal of American earnings from the United Kingdom, and to free billions of dollars in the sterling areas, money which can be spent by other countries to pay for United States films.

Under the loan the British government agrees to abolish forthwith any

RKO Resumes Theatre Dept. Bonuses

New York, July 16.—Resuming theatre department bonuses, RKO has made a divvy to district managers based on 1945 business and is planning to do the same for individual theatre managers whose showing entitles them to a bonus. Amounts to be paid will be based on grosses, meritorious performance of duty, exploitation efforts, etc.

ASCAP Lower Ranks Gripe Over 5 Pct Slash in Take

Coast members of American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers who yesterday received royalty checks for second quarter of 1946 discovered that the Society had reversed its procedure of last quarter in that the top-ranking members received slightly more than a six per cent gain over first three-month period of year, while the lower classes received five per cent less.

Top members, in the AA class, received checks yesterday for $4,888 as against $4,584 received in April. However, royalties are still running behind last year, to date about 11 per cent. The lower-level ASCAP members, lodged in the "fixed" positions, including vast majority of Society's songwriters, had received a seven-and-half per cent tilt for first quarter, and were disappointed at the five per cent drop, since the Society had announced it would tilt their takes in future.

While no statement was given members by ASCAP exec board as checks were dispensed, it is known that the kitty for the second quarter was about $400,000 less than the Society execs had believed it would be.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

AFTER several months of hectic scheduling recording sessions, most of the local indie pop-platteries have relaxed, figuring they have stored enough discs on shelves to last well into winter. Rush to record was occasioned by knowledge that American Federation of Musicians will tilt scale for waxings by October. Exclusive and Excelsior labels each have 20 sides which will be released gradually and neither expects to platter for months to come. Black & White has stored up eight albums and 18 sides, while 4 Star definitely won't disc until at least leaf-dripping time, having more than 40 sides salted away. Bel-Tone, Aladdin and ARA are three other firms with nothing on agenda at present. Meanwhile the Big Four, Capitol, Victor, Columbia and Decca, continue to high-speed the making of masters against the time AFM hikes the pay rate for musicians.

RESEARCHERS at Warner Bros. digging for data on the 20th Anniversary of Sound, came across a miniature of a set which was built to match a profile. When John Barrymore was making "When a Man Loves," one of his last silent films, the "great profile" favored his left profile. For the picture, a huge set was to be built in which a great deal of action took place. Barrymore argued and insisted on building the set so the audience would see only his left profile. After heated discussions with the art director, lenser, and director Alan Crossland, set was finally erected so that Barrymore would walk down a flight of stairs, play his whole scene on the set with only his left profile bared to the audience.

COLUMBIA Broadcasting System's "Surprise Party" is seriously considering dropping some commercials. Idea of execs and producers is to cut plugs to one per show and let continuity which can readily blend non-irritating mentions take up loss. Initial show couple of weeks ago carried usual three end and middle blurbs. More recently, due to nature of show's outside participants, time ran over causing lopping of plugs. Reaction has been so favorably received that serious consideration is being given to continuing practice as policy.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The men who have been dealing with the Russians at first hand—Byrnes and Vandenberg—do not say it's impossible to get along with the Russians—and that is important first-hand information. It should mean more than the reports of a man like Bullit, who has been with the Russians at first hand over a longer period, it's true, but who has not been on the inside in any negotiations since the war. We have to admit that it's difficult, that the Russians cannot forget that their primary interest is in Communism, that as Marxists they have been taught all their lives to distrust us, that they take high-handed measures to install their system in countries like Romania, Hungary, Bulgaria, Poland and Yugoslavia, and that they are afraid we'd think them weak if they accepted without a struggle any idea we proposed. There are the current obstacles to progress in relations that come with the spy revelations in Canada, the Russian objection to setting up a commission to control and outlaw atomic energy as a weapon of war. But Byrnes and Vandenberg advise patience, tenacity, firmness. Vandenberg adds that the alternative is war between us, and that is unthinkable.

RKO RELEASE. Executive producer, Robert Fellows. Producer, Warren Duff. Director, Edwin L. Marin. Screenplay, Lynn Root and Frank Fenton. Story, Herbert Clyde Lewis. Musical score, Leigh Harline. Musical director, C. Bakaleinikoff. Photography, Lucien Andriot. Editor, Ralph Dawson. Art, Feild Gray and Albert S. D'Agostino. Sets, Darrell Silvera and James Altwies. Sound, Clem Portman and John L. Cass. Gowns, Edward Stevenson. Assistant director, James Anderson.

CAST — Stars Robert Young, Barbara Hale, Frank Morgan. Features James Gleason, Don Rice, Harry Davenport, Teddy Hart, Joseph Vitale, Douglas Morrow.

TRADESHOWN at El Rey theatre, Hollywood, Calif., July 15, 1946. Running time: 97 MINS.

A brisk, blithe comedy, produced on a lower-case budget, which should roll up rich returns. It can weigh in on own merits in any situation, and should benefit from word-o'-mouth wherever shown, despite lack of any mighty marquee magnetism.

Trio of stars, Robert Young, Barbara Hale and Frank Morgan, are most happily cast and do eminent justice to a generally sleek script. If the sequences occasionally defy credulity and fringe the frankly farcical, the customers won't notice for they'll have delivered themselves up to laugh-lines which are dispensed lavishly. The pace is so spirited the film completely belies lengthy running time for such fare.

Young plays a gay, game Bevhills gambler whose path crosses that of inveterate odds-taker Morgan, broke and being leashed along the straight-and-narrow by grand-daughter, Miss Hale. Cupid gets to work so feverishly, Young reforms to win the gal. But he just happens to pick Las Vegas for the honeymoon. From that time on the lid's off. After turning a jill-of-all-games herself, Miss Hale almost succeeds in breaking all the layouts in town, trailed by her estranged husband and grandpap. For telling laugh effects a slew of Damon Runyonish characters, James Gleason, Don Rice, Harry Davenport, Lloyd Corrigan, Teddy Hart and Joseph Vitale, spice the story and milk a fast-flowing succession of high-jinks situations.

It is richest role Morgan has had in some time, and one he's really sunk his teeth into. Young and Miss Hale miss no tricks, either, as, for that matter, does no other member of cast. Producer Warren Duff assembled a host of apt talents to whom to toss the right ingredients. Directing, Edwin L. Marin extracted the most and the best; he set a pace which never lagged and archly built the scenes for peak effect. Lucien Andriot's camera caught the spirit and Leigh Harline's musical score enhanced the effects. Other technical aspects, including the art of Albert S. D'Agostino and Feild Gray, and the sets wrought by Darrell Silvera and James Altwies, parred the general excellence of the production.

Aubrey Schenck Will Make 'It's A Joke'

Aubrey Schenck yesterday was handed producing chore on "It's a Joke, Son," Kenny Delmar starrer at Eagle-Lion. Robert Kent and Paul Girard Smith yesterday turned in finished screenplay on the film, which rolls July 29. Ben Stoloff will direct.

Home Sweet Homicide

(Crime Comedy)

TWENTIETH-FOX RELEASE. Producer, Louis D. Lighton. Director, Lloyd Bacon. Screenplay, F. Hugh Herbert. Based on novel by Craig Rice. Photography, John Seitz. Art direction, James Basevi and Boris Leven. Set decorations, Thomas Little and Al Orenbach. Music, David Buttolph. Orchestral arrangements, Maurice de Packh. Sound, E. Clayton Ward and Harry M. Leonard. Special photographic effects, Fred Sersen. Costumes, Kay Nelson. Makeup, Ben Nye. Film editor, Louis Loeffler.

CAST — Peggy Ann Garner, Randolph Scott, Lynn Bari, Dean Stockwell, Connie Marshall, James Gleason, Anabel Shaw, Barbara Whiting, John Shepperd, Stanley Logan, Olin Howlin, Marietta Canty, Pat Flaherty, Phillip Morris.

TRADESHOWN at 20th-Fox Studios, Westwood, Cal., July 15, 1946. Running time: 90 MINS.

"Home Sweet Homicide" is a neatly plotted whodunit worked almost exclusively for laughs. Crime angles, while kept sufficiently mystifying and suspenseful, are subordinated to the comedy. Latter, based largely on the adventures of the three children of a woman mystery writer, combined with a nice romance give the picture stronger femme appeal than the usual murder yarn. Cast has good names for marquee lure—including Peggy Ann Garner, Lynn Bari, Randolph Scott, Barbara Whiting and Connie Marshall—and the film offers high entertainment value for the box office money.

Yarn revolves around the mystery murder of a woman author's agent who goes in for a side line of blackmail. Comedy complications set in and reach the acute hilarity stage when the three children of a woman mystery author, played by Lynn Bari, decide to solve the crime according to the best precepts laid down in mother's books. The youngsters are the Garner and Marshall misses and Dean Stockwell, and they are assisted, both in garnering clues and laughs, by Barbara Whiting.

Their first stunt is to confuse the police as to the time they heard the fatal shot, giving alibi for the chief suspect, John Shepperd—largely on the theory taken from mother's stories, that the police can't be right about a suspect. From then on they manage to revel in detective work and to make life more than somewhat difficult for the police.

With all this they also find time to promote a match between mother and the homicide squad lieutenant, Randolph Scott.

James Gleason, as a detective sergeant, who has his own ideas about kids, grabs off a good share of the comedy honors of the piece. Stanley Logan, Olin Howlin and Marietta Canty, and Anabel Shaw give creditable account of themselves in supporting roles.

Producer Louis D. Lighton has given the picture good production values, Lloyd Bacon's direction is notably successful and camera work by John Seitz is excellent.

Black Beauty

(Drama)

TWENTIETH-FOX RELEASE of an Alson Production. Producer, Edward L. Alperson. Director, Max Nosseck. Screenplay, Lillie Hayward, Agnes Christine Johnston. From the book by Anna Sewell. Photography, Roy Hunt. Music, Dimitri Tiomkin. Music supervisor, David Chudnow. Art direction, Arthur Lonergan. Set decorations, Glenn P. Thompson. Editor, Martin Cole. Sound, John Carter.

CAST—Mona Freeman, Richard Denning, Evelyn Ankers, Charles Evans, J. M. Kerrigan, Moyna Macgill, Terry Kilburn, Thomas P. Dillon, Arthur Space, John Burton, Olaf Hytten, Leyland Hodgson, Clifford Brooke.

TRADESHOWN at Fox-Wilshire, Los Angeles, Calif., July 12, 1946. Running time: 74 MINS.

Picturization of Anna Sewell's classic of a horse, "Black Beauty," emerges as a sensitively-told and enacted drama of human proportions which should do socko biz. Fine flavor of the English book is generally caught in Edward L. Alperson's first offering as an indie producer, and picture is exceptionally well cast with Mona Freeman delivering strongly as heroine who rears and cherishes the horse, Black Beauty. Only criticism which might be offered is fact that, for picture purposes, romantic story has been built to somewhat overshadow that of Beauty.

There is a certain pastoral quality about this film which will attract every class of audience, a feeling of English country life in the '80s decidedly engaging. Feature gets away from all sophistication, and pictorially explains why this novel, since its writing in 1879, has sold in excess of 20,000,000 copies, with its appeal both to adults and juves. Screenplay by Lillie Hayward and Agnes Christine Johnston captures this quality, and Max Nosseck in his direction has carried out its spirit.

Story is that of a young girl in her middle teens, living with her squire-father on an English estate, is given a colt, Black Beauty, to raise as her own. Father is strict but worships his motherless daughter, and he believes that in turning over the newly-foaled colt to her she will be taught discipline, in disciplining her horse, understanding, in learning to understand the animal. Into this background is woven suggestion of romance with Richard Denning, an American. There is a melodramatic windup, when the girl, returning from boarding school, finds her horse gone, and the search to find him, climaxing in rescuing him from a stable fire and Black Beauty remaining in the burning building to save his mistress who has been knocked unconscious.

"Beauty" has been healthily presented and augurs well for Alperson as a box-office producer. He has surrounded himself with top technical assistance, all of whom aid in the picture's excellence—Roy Hunt at cameras, Arthur Lonergan as art director, and Glenn P. Thompson suitably decorating sets, Martin Cole doing craftsmanlike job with editing, and Dimitri Tiomkin turning out an atmospheric musical score.

Miss Freeman was a wise choice as Ann and Charles Evans perfect in role of her father. J. M. Kerrigan contributes tellingly as man in charge of squire's stables, and Terry Kilburn does nice piece of acting as stable boy through whose ignorance Black Beauty catches pneumonia and nearly dies. Evelyn Ankers is good in a thankless characterization, Denning makes most of the American, and Moyna Maegill stands out as the maid. Black Beauty is one of the most beautiful horses ever shown on the screen and can well stand on his own merits for any future appearances.

Sunset Pass

(Western)

RKO RELEASE. Producer, Herman Schlom. Executive producer, Sid Rogell. Director, William Berke. Screenplay, Norman Houston. From novel by Zane Grey. Photography, Frank Redman. Music, Paul Sawtell. Musical director, C. Bakaleinikoff. Editor, Samuel E. Beetley. Art direction, Albert S. D'Agostino, Lucius O. Croxton. Set decorations, Darrell Silvera, William Stevens. Sound, Jean L. Speak, Roy Granville.

CAST—James Warren, Nan Leslie, John Laurenz, Jane Greer, Robert Barrat, Harry Woods, Robert Clarke, Steve Brodie, Harry Harvey.

TRADESHOWN at studio, July 9, 1946. Running time: 60 MINS.

Mild oater which will pass as second offering, "Sunset Pass," adapted from Zane Grey novel, suffers more from story and carelessness in presentation than it does from lack of actual action. Plot is so obviously contrived and characters so unbelieveable that narrative never rings true. Still, juv audiences will follow James Warren, as star, and John Laurenz, his Mexican sidekick, with cheers as they break up train-robbing gang. William Berke drained situations of their possibilities with his direction, and there's plenty of Sierra scenery, to boot.

Warren and Laurenz are introduced as pair of detectives for the express company, in a story which shows dirty work at the bank, with one of the employes acting as tipoff man for gang when big sums of money are due. Increasing number of holdups has led express company to detail its two operatives to take over situation, with inevitable results. Warren falls for sister of one of gang and finally manages to clear him, but not before some scheming and gunplay.

Warren is still stiff as a western star, but will be accepted, nevertheless. Laurenz does his best as comedy relief, but has the script to contend with. Nan Leslie, as gal Warren falls for, is presented in too dramatic a character, never being permitted to lighten her role, and Robert Clarke is her wayward brother, who goes straight in the end. Jane Greer displays a flashy presence and turns in a good song number in a cafe setting. Harry Woods as gang's leader is properly menacing, Steve Brodie as inside man convincing and Robert Barrat satisfactorily good in rancher role.

Herman Schlom, under Sid Rogell's executive producership, handled production reins here, but didn't bother to examine his script too closely for faults and incongruities, of which there are many. Frank Redman's photography at all times is interesting and music by Paul Sawtell properly atmospheric.

Bowery Bombshell

(Comedy)

MONOGRAM RELEASE. Producers, Lindsley Parsons and Jan Grippo. Director, Phil Karlson. Original screenplay by Edmond Seward. Suggested by story by Victor Hammond. Additional dialogue, Tim Ryan. Production manager, Glenn Cook. Assistant director, Doc Joos. Photography, William Sickner. Musical director, Edward Kay. Technical director, Dave Milton. Sound, Tom Lambert. Film editor, William Austin. Supervising editor, Richard Currier.

CAST—Leo Gorcey, Huntz Hall, Bobby Jordan, Billy Benedict, David Gorcey, Teala Loring, Sheldon Leonard, Dawn Kennedy, James Burke, Vince Barnett, Wee Willie Davis, William Ruhl, Emmett Vogan, Bernard Gorcey, Milton Parsons, Lester Dorr, William Newell, Eddie Dunn.

PREVIEWED at Monogram Studios, Hollywood, Cal., July 16, 1946. Running time: 65 MINS.

"Bowery Bombshell," latest of Jan Grippo's "Bowery Boys" series, sticks closely to the pattern laid down in the previous showings of Leo Gorcey and his gang. It is fast moving slapstick, noisy and rough, and good for belly-laughs from the regular Gorcey audience. It's the kind of show that probably wouldn't get a big hand in the Music Hall, but, then, it isn't going to be shown in the Music Hall.

The story is devised to give plenty of opportunity for pratfall burlesque, and Gorcey, Huntz Hall, Bobby Jordan, Billy Benedict, David Gorcey, Teala Loring and the others take full advantage of the opportunity. Sheldon Leonard, Wee Willie Davis and Vince Barnett do a good job as the "heavies" of the piece. Bernard Gorcey and Milton Parsons acquit themselves well as character comics and balance of the cast work successfully through the active antics prescribed by the goofy plot.

Grippo and Lindsley Parsons get good value out of quickie budget materials, and Phil Karson directs ably for smash and speed. William Sickner's camera work is above standard for the series.

ROACH'S VICTORY IN SUIT UPHELD

New York, July 16.—The Circuit Court of Appeals today affirmed the Hal Roach victory in suit against Film Classics. The court upheld the ruling which dismissed a counter-claim of Film Classics and rescinded the 1944 contract which gave Classics exclusive re-issue rights to Roach pix. In the decision the court said failure of Classics to pay royalties concededly due was without justification and that Roach was within his rights in canceling the contract.

105 MILES SOUTH OF LOS ANGELES — HIGHWAY 101

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: One of the queasiest jobs in film preparation is securing releases from living persons to be portrayed on the screen. Plenty of excellent story material has been junked because releases are unobtainable or too costly. A current big budgeter is a case in point. Studio had to obtain the release of a man prominently portrayed in the film. It finally located him upstate and sent a high-pressure crew of lawyers and officials to obtain his signature on a release. Their target, somewhat squiffed, called in a local attorney and went into conference. Outside the studio crew sweated. The man about to be portrayed on the screen returned with two demands—that the studio fix it so he could return to his hometown, and that he be given $1000. The studio's legal eagle quietly tore up a check for $25,000, which he had been prepared to pay, and quickly yielded to the conditions . . . "Memoirs of Hecate County," since it was seized by a bluenose brigade in New York, has become a black market item. It's being peddled at ten bucks a copy around town . . . Alan Ladd and Sue Carol celebrated their fourth wedding anniversary yesterday. Ladd's gift was a 1946 Buick station wagon. She gave him 200 feet of pipe to complete the plumbing . . . Now J. Arthur Rank is eyeing the Warner contract list. He wants Ann Sheridan for a picture to be made in England . . . The forgotten man—in all the current hullabaloo about problem drinkers and lost weekends and neurotic soaks—is about to be remembered. Moderate drinkers, like us, will be saluted in a one-reeler produced by a distillers combine and distributed for showings before clubs and other groups.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Those flashy Hollywood junkets, accompanied by press agent hysteria, Kleigs, parades and flourish of trumpets, aren't always received with gratitude in the benighted hinterlands. In the Kansas City Star, Landon Laird comments in his column: "Persons in the amusement industry and some businessmen downtown are wondering, with fingers crossed, when again they will have to go through the course in Hollywood ballyhoo that preceded the Bob Hope show which played the Municipal auditorium recently. The local folk got a slant on film psychology in handling the appearance of one of its stars, and they weren't too impressed by it, although they got some laughs" . . . Ben Alexander, the former film juvenile, is handling the House of Murphy's "Diamond Edition of the News" in fine fashion. Interspersed with back-of-me-hand cracks about his sponsor, and sports news, he quotes little gems from D.D.T. with due credit. We like your stuff, too, Ben . . . Andrea King has found an amphibious solution to the housing shortage. She's living on a houseboat in Lake Sarnac in New York . . . Barbara Stanwyck's son Dion will enter Webb preparatory school this fall . . . Santa Barbara hotels are getting a big weekend play from Hollywoodites. Joan Crawford, Eleanor Parker and others have been hiding out at the Miramar since it was released by the Army . . . Eddie Bracken got an acting chore that was too much for him yesterday. He smoked his first cigar on the "Strange Bedfellows" set and collapsed in a faint before it was finished.

CALL SHEET: BOB HOPE promised Warden Clinton Duffy, acting as technical advisor on "My Favorite Brunette" at Paramount, he would appear at San Quentin when the picture is shown at the prison. "That's one audience that won't be able to get away from me," he gloated . . . MARY EDWARDS returned from NY where she attended the wedding of her sister, Kathleen Roche, to Allen Julier, head of a 16m outfit . . . HERB STEIN will handle three "outside personalities" as well as publicity for Independent Artists, new indie formed by Rosalind Russell, Dudley Nichols, etc . . . ROBERT RISKIN'S flackery announced that eight talent scouts will be sent out on a nationwide search for a girl to play opposite James Stewart in "Magic Town." Release says Riskin is "avoiding publicity . . . because he doesn't want the smalltown girls alerted." What the heck is this? . . . FRITZ LEIBER, who toured the U.S. for years in all the leading Shakespearean roles, has been cast in a Hopalong Cassidy picture, "Dangerous Venture." Maybe they ought to re-title it "Hopalong Hamlet Rides Again" . . . EDDIE BUZZELL, who directed "Three Wise Fools" for Metro, will appear at the NY opening . . . CULLY RICHARDS says the chief difference between a bachelor and a married man is that one is cagy, the other is caged.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: If Dave, champion Border collie, starts avoiding other dogs and slinking around with his tail between his legs, here's the reason—To make his color photograph match his name, "Red Wull," in "Bob, Son of Battle," they're using henna packs on his coat, and 20th-Fox has assigned him his very own hairdresser . . . Hells-Belles note: Mura Kliachko who designed the Hell set for "Angel on My Shoulder" is now designing a new millinery salon which she will operate in partnership with Josephi on Beverly Drive . . . Frank Sinatra arrives from NY via American Airlines this morning. Dinah Shore planes out Sunday for NY, where she'll make a four-week p.a. at the Paramount . . . Hunt Stromberg, Jr., will present a revival of "Front Page" on Broadway in September . . . Arch Oboler is working like an Orson Welles in full creative fury. He's directing "The Arnello Affair" at Metro, writing and narrating two government-sponsored programs on veterans' housing, preparing a set of dramatic recordings with Bette Davis, and preparing a book for publication. His first book "The Oboler Omnibus" has gone into its fifth printing . . . You couldn't prove it's the 20th Anniversary of Sound, as Warners so proudly proclaims, by Gus Schilling. In "Calendar Girl" it appears throughout the picture but has only one line of dialogue, at the end of the film.—D.D.T.

MAYOR WIRES L.A. FOR SOUND, WEEK OF AUG. 6

Mayor Fletcher Bowron made it official for Los Angeles yesterday by proclaiming August 6 as the Twentieth Anniversary of Talking Pictures. The mayor, in making the proclamation, declared that "this community is the world center of the motion picture industry and the men and women of this metropolitan area who have produced and perfected the motion picture of today have won worldwide recognition."

Attending the proclamation ceremony was Jane Wyman, Warner Brothers star.

A Warner's announcement from New York stated that more than 12,000 theatres are already participating in or are pledged to take part in Warners observance of the Twentieth Anniversary of Sound. Independent theatres in the list exceed 9,500.

"Mr. D.A." is still waving his finger at the high Hooperites from his lofty perch atop the listing. However, it's a photo finish for every position and woe to the one who loses a point or more. Nine of the entries are bunched in the eights and the others are pouring hot breath down the necks of those in front of them. "D.A." clinched the lead at 13.3, giving up 4.1 to his opposish, Bob Crosby. Others and their slot mates show up like this.

Walter Winchell 12.6 ("Merry Go Round" 5.9); Screen Guild Players 10.5 (Contented Hour 5.3); Kay Kyser (first half 10.3 (Academy Award Theatre 7.8); "Man Called X" 9.8; Bob Hawk 9.8 (Lone Ranger 5.9); "Aldrich Family" 9.7; Jack Haley 8.9 (Hobby Lobby 4.1); "Dr. Christian" 8.9 (Hildegarde 5.6); Drew Pearson 8.7 (Frank Morgan 4.9, Gene Autry 4.2); "People Are Funny" 8.5 (Pays to Be Ignorant 4.3); Hit Parade 8.4 (Can You Top This? 7.2); Phil Baker 8.3 (Hour of Charm 6.6); Louella Parsons Show 8.2 (Merry Go Round 5.9); Ralph Edwards 8.1 (Mayor of Town 6.7); "Date with Judy" 8.1 (Theatre of Romance 7.2).

Now for some advance individual ratings: "Blondie" 5.7, off .9; "Corliss Archer" 3.5, off .4; Ford Festival of Music 2.6; Jimmie Fidler 4.8 (no change); Dack Powell 5.2; Silver Theatre 5.2; Tommy Dorsey 6; Tommy Riggs 4.6, off .7; Hollywood Star Time 3.1, off 1; "Life of Riley" 8, off 1.5; Tony Martin 4.6, off .2; "Gregory Hood" 5, off .2; "Darts for Dough" 5.3, up 1.4; "One Man's Family" 6.9, off .7; Summer Electric Hour 2.9, up .5; Billie Burke 4.3, off 1.7; Ed McConnell 2.1, off .4; Stars Over Hollywood 4.7, off 1.3; Tom Breneman 5.3, off .2; G. E. House Party 3.2, up .5; Queen for Day 4.1, up .1; Lum and Abner 2.5, off 1.1. Topping the daytimers is "When Girl Marries" at 6.4, a mere whisker ahead of "Breakfast in Hollywood."

British Find First Dose of Breen Purity Hard to Take

London, July 16.—"Fanny by Gaslight" is too crude for American filming but "You Norman ——" (Shakespearean quote) is okay by gaslight or daylight, except on Sundays.

That's the way Joe Breen, grim guardian of the Johnston office code, laid it down to British newspaper folks at a press conference here today. Breen tried to tell the Britishers, according to the Daily Mail, "the best way to win his purity seal," and he got a hot argument.

One newspaper woman declared the title "Forever Amber" now has implications more prurient than the book itself. Breen said the script as presented to him was not objectionable.

The "You Norman ——" line came up when Breen was criticized for pruning the dialogue of "Henry V." He denied he had pruned it, but said the only cut was made by a Boston censor. "He took out '——' when the picture was shown on Sunday," Breen explained. Questioned about the British film, "Fanny by Gaslight," Breen said:

"There's been some trouble about that title."

And then the bunch began asking him if there was some hidden meaning in "fanny" in the United States.

Breen closed his conference by saying:

"I'm practically unique in Hollywood—at least I know I'm a pain in the neck. Most people out there don't."

Breen won some kind of praise, at least, from a lady writer in the Daily Graphic who described him as "charming as a kitten, elusive as an eel."

DEUTSCH ENDS INT 'INNOCENCE' DEAL

Armand Deutsch, prexy of Story Productions, has terminated negotiations with International on production deal on "This Side of Innocence," the Taylor Caldwell best seller. He and Stanley Kramer, veepee in charge of production, have initiated discussions for studio space with "several" other studios.

Understood likeliest site for the production currently is the Goldwyn lot. Hal Horne, chairman of the board, is presently scouting distribution deal in New York, with a tie-up with United Artists considered most probable.

Don Ettlinger, who completed the screenplay on "Innocence" is leaving for Europe next week to scout additional story properties for the loner setup.

Roy Brown Switches Theatre Booking Jobs

Seattle, July 16. — Roy Brown, who has been with Hamrick Evergreen Theatres since the company was formed, has resigned his position as booker in Portland and has accepted a job as booker for the Gamble Theatres circuit in Oregon. His headquarters will be in Portland. Brown was not only with Hamrick Evergreen for years, but was with the John Hamrick Theatres before they became a part of the larger organization. He is succeeded as booker for H-E by Lou Metzlaar.

Dear Mr. Goldwyn:

The first seven day's showing of the KID FROM BROOKLYN at the Pantages Hollywood Theater produced one business record for this house and some other pleasant results that you will be glad to hear.

Its opening day, July 4th, was the biggest opening day's business in the history of this theater topping some mighty box office champions we have played recently including THE BELLS OF ST. MARYS. Business for the balance of the first week was exceptionally big.

You should urge the stars and featured players as well as the key personnel responsible for the KID FROM BROOKLYN to attend a regular showing of the picture during its engagement here. All of them will receive a great thrill in watching a capacity audience thoroughly enjoy and applaud this grand entertainment and should give each and every one of them a tremendous incentive to do as good and as big a job in the future.

Kindest regards,

Rodney Pantages

PROTEST HITS KJR IN POLITICAL TIFF ON ROOSEVELT

Seattle, July 16.—A formal protest, charging that KJR, local ABC outlet, was unfair and did not allow equal time to opposing factions in the recent primary election has been filed with the Federal Communications Commission by the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences, and Professions, Northwest Division.

George Pepper, executive director of the local ICCASP chapter, charged that KJR sold time to Mrs. Isabel Costigan, wife of 1st Congressional District candidate Howard Costigan, and that she made untrue and objectionable statements in her talks over the air. Gist of the complaint is that Mrs. Costigan asserted over KJR that James Roosevelt, who backed the ICCASP supported candidate, Hugh De Lacy, told her that Pepper had been associated with communist-backed organizations in Hollywood and that other members of the Northwest ICCASP also had Communist leanings. Roosevelt, in a letter to Pepper, declared that he made no such statement to Mrs. Costigan, and sent along a notarized statement to that effect, signed by two witnesses to his talk with Mrs. Costigan.

The protest to the FCC alleges that the station and its attorney refused to censor repetitions of Mrs. Costigan's remarks; refused to give ICCASP equal time to refute her "objectionable" statements, and that after selling the Committee time, at political rates, for refutation, deleted words which the Committee says were necessary to make the refutation effective. This action, charges Pepper, was contrary to rules that opposing sides in political campaigns should be allotted equal time and was also a use of censorship against only one side of the argument.

Costigan, a radio commentator, running on the Democratic ticket, was defeated in the primary by the Democratic incumbent, Hugh De Lacy. The campaign was marked by much name-calling and national figures entered into the fray through endorsement of candidates. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger backed Costigan, James Roosevelt backed De Lacy and Clare Boothe Luce okayed the third candidate, Joseph Roberts.

WASHINGTON HULLABALOO

By FLORENCE S. LOWE

Washington, July 16.—Robert Coyne, of ATA, has sent association officials and member groups a sample housing film script along with letters asking the ATA members if they would like to see scripts in the future before the Government makes pix it wants theatrical release for. Member groups have unanimously approved the idea to eliminate waste, remaking, etc.

Understand Arch Mercey, OWMR film head, is working with other agencies to make up a package to present to the industry so that ATA will know in advance just what the Government is likely to request for the year. Special emergencies, of course, will have to be taken care of as they arise, but general needs can be predicted and plans made accordingly.

Plan of Nathan D. Golden, Commerce Department motion picture chief, to get a special series of questions of interest to the film industry into a proposed 1946 Census of Business has been scuttled by Congress. The legislators knocked out of the Commerce budget all funds for the census. Amount needed was $17,000,000.

However, a regular Census of Business is now scheduled for 1948 and Golden expects to get the industry questions into it. He has been working closely with the statistical bureau of MPA, framing the motion picture queries. The next Congress will have to approve the funds in 1947 if the census is to be made.

One of the most revealing sets of figures "Hullabaloo" has run into recently was gleaned by the Commerce Department from Soviet sources.

It shows that in 1945, the 15,425 motion picture theatres in U.S.S.R. took in 525,000,000 paid admissions. This, of course, is in addition to those in Russia who saw films in clubs, schools, military bases, etc.

Since the Russian population is reported at about 175,000,000, this would mean that the average Soviet citizen goes to the film theatre about three times a year. This can hardly provide much in the way of the funds for the industry which must fall back on Government support. The 525,000,000 figure is strikingly in contrast with the estimated 90,000,000 weekly — not annual — admissions paid at the box offices of this country.

Russians also report they have 16 studios producing. Newsreels and documentaries are made in Moscow, Leningrad, Kiev, Rostov, and 12 other cities. Studios in Moscow, Leningrad, Novosibirsk and Kiev have special facilities for the production of popular science films.

And the Red Army lensers shot about 10,000,000 feet of film on the different fronts during the war.

Rear Admiral Miller, head of Navy Public Relations, discloses that, of several hundred cameras on Bikini atoll, and on planes and in the hands of photographers for the atom bomb test, only one was lost . . . Harvey Stephens, currently here in "Voice of the Turtle," got badly needed tires by casually mentioning in a local radio interview that he had his fingers crossed about driving to Detroit because of the condition of the rubber on his car. D.C. dealers responded nobly . . . Bert Tucker, Sophie's boy, has bowed out of his job as manager of the Club Duet, local nitery, due to illness . . . Fred Polangin, currently flacking for Jerry Brandt's "Magic in the Air" in the East, has outgrown his office space and moved to larger quarters . . . Lanny Ross guests here July 26 for the final outdoor concert of the National Symphony Orch. . . . Eugene Lerner, one of the original "Dead End" kids, who won a Phi Beta Kappa key and several prizes for playwriting at D.C.'s George Washington University, has joined the merchant marine . . . Jean (Mrs. Walter) Kerr's dramatization of "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay," was preemed by the crack drama group of Catholic U this week. It is the only legit version of the film hit to be approved for publication.

Quartet of film personalities, remnants of the troupe who beat the drum for the Philly preem of "Centennial Summer," gave mid-town Washington, suffering from summer doldrums, a shot in the arm. Group consisted of Phil Silvers, Kurt Krueger, David Street and Jo Carroll Dennison, and proved once more that this town is a push-over for the Hollywood tag.

Washington is jam-packed with national figures who never get a second glance from the natives. But hours in advance, queues lined up outside the Capitol theatre for the two personal appearance stints of the four Hollywooders.

On the basis of this junket, 20th appears to have a real find in David Street, the radio singer. He clicked well with his romantic delivery at the theatre. Biggest surprise of all was the wild response to Kurt Krueger's blonde good looks. The gals in the audience swooned flatteringly.

"The Last Bomb," tinter made by Frank Lloyd for the AAF, which War Department peddled unsuccessfully for theatrical release, is being remade on the Warner lot and will see the light of day in the fall. With Warner distributing, of course.

Efforts to sell William Wyler's "Thunderbolt" have failed and the pic is relegated to the AAF circuit. Film is said to be a beauty, but too long and not now timely.

Another candidate for pictures is James "Muscles" McDonough, son of Hollywood's Congressman Gordon McDonough. Young McDonough, released from the Navy this spring and now a student at Catholic U. here, has been cited by YMCA officials as an "outstanding physical specimen."

Photos of him will adorn "Y" walls to draw new members for gym classes. He aspires to be a singer.

"Safety in Air Depot Machine Shops," AAF industrial film, has been selected as best industrial occupation safety film of 1945 by the National Committee for Films on Safety . . . Washington Post, D.C. daily, and the Washington Public Library are sponsoring a panorama called "Our World," in the form of a series of representative films depicting the world today. Already listed in the series are "Seeds of Destiny," "Covered Wagon," "The Bridge," "Chang," "Power and the Land," "Plow That Broke the Plains," and "The True Glory" . . . Local Puerto Rico headquarters announces establishment of a traveling theatre of P. R. to carry the best in drama to every part of the island . . . U.S. Department of Agriculture had a 400 per cent increase in sales of its films during the first quarter of 1946. Most popular during the period were "Realm of the Wild," "The River" and "A Heritage We Guard." Sales broke down as follows: one-third to foreign countries, one-fourth to our schools and colleges, one-fourth to commercial film libraries, and remainder to such varied users as Red Cross, Museum of Modern Art, etc.

12 INDIE STATIONS TO PAY NATION'S BIGGEST PAY HIKE

Final details of new contract between 12 indie stations and International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers will probably be worked out today—after management negotiating committee sells bitter pill of nation's highest wage boost of 30 per cent to complete body of broadcasters. Three-month-old haggle was virtually ended late Monday night (15) when negotiating committee bowed to union's adamancy.

Questions of length of contract (reportedly two years as advanced by union), retroactivity (to May 1) and jurisdiction of engineers will be thrashed today by managers after once accepting terms their committee agreed to. It's generally conceded that result will be favorable. Drawing up of contract will follow and probably be signed within a week. Broadcast technicians unit have given Roy Tindall, business rep, complete authority and will accept his decision on details now that all-important wage matter is settled.

Broadcasters are extremely bitter about the union's unswerving stand, and, in words of one leader, "feel we have been taken." Employers came up with two counter offers but finally had to agree to union's demands for what is considered nation's highest group wage boost. Under it stations in top two classifications hike 30 per cent, and remaining three small stations raise wages 18 per cent.

controls affecting U.S. exports to the United Kingdom, assuring exporters payment in dollars. While there are no controls now an intensified campaign was waged recently in Parliament to control film rental payments to the United States.

An added important factor to the show business is England's agreement to eliminate by Dec. 31, 1946, any import restrictions which quantitatively discriminate against American exports. It is generally felt that this will prevent British from discriminating against American films in favor of another country. It does not, however, rule out future quotas on the amount playing. The loan, in short, is expected to boost American film companies' annual take which is now around the $87,000,000 figure.

WALSH OPPONENTS LINK HIM WITH BROWNE, BIOFF

gates with broadsides charging that gangster pals of George E. Browne and Willie Bioff, convicted labor racketeers, still control IATSE.

Pincers movement to oust Walsh is spearheaded by Ora D. Bebb, former official of Local 110 Chicago Motion Picture Operators union, who sent out the letter denouncing the present union administrations. This group claims to represent a majority of the union's 1,300 Chicago members, and Bebb's longtime feud with Gene Atkinson, business manager of the Chicago local, flared into the open when it was revealed the letter had been sent.

WALSH DENIES CHARGES

Atkinson and Walsh denied charges in the letter, claiming that the Browne-Bioff charges fit the opposition more than they do present incumbents, pointing to the fact that Pete Shayne, former union head under the Browne-Bioff regime, is lined upwith Bebb as proof.

Letter also claims Walsh "has never accounted for millions of dollars taken from members after Browne and Bioff went to jail on extortion charges."

Lucrative jobs have been handed out by Atkinson, letter continues, to "at least 55 mobsters and hoodlums formerly associated with Bioff and Browne," among them brothers of Bioff and Nick Dean. Alias Nick Circella, a brother-in-law of Murray "the Camel" Humphreys.

Denials to all charges were forthcoming of course, from Jack Robinson, the new IATSE press chief. "The union is entirely clean," he announced. "It is free of all Browne-Bioff and hoodlum contamination.

Walsh, in an interview with Variety, had no comment on the Bennett committee's charges, but did say that the deal for taking in film theatre managers, as forecast in Variety July 10, will be gone into later this week. He is still withholding his personal views on this matter "because anything I say now might jam up negotiations."

AIM AT TELEVISION

Walsh also said that a sample contract to cover television technicians will be studied by the executive board, reiterating that IATSE intends to organize television workers throughout the country.

FCC Sets Hearing On Sale of KQW

Washington, July 16.—FCC today set July 30 for oral argument on the purchase of Station KQW, Frisco, by CBS. Hearing will be in Washington. Earlier, the Commission decided tentatively to nix the proposed transfer from the Burnton Brothers for a sum exceeding $900,000 on the ground that it tended to give CBS a monopoly in standard outlets.

'Miracle' Today

"A Miracle Can Happen," Benedict Bogeaus-Burgess Meredith production, rolls at General Service studios today. King Vidor directs the first section, starring Charles Laughton.

MUSIC NOTES

Pinky Tomlin set for Aug. 1-2-3 stand at Del Mar hotel, San Diego.

Bob Graham will warble with Xavier Cugat at Navy benefit in San Diego tomorrow.

Phil Brito will wax four for Musicraft on July 26 and following day brisk it back to NY.

Maciste has made a Peerless recording of "Llorando," Latin ballad just published by Peer International.

Eddie Marmor, prez of Loft-Marmor Music, Inc., back from ten-day trek to NY and looking for new office space here.

Dave Gould, ARA's platter talent spotter, leaves today for two-week trek to NY to case performers waxery possibly may sign.

Ada Leonard's all-girl band, currently one-niting way from east, set to open at Sherman's, San Diego, on July 26 for eight-week stand.

Bianca Batista, singer of Boleros and Sambas, formerly with the Lecuona Cuban Boys, is now singing with Armando and his Havana Cuban Boys.

"How Can I Stop Loving You?" original song number by Walter Ruick and Eddie De Lange, purchased by Andrew Stone for "Strange Bedfellows."

Mrs. Les Brown, wife of the orchestra leader, has arrived in Hollywood to open their Toluca Lake home in preparation for the Palladium engagement of her husband.

Fred Hansen has bought the Painted Post, oatuned terpalace in Studio City, from Ken Chrisman. Latter is moving to Denver, where he plans to establish another hillbilly dance-hall.

Frank Sinatra's Barton and Stanwood Music firms will shortly shift into former Capitol Records' offices on Vine St., and Freddy Martin's music pub firm will move into Sinatra-vacated site on Sunset Blvd.

The Mello-Larks, new vocal quartet, will be among the featured entertainers when Al Jarvis takes his "Make-Believe Ballroom" to the Hollywood Bowl next Monday (July 22) for the benefit of the non-sectarian Children's hospital.

Irving Mills, veepee and Coast chief of Mills Music, due back tomorrow from month-long NY junket, during which he revised firm's copyright department and huddled with brother Jack Mills, prez of pub, on campaigns for fall releases.

Sammy Friedman named Coast rep of Peter Maurice, Ltd., British music pub which has working agreement in U.S. with Lou Levy's Leeds Music. Friedman, who formerly was connected with Frank Sinatra-controlled Stanwood Music, will start campaign for "Underneath the Willow Tree," English ditty authored by Billy Reid, who churned out "The Gypsy," which has become top U.S. songhit currently.

Hooper Quits As 16m Group Veepee

Don Hooper yesterday tendered resignation as first v-p of Society of Sixteenmillimeter Cinematographers. Move is believed inspired by continued friction within organization and disagreement between general membership and officials of group. Alan Stansvold, former prexy, recently resigned under pressure, and others are said to have been asked to vacate positions.

UNIVERSAL GRABS OFF FOUR FIRST RUN SPOTS

Artists, Vogue, Ritz and Apollo, giving company approximately 5,100 first run seats. Apollo presently is a neighborhood house on Hollywood boulevard near Western and will be refurbished for the new policy. Its seating capacity, as well as the Vogue's, will be expanded at a later date when materials for enlargement are available.

Vogue will be shifted from present lineup with the Orpheum and El Rey Aug. 6 when Monogram's "Suspense" opens. The Guild, now in the UA unit, will take Vogue's place with the Orpheum and El Rey, giving unit better than 4,000 seats or slightly more than its present setup.

Orpheum, Vogue and El Rey were combined into a first run unit last month and original intentions had been to use group as an exclusive Universal-United World outlet, but plans were changed and Fox West Coast started juggling to fit these companies' product into another grouping. Official announcement of new setup is expected to be made within the next few weeks.

Lowell Thomas Set For CBS Soap Spot

New York, July 16. — Lowell Thomas goes on CBS for Procter and Gamble on the 11 p.m. spot, starting latter part of next month. The "repeat" will be to the Rocky Mountain and Pacific zones only. Deal, marking Thomas' first airings other than NBC since 1930, was pacted through the Compton agency. Thomas has another year to go for Sunoco on NBC 6:45 spot on limited net of eastern stations. Whether he will do a "repeat" for CBS of the earlier NBC program is undetermined as yet.

ALLIED WILL STUDY BIG FIVE RULING

Washington, July 16.—Executive Committee of Allied States Exhibitors began a two-day session here today to study provisions of the Big Five motion picture decree in New York, with particular emphasis on the auction selling angle.

Committee met behind locked doors to get an interpretation of the decree from Abram F. Myers, general counsel of Allied, and to discuss ways of handling the new situation created by the court order. Committee also considered plans for the coming Allied convention.

New 'Abie' Novel Nearing Print

Anne Nichols is completing a novelized and modernized version of her famous play, "Abie's Irish Rose," and has already received bids from two New York publishers. It is hoped that the novel may go on sale at practically the same time as the release of the picture, which Eddie Sutherland produced and directed for Bing Crosby Producers, Inc.

HIS OWN UNIONS DON'T WANT ROY BREWER. DO YOU?

IATSE Local 798 has only one selling point in Friday's NLRB election—"responsible" leadership by Roy Brewer.

This "responsible" leadership is so popular among other Hollywood IA Locals that their delegates to next week's IA International Convention are committed 2-to-1 to bounce Brewer and his boss, Dick Walsh, right out of the IATSE. They have voted thousands of dollars out of their treasuries to finance this campaign.

It's so popular that six Hollywood IA Locals (Prop Men, Film Editors, Laboratory Technicians, Costumers, Projectionists and Laborers) have repudiated the 1946-47 contracts which Brewer tried to sell them after the strike settlement July 2.

It's so popular that one other Hollywood Local (the Cameramen) spent two years in court and thousands of dollars to establish its right to negotiate and sign its own contracts without interference from Brewer, Walsh & Co. So far it's the ONLY IA Local which has this right!

A vote Friday for Local 798 is a vote to put the publicists under the thumb of a leader whom the majority of Hollywood IA members are trying to dispose of.

A vote for the Screen Publicists Guild is a vote for an independent, autonomous Guild run BY publicists FOR publicists under an A. F. of L. federal charter . . . with the 100 per cent backing of every A. F. of L. worker in Hollywood!

Sturges Wars on Stars; None in His Next Film

With his next picture, "Vendetta," Preston Sturges launches an attack on the star system, producer indicated yesterday. Having disposed of directors and producers by assuming their functions himself, Sturges now has the big-name players in his sights. He will dispose of them, if all goes well, in his forthcoming film, which he will make without a single star. Producer has given the lead roles to a femme, Faith Domergue, and a man with the solitary tag of DeGeorge. A third starring

SWEDE STRIKE FOR 100% TILT

New York, July 17. — Current Swedish theatre employes strike, which has closed that country's 2,000 houses since July 1, involves union demand of a 100 per cent wage increase plus a five-day week, it was disclosed today by Carl Nelson, Swedish producer and circuit operator here for a short visit.

Nelson's trip here is to purchase equipment for a new studio now under construction near Stockholm. He also disclosed that Metro is attempting to bring in 16m films but that Swedish exhibs are blocking the move, declaring it to be an "unfriendly act."

WB Execs Flock Toward Convention

New York, June 17. — Warner execs from all over the world are arriving here for international sales convention, to be held in Atlantic City Aug 5-7. Max Milder, WB's rep in England, is among those on hand. A. L. Caplan, who reps China for Warners, shortly is due on Coast en route to convention.

KFI, NBC in Promotion War; Sales Battle is Threatened

Promotion war augurs between National Broadcasting Co., and its affiliate KFI here that may also develop into cut-throat sales war between KFI and other nearby net affiliates. On basis of recent surveys, network is attempting to show losses to KFI of primary coverage area. Station will combat that with intensive promotion campaign.

Meanwhile, NBC is slowly encircling KFI with a string of affiliates which cut down outlet's effectiveness and necessity. Net started with KSFD, San Diego, and added KERO, Bakersfield, short time ago. Latest is KIST, Santa Barbara, giving NBC crescent surrounding of KFI.

At KFI overall strategy is being mapped by station brass to curry favor of MOTION picture production is taking a beating as result of a record-breaking influx of studio visitors. Advent of the first summer vacation period in five years in which gasoline is unrationed and railroad and air travel unrestricted has contributed heavily to the situation. Not only is production slowed down and interrupted by scores of spectators on the sound stages, but supplies of food in the studio cafes becomes exhausted and players are forced to go off the lot for luncheon or even to forego food if time is limited. A case in point was RKO this week, where a total of 212 persons visited the sound stages in parties of four and five persons. Development represented approximately 50 tours of the lot requiring the services of 10 guides. These guides had to be recruited from the messenger and publicity departments, which took them from their regular work and crippled their department's efficiency proportionately.

PRODUCER Jules Levey is sticking his neck out in undertaking to document the history of jazz in his forthcoming "New Orleans." Probably no medium of entertainment has so critical a following. How difficult it is to gratify the standards of the various types of jazz addicts, ranging from the bobby-sox crowd to a top layer of academic musicians, has been shown by the heated contention aroused periodically by such related screen efforts as Paramount's "Birth of the Blues," RKO's "Syncopation" and Warner Bros.' "Blues in the Night." However, Levey is spending plenty of coin and time in research on the subject matter of the film. He points out that second only to the picture business in volume of intake is the annual income from the ballooning band and record businesses, which gain the bulk of their fat returns from popular music addicts. To Levey, all these factors spell b.o. in capital letters.

AFTER a month of rather woeful business, the wickets of local ballrooms are spinning a bit more spiritedly. Louis Prima in recent days has induced a brisker pace at Casino Gardens, and the Henry Busse windup at Avodon is apparently etching the ledgers in black. Biggest lure around town is Stan Kenton crew at Meadowbrook. Last week, which was band's first in site, gave Kenton $6,125; he is ticketed on $4,000 guarantee against 70 per cent of gate. Lawrence Welk continues to push profits into Aragon, where he is in for $2,500 weekly. Still tottering is the Trianon, where Jimmy James gets reported $1,750 per stanza. Incidentally, Prima's Casino catch is $4,500 and Busse's contract at Avodon has been calling for $3,500.

MUSIC circles yesterday elevated eyebrows when E. H. (Buddy) Morris, chief of publishing combine of Morris, Melrose and Mayfair companies, made an outright gift of "Lullaby to a Debutante" to the recently formed Spina-Green Music Co. Surprise was occasioned in view of fact that Morris paid an advance of $500 to songwriter Harold Spina when he bought song nine years ago. Ditty gathered dust in Morris' files through the years, and when Spina approached Morris and asked if he could buy back the ditty, freshen it up and release it through own firm, Morris handed it back, but adamantly refused return of coin.

HOLLYWOOD Bowl will draw its biggest contingent of stars in its history at Saturday's "Jerome Kern Night" at the Bowl. Outfit would have had to chunk out a heavy piece of coin if prevailing prices were paid for the stars' services. The following, all from Metro's "Till the Clouds Roll By," will sing: Judy Garland, Kathryn Grayson, Frank Sinatra, Tony Martin, Lena Horne and Virginia O'Brien. Robert Walker will read a eulogy written by producer Arthur Freed, while Johnny Green will conduct the orchestra.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The United States State Department news broadcasts into Russia may do more than anything so far to create better understanding between us and the Soviet. This is predicated on the idea that the Soviet leaders themselves need and will welcome a means to knowing more about us and that they will not interfere with or jam them. In any case, the British have been beaming news into Russia in Russian for three months without interference. If the broadcasts can get in, they will be heard by numbers. This is largely because most of the sets in Russia, due to the vast distances there, are short wave ones. This is true throughout much of Europe. They do not have as many sets per capita as we do, of course, but the listening per set is far beyond ours. The Russian radio did not carry Churchill's Fulton, Missouri, speech for several days, because they first had to make up their minds about it, but we could have beamed that right after its delivery. Some of Byrnes' speeches never get into the Russian papers, but they could go over our short wave. "The Voice of America" packs rooms all over Yugoslavia. Since the magazine Amerika is so popular in Russia, with the Soviet even asking for more, our radio news may be an even further link, and a means to the understanding we so desperately need—as fundamental.

In "Henry V" the knights of old
Go riding thataway
With uniforms of red and gold
In elegant array
And gallop in their suits of mail
Like cowboys on the canyon trail.

The archers draw their trusty bows
Like Redskins in the West
And plug the knights in serried rows
With skill and verve and zest.
The arrow foils the sword and lance
In spite of iron coats and pants.

Bill Shakespeare perished long before
The cowboys roamed the land.
He never heard a six-gun roar
Nor saw a rustling band,
But he could write a western play
Way back in old Queen Lizzie's day.

Great Day

RKO RELEASE of a British production made at D & P Studios, in London. Producer, Victor Hanbury. Director, Lance Comfort. Screenplay, John Davenport, Lesley Storm, Wolfgang Wilhelm. From play by Lesley Storm. Photography, Erwin Hillier. Art direction, William C. Andrews. Music, William Alwyn. London Symphony Orchestra directed by Muir Mathieson. Editor, Sidney J. Stone. Sound, J. C. Cook, Desmond Dew.

CAST—Stars Eric Portman and Flora Robson. Features Sheila Sim, Walter Fitzgerald, Isabel Jeans, Philip Friend, Marjorie Rhodes, Margaret Withers, Maire O'Neill, Beatrice Varley, Joan Maud, Patricia Hayes, Pauline Tennant, Jean Shephard, Valentine Dunn, John McLaren, Irene Handl, John Laurie, Kathleen Harrison, Leslie Dwyer, Roy Malcolm.

TRADESHOWN at RKO studios, Hollywood, Calif., July 11, 1946. Running time: 68 MINS.

"Great Day," produced in England, will need strong selling to attract the American market. As it stands, picture is too British for average tastes here; well done from a production standpoint, but lacking in those essentials which American audiences demand. Eric Portman and Flora Robson, in star roles, are names known in this country, but they aren't sufficiently potent to draw to any extent. Film necessarily must stand as supporter fare.

Plot of "Day" is based on the events leading up from 24 hours ahead to the arrival of Eleanor Roosevelt in a small English village. In this span are woven two human stories, the romantic one of Sheila Sim, daughter of the two stars, and the tragic one of the stars themselves. Portman plays a British captain living in the glory of his achievements during World War I, unable to cope with life as he must meet it afterwards, and the shame which comes to him when in a drunken moment he tries to filch a 10-bob note from a woman's purse in the town pub.

Film never actually gets away from its tepid tempo, although certain degree of suspense is reached when Portman goes out into the night avowedly to drown himself after his arrest. First half of the film devotes itself almost entirely to establishing the forthcoming arrival of Mrs. Roosevelt, with bustle and hustle of preparation, without any measure of interest attained until picture is more than half finished. As British pictures of this type go, direction by Lance Comfort is well enough done, and Victor Hanbury as producer accorded feature excellent production values. Photography by Erwin Hilliar, low-key throughout, is far above standard, with art direction by William C. Andrews excellent.

Miss Robson in particular is outstanding, in a warmly sympathetic role, and Portman, as well, delivers a strong characterization although he frequently is difficult to understand. Sheila Sim as the daughter is pretty and talented. Isabel Jeans, whose name is familiar here, appears briefly. Remainder of cast are extremely British.

'Million' Opens

"Feeling Like a Million" opens at the Beaux Arts theatre tonight as the initial presentation of Bearstate Productions. Play is a new farce comedy by Henry Van Dyke.

Vanguard Ups Officers, Forms New Exec Setup

New setup for the executive staff of Vanguard Films, Inc., producers of Selznick International Pictures, was announced yesterday. Argyle Nelson, who has been two years with the organization as production manager and was previously assistant production manager for RKO, is upped to the key job of general studio manager.

Dewey Starkey is being brought over to the Selznick lot immediately as production manager. Starkey was with RKO for 20 years and the past few years has been assistant manager there.

Job of assistant studio manager for overhead, in charge of all departments not directly connected with shooting and editing has been turned over to L. M. Eckert, recent addition to the Selznick organization. Eckert at one time practiced law in St. Louis and recently has been trust officer for the Bank of America in Beverly Hills.

Fred Ahern is moved up to assistant studio manager in charge of departments directly contributing to production. Ahern is now in England directing second unit of Selznick's Alfred Hitchcock production, "The Paradine Case." He was previously with Sol Lesser and Alexander Korda organizations as production manager.

Announcement of the appointments was made by David O. Selznick and Daniel T. O'Shea, Vanguard Films prexy.

Previously announced was the appointment of James Stewart to the newly created post of technical supervisor and the expansion of Hal Kern's job as chief film editor for Selznick.

Small Maps $10 Million Program; Slates Six Pix

Edward Small has begun active preparations on a $10,000,000 production program. Producer has mapped a slate of six top budgeted features to be filmed over a two-year period starting January 1, 1947. His recently concluded deal with Hal Roach calls for him to start production on that date on the Roach lot. Still quartered on the RKO-Pathe lot, Small will move into offices on the Roach lot as soon as facilities are available.

Understood that Small, although dickering with various distributing organizations, is negotiating to renew his United Artists deal under the same terms of his recently concluded pact with that organization. It was learned that UA is not willing to renew the old terms, said to be around 17½ per cent, but is demanding a considerably higher percentage.

First to go on the Roach slate will be "The Life of Rudolph Valentino." The other definite starts are "The O'Flynn," "Lorna Doone," "Kate Fennigate" and two untagged films. Small, together with general manager and treasurer Tom Walker, are currently whipping together a production staff, prior to their move to the Roach lot.

Enterprise Plans Making Top Star Films in England

Enterprise is mapping production plans in Great Britain, it was learned yesterday. David Loew is slated to leave for England in mid-September for negotiations with J. Arthur Rank. Understood that Loew will personally survey studio facilities available for the projected foreign production program.

Tentative plans call for contingent of the Einfeld-Loew combo's star-talent partners, such as Ingrid Bergman, Ginger Rogers, Barbara Stanwyck, John Garfield and Joel McCrea, to star in the English-made pictures. In most instances, Enterprise stars would be teamed with English name players.

In addition to talks on production, Loew will discuss with Rank distribution plans in Great Britain on the six top-budgeted Enterprise films which Universal will release there in 1947. "Ramrod," currently nearing completion, will be first on the release schedule in England to be followed by the "Arch of Triumph."

American Recording Artists Plant Shut

Plant of American Recording Artists has been temporarily closed. Only explanation being given is that some "minor reorganization" is taking place and that plant will soon again be operating full blast. Mark Loeff, in charge here, informed employes that business would soon be on again and that there was no cause for alarm.

UA Seeks Chi Outlet At Erlanger, Shubert

Chicago, July 17.—United Artists, represented by Joe Unger, is trying to obtain additional outlets for its product in Chicago. Dicker is on for either the Erlanger or Shubert. Alternative is a deal for four de luxe nabes on a day-date policy. Clogging of UA films resulted from Essaness circuit's loadup of Metro product.

Night Train To Memphis

(Comedy-Drama)

REPUBLIC RELEASE. Producers and screenplay, Dorrell and Stuart McGowan. Director, Lesley Selander. Photographer, William Bradford. Musical director, Morton Scott. Art, Fred A. Ritter. Sets, John McCarthy, Jr., and George Milo. Orchestral arrangements, Dale Butts. Editor, Tony Martinelli. Sound, Victor Appel. Costumes, Adele Palmer. Special effects, Howard and Theodore Lydecker. Makeup, Bob Mark. Songs: "Night Train to Mmphis" by Smith, Hughes and Bradley; "Sally Goodin" by Mel Force and Fred Rose; "That Glory Bound Train" by Roy Acuff and Odell McLeod.

CAST—Stars Roy Acuff and His Smoky Mountain Boys. Features Allan Lane, Adele Mara, Irving Bacon, Joseph Crehan, Emma Dunn, Roy Barcroft, Kenne Duncan, Leroy Mason, Nicodemus Stewart, Nina Mae McKinney, Francis McDonald.

PREVIEWED at RCA studios, Hollywood, Calif., July 12, 1946. Running time: 66 MINS.

This Roy Acuff starrer, localed in hillbilly-land, will score a dent only in those special situations where the star and ridge-runner music can offset a trite, largely boring yarn presented in series of sequences frequently too dull to arouse interest of almost any audience.

Pawky plot and limp lines militate against all performances. Acuff is naturally enough cast as a Tennessee mountain lad who, between sessions of whining in front of his rustic-rhythm band, strives with the self-abnegation of a saint to untangle a strained situation of the hill habitators hating a railroad. His brother alternately leads the fight against the choo-choos and pitches woo with the r.r. prexy's daughter, whose identity is unknown to him. Story's meanderings are presented in much too grim a fashion and there's no novelty nor element of surprise punch in the denouement.

Acuff frequently seems ill-at-ease and displays enthusiasm only when exercising his vocal chords. As his brother, Allan Lane tries vainly to bring to life a role never clearly delineated by the script. Vet character-type Irving Bacon comes off best as a shiftless trackwalker, largely because he plays down many of his vapid lines and muggs his way. Adele Mara is attractive as the only gal in yarn, albeit her part isn't very credible. Other roles are mere bits, etched adequately by such established character-players as Emma Dunn, Roy Barcroft, Joseph Crehan and Francis McDonald. Nicodemus and Nina Mae McKinney, teamed for Negro "character humor," could not survive such sub-standard material as they were given.

No particular production values asserted themselves to point up this low-budgeter, with top technical credit accruing to lensman William Bradford, who finely framed outdoor shots. And if ever a ditty was reprised to point where it ceased to be monotonous but downright irritating, it is the title song.

BALABAN, KATZ IN PROJECT TO MAKE CHI TELE CENTER

Chicago, July 17. — Balaban & Katz's video station, WBKB, here, hopes to double its present programming schedule within month and build Chicago to position of a major television center. At present 11 hours weekly of live talent, films and remotes are telecast.

Stymied by war for equipment and studio space that Navy was occupying, station now sees room for plans. According to Capt. William B. Eddy, director, plans call for new studio at present site, erection of large theatre-studio on edge of Loop and installation of new transmitting equipment.

Hypoed by sponsorship of wrestling and boxing matches by American Broadcasting Co., WBKB intends extensive coverage of main sports events in area with ABC participating. Installation of new 16m projector has enabled station to extend daily programming with motion picture shorts.

THE GRAPEVINE: In the next couple of days announcement will be made of one of the biggest financial transfusions pumped from Wall Street to Hollywood. Recipient of a record bundle of scratch will be Independent Artists, new indie formed by Frederick Brisson, Rosalind Russell, Dudley Nichols, with Cary Grant also participating. Details of the transaction will knock your hat off—and put Independent Artists into the hotshot class before a camera rolls . . . Next British film topper to hit town will be another of the Rank organization kingpins, Sidney Gilliat. He wrote "Night Train" and "The Lady Vanishes" with Frank Launder. Gilliat, now one of the heads of Individual Pictures, which releases through Rank, will arrive at the end of July . . . Irene Hervey conferred with Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse in their dressing room outside the "Life with Father" set yesterday on her co-starring role with Conrad Nagel in "State of the Union." Getting the picture versions of both under way, plus conducting their legit ventures at long distance, has made it a hectic summer for the pair, so they're going back to Broadway for a rest amid the bucolic charms of Times Square . . . Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor will vacation at Lake Arrowhead when she completes "Cry Wolf" at Warners . . . Bette Davis can't get a phone into her Brentwood home, so she's joined the army of house-hunters.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Reunion for three former Viennese—Billy Wilder, director; Oscar Karlweis, who plays the role of Emperor Franz Joseph, and Paul Elbogen, technical adviser—came about after many years when "The Emperor Waltz" started rolling. A Viennese gag came with it. Said Elbogan: "I knew Karlweis when he was wilder and Wilder when he had no Oscar" . . . Walter Compton insists he saw it on the marquee of a Wilshire boulevard theatre—"The Bride Wore Boots" and Selected Shorts . . . Peter O'Crotty lost his head again. Went to a government surplus property sale again and found himself caught up in the spirit of things. He walked off the owner of a Quonset hut. The only use he can think of for it is to rent it out for skeletons looking for a tin roof. Last time Peter bought 29 whaleboats at an auction . . . Hot out yesterday, wasn't it? Pity Claude Rains for his day's chore. For scenes in "Deception" he was wrapped in a flannel robe, and blanketed to the chin in a massive bed beside a roaring fireplace . . . Chastity rears its demure head even on Hollywood call sheets. For Frank Capra's "It's a Wonderful Life," yesterday's shooting required two actresses to play streetwalkers and an actor to play their —er, agent d'amour. Art Black, the assistant director, had to get this on the call sheet so it could be posted in public places. And this is the way it came out: "For Honky-Tonk scene—One bit man and two-bit women."

CALL SHEET: ROGER PATRICK, KLAC news reporter, got an eviction notice recently—and almost simultaneously an idea for a program broadcasting housing facilities for veterans. In two weeks KLAC rounded up 500 listings and made them available at veterans service centers. But Roger is still looking for a place for himself . . . ZASU PITTS' new cookbook, coming out this fall, refers to muffins as "husband retainers" . . . KEITH JENNISON, of William Sloane Associates, new publishing firm, is in Hollywood interviewing hopeful authors . . . WALTER WANGER masqueraded as Cupid in Chicago. Yesterday at the county clerk's office the producer paid for marriage licenses for the first 25 couples in line and supplied a wedding cake containing diamond ring and wedding band for each couple. By coincidence, no doubt, no doubt, "Canyon Passage" opened the same day . . . BILL GARGAN is venturing on the high seas with Frank Morgan, breaking in the latter's new yacht . . . ANN REVERE planes out for New York today via American Airlines . . . BILL DEMAREST is spending a month at Balboa with rod and reel . . . NICHOLAS JOY, having completed his role in "Dishonored Lady," is taking off for a summer stock appearance at Ogunquit, Me. This fall he goes into a top role in the Theatre Guild production of Eugene O'Neill's new play "The Iceman Cometh."

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: The Jerry Walds are doing their best to help the Warners' 20th Anniversary of Sound celebration. They expect their second baby to arrive Aug. 6, big day of the celebration . . . The Ray Nobles' passport applications for a return to his native England were turned down. They were told only those with business could obtain passports . . . George Handy and Huntz Hall, house-mates, tossed a soiree a few nights ago with Woody Herman's and Boyd Raeburn's bandsmen sitting in on the jazz jounce . . . Least envied man along music row this week is Nat Winecoff, president of the songpluggers' union. He has been nominated to collect $1 from each of 117 members to pay for an ad in the benefit program put out by their NY branch . . . Frank Sinatra showed up at the Avodon last night to catch the opening of Jan Savitt's band. He owns a piece of the recently-formed crew . . . Second generation note: Charlie Einfeld's 17-year-old son, Richard, is learning the business during summer vacation. His break-in job is office-boy in the Schulberg-Rubine publicity offices . . . OFF THE LOTS: Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powell at Billingsley's. Rudy Vallee opened his new barbecue pit at his hilltop home, with venison donated by Lon Chaney, Jr., as the main attraction. Paul Mantz is going to Honolulu for his vacation. Janis Carter planes to Cleveland Sunday to reign as queen of the Sesquicentennial celebration July 22 . . . Dona Drake, now playing a lead in Sol Wurtzel's "Dangerous Millions," more or less proudly claims her initials (for her legal name, Dona Drake Trujillo) are also—D.D.T.

'ANNA AND KING' PREEMING FOR EXAMINER FUND

"Anna and the King of Siam" gets a premiere at the Chinese theatre tonight with all the usual preem trappings for sendoff. The 20th-Fox production starts its regular run at the Chinese, Loew State and Fox Uptown tomorrow, following three-week run of "Smoky" and "It Shouldn't Happen to a Dog."

Grandstand seats, searchlights and guest list of film personalities have been set for opening, proceeds from which go to Examiner charity fund.

Capra Casts Ex-Stars

Dorothy Grainger and Dorothy Sebastian, former screen stars, were cast yesterday in featured roles in Frank Capra's "It's a Wonderful Life."

Willock For 'Dorseys'

Dave Willock, radio comedian, was signed by Charles R. Rogers yesterday for a featured role in "The Fabulous Dorseys."

AUSTRIA TO GET PIC BIZ BACK

Washington, July 17. — A great part of the Austrian film business, now under the U.S. Army control there, will be turned back to private Austrian interests to operate, it was indicated today by the War Department.

"In the realm of internal affairs," a War Department report said in part, "plans have been made for turning over custody and control of all Austrian Nazi property to the Austrian ministry for property control and economic planning as soon as satisfactory restitution laws have been passed by the Austrian Parliament and approved by the Allied Council."

KRANZE WILL HEAD UNITED WORLD PIX EASTERN SALES

Bernard G. Kranze yesterday was named eastern sales manager for United World Pictures by William J. Heineman, UWP general sales manager. Announcement was made following meetings yesterday with International toppers William Goetz and William Dozier. Kranze, who is resigning from his current berth as eastern central district manager for RKO, checks into new chore Monday.

Heineman, who is here with UWP exploitation chief Monroe Greenthal, is expected to disclose additional sales personnel before returning to New York next week. Pair also are mapping strong sales and exploitation campaign for first of ten International films for UWP release, "The Dark Mirror." The UWP sales force is expected to be completed within the next month, with its initial release of International product set for around the first of next year.

A. Pam Blumenthal has checked into his offices at Enterprise where he will remain for two months during his stay on the Coast. Vice prexy will confer with David Loew and Charles Einfeld on productions of "Ramrod" and "Arch of Triumph."

For the Record!

To make its position perfectly clear . . . to eliminate any question as to where it stands . . . the Screen Publicists Guild at its June membership meeting adopted the eight-point program below. Actually, there's nothing new in this program, which provides for a democratic review of the Guild's policies, program and affiliations after the NLRB election . . . but we are putting it on the record again to eliminate any doubt as to where the Guild stands.

The Guild Pledges:

1. That there will be no penalties or discrimination against any eligible publicist regardless of previous affiliation.
2. That the constitution and by-laws will be resubmitted to the full membership for approval or modification.
3. That there will be nomination of officers within 30 days and elections within 60 days after NLRB certification.
4. That the incumbent president, vice-president, recording secretary, financial secretary and treasurer of the SPG will not be candidates for re-election in 1946.
5. That following NLRB certification the SPG will seek a more appropriate A. F. of L. affiliation.
6. That at the same time all other union affiliations of the SPG will be submitted individually to the full membership for approval or termination.
7. That immediately after certification the entire membership shall vote upon the terms of the final 1946-47 contract, which shall then be negotiated with the producers.
8. That all other matters concerning the Guild shall be referred to the membership for its democratic action.

The Guild IS and will continue to be a thoroughly democratic union — controlled by its members without any outside interference!

REMEMBER — THE UNION WHICH WINS THE NLRB ELECTION WILL REPRESENT YOU FOR THE REST OF YOUR PROFESSIONAL CAREER!

THINK BEFORE YOU VOTE!

NAME BANDS DROP CANADA TOWNS AS SLOW BIZ HITS

Ballroom business has become so bad in Canadian Northwest keys that operators have cancelled tours of at least three name bands, booked out of here. Les Brown was scheduled for trek through Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatchewan, Edmonton and Calgary following forthcoming stand at Palladium, and all spots cancelled. Louis Prima, current at Casino Gardens, had eight dates in Canuck territory scratch ork this week and entire Lionel Hampton spread of ten one-niters, carded for August, has been cancelled by danceries.

Duke Ellington, presently one-niting upstate, found ballroom box-offices taking a beating when he cruised across Canada last month. Last stout business done by a Yank name combo in the territory was the string of profits induced by Spike Jones early in May.

Music Merchants To Hold OPA Prices

Chicago, July 17.—Resolution to hold prices of musical instruments at current OPA levels was adopted yesterday by National Association of Music Merchants, as first post-war convention opened here. Approximately 7,000 are attending the confab, including about 20 execs from Hollywood pop-platteries and twice that number from NY.

NLRB Holds Up Guild Tele Poll Okay

New York, July 17.—Although the Radio Director's Guild won the recent labor election in CBS television division, official NLRB certification will not be forthcoming until after the IATSE convention. Latter organization is seeking to establish itself in television on the grounds it is more akin to films than radio.

LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

Some months ago before Charlie Luckman was made prez of Lever Bros. we engaged him in a bit of dialogue on this 'n' that in radio, knowing at the time he was being groomed for Francis Countway's job as head of the soap empire. As you recall, Luckman's Popsodent outfit sponsored Amos 'n' Andy for nine years and later dropped them while they were still in their heyday. We asked Luckman point-blank his reasons to see if they coincided with ours. Sure as shootin' they did, our theory being that a program that racked up the same virtual rating year in and year out meant that the show had a set audience and those among them that weren't using the dentifrice by then would never use it. Therefore, the only out would be to get a new audience. So a Walt Disney show was tried out without success and then Luckman latched on to Bob Hope. For eight years now the top comic has flirted with the same audience average albeit high as it is. Which set us to wondering whether Luckman still holds to his old theory. Of course he can switch him to another Lever product but there's still another angle to be reckoned with. Hope has been trying to get his release from Pepsodent for some time on the reported assumption that he resents Luckman's loose talk about discovering the comic and making him what he is today. If Luckman still clings to his theory of new audiences via new shows the possibility must then exist that Hope may get his liberty despite the long term contract that rivets him to the Leverhulmes. Mebbe not this coming season but perhaps in '47.

Few agencies were ever launched with brighter prospects of success in the radio field than Colwell, Stauffer, Bayles & Sullivan (if that's how the listing will read). All partners are grounded in radio, have a wide acquaintance among advertisers and are staunch champions of the superiority of broadcasting over other sales media. It's no trade secret that an agency account executive would prefer to see the ad dollar, or the biggest slice of it, earmarked for newspapers and magazines. The headaches are fewer, the margin of profit greater and the results more tangible and easier traced. Results are based on circulation, and what's readership to the space men is receiving set volume to the air billers. Account execs are harder to sell on radio than the advertising director of a big outfit, say some of the seasoned vets. With four solid radio men at the crux of the operation the emphasis will be on time sales but there'll also be plenty of activity in other media.

Chain breaks . . . Kate Smith and General Foods will likely part company after the coming season. At the insistence of Ted Collins, all contracts with KS must be signed year in advance. This time GF let it lapse . . . This story drifts in from the east. On the last ''Information Please'' broadcast for Socony-Vacuum, package owner Dan Golenpaul espied a group of people in the wings. ''Who Are They?'' he barked to the network director. When told they were S-V execs he ordered them off stage. Strange, isn't it, that Collins and Golenpaul should rub against each other in this stick of type. Oh, you know why . . . Mike Kirk lost out on another pitch, his quarry being Tony Martin, Dinah Shore and Victor Young for Texaco . . . For the third season ''Man Called X'' out-rates all other summer replacements . . . Ken Dolan east to wrap up the Dennis Day deal (Colgate) with Tom Harrington . . . Dick Gibson checked out of MCA . . . Year and a half ago Gracie Allen started her daily boxed feature in 32 papers. She now has 102.

There'll be a new alignment of personnel in a dozen agencies when the tape is broken on the new season. Topside, new names will appear on the Hollywood directories at Foote, Cone & Belding, McCann & Erickson, Roche Williams & Cleary, Milton Biow, N. W. Ayer, Kastor, Chesley & Farrell. Several others are planning changes and with new commission houses to set up shop here the agents will be doing business with many old faces at new stands. Shakeups, if they can be called that, are generally intended to bolster staffs to be reflected in the quality of shows so perhaps such an occasional reshuffle must average-wise have beneficial results. Change of scenery also acts as a stimulant, making for better efficiency all around.

Hitch hikes . . . Contracts have been signed for Dinah Shore to head up her own show for Ford beginning Sept. 18. She takes over the current Bob Crosby time, with CBS filling the eight hiatus weeks. Her weekly take is $4,000 and she'll have a strong supporting cast to follow Frank Sinatra on Wednesday . . . Jack Van Nostrand is leaving Ruthrauff & Ryan to head up the Hollywood office of Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles. Shingle goes out around Sept. 6 when the new agency takes over ''Mayor of the Town'' for Noxema. He was editor and program supervisor for R & R . . . David Schwartz and Norman Paul, formerly scripters for Alan Young, join Johnny Rapp and Izzy Ellinson on Eddie Cantor's gag shift . . . Sanka is moving ''Thin Man'' from Sunday to Friday on CBS Aug. 9 for an 8:30 airing east and west . . . Irving Reis, who directed the first issue of Columbia Workshop, will be back at his old post Sunday for the broadcast of Artie Shaw's ''Pied Piper'' . . . L. D. Larimer has been named head of CBS Radio Sales in Hollywood, moving up from the sales staff . . . You'll be hearing Walter Winchell's summer subs, Ben Grauer, Quentin Reynolds and Florence Pritchett, for the next five weeks . . . Rudy Vallee swaps banter with Tommy Dorsey on latter's Sunday program . . . It will be the voice of Bob Stevens you'll be hearing while Dick Haymes is on holiday.

KAYE JUMPS TO FRISCO, DODGES NITERIES MEET

The battle between American Guild of Variety Artists and ten of the top local niteries over union's demand that all spots post cash bonds covering two-week floor show salaries and adhere to six-day work weeks moved to new and surprise phase yesterday when Arthur Kaye, western regional chief of AGVA, left for San Francisco to inaugurate same campaign there. Max Sisenwein, attorney repping the niteries here, had expected to session with Kaye on Friday in effort to obtain modification of demands, but it definitely is understood Kaye will not return until next Tuesday, eve of final day he has given niteries to agree to demands or have show ordered out by union.

Kaye's departure precludes any lengthy confabbing with Sisenwein, and is in line with his policy, announced some time ago, of refusing to dicker collectively with the niteries. The ten embattled spots are Ciro's, Trocadero, Bar of Music, Earl Carroll's, Florentine, Charley Foy's, Band Box, Tom Breneman's, Larry Potter's, and Slapsy Maxie's. Meanwhile Matt Shelvey, national director of AGVA headquartered in NY, has ordered local office to disseminate no information of any sort to the press. This is first instance here of any union flatly refusing to issue any statements or answer any questions leveled by trade or daily publications.

CAPITOL PRESSURES FOR PLATTERS TO FILL ORDERS

Though able to hit market on promised date of July 1 with new product, Capitol Transcriptions has not been able to live up to letter of agreements with stations and furnish enough platters for broadcasters to build regular programming. Situation has transcribery on defensive and pressuring local RCA plant, where it manufactures, to hypo output.

RCA's pressing is said to be top quality, but in view of being outside jobber, plus fact that Capitol is stressing its product as "Music From Hollywood," idea of opening its own local plant is being talked. Capitol Records, parent company, already has small plant here, though concentrating on Scranton, Pa., giant works. Addition may be made on what's here or new shop built.

role will be cast shortly.

"Here's my formula for licking the star system," Sturges told Daily Variety. "Get yourself a good story—a really good one. That's what I've got, and that's why I don't need the insurance that stars are supposed to give for box office success."

For his experiment, Sturges has chosen the Prosper Merimee satire on war, "Columba," which he adapted for his "Vendetta" script.

Down Mexico Way

By LUISA MARIA ALVAREZ

Mexico City, July 17.—Shooting of "Los Cristeros," Raul de Anda production, is under way at Azteca Studios.

"Cristeros" comes from the word "Cristo" (Christ), but is not used to denote Christians, rather, the word was coined here some years ago, during the Calles regime. Persecuted Catholics turned rebels against the government which closed their churches and allegedly murdered their people. They put up a heroic fight throughout Mexico. These fighting Catholics were called "cristeros."

KFI, NBC OPEN PROMOTION WAR IN LA AREA

area's time buyers. NBC will, of course, continue to fill considerable amounts of station's time, but no time will be lost by KFI in effort to keep old accounts of its own and to encourage new ones despite competition presented by prestige given other stations affiliated with net. Fall of this year will see campaign in full swing.

Net dependency on KFI lessens with the new associations. Situation is certain to increase ill feeling that already exists between mother and foster-child. And with KMPC reportedly flirting like mad with NBC on prospect of its getting 50,000 watts—and equalling KFI's coverage—net is placed in better bargaining position than ever when renewal with KFI comes up next year. Latter may not afford exactly the coverage KFI's strong signal and experience offers, but strategic satellites may take up slack. Recently KFI has also taken to announcing itself more frequently as the NBC outlet where once it was reluctant to glorify net.

Another bogey enters picture as possible NBC outlet. J. Frank Burke, owner of KFVD, which has been recently okayed for power boost to 5,000 watts, is said to be thinking networkwise.

Stokowski Inked For 'Carnegie Hall'

Leopold Stokowski has been signed to conduct the New York Philharmonic orchestra in the William Le Baron-Boris Morros production, "Carnegie Hall," Morros announced yesterday before leaving for New York to join Le Baron. were hosts to the press at an elaborate cocktail party. On the receiving end of questions fired by reporters, besides Walsh, were Thomas J. Shea, his assistant; William P. Raoul, secretary-treasurer; and Eugene Atkinson, business manager of Motion Picture Operators Union, Local 110, Chicago, which is being used by the "Bennett Committee' to smear Walsh's administration.

DISOWNS BIOFF, BROWNE

In denying charges leveled at him, Walsh said "no friends of Willie Bioff or George E. Browne are in this organization.

"I wouldn't tolerate any racketeers in the union. They were all thrown out a few years ago, and I challenge anyone attending the convention to prove that there are any left."

Atkinson and the others chimed in with "that goes for us, too," referring back to a convention held shortly after Bioff and Browne were sent to jail, when 900 delegates gave them a vote of confidence as proof.

BENNETT HAT IN RING

Atkinson also said that he talked with William Bennett, candidate for the presidency, from Washington, D. C., and that Bennett denied he had any connection with the "Chicago for Bennett" committee. Headed by Ora D. Bebb, former official of the Chicago local. Bennett has his hat in the ring. However, he said, but not through any tie-up with Bebb.

Regarding organizing theatre managers, Walsh said that George Dunn, president of the NY Motion Picture Managers and Assistant Managers Guild, has asked IATSE to grant his group a charter so that they might organize members throughout the county. Dunn, he said, will present his case to the executive board Friday, at which time that group will act upon the request and submit its findings to the convention.

Grand Entrance

The Roosevelts have a gift for getting the breaks in showmanship. Jimmy Roosevelt's car was smashed yesterday in a collision and he himself narrowly escaped injury—but the delay gave him a perfect entrance at the Will Rogers, Jr., campaign luncheon at the Biltmore, where he arrived just as the last speaker had finished, getting his introduction from Chairman Phil Doyle and a big hand from the audience as he strode clear across the room to the speakers' table.

Not so long ago...

MAYBE you don't remember it, but not many years ago fast, fine-grained panchromatic films like Ansco Supreme Negative simply did not exist.

Workers of an earlier day did the best they could with what they had.

Today the cinematographers who use Supreme Negative film reap the benefit of Ansco's years of photographic research and experience—the same unceasing effort to produce better things which was in a large measure responsible for two awards from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences "for major achievement in research and emulsion manufacture . . ."

The Ansco Supreme Negative film of 1946 is a still finer film, thoroughly reliable in every respect and worthy of your complete confidence.

$13,000,000 ABC ISSUE OK

Washington, July 18.—The Federal Communications Commission today okayed American Broadcasting Company's plan to refinance through sale of 950,000 shares of common stock to the public, for approximately $13,200,000. Under the deal, ABC affiliates get first call on the stock at $1.00 per share less than it will be offered to the public.

At the same time, FCC, by a vote of four-to-two approved ABC's purchase of the King-Trendle Broadcasting Co. Station WXYZ, Detroit; and Wood, Grand Rapids. But FCC said ABC would have to hold assets of the Grand Rapids station in trust until FCC okays its resale to the Liberty Broadcasting Co. Under Commission rules, ABC cannot control WENR, Chicago. FCC members Clifford J. Durr and Paul Walker voted against transfer.

CRAWFORD EYES BRITAIN

Joan Crawford wants to make her final picture under her current deal with Warner Bros. in England, it was learned yesterday. Actress, currently starring in the Jerry Wald production, "Possessed," is also asking for Wald to handle the production chore abroad.

Understood that actress would okay an all-English cast and technical crew. If deal goes through, she would be ready for the chore early next year.

Canadian B'casting Called Aide of Spies

Ottawa, July 18.—The Canadian Broadcasting Corp. and the National Film Board today were accused by Norman Jacques, member of the House of Commons, of aiding the success of Soviet espionage campaign in this country. Jacques asserted that CBC and the board "helped sell Communism to Canada."

Army Bars Soldiers From Competing With Musicians

The American Federation of Musicians' campaign, waged since V-J Day, to get the U.S. Army to rule against uniformed bands playing gratis dates has borne fruit. It was learned yesterday that a brand-new Army Regulations amendment, issued from Washington, expressly forbids any enlisted man's playing a musical engagement of any description which otherwise a civilian could fill.

All commands have been notified that the rule stands regardless of whether servicemen would play for free a certain date which automatically civilian musickers would accept only with emolument. Reading of the lengthy amendment plainly indicates that Army personnel must hereafter confine themselves to purely military music-making.

U.S. ASKED TO ACT BY MPTOA

Washington, July 18.—Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America officials today urged the Department of Justice to make an "all embracing" appeal of the New York Big Five decision to the Supreme Court.

Spokesmen for the agency huddled with Robert Wright, motion picture specialist of the anti-trust division and hit particularly at the single

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

"CLOAK and Dagger" gets a hand for its technical authenticity in a letter received by Warners from Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin, commanding officer of the 82nd Airborne Division. The general, after seeing some of the stills, compliments the studio on Gary Cooper's costuming and manner in the show, saying that the men in the division at Ft. Bragg "have been taken with the genuineness of Cooper's appearance in the parachute sequences, even to the sag in the pistol belt. Technical advisers for the paratroop sequences in the film, who can now take a bow, were Lieut. Mike Watson, now with Paranews and formerly of the 101st Airborne Division, and Lieut. Col. Barney Oldfield, one time G-2 of the 82nd and now a Warner flack.

ALTHOUGH John Miljan has only had five sympathetic parts in the 284 roles he has played for the screen, Warner Bros.' statisticians state he can take a bow for his chore in the first 100 per cent talking picture. There was a difference between 100-per centers and all-talkers, latter meaning that all film dialog was spoken. In Warner Bros.' "Terror," Miljan donned high hat, carnival mask, and flowing cape, stepped into the camera range cold and said: "Ladies and gentlemen, the title of this picture is 'The Terror,' which was directed by . . ." and then he rattled off the cast and credits by word of mouth. Not a title or word of print appeared on the screen, all such clarifications being made with announcements by Miljan.

INDIE broadcasters are looking askance at their running mate, KFWB. With negotiations on technician wage about concluded between indies and International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, other stations feel KFWB wasn't quite the help it might have been—an attitude union was well aware of, and which helped union drive home bitter bargain. Feeling is that Warners studio situation too obviously precluded any chance that KFWB would be in there pitching with rest on a showdown. Besides, it's felt, Warner station hardly went through motions of cooperating since Harry Maizlish was sole manager not to participate personally.

ALL French studios are currently in full production, it was learned yesterday, with between 60 and 70 films earmarked for completion by the end of the year. In addition, plans are nearing conclusion for the new studio, Cite du Cinema, to be erected at Mougins, on the Riviera. Latter plant, when built will be the biggest studio in France, and one of the largest in Europe. Three private French film firms are backing the venture, but under government control. The French government, it is indicated, will help finance production there.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The demotion of Marshal Zhukov and other marshals of the Russian High Command, if true, can be most important to future relations between Russia and the United States. When the war was just over and the military were the heroes, they had such prestige that Stalin had to give recognition to a few of them. He thus made Zhukov, for instance, a member of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet, and commander of the ground forces. In the face of talk that the marshals might even put a ticket into the field against the Communists at the next elections, reported by the Red Army newspapers in Vienna, Budapest and elsewhere, Stalin then tried to absorb the marshals into the party fold. Now that the echoes have died, he's apparently kicking them out, feeling the time has come when that can be done without repercussions. He probably did not want to let them retain high policy positions because they are not party men, they have ideas of their own, and they could, in time, upset the CP inner circle. They are the ones reputed mainly responsible for the Soviet expansion, for acting on the premise that what has been taken by the Russians with blood belongs to the Soviet forevermore. If they are now out, the expansionist theme may now be changed to one that will admit of more cooperation with us for peace.

Retakes

By GEORGE E. PHAIR

It is a restful thing to see a western picture play
Where cowboys mount their trusty steeds and gallop thataway.
When drama stalks across the screen it keeps your mind awake
And makes you wonder what strange course the tragedy will take
But when the sheriff calls his boys and hustles out of town
To save the rancher's daughter and to track the rustlers down,
You know that justice will prevail when evening shadows creep,
And so you settle down and spend an hour in peaceful sleep.

Theatre fans in the Midwest are yelling for vaudeville as an adjunct to their film fare, take it from Ozie Waters, ace discer of Coast Records, after a six-week tour of that sector. A few years ago vaudeville was an unknown quantity among the younger generation. Then the war came and millions of boys went overseas where they saw and heard thesps performing in person, for the first time in their young lives. They liked it so much that they want more. Midwest operators have made known the demands of their customers to the circuit chiefs, but nothing has been done about it to date. Old Man Vaude may return to life via the Midwest cornfields. Who knows?

Cuban Pete

(Musical)

UNIVERSAL RELEASE. Executive producer, Howard Welsch. Associate producer, Will Cowan. Director, Jean Yarbrough. Screenplay, Robert Presnell, Sr. and M. Coates Webster. Original story, Bernard Feins. Photography, Maury Gertsman. Art direction, Jack Otterson and Abraham Grossman. Set decorations, Russell A. Gausman and T. F. Offenbecker. Technician, Jess Moulin. Musical direction, Milton Rosen. Sound, Bernard B. Brown. Dialogue director, Bob O'Connor. Gowns, Vera West. Makeup, Jack P. Pierce. Film editor, Otto Ludwig.

CAST—Desi Arnaz, Joan Fulton, Beverly Simmons, Don Porter, Jacqueline De Wit, King Sisters, Ethel Smith, Pedro De Cordoba, Igor De Navrotzki, Yvette Von Koris.

PREVIEWED at Universal Studios, Studio City, Cal., July 18, 1946. Running time: 61 MINS.

"Cuban Pete" is a mixture of Desi Arnaz and his orchestra, a little bit of Ethel Smith at the organ, some King Sisters, and a story that sags under even the light weight of the musical numbers. The picture's box office prospects, in consequence, depend pretty largely on how much of a vogue there is for the Arnaz outfit and the King Sisters. The Ethel Smith name on the marquee will help, but she appears briefly in the picture in only one number to justify the billing. She gets across nicely, however, her rendition of "The Breeze and I" being one of the highlights of the show.

Arnaz makes a good job of selling the songs "After Tonight," "Rhumba Matumba," "Cuban Pete" and "El Cumbanchero," working with the King Sisters in the last named. The Sisters group gives characteristic performance in "Lullaby" and "Cielito Lindo."

Joan Fulton makes a good eyeful in the femme lead, which is about all the part demands. Jacqueline De Wit gives a good characterization as the eccentric femme sponsor of a radio program, and Don Porter handles a thin part adequately.

Story is concerned with efforts of Miss Fulton, as ad agency representative, to get Arnaz to New York for a radio program, the determination of Miss De Wit to sing with the band and the adventures and embarrassments resulting therefrom. It all adds up to a few laughs, a bit of romance and a lot of music.

Director Jean Yarbrough has paced the action pretty slowly in spots, but this may be due to deficiencies in script rather than direction.

Production by Howard Welsch and Will Cowan is technically creditable. Picture is nicely mounted and photography by Maury Gertsman is notably good. Milton Rosen can take a bow for the musical direction.

Blair, Pingatore Inked

Janet Blair has been signed for a co-star singing role in "The Fabulous Dorseys" by Charles R. Rogers. Also inked was Mike Pingatore, Paul Whiteman's ace banjoist, who will portray himself in the musical biography.

'Venture' on Way

"Dangerous Venture," third picture of the Hopalong Cassidy current series, rolled yesterday at Lone Pine. George Archainbaud directs the William Boyd starrer.

Erle Kenton will direct "Mark of the Raja" for Universal. Charles Schneer will be associate producer.

Film Reviews

The Gentleman Misbehaves

(Comedy with Music)

COLUMBIA RELEASE. Producer, Alexis Thurn-Taxis. Director, George Sherman. Screenplay by Robert Wyler and Richard Weil from story by Wyler and John B. Clymer. Photography, Philip Tannura. Film editor, Gene Havlick. Art director, Jerome Pycha, Jr. Set decorations, James Crowe. Gowns, Jean Louis. Sound, Frank Goodman. Musical director, Mario Silva. Assistant director, Chris Beute.

CAST — Robert Stanton, Osa Massen, Hillary Brooke, Frank Sully, Dusty Anderson, Shemp Howard, Sheldon Leonard, Jimmy Lloyd, Chester Clute.

REVIEWED at Pantages theatre, Hollywood, July 18, 1945. Running time: 74 MINS.

"The Gentleman Misbehaves" is a backstage musical about an actor-producer with endless woman trouble. It has a number of bright moments and an equal number of cliches. But it's above average for its class and ought to do nicely on the lower shelf of the duals. Writing, directing and editing keep it moving fast enough to carry over the cornier passages, and the cast acquits itself with full honors.

"Gentleman" in the title is Robert Stanton, who plays an irresponsible impresario, who wakes up with a hangover the day after his show flops and rapidly becomes involved in more trouble than an icebag and a bromo can cure. He marries a French girl, who wants to become an American citizen (Cliche No. 1), and who promises him $5000 for the courtesy. She doesn't have the five grand, however. She manages to straighten him out with his blonde star, played by Hillary Brooke, but also manages to get him into a jam with a pair of tough gamblers. When the musical-within-a-musical's curtain comes down, Stanton has a hit, the gambler has his dough, the French-born wife has a baby and the plot is sewed up like a Christmas goose.

Stanton, who bears a close physical resemblance to Orson Welles, a slighting dismaying coincidence at times, comes off with honors as the actor-producer and shows aptitude at romantic comedy. Osa Massen, in a happy bit of casting, packs a lot of charm and lift into her role of the French girl who circumvents the immigration department and her husband. Hillary Brooke is attractive as the stage star, and Sheldon Leonard gets more out of his role as a sentimental thug than the writers put into the script. Frank Sully, Chester Clute and Jimmy Lloyd click in lesser roles.

Alexis Thurn-Taxis injected plenty of entertainment into a low-budgeter, and can share bows for keeping it alive, moving and amusing.

'James' Serial Titled

"Jesse James Rides Again" is title of the initial 13-chapter serial, which Mike Frankovich will produce for Republic with Fred Brannon directing. Frankovich succeeds Ron Davidson as serial producer on the Valley lot.

Louis Hayward Shift

Henry Levin has had to shoot around Louis Hayward in Columbia's "The Return of Monte Cristo." Actor was called back to Hunt Stromberg's for added scenes in "Strange Woman."

The Desert Horseman

(Western with Music)

CAST — Charles Starrett, Smiley Burnette, Adelle Roberts, Richard Bailey, John Merton, George Morgan, Tommy Coates, Jack Kirk, Bud Osborne, Riley Hill and Walt Shrum and his Colorado Hillbillies.

REVIEWED at Hitching Post theatre, Hollywood, Calif., July 18, 1946. Running time: 59 MINS.

This time Charles Starrett plays a triple role, all on the same horse, as the Durango Kid, an outlaw, Steve Godfrey, an honest buckaroo, and Capt. Steve Grant, a cavalry officer who is on the lam from the Army on account of he has been framed and court-martialed for sticking up Uncle Sam's paymaster. Naturally you know it wasn't Capt. Steve who stuck up the paymaster, so you wait to see how Charles unscrambles the three-way complication, with the help of his trusty friend, Smiley Burnett, who was Charles' orderly in the Army and is now working as a cook on the Jarvis ranch where the skullduggery is breaking loose.

Charles is camping near the ranch where Old Man Jarvis is bumped off by a desert rat, who is not a desert rat at all, but a slick lawyer, played by Richard Bailey, who has designs on the ranch. Charles is a chump in the early reels, falling for this guy Bailey, who not only is trying to grab the ranch from Adelle Roberts, niece of the deceased owner, but who is really the miscreant who robbed the U.S. paymaster and tossed the blame on Charles. After everybody in the audience knew it, Charles finally opens Bailey's safe and discovers the U.S. loot, so he starts out after Bailey but is flung into jail as an Army deserter.

That difficulty is solved as usual by a jailbreak. All a western hero needs to break a jail is a comic friend and a can opener. So they start out to save Adelle, who is in the clutches of the nasty lawyer and is about to be bumped off unless she signs the papers. The gal is ready to put her signature on the fatal document when in gallops Charles and Smiley with their six-guns ready for action.

This time Charles doesn't ride out into the setting sunlight looking for another adventure. He is going back into the Army.

'Union' Rehearsals

"State of the Union" Coast company will start rehearsals Monday with Howard Lindsay, co-author with Russell Crouse, directing. Conrad Nagel, Irene Hervey and Henry O'Neill top the cast. Play opens in San Diego Aug. 15 and at the Biltmore theatre in Los Angeles Aug. 19.

Pal Teeing Live Pic

George Pal will tee off his first live action and Puppetoon combination Sept. 19 with Louis Armstrong as the "flesh" star. Jasper will be the Puppet star of the picture.

'Suds' Casting Starts

Jack Kirkland has begun casting for "Suds in Your Eye," which will open in Portland, Ore., July 29.

A Boy, A Girl And A Dog

(Comedy-Drama)

FILM CLASSICS RELEASE. Producer, W. R. Frank. Associate producer, Fred W. Kane. Director, Herbert Kline. Screenplay, Maurice Clark and Irving Fineman. Story, Leopold Atlas. Adaptation, Herbert Kline. Photography, Edward Hull. Editor, Marguerite Francisco.

CAST — Jerry Hunter, Sharyn Moffett, Harry Davenport, Lionel Stander, Charles Williams, Charlotte Treadway, Howard Johnson, John Vosper, Nancy Evans.

REVIEWED at Paramount theatre, Los Angeles, Calif., July 18, 1946. Running time: 72 MINS.

This mediocrity has been around for about three years, and its popularity with exhibs can be attested to by fact that this is first opportunity a local reviewer has had a chance to glim it. Unfortunately, the yarn and its handling are so dated now, it suffers an added handicap in getting booked.

Strictly an indie effort on a slim sheath of banknotes, picture was produced by W. R. Frank, operator of chain of theatres in Minnesota. In the main, it reflects the unprofessional, unsure hands which fashioned it. Story tells of two tots, boy and girl neighbors, who adopt and keep hidden a pooch against parents' consent. When finally they can't continue ruse, they turn over quadruped to Army K-9 Corps, and promptly the purp proves a hero in New Guinea conflict with Japs. All's well that ends well, but in this instance with no shade of Shakespearean touch.

Lionel Stander strives hard, in role of soldier who handles dog once it gets into Army, but no number of studied character antics could have enabled him to thrash his way out of the morass of muddled material handed him. Harry Davenport's talents are wasted. As the children, Jerry Hunter and Sharyn Moffett try vainly against heavy odds to make credible their roles. Other parts are bits.

No noteworthy technical accomplishments evidenced themselves. The dog used got no billing, but he must have sensed what paces he was being put through, for he is the most bored pooch performer sighted on the screen in a long time.

RKO Starts '47 Shorts

RKO will roll the first of its 1946-47 shorts Monday with Edgar Kennedy topping the comedy cast. Hal Yates will direct his own screenplay. "Home Made Home," with George Bilson producing. Florence Lake, Dot Farley and Jack Rice lend support.

Hodiak, Scott Co-Star

John Hodiak has been signed to star opposite Lizabeth Scott in "Desert Town" by Hal Wallis. Actor moves over on loanout deal with Metro. Picture will roll Aug. 15.

Stephenson in 'Stretch'

Henry Stephenson has been handed featured role in "The Homestretch" at 20th-Fox. Film stars Cornel Wilde, Maureen O'Hara and Helen Walker.

Fairbanks Preps 'Exile'

Douglas Fairbanks moves into his office at International next week to start preparing "The Exile," which moves Oct. 1.

WALSH SHOOS REDS AWAY; INVITES WAR ON TELE

Chicago, July 18.—Any attempt by Communist elements to gain influence in the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes will be fought vigorously at the union's thirty-eighth biennial convention according to Richard F. Walsh, union president. Convention gets under way next Monday at Stevens hotel.

Walsh said "We will not tolerate Communism in any form. If there are such elements who aim to bring destruction into our ranks, we will do our best to dispose of them. If the theories of Lenin and Stalin appeal so much to them, let them go to the land of the Soviets and practice them there. We shall fight them here."

Possibility of a jurisdictional dispute between the IATSE and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers was foreseen here after Walsh's statement that the IA claims to represent "everybody in the studio" at television broadcasts. Walsh admitted that this policy would bring the union into conflict with the IBEW which claims jurisdiction over men who operate video cameras.

Organization of television employes will be one of the main pieces of discussion at the convention next week.

Stanfield Off To Line Up 16m Biz

Jack Stanfield, v-p of United Sixteenmillimeter Society, has left on motor trip through southwest and south to do spade work for USS in lining up producers, exhibitors and distributors. He'll contact through portion of Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Kentucky and Tennessee. While missionarying, he will also stop off at hometown of Cleveland, Tenn., to help his father reorganize family photographic business.

Mary Hatcher Top In 'Variety Girl'

Mary Hatcher, currently femme lead in "Oklahoma" at the Biltmore theatre, has been set to return to Paramount as the title player in "Variety Girl." Film will offer first top film role for the actress.

KFXM Hikes Gabbers

Station KFXM, San Bernardino, has signed new wage agreement with American Federation of Radio Artists granting announcers 20 per cent pay increase. Gabbers will be boosted to $48 from $40, and deal is retroactive to July 1.

ENT INSURES ALL EMPLOYES

Enterprise Productions yesterday announced that group life, dismemberment and sickness insurance has been taken for all employes and that the company would defray the total cost for the first year.

Announcement was made by letter from David L. Loew, chairman of the board; and Charles Einfeld, president. Participating insurance firms are Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. and Liberty Mutual Insurance Co.

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: It's probably too blasted hot (the weather, that is) to worry about somebody else's libido, but a Culver City director better start treading water in his emotional situation. His current heart-throb's best girl friend is also the b.g.f. of his wife, who to date does not know what her husband is doing in his off-hours from studio and home . . . Wolverine note: Doug Fairbanks will test four girls for the Dragon Lady role—drool, drool—in his production of "Terry and the Pirates" today before International cameras . . . Jack Carson's patio furniture is temporarily out of commission and looks as if a sabre-toothed tiger had been rooting around. His four-month-old Boxer pup got bored the other night and chewed up the upholstery . . . Frank Morgan raised his voice in song in Metro's "Summer Holiday," and he gets away with it. Playing an Uncle Lushwell role in the musical derived from "Ah, Wilderness," he sings "Never Again" and swears off the stuff that blears . . . "The Emperor Waltz" has slowed down to waltztime on the Paramount lot. Troupe lost a lot of time due to weather on the Jasper National Park location in Canada, and the current jape is that Billy Wilder, directing the Crosby-Fontaine film, has "lost more than a weekend" on the schedule . . . Diana Lynn and her mother will plane to NY August 2 for the Broadway opening of "Our Hearts Were Growing Up." Miss Lynn is the lass who took a tip from a film title—her heart recently outgrew Henry Willson.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Director Jean Negulesco rushed into Jerry Wald's office yesterday and puffed, "I'll have to talk to you later." Wald understood him to say, in his own quaint version of English, he was "going to a broadcast." It took Wald five minutes to decipher Negulesco's speech but he found out that the director was hurrying downtown for his premarital blood test. Negulesco marries up with Dusty Anderson Sunday at the Howard Hawks' home . . . Unless you send for your suits to Sears Roebuck in Chicago like we do, you've probably heard your tailor's promise that he'll whip one together in six months. This will cheer you no end. Dick Powell needed some suits for his appearance in "Johnny O'Clock," and Tony Grandis delivered them in five days! . . . Of-all-things dept.: Rita Hayworth will read "Pinocchio" to orchestral accompaniment at the Motion Picture Arts Night in the Hollywood Bowl Aug. 17 . . . Errol Flynn's father, Prof. Theodore Thompson Flynn of Queens University, Belfast, arrives in the U.S. this weekend. He'll accompany Errol on his cruise after "Cry Wolf" is completed . . . Got an old tsigane tune lying around? For any provincial-type readers who haven't traveled in the Balkans, that's a gypsy ballad laced with sobbing violins and the flash of gold teeth. Anyway Paramount is looking for Gypsy tunes for Marlene Dietrich to sing in "Golden Earrings" . . . Warners will put up bleachers on both sides of Hollywood Boulevard for their "Night and Day" preem Aug. 1. They'll have a seating capacity rivaling Yankee Stadium for the event.

CALL SHEET: PETE MARTIN'S current trip to Hollywood for 12 feature stories on film folk was jinx-ridden from Grand Central station on out. First, he boarded a train out of NY July 12 and discovered his secretary had made a mistake and booked him for the 13th. He was put off the train, like any jackanapes, in Harrisburgh, Pa., and returned crest-fallen to Manhattan. Next day he got on the right train, but between Philadelphia and Altoona the first of two engines pulling the train over the mountains nosed over a cliff and left the second hanging by a steel thread. Martin escaped injury and came on to Hollywood with his fingers crossed all the way . . . LENORE AUBERT'S test for a role in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" at 20th-Fox won her the job, and an unprecedented demonstration on the set. Crew applauded and someone sent out for champagne and Lenore got the second lead . . . ELIZABETH TAYLOR bought her first formal to be packed in her trunk for a visit to England in August . . . DE FOREST KELLEY, Paramount actor, and his wife are off to a two-week vacation at Laguna Beach . . . DEAN WHITE, ex-Navy lieutenant who played in Goldwyn's "The Best Years of Our Lives," has been signed to a Liberty Films termer . . . HAL WALLIS is tooling around in a new Chrysler convertible station wagon.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Unluckiest young lady in Hollywood today is Miss Virginia Welles, the Paramount starlet. She loves the ocean, but her doctor has ordered her to stay away from it. After tests to determine the cause of an eye ailment, the medico discovered she is allergic to sand . . . Use of Los Angeles public school buildings during summer vacation has been refused to the studios by the school board, but RKO managed to obtain permission to shoot scenes at Beverly Hills High school for "The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer" . . . Military Order of the Purple Heart's motion picture chapter will hold a dinner meeting at the Masquers' Club July 30, with John Ford, Merian Cooper, Adrian Booth and David Thompson, Jr., on the reception committee . . . OFF THE LOTS: Tom Drake and Beverly Tyler at Biltmore Bowl. Don McGuire and Ida Lupino at West Side Tennis Club. Rex Bell, ex-celluloid cowpuncher and husband of Clara Bow, opening a roadside restaurant on the Los Angeles pike west of Las Vegas. Bob Lowery and Rusty Farrell at The Kings. Frankie Lane opens Tuesday at Billy Berg's . . . Cabana Club backers tossed a cocktail party for Gov. Earl Warren and Mayor Ray Schaeffer of Santa Monica, with Johnny Wiessmuller, John Wayne, Leslie Fenton, the Frank Borzages and Ann Dvorak . . . U.S. Senator Pappy O'Daniel is still under contract to Southern Music Co. as a songwriter, but hasn't ground out a tune since 1935 when he wrote "If There Are No Cows in Texas, Then I Don't Love You" . . . In "Humoresque" Oscar Levant cracks, "A wedding is a funeral where you smell your own flowers." If it isn't too late, you can ponder that over the weekend.—D.D.T.

THREE STRIP NITE SPOTS GO DRY FOR 30 DAYS

Sacramento, July 18.—Liquor licenses of three Hollywood niteries—Mocambo, Trocadero, and Elmer's Fireplace—were ordered suspended for 30 days beginning Aug. 12 by the State Board of Equalization today.

The charges were selling liquor after midnight. Board member William G. Bonelli said "tremendous pressure" had been exerted in an effort to obtain a reduction or cancellation of the penalty.

"Some of the biggest people in Los Angeles called me up saying that these places are necessary for entertainment of tourists and for the much advertised night life of Hollywood, and urging me to give them another chance," he said.

"However, I am going to assess the penalty in proportion to their prominence and give them double what they normally would get for that type of offense."

Roy Rogers to Go On Rodeo Tour

Roy Rogers has been set to take a rodeo tour, starting Sept. 17, after completion of "Apache Rose" at Republic. Two-month junket will tee off in Philadelphia. Rogers returns to Republic in November to start work in "Heart of Mexico."

Sturges Inks Martin

Robert Martin has been signed by Preston Sturges to head the wardrobe department of the latter's production company. Martin will reorganize the department in time for take-off of "Vendetta," which rolls Aug. 7.

Sir Walter's Back

Paramount announced yesterday plans to produce "The Black Knight," free screenplay adaptation of "Ivanhoe." Robert Fellows will produce in Technicolor.

Light 'n' Airy

(on the ½ shell)

by JACK HELLMAN

Whether it's just a case of "testing" or a serious move on the part of comedy writers to have material revert to their ownership after being broadcast is conjectural at this point but nonetheless has agencies and packagers worried. Situation arose when Al Lewis advised Joe Rines, parent and producer of the new Mel Blanc show for Colgate, that he would sign no contract that didn't carry a clause giving him ownership of the program's material after its airing. Perplexed at the demand, Rines called off the deal.

What Rines doesn't savvy is how Lewis can press such a point when two or three other writers will be contributing to the Blanc script weekly. Certainly Lewis couldn't hope to claim ownership of a script at which he is only a collaborator. Trying to isolate what he wrote and how much the others contributed would require the expert talents of three Philadelphia lawyers. Contention of Lewis, and probably others, is that by relinquishing the rights to their scripts they sacrifice possible sales to pictures and magazines. On comedy shows it would pose a difficult problem due to the fact that batteries numbering as high as eight men plus contributors grind out the yocks and not-so-yocky routines. Radio Writers Guild has no ruling on material ownership as it applies to comedy shows but would be sympathetic to such an arrangement. But how to segregate the material is something else again.

Chain breaks . . . Glenn Taylor has resigned as v.p. in charge of Coast radio activities for Young & Rubicam to take a similar berth with N. W. Ayer. He succeeds Herb Sanford and takes over Aug. 15 to supervise the agency's Hollywood-originated programs. Al Scalpone moves up at Y & R as production head of the Hollywood operation . . . Sherwood and Al Schwartz have been set as scripters for the Alan Young show by Young & Rubicam, which means that agency takes over the billing from Doherty, Clifford & Shenfield. Latter commission house, however, gets another Bristol-Myers product . . . William S. Paley returns to his NY base today . . . Bobby Dolan is Dinah Shore's choice for music director of her new show so that should settle that.

Hitch hikes . . . Fanny Brice is being moved by Sanka from Sunday to Friday, airing at 8:30 p.m. east and west beginning Sept. 6 over CBS . . . Harry Witt starts a three-week vacation tonight at Laguna . . . "Chick" MacGregor made a hole-in-one (the 6th) at Lakeside yesterday . . . Arch Morton has been made permanent Coast sales manager for CBS, with Wayne Steffner, manager of the Frisco office for the chain, assuming the added duties of Columbia Pacific Network sales head . . . Marty Lewis has spotted eight Paramount players on five network programs next week . . . Walter Craig gets in Sunday to survey the scene for Benton & Bowles.

By RADIE HARRIS

Van Heflin, shooting at Warners in "The Secret," decided to give the Green Room and Lakeside the go-by the other noon hour, and lunch in solitary anonymity across the street at the drugstore counter. As he was staring into space, his thoughts on his new baby daughter, a grip next to him nudged him and asked, "Working at Warners, buddy?" "Yes," answered Van. "By the day or week?" the grip wanted to know. Van hesitated a moment, and then assured that his leg wasn't being pulled, said, "By the day." "Well, we're doing a crowd sequence on our set," retorted his new found pal, "and I think it might stretch a week. Come over to Stage 12 when you're through and I'm sure I can fix it for you."

Van made a beeline back to his set to find Ray Massey and let him in on the gag. "Come on over with me for the laughs," he suggested. As they approached Stage 12, there was the grip waiting outside, talking to a fellow worker, and as they drew close they overheard him say, "Isn't that just like an actor? Just give one of them the smell of a job, and right away they bring along another one!"

SCOOPING AROUND: Rex Harrison is keeping his fingers crossed until he hears whether Dorothy McGuire will be his leading lady in "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir" (20th-Fox). Dorothy, now in the east, recuperating from her recent illness and reunioning with her sponse, Johnny Swope, has sent word that she isn't interested in returning to Hollywood for a while, but a script has been forwarded to her in the hope that the part, so ideally suited to her, will make her change her mind. Playing opposite Rex of Siam should be another! . . . The reason for that meeting between Walter Huston, Joan Leslie and her business manager was to see if Joan could be free to tour with Walter this season as ingenue lead of "Apple in His Eye." And she could be . . . If Stu Barthelmess is the lonesomest man in town next week, it's because Sonja Henie is off to NY again on Sunday—this time to o.o. the 750 costumes Kathryn Kuhn is designing for her new fall ice show. While Sonja's away invitations will go out to 175 of her most intimate friends for a formal dinner dance at Crillon's the night of Aug. 3. And knowing Sonja's parties of the past, anyone who is "included out" will be missing a s'wonderful time . . . If you're a character actress with a Helen Hodkison front and a southern accent, get in touch with Russell Crouse and Howard Lindsay at Warner Bros. pronto. They want you for the role of the Senator's wife, "Lulu Belle," in the Coast company of "State of the Union." There are also two parts still open as understudies for Irene Hervey and Conrad Nagel . . . Garson Kanin, who wasn't "Born Yesterday" should know better than to high hat his old pals, now that he's so palsy walsy with the British set.

"POWER" AND REVENGE: Ty Power, playing another croquet match against Darryl Zanuck at Howard Hawks the other p.m., seemed to be stymied at one wicket. "I don't think I can make it," he confessed. Whereupon, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., patted him on the shoulder assuringly and whispered, "Of course you can, old boy. Just remember that your opponent is the guy who made you make "Daytime Wife!"

WYNN-AH TAKES ALL: With a poster of his grandfather, Frank Keenan in "The Honorable John Grisby" and his mother, Hilda Keenan in "A Poor Relation," decorating the walls of the Laguna Playhouse plus his father, Ed, and son, Ted, in the audience, Keenan Wynn did proud the two illustrious names he inherited as he carried on his histrionic heritage in his return to the footlites as "Oscar Jaffe" in "Twentieth Century." His was a performance of such brilliant caricature that another actor with a family tradition must have been applauding from some celestial wing—John Barrymore. I only hope that Harry Cohn can find time to take Route 101 before Sunday night, and see for himself that a remake of this Charlie MacArthur-Ben Hecht farce with Keenan would be as hilarious today as it was when Barrymore and Lombard made it a Columbia gem. Tamara Geva, in the Lombard role, also comes through with a superb satiric performance, made even mode remarkable by the fact that she only had six days rehearsal. Already the grapevine has seeped through to Broadway, with the biggest role of her career now in negotiation. Another beneficiary of this Laguna Playhouse showcase is Dick Irving, who last week acted the male lead in "Blind Alley" and directed this week's attraction. Keenan, always the generous actor, phoned MGM to come down and take a gander at him. Result: He's now talking contract.

During intermission with Claire Trevor, John Houseman, Peter Lawford, Audrey Totter, Buffie Cobb, Robert Milton, Leonard Spiegelgass, Jane Wyatt, Dorothy Miles, Charles Russell, Shirley Potash, Margie Hunt and the Richard Whorfs among the lobbyists, Ed Wynn told me an amusing story that he said had happened on his arrival here last week.

It seems that his daughter-in-law, Evie, had brought his grandson, Ned, down to the Pasadena station to meet him. As the Chief came into sight, over the loud speaker came the announcement, "The Chief arriving on Track 4." Other mothers with little boys hurried them forward and said, "See, darling, there's the Chief." Neddie looked up at Evie and exclaimed in amazement, "Gee, Mummy, everyone knows Grandfather!"

(Ed. note: for years youse readers who don't listen to the radio, like Neddie, "grandfather" is the Fire Chief for Texaco).

Dissa and Data: Bette Davis and William Grant Sherry, who have been living in a rented guest cottage in Brentwood, have just bought a completely furnished home in Van Nuys on a tract of land that Bette says is a replica of her English farmhouse, "Butternut" . . . From NY comes word that Martha Sleeper, just out of the Mt. Kisco hospital after an auto smash-up, may land the femme lead in Moss Hart's new drama . . . A producer, who prefers to be nameless (for obvious reasons!) claims that if they had made "Anna and the King of Siam" at another studio, a more appropriate title would have been "Anna and the King I Am!"

DANES ASKED FOR OK ON SHOWING U.S. PICTURES

New York, July 18.—Negotiations are currently on in Denmark to open that country for American pictures, according to Carl Gerhard-Lallman, RKO manager in the Scandinavian district. Danish government ban is due to fear of creating obligations in the scarce dollar exchange. Situation is different with England, which has trade reciprocity through the purchase of Danish foodstuffs.

Overall business is still above average prewar takes but is due for a drop as the result of emigration of 600,000 war refugees from Sweden. Business is down about 27 per cent in Sweden and the Scandinavian market is not hot for 16m. No 16m is allowed in Denmark, where government law protects exhibitors by not licensing for the narrow-gauge films.

37 NATIONS WILL EYE 'NIGHT AND'

Consular representatives of 37 foreign nations will attend the premiere of Warners' "Night and Day," based on the life of Cole Porter, at Warners Hollywood Aug. 1.

Heading the group will be Dr. Charles Winzel, consul for Belgium and dean of the Los Angeles Consular Association. Officially representing his South American colleagues at the opening, which hooks up with the 20th Anniversary of Talking Pictures will be Juan Pradenas, Chilean consul-general and president of the Latin American Consular Association.

PUBLICISTS! There's Nothing at Stake But Your Careers!

TODAY IS YOUR LAST CHANCE FOR INDEPENDENCE!

The Screen Publicists Guild offers you an independent, autonomous affiliation with the A.F. of L.—a Guild run by and for publicists but with the full weight of the A.F. of L. behind it — nationally through its officers and executive board, locally through the Central Labor Council.

Local 798 offers you nothing but Roy Brewer and his arbitrary domination — both of which the majority of other Hollywood IATSE Locals are today battling to escape!

Don't let 'em kid you! Don't let 'em scare you with talk about "irresponsible leadership," "improper affiliation," or other corny campaign copy!

The Guild is on record that its full membership — every working studio publicist in Hollywood — shall decide on its leadership and affiliations after today's election.

MAC GREGOR NIXES RWG PAY DEAL ON RIGHTS SNAG

Negotiations between C. P. MacGregor and Radio Writers Guild have broken down. New contract that was virtually set for signature is now up in air as MacGregor refused to sign when informed of limited rights to scripts bought from RWG members.

New contract, which would have upped minimum payment per script from $45 to $100, was agreed upon on every point. But when producer was apprised of RWG rule which prohibits interest in any rights other than use on transcriptions he nixed deal. Angle is same matter over which RWG is haggling with American Association of Advertising Agencies. Union position is that literary, film, video and other rights be retained by authors and that buyers for radio shall not share in other income.

MacGregor will be dropped from RWG's Market List and, it's stated, if situation remains unchanged further action of blacklisting studio to member writers may be taken.

Geray Cycles Around

Steven Geray will bicycle between two films at Columbia, "The Return of Monte Cristo" and "My Empty Heart" during the next two weeks.

ASK BRITISH AID FITE ON MPEA

put before, besides the Board of Trade, the British Foreign Office and other government departments.

Initial step in the program, concluded recently, will have the British Producers' Association representing all the exporters of English films. Step closely parallels the MPEA structure, which is sponsored by the Motion Picture Association.

A major concern of British producers is getting back money on their films shown in foreign markets. The BPA is counting on official government help in solving this problem. In addition, BPA is asking for government aid in regards to foreign market conditions, additional helpful legislation and raising of quotas when necessary. It is also asking that Foreign Office commercial attaches throughout the world be informed on the English film industry and aid in its advancement.

Other requests of the British government include pleas for high priorities for the transport of films, aid in film industry publicity, facilitating of visas for foreign sales reps, and increased allocation of paper for publicity and advertising purposes.

Louis Prima and his orchestra will close their engagement at the Casino Gardens Sunday night. Prima opens Tuesday at the Million Dollar theatre.

Frank Sinatra pre-recorded "Whose Baby Are You?" yesterday at Metro with Andre Previn backing at the piano for "It Happened in Brooklyn."

Fortunio Bonanova has sold two songs to Pan-American Mexican film producing firm, for inclusion in "Lowland," in which Bonanova will star.

Lionel Hampton and his orchestra will open at the Lincoln theatre on August 20 instead of at the Million Dollar, and will be featured at the latter house in October.

International Sweethearts of Rhythm, all-gal band current at Million Dollar, wends way back east next month via Aug. 6 date at Oakland, Aug. 7 at Reno, Aug. 9-10 at Salt Lake and Aug. 12 at Denver.

Al Sack will conduct the orchestra Monday night at the Hollywood Bowl for the benefit of non-sectarian Children's hospital. Others who will help Al Jarvis present his "Make Believe Ballroom" are Boyd Raeburn, the Mello-Larks, Slim Gaillard, Stan Kenton, Paul Weston, and Bob Hope as emcee.

U's 'Passage' in 2 Smash Openings

Chicago, July 18. — Universal's "Canyon Passage" registered a smash $6,600 opening at the Palace theatre yesterday and looks like near-record first week.

"Passage opened to better than $3,000 Wednesday at the Spreckles theatre in San Diego. Figure is best for Universal here in more than a year and is boff considering fact that wartime boom city has lost hefty percentage of war years population.

MUSICIANS LOCAL SOAKS PIANIST $600 FINE HERE

Taking one of severest raps ever meted out by Trial Board of Musicians' Local 47, pianist Orville Yarnell has been fined total of $600 and refused permanently a transfer into Local here. At trial Yarnell admitted he had come here from Local 339, Greensburg, Penna., and before clearing transfer into 47 had gone to work at downtown spot, doing a single at the keyboard. For this he was nipped $100.

For falsifying an application he did deposit with 47 and for flat refusal to answer queries concerning it at his trial, Yarnell was fined $500 and ordered to report back to Greensburg Local. Data on case automatically will be forwarded to American Federation of Musicians' national headquarters in NY.

'Vendetta' Start Set

Preston Sturges' "Vendetta" rolls August 7 on the Goldwyn lot. French director Max Othuls, in his first chore in Hollywood, will handle megging duties. Film gets a United Artists release.

JARVIS OFF ON TOUR OF INTRODUCTION TO RADIO U.S.

KLAC sets another precedent in radio and will bring the mountain to Mohammed in person of Al Jarvis. Platter pilot takes off for East this week to join Dave Lundy, general sales manager of Thackrey radio interests, on national introduction junket. Jarvis will be introduced to time buyers, agency men and station's national reps who will then make concerted drive to sell Jarvis to national accounts. His "Make Believe Ballroom" continues during his absence with substitute.

LEGIT OPENING

"FEELING LIKE A MILLION"

"Feeling Like a Million" opened at the Beaux Arts theatre last night and is typical of the offerings seen at that particular theatre from time to time. Allegedly a farce, it does have some rare laughable moments. By and large, however, the play smacks of "You Can't Take It with You" crossed with a Mack Sennett comedy.

Henry van Dyke wrote and Brainard Clark directed the show, which shows some flashes of basic humor but in the main is bogged down with Little Theatre technique, altogether not salable amusement. The cast, typical of summer stock in the hay barns around the country occasionally gave forth a bright glow but not enough to warrant rating effusive credit. Among the performers were: Patsy Moran, Sam Adams, Bill Free, Barbara van Dyke, Bertha E. Carlisle, Diana De Laire and Pauline Hunt.

AVCO Buys WINS; FCC Splits, Bows

Washington, July 18. — Giant Aviation Corporation of America won FCC approval today to buy Hearst radio station, WINS, New York City, for $1,700,000 cash with two FCC members — commissioners Clifford Durr and Paul Walker—opposing the sale on the same grounds which they objected to AVCO's buying WLW, Cincinnati, last year.

Earlier this spring FCC had refused to okay the sale because of a contract provision giving Hearst's Daily Mirror $400,000 worth of radio news time on WINS over the next ten years. Parties renegotiated the contract to eliminate this clause and so won consent of four FCC commissioners to the deal. Durr and Walker said they were not satisfied by the new contract and wanted to know more about the type of local news cooperation which Hearst proposes to give the station under its new management.

465 School Extras Called for 'Soxer'

2000 FIRST NITERS SEE PREEM OF 'KING OF SIAM'

More than 2,000 first nighters, including scores of stars, packed Grauman's Chinese theatre last night for the preem of 20th-Fox's "Anna and the King of Siam." Hollywood names struggled through thousands of fans, spilling out over the special bleacher stands onto the sidewalks and boulevard, to view the Irene Dunne-Rex Harrison-Linda Darnell co-starrer.

Film was produced by Louis D. Lighton and directed by John Cromwell. Darryl F. Zanuck purchased the Margaret Landon best-seller for $50,000 and gave the film a $2,000,000 budget.

Harry Crocker emceed in the forecourt of the theatre. Among those attending were Governor and Mrs. Earl Warren, Irene Dunne. Rex Harrison, Lee J. Cobb, Tyrone Power, Lana Turner, Maureen O'Hara, Constance Bennett, Mark Stevens, Hedy Lamarr, Nancy Guild, Rosalind Russell, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Robert Montgomery, Paulette Goddard, Rita Hayworth and Loretta Young.

SCALE SET FOR BOAT TOOTERS

Following queries, Musicians' Local 47 execs have had lengthy discussions and finally arrived at a scale fo windjammers working "amusement boats." Rate is $125 per week per man for four hours nightly, six days per week; leader is to get $187.50. This scale is absolute tops for any nitery or ballroom within jurisdiction of Local 47. While discussion of matter always confined references to "amusement boats," it is known that actually what was bruited was scale for gambling ships, which have been spasmodically readying for operations offshore hereabouts for some time.

Wilfred Buckland Kills Son, Self

Wilfred Buckland, Sr., Hollywood's first art director, was 80 years old. His last day on earth was shadowed by two fears, that death was impending, and that his son, Wilfred, Jr., 35, a former patient at Camarillo State Hospital for the Insane, would be left alone. Late yesterday he shot and killed his son, then turned the gun on himself.

Buckland's suicide note named William DeMille, brother of C. B. DeMille, as executor of his estate and added, "I am taking Billy with me." The elder Buckland was the first to use klieg lights on interior and exterior sets and came to the motion picture industry from his position as stage director for David Belasco.

MPTOA URGES U.S. TO APPEAL IN BIG FIVE CASE

picture competitive bidding section of the decision, which they charged would hurt the independent exhibitor and aid the distributors.

A written summary presentation was turned over to Wright for study. Wright himself would not indicate what he would recommend to Wendell Berge, head of the anti-trust division. However, the division had previously made clear that it did not oppose auction selling and was interested only in a suitable policing method to make it work.

MEET WITH ALLIED

Following the session, Fred Wehrenberg, MPTOA prexy, and one or two of his colleagues met with Abram F. Myers, counsel for Allied States Exhibitors, to compare notes. The Allied executive committee met with Wright yesterday afternoon, recommending at that time that the Justice Department urge the court to substitute complete divestiture for auction selling.

There is some difference between the presentation made by MPTOA and Allied, with Herman M. Levy, general counsel for former declaring this evening that his organization was going to make the fight alone and not team up with Allied.

SEE EXHIB FAVORED

Wehrenberg declared that auction selling would be highly advantageous to the distributors since it would enable them to play off the exhibitors one against the other in an effort to get good product.

Following was given by MPTOA to Wright:

"It is urged that the government appeal the decision of the court and that the scope of the appeal be all-embracing, rather than limited to the refusal of the court to order complete divestiture.

"Opposition to licensing of films on the competitive bidding basis as suggested and outlined in the decision because:

(a) The system violates the basic philosophy of the Sherman Act, to wit: the protection of the public, since under it rentals will of necessity increase and this increase will be reflected in higher admission prices.

(b) The system sacrifices and violates the rights of the small business unit in favor of the large.

OVER-BUYING HIT

"That there be included in the decree a provision prohibiting over-buying, and that it be recommended that any such over-buying be an arbitrable matter.

"That there be incorporated in the decree a guarantee of some run to every exhibitor, in language and scope similar to section six of the consent decree dated Nov. 21, 1940.

"That there be incorporated in the decree provision that where arbitration is resorted to, the arbitrators be

Down Mexico Way

By LUISA MARIA ALVAREZ

Mexico City, Jan. 18.—The Mexican Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences has sprung into existence. Board of Directors elected is as follows: President, actor Fernando Soler; Vice President, writer-director Celestino Gorostiza; Secretary, Felipe Gregorio Castillo, and Treasurer, Adela Formoso de Obregon Santacilia.

The treasurer with the long name is a small, slender, very attractive woman, brilliant and dynamic. She founded and directs the Woman's University of Mexico, is responsible for an institution to prevent blindness, has always been active in club work, and is married to a successful architect.

The National School of the Theatre has also appeared on the scene. Secretary of Education Sr. Jaime Torres Bodet inagurated school this week.

Sid Rogell plans to make several pictures here next year, with Hollywood stars and local talent, technicians, etc., he told reporters after visiting Churubusco Studios.

Only two stages in use now at Churubusco, and the Clasa lot looks like a vacant one these days. We have plenty of good studio space available, so the idea of making Spanish versions of RKO films is not bad. Jose Noriega will be in charge of these, if plan goes through.

More studio space. The magnificent Tepeyac studios were inaugurated Monday. Mexico's Archbishop was present, drank a glass of champagne with Cantinflas, Santiago Reachi, Jacques Gelman, Howard Randall, Miguel Delgado and Alfonso Sanchez Tello, and expressed his good wishes for the success of Posa

'men versed in the complexities of the industry.' The court suggested arbitration by such men as an alternative to local suits in 'controversies over clearance.' This should be extended in scope to include all arbitrable matters.

"That the highest bid should not be the only major factor considered in the granting of licenses."

Special membership meeting of Southern California Theatre Owners Association has been called for Wednesday a.m. to discuss part SCTOA will play in formation of a decree based on the Big Five anti-trust decision.

Members will be asked to consider group of questions drawn by committee composed of George Bowser, Bernie Leavitt and Cecil Vinnicof covering competitive bidding for films, arbitration, clearance and other points brought up in the court decision. Member attitude will frame position association will take in making recommendations, if any, to the Department of Justice and the court prior to entry of the decree.

Films picture "I Am A Fugitive," starring Cantinflas, first film to go into production at Tepeyac.

"This is ideal place for Technicolor . . ." said Mr. Spyros Skouras, who arrived recently, with Mrs. Skouras. At our airport, Mr. and Mrs. Sturdivant, Messrs. Charles Skouras, Joseph Mullen, and Luis R. Montes greeted Twentieth Century-Fox president.

Buster Keaton will star in Grovas production "Modern Bluebeard." Alejandro Salkin is associate producer. Cast includes Virginia Serret and Spanish comedian Angel Garasa. Shooting due to begin this month.

Julio Bracho definitely goes into the producing end. Director has formed company, "Bracho Films," and will soon begin shooting first picture "Volpone," starring comedian Joaquin Pardave.

Allenberg Re-elected Artists Managers Prez

Bert Allenberg has been re-elected president of Artists Managers Guild at annual meeting. Frank Vincent was named first vice president and Danny Winkler second vice prexy. Alan J. Miller was elected secretary of the talent representatives organization and Harry Friedman was re-elected treasurer.

UA AIMS BIG SKED AT EXPORT BIZ

in England and Europe.

With post-war world markets slowly but surely being opened to films, UA's greatly expanded foreign releasing program is seen as company's bid for film revenue denied during the war years.

UA, along with other American companies, expects increasing competition from England and Russia, and as soon as conditions are stabilized, from France, Italy and Spain. Company's answer to the anticipated competition, it was learned yesterday, will be a greatly increased exploitation format on the UA product to be released abroad.

Slated to remain here a week, Gould will talk over the program with David O. Selznick, Arnold Pressburger, Seymour Nebenzal, Andrew Stone, Charles R. Rogers, Hunt Stromberg, Robert Golden, David Loew, Sol Lesser and Preston Sturges.

H'D GROUP ASKS FOR AIR STATION IN GARDENA

Washington, July 18.—The Hollywood Community Radio group today filed application with FCC for a new standard broadcast station in Gardena, California. Group, which has also filed for a Hollywood FM outlet, is asking for the 1530 KC band, with one KW power.

Stockholders are all talent men employed in radio and pix. Alvin Wilder, prexy, is news analyst for the Pacific Coast network. Other officers and stockholders include Emil Corwin, of political action committee, brother of Norman; Paul Stewart and Abe Polonsky, Paramount writers; Sam Moore, writer for NBC's "Great Galdersleeve" show; Cal Kuhl, director of West Coast Recordings for RCA; Pauline Lauber, secretary, Radio Writers Guild; and William Pomerance, of the Screen Writers Guild.

Talent men would run program form at 60 per cent commercial, doing much of their own writing, producing and acting.

'Summer' Hits NY Day Opening Record

New York, July 18.—"Centennial Summer" bowed in at the Roxy theatre yesterday to a new opening day record of $16,314. Doors opened at 10 a.m., and hereafter during run house will open at 9:45 a.m. for extra shows on the day.

FILM DIVVIES SET RECORD

LAST YEAR PAYOFF IS DOUBLED

Washington, July 15. — Film industry dividends appear still headed toward an all-time high. Melon for May, just announced by the Department of Commerce, was a fine $1,061,000, as compared with only $329,000 for May, 1945.

Dividends for the three months period ending May 31 hit a boff $9,308,000, contrasted with $4,692,000 for the same period last year. Big current figure was sparked by RKO's first common stock dividend—almost $900,000—in May; and by the $1,800,000 Warner dividend in April.

ric Johnston, at a meeting with the eterans' Committee of the Screen Vriters' Guild, on June 22, 1946, stated hat in his opinion the industry had a moral obligation" to offer an opporunity to reestablish themselves to qualiied returning veteran-screen writers.

Today, there are still 19 such returned veteran qualified screen writers, who have not been given that opportunity. And there are still more coming back. What about it?

IA BATTLE ON WALSH ON TODAY

Chicago, July 21. — Fiery session of the 38th biennial convention of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes gets under way tomorrow with the expected election battle between the incumbent Walsh-Raoul forces and the ambitious faction headed by William P. Bennett of Washington, D. C., shaping up as the hottest issue on the agenda.

Bennett, with John A. Shuff as his running mate for the secretary-treasurer post now held by William P. Raoul, said: "It is now or never" for his forces to oust Walsh and Raoul, but emphatically denied prior

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

JIMMY Lunceford, whose band closes out week's stand at vaudfilm Lincoln tonight, is flirting with Harold F. Oxley agency and may return under that banner when present managerial pact with William Morris agency expires end of this month. Lunceford was handled for 12 years by Oxley before cutting away last January and signing with Morris. Batoneer has complained to Morris that agency did not get him as much money for eastern vaude dates as Oxley did in years past and it also is widely known Lunceford has been displeased with his Coast tour. He had hoped for a solid-stretch in a ballroom, but none eventuated save a single stanza at the Trianon, San Francisco. Aside from that and two vaude dates, band has played 37 one-niters to only fair financial returns. According to contract with Morris office, agency must get Lunceford set this summer for a location job in NY. Thus far nothing has been set, and that angle may enable the leader to snap the pact. Oxley currently is en route from the east and will see Lunceford upon arrival. The agent sold his NY office last week to two former associates, Jerry Gross and Phil Hemingway, for reported $5,000, and henceforth will concentrate activities here, where he has maintained an office for several years.

IF at convention time non-working but loudly-beefing majority faction in American Federation of Radio Artists here get no change in constitution limiting work by quota they can thank themselves. That's opinion of insiders who note that good two-thirds of announced delegates to national meeting here next month are, as always, those who work constantly and double and triple between jobs daily. They are the ones who attend meetings and have themselves nominated—to carry votes on all questions—while wailers demonstrate continued disinterest. Regular AFRA membership meets are further indication, it's pointed out, with hardly more than 150 of total 3,000 putting in appearances. Out of 96 delegates named over 60 are known steady workers.

MANY a girl show has been angeled on stage, but a switch came to Hollywood this week when a girl show circuiter wanted to turn angel himself. Said gent is Izzy Hirst, who has a string of burly houses in the east and hangs out his own business office shingle in Philadelphia. Hirst has come off with a pile in strip-tease and prattfall money and has announced he'll bankroll a movie about the business, which has never been treated very sympathetically. Only sticker is that it be done by the one director in Hollywood he specifies, and that one is George Stevens, one of the Liberty Films group. Go between to sound out Stevens' reaction on Hirst's instruction is Eddie Jaffe, who has represented Hirst and Hirst performers at one time or another for many years.

FIRST singer wanted by Warner Bros. to make the historic short subject which was to appear first on the initial Vitaphone program at the Warner theatre in New York on Aug. 6, 1926, was the Irish tenor, John McCormack. McCormack and his manager blew hot and cold on the proposal for several days, and there was $5,000 in it for McCormack for one number, a hypo price for a film appearance in that period. Huddle between McCormack and his manager the day before the deadline resulted in McCormack's nix of the whole thing, and his pointblank statement that he felt his reputation too great to risk on such an untried medium. Another singer, Giovanni Martinelli, stepped in and claimed the place in history.

WHAT Rudi Feld, its designer, describes as a "pan-set" is facilitating the shooting of big hotel sequences in Andy Stone's "Strange Bedfellows" Set is arranged in a circle so that camera can be turned to shoot one scene after another from one set-up. Same set-up also serves to catch scenes in the hotel dining room through a door leading from the lobby. The dining room is from the old Vanderbilt mansion and Feld has done some subtle designing to tie it in with the streamlined modernity of the hotel lobby.

HORNE HERE ON 'INNOCENCE' PLANS

Hal Horne, Story Productions board chairman, arrives from New York today for talks on production and distribution plans for "This Side of Innocence."

Understood that Horne, prior to leaving New York, had reached agreement with an un-named company on releasing setup. Actual closing of the deal is dependent on okay from prexy Armand Deutsch and Stanley Kramer, production chief. Latter pair have been busy negotiating for studio space with deals currently on with three studios—the Charles Chaplin lot, Samuel Goldwyn studios and the new plant being built by Edwin Nassour.

$3,500,000 FOR INT AD FUND

International is mapping a $3,500,000 national advertising campaign for 1947. Hypoed exploitation structure will cover company's eight to ten films to be released by United World Pictures next year. Heavy emphasis will be placed on trade paper advertising and campaign will utilize all media of public information. Entire project was discussed over the weekend by International toppers William Goetz, John Beck, Jr., and William Dozier, and UWP execs Monroe Greenthal and William Heineman.

KERN MEMORIAL CONCERT KEEPS H'D BOWL FULL

The Jerome Kern Memorial Concert in the Hollywood Bowl Saturday night was a sound, solid follow-up to the Gershwin jamboree. Once again the 22,000 capacity was taxed, and sod-squatters and standees seemingly squeezed into each last inch of the confines. The music and the presence on the podium of a flashy array of Metro stars proved potent box office combination.

There might have been some carping on the song selections as notably absent were such kern socks as "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes," "Who," and "Touch of Your Hand," among others. But it was a fetching, lilting evening withal, with nary a sag along the way. Lena Horne was a last minute cancellation due to illness, and Walter Roberts was slipped in as sub for Tony Martin, in hospital for operation.

Top-scorers with onlookers were Kathryn Grayson and Judy Garland. Former worked four songs and herself half-carried whole program. Miss Garland's "Look For The Silver Lining" was a natural from her pipes and piquant personality. Frank Sinatra and Virginia O'Brien had innings, backed effectively by Bowl chorus. Highlight was medley of "Show Boat" ditties, which wound up first half.

Johnny Green was guest conductor for occasion, and present too was Robert Walker, who did an impressive reading of Arthur Freed's famed eulogy of Kern. These memorial concerts definitely have proved themselves most popular programs on "Symphonies Under The Stars" schedule, and the possibilities actually have barely been tapped; then, too, why not tributes to living pop-tune cleffers?

David Blum Touring Metro's Europe Offices

David Blum, Loew's International director of advertising and publicity, leaves tomorrow for inspection tour of Metro's European offices. Initial stop will be in Sweden, where Blum will confer with David Lewis, Metro regional director for the continent. Objective of the junket is to map a coordinated exploitation campaign on Metro product.

Granville's WB Post

New York, July 21. — Douglas John Granville has been named Warner Bros. manager in Chile. He checks into new berth August 1 with headquarters in Santiago.

BERNAY HERE TO EXPAND DISC BIZ

Eric Bernay, prexy of Keynote Records, is in town from NY headquarters establishing Coast office and preparing schedule of recordings to be made here. A Sunset-and-Vine location already has been obtained and this week a local rep will be named. Keynote, which in past specialized in hot-jazz items chiefly, plans to broaden field. Firm has been buttressed by sale of about $250,000 of stock. Recently added to board of directors were Paul Robeson, Norman Corwin and John Hammond, Jr. Latter formerly was Columbia Records' jazz-talent spotter.

Eagle-Lion Budget May Hit $25,000,000

Original $20,000,000 production budget set by the newly organized Eagle-Lion outfit for 1946-47 may run over $25,000,000, studio execs indicated over the weekend. The company starts its first production next week, with five others definitely set to go and seven more in early stages of preparation.

The studio schedule calls for 22 pictures for the 1946-47 program. Bryan Foy, veepee in charge of production, isn't planning to skimp on costs. The company is showing a tendency to lay it on the line for talent, and through the J. Arthur Rank connection, is making a bid for foreign stars. First of these to be signed is Charles Trenet, French star, who is being hailed as "another Maurice Chevalier." Trenet will make his debut in American films in Eagle-Lion's "Of Thee I Dream."

$500,000 FOR EXPANSION

Just as the original $20,000,000 budget seems likely to be upped so is the company likely to run over the half million dollar estimate for expansion and renovation of the PRC studio facilities.

New dressing rooms will be completed in another week, publicity department offices will be ready for occupancy, it is expected, in a couple of weeks and there is still six weeks or more work on the new building which will house a rehearsal hall, test stage, projection rooms and film editing department. Also under construction are two new commissaries.

Ground has yet to be broken for a new crafts building which will occupy lot across the street from the PRC studio.

First Eagle-Lion production, "It's a Joke, Son," starring Kenny Delmar in his Senator Klaghorn radio character, gets under way July 29 with Aubrey Schenck producing and Ben Stoloff directing. Slated to go before the cameras August 15 is "Repeat Performance" in which producer-writer Marion Parsonnet will star Franchot Tone, with Constance Dowling and Tom Conway in the cast.

RAYMOND BOWS AS MEGGER

Gene Raymond makes his debut as a director with "Concerto of Death" in October and "His Wedding Night," Dennis O'Keefe starrer, is also set for October filming with Joe Fields, writer, co-producing with Lee Marcus.

Starting this month is "Born to Speed" and coming up later are "Love from a Stranger" with which Arturo de Cordova is starting his Eagle-Lion contract and for which the studio is now angling for Madeleine Carroll as co-star. Others on the schedule are "Matteawan," Tom Conway starrer; "A Horse, a Boy and a Dog;" "The Devil Drives," and "Clementine," with Barbara Whiting in the lead.

'DUEL' GETS FULL ALBUM DISCING

First film score to be given full album recording will be David O. Selznick's "Duel in the Sun." Arthur Fiedler, conductor of the Boston Pops Orchestra, starts the recording this week with a 100-piece orchestra in Boston's Symphony Hall. "Duel" album will contain eight sides. Fiedler has arranged to check on each record with Selznick and Composer Dmitri Tiomkin by playing it for them over long distance phone after each scoring. If Selznick and Tiomkin don't like it, it will be done over.

New Colorfilm Board

The Hollywood Colorfilm Corporation elected new board of directors at its annual stockholders meeting over the weekend. Named to the governing body were Willard Keith, John E. Lavery, John Wallace, W. E. Carleton, H. O. Carleton, C. R. Carleton and Eugene Durand.

METRO PREEMS ITS 'GREEN YEARS'

Metro is going all out in staging the gala preem at the Egyptian tonight of its "The Green Years." Stars of the film will join scores of other name players slated to attend. Harry Crocker will emcee in the forecourt and studio is erecting bleachers for a portion of the thousands of fans expected to be present. The film starts its regular run tomorrow at the Egyptian, Belmont, Los Angeles and Wilshire theatres.

New Show At Maxie's

"Forever Laughter" opens tonight at Slapsy Maxie's with George and Gene Bernard, Ben Blue and Patti Moore and Ben Lessy headlining the show. Nitery, which reopens after two months of darkness also presents Senor Wences, Callahan Sisters, Professor Melonhead and the Matty Malneck orchestra, featuring Milton De Lugg.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

Damn clever these Chinese, but few Chinese would be able to have worked out a face-saving measure to compare with the OPA bill the House and Senate conferees have agreed upon. The Taft-wary group will have presented to the president a bill that eliminates controls on a number of food and other items. The administration will accept it "reluctantly," because these items may be restored by a three-man board named by the president. The Taft-wary phalanx considers its duty done in presenting a bill that eliminates these items. Both groups can now claim a victory—and what could be finer? I thought the OPA was doomed, but that's because I'm not a politician who is as clever as the Chinese in knowing how to save so many faces at one time.

HEDY LAMARR SUES BIZ AGENT FOR PROPERTY RETURN

Hedy Lamarr filed suit in Superior Court over the weekend against The Estate Management Corp., Ltd., which had acted as her business agent, charging that it refused to deliver to her stock certificates, promissory notes, war savings bonds and various documents it was holding. Miss Lamarr's suit demanded their return plus $500 damages.

The complaint lists among the documents withheld a promissory note from Jack Chertok in the amount of $19,000, another such note from Chertok for $6615 and one from W. E. Branch for $1200. Seven stock certificates and four $100 war savings bonds were also listed in the suit.

Also listed were executed agreements between the actress and George A. Lovett with reference to screen rights to "Last Year's Snow." Lovett was named a co-defendant in the suit. Income tax returns, bank statements, a deed for her interest in two lots, conveyances for screen rights to four other story properties and her interest in a beverage company are being withheld, Miss Lamarr charged. She is represented by Button, Herzog and Butts.

Lovett, a certified public accountant, is secretary-treasurer of the management firm. Efforts to reach him yesterday for a statement were unavailing.

Hearing Set For 10 Seeking Frisco FM

Washington, July 21.—The Federal Communications Commission will hear the ten applicants for new Frisco FM stations at a special hearing there August 18. FCC Commissioner Ray C. Wakefield will preside. Competing for Frisco slots are: Don Lee, NBC, JKBS, Pacific Agricultural Foundation, Ltd., Hughes Tool Co., Scripps-Howard Radio, Inc., Chronicle Publishing Co., KROW, Inc., Radio Dablo, and Pacific Broadcasting Co. FCC earlier this week approved a commercial television permit for the San Francisco Chronicle.

Hughes Gains

"Noticeable improvement" was reported last night in the condition of Howard Hughes, critically injured two weeks ago in a plane crash, at Good Samaritan hospital, by Dr. Verne R. Mason. Hughes was given his seventh blood transfusion yesterday.

Trio Cast for 'Gal'

Donald Barry, Lynne Roberts and Pinky Lee have been set in leading roles in "That's My Gal," Republic's initial Trucolor feature. Film rolls around August 1 with George Blair directing for producer Armand Schaefer.

Kaye Opens in Vegas

Las Vegas, July 21.—Lionel Kaye, the "daffy auctioneer," opens tomorrow at the Hotel Last Frontier. Kaye recently was with Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe.

Hampton on Stage

Lionel Hampton and his orchestra have been signed for stage appearances at the Orpheum Theatre in San Diego, starting August 27.

NEW PIX GATHER COIN IN CHI HEAT WAVE

Chicago, July 21.—New pictures brought in to buck those blistering prairie heat blasts are doing okay. "Canyon Passage," paired with "Danger Women" at the Palace, is heading for a thumping $40,000. "O. S. S.," with the Charioteers and Fred and Elaine Barry on stage at the Chicago, is clicking off a tremendous $70,000. Also in the groove are "The Green Years," with $35,000 at the United Artists. "They Made Me a Killer," is hitting $12,000 at the Garrick, and "She-Wolf of London" and "The Cat Creeps" look like $10,000 at the Grand.

Holdovers are doing well, also, especially "To Each His Own," which is sighting a surprisingly potent $38,000 at the State-Lake. "Postman Always Rings Twice," with the Mills Bros., on stage, has $50,000 in sight at the Oriental. "The Kid From Brooklyn" is heading for $28,000 at the Woods, and "Smoky" a forte $28,000 at the Roosevelt.

Nadel, Harris Will Show First Film

Arthur H. Nadel and Harry H. Harris, producer-directors of "Life in Hollywood" series, preview initial offering, "Radio Row," a one-reeler, at Fox-Ritz this week. Twelve other subjects will complete the series.

THE GRAPEVINE: Little brother of the big studios, the 16m film industry, is suffering growing pains. Everybody's ever cranked a narrow gauge camera seems to be proclaiming himself a producer and buttonholing industrialists and businessmen. Recently, for instance, a local industrialist announced he was open to bids on an idea he had for ballyhooing his wares through 16m films. Bids for the job ranged from $1500 to $45,000. Half of the bidders forgot to inquire whether a script had been prepared or other pertinent details of the proposed film—but they were all ready to try. Joseph A. Thomas, president of Telefilm, one of the more responsible entrants in the 16m field, has proposed the growing industry should establish a self-regulatory body like the Johnston Office to trim off the lunatic fringe . . . Bonita Granville and Jack Wrather, the Texas oil scion turned film producer, will announce the day—any day. "The day," however, will be subject to Wrather's divorce. He was married to U.S. Senator Pappy O'Daniel's daughter six years ago . . . Ann Sheridan and Steve Hannegan will plane back to the Coast in time for the preem of "Night and Day" . . . Charles Skouras, George Bowser and Stanley Cox took in the Earl Carroll food and entertainment the other night, and spent much of the time discussing Carroll's corporate setup for his new theatre, on which construction will start soon. Carroll and Harry Engel sat in with the Fox-West Coast toppers on the discussions . . . Joan Crawford returns to work today in "Possessed" following a week's illness.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: This here column ain't all venom, slander and gossip. We printed an item about Johnny (Skins) Miller on location with Paramount's "The Emperor Waltz." George Jessel read it and remembered him as a vaudeville star of 35 years ago. When Miller returned to Hollywood from Canada, Jessel called him in for an interview and gave him a role in his forthcoming production, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now" . . . Bob Thomas shoved off for his vacation over the weekend, and Howard Heyn will take over his A.P. Hollywood column in the interim . . . From our Cedars of Lebanon correspondent comes the news that Tony Martin, who underwent an appendectomy Friday, will go home Wednesday; Seymour Felix is confined there with nasal hemorrhages, and Flo Browne Grippo, the agent, and Helen Forrest, the singer, have just checked out . . . Robert Kent, a leading man in films many years ago, is making his comeback in Pine-Thomas' "Jungle Flight." During his "at liberty" period, he worked as a mechanic and doughnut-baker . . . Douglas Fowley probably holds Hollywood's commuting record. Unable to find a house for his family here, he's living in San Diego and commuting by plane . . . Notice that story on Page One today about the Duke millions financing Independent Artists, the new indie formed by Frederick Brisson, Rosalind Russell, Dudley Nichols, etc? D.D.T. had at least half a scoop on it the other day . . . Big star whose agent suffered minor injuries in a car crash has been telling solicitous inquirers "he can probably be reached in the small animal hospital."

CALL SHEET: GUY PRICE scorned the society columns and thought up an original way to tell friends of the impending marriage of his daughter, Laura Ann. He invited 35 of her friends to a luncheon at the Beverly Hills Club and broke the news via a "special radio broadcast," with Cyril Ring, manager of The Club, acting as announcer . . . TAD VAN BRUNT, Paramount player, got his first fan letter—from five natives of Okinawa. He was military governor of the island after its capture by U. S. forces, and the natives, grateful for his treatment of them, wrote him their best wishes . . . LES PAUL, the guitarist and recording artist, begins an engagement at and with The Rounders tonight . . . FRANK BORZAGE and his two discoveries, Catherine McLeod and Bill Carter, head for Dallas in September for the preem of Borzage's "I've Always Loved You" . . . RUTH WARRICK will get an all-out buildup as a sexy siren at Universal . . . CHARLES E. WASHBURN, president of Coast and Peerless Records, returned from a trip to the Northwest where he visited many vets' hospitals. Says many of the blinded vets have musical talents and is proposing that record companies provide work for them . . . LLOYD SIGMON, KMPC's chief engineer, has been named honorary member of the Most Excellent Order of the British Empire. Reason for the mouthful of title was his service as head of American Forces Network in the United Kingdom during the war.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: In a scene for "The Emperor Waltz," Scheherezade, a French poodle, is supposed to be overcome with emotion when she sees Button, a fox terrier. Director Billy Wilder instructed trainer Frank Inn: "All I want from her is a nervous breakdown!" . . . Hollywood Starlight Theatre has hired five press agents to puff the outdoor operetta season. Brass section is the mightiest ever assembled for a local legit venture . . . Department of Biology: Ted Husing, announcing the races at Empire Saturday, came up with the biological boner of the year. He blurted out that Grand Admiral is "out of War Admiral" . . . "Abie's Irish Rose" is getting raves from the few who have caught a showing of the Eddie Sutherland production . . . OFF THE LOTS: Martha O'Driscoll and Doug Hamilton at Billingsley's. Jane Withers and Ross Hunter at Biltmore Bowl. Rory Calhoun and Julie Landon at Club Morocco. The Kent Smiths tossed a barbecue for Zachary Scotts, Mildred Natwick, John Emery, Princess Lucinge, Horace Kelland . . . Spencer Tracy is heading for New York as soon as he finishes "Sea of Grass" . . . We've received a lot of bitter comment on that "squaw bury shortcake" gag. Here's another candidate for the worst-pun-of-the-year—In an early Warners' short, during the first year of sound, the comic asked his straight man "Why is an old maid like a green tomater?" and after much yucking, he gave the tagline, "Because it's hard tomater!" Take that, you critics!—D.D.T.

knowledge or approval of the action taken by the overnight "Chicago Bennett Committee," which circulated a letter to the 1,000 delegates charging that gangster pals of George E. Browne and Willie Bioff, convicted labor racketeers, still control IATSE.

Richard Walsh, IA prexy, denied the "Bennett Committee" charges and challenged anyone attending the convention "to prove that there are any racketeers left in the union."

The election will be held Thursday and has developed into a strictly two-party affair with the Bennett-Shuff combine going so far as to announce their opposition slate. Besides Bennett and Shuff, IA members selected for vice presidential posts are Louis Clendenning, Atlantic City; William Kemp, Atlanta; George Schaffer, Los Angeles; Harold V. Smith, Hollywood; and Herbert Slater, Providence.

Early in the convention sessions will be drafting of a model contract covering television workers for use in the IA move to gain strong foothold in the tele field. IA move will be in opposition to AFL electrical workers union, which already has claim on many see-hear workers.

ARA WAXERY ON BLOCK; REPORT 2 RIVAL BIDS

ARA pop-plattery is on the block, Mark Leff, prexy, admitted over the weekend. Nibbles from two rival firms are under consideration, but Leff refuses to reveal identity, although trade-talk indicates one of interested parties is Cosmo Records. It also is known that ARA was offered Musicraft, but nixed.

Boris Morros founded ARA about four years back, and approximately a year ago peddled waxery to Leff for a reported $150,000. Since about $100,000 more has been invested by owner. Among those under contract to waxery, and whose pacts automatically will have to be assumed by buyer, are Ginny Simms, Jan Savitt band, Hoagy Carmichael and Phil Harris; latter always has been outfit's strongest sales factor. ARA operates own plant here with 40-odd presses.

FCC IN FREEDOM LECTURE REFUSES ATHEIST PLEA

Washington, July 21.—The Federal Communications Commission gingerly disposed of a "hot potato" here Friday and denied a petition of Robert Harold Scott of Palo Alto, Calif., who wanted licenses of three San Francisco radio stations revoked because they refused broadcast time to atheists.

Commission however delivered a five-page sermon on the problems and obligation of radio stations in deciding whether or not time should be made available for irreligious programs. The Commission said too strict an interpretation of the words "atheist" or "agnostic" would have barred Thomas Jefferson, Andrew Jackson and Abraham Lincoln from the radio in their day.

Scott's petition — which FCC has been nursing for over 18 months—called for license revocations for KQW, San Jose; JPO and KFRC, San Francisco. He argued that while the stations have given time freely to religious groups they had refused to sell or give time to discussions favoring agnosticism.

The existence or non-existence of a Divine Being, Scott said, is still a controversial issue, and the Radio Act requires stations to air fully both sides of all important controversial issues.

The Commission stopped far short of recommending stations to accept such programs but fell back on the constitutional guarantees of freedom of religion.

"NEVADA, U.S.A.," ICE SHOW SET FOR EL PATIO

"Nevada, U.S.A.," new variety show — on ice — will bow new El Patio theatre, at Hollywood and La Brea, into the local show ranks on Aug. 8. Recently reconstructed and refurnished, theatre has been housing radio shows for past few weeks pending introduction as combo legit and film house. Scale will be $3.30, $2.40 and $1.80 for 900-seater.

George Arnold, star-producer of revue, has set company of 25 skaters for show, plus pit band of 16 musicians, and chorus. Described as a musical comedy, show is a combination of variety, a la "Blackouts," with a running thread of story. It will be laid in 24 sets and two stages, a new small stage being built to permit continuous action. Show last played Iridium Room, of St. Regis hotel, New York, and has been added to and built up, according to Arnold.

MGM DISCERY INKS SIX NAMES; PLANS MYSTERY SPLASH

That Metro's record-company subsid already has signed up half a dozen names became known over weekend with arrival here of Frank Walker, chief of outfit, who at long last came overland from NY headquarters for close huddles with studio execs. Outfit is keeping identity of those signatured a secret under premise firm can make greater splash by revealing an impressive string at one swoop. Walker revealed that only reason news leaked recently on Kate Smith signing was that chirp told all herself. It is understood that new names signed have been tipped to keep mum until Metro gives the nod.

Walker will spend three weeks here, getting acquainted with studio execs, auditioning talent and surveying recording facilities at Culver City lot. An outpost of company will be opened here in fall, but no personnel have been tabbed as yet.

The working-label of MGM for the platters, according to Walker, probably will be changed, but the long-hinted name of Lion definitely is out. Firm, like all others, is having difficulty setting mechanical facilities for pressing discs and now it is realized that it will be early 1947 before platters reach retail trade. Company is drag-netting country looking for plants to augment first one recently bought at Bloomfield, N.J. It is certain at least one here will be acquired, or built.

The subsid shortly will commence to line up distribs, on system patterned after Victor and Columbia, who use indies, unlike Decca and Capitol, which operate own offices in strategic spots skeined across the hinterland.

Jurow Joins Ent As Production Aide

Martin Jurow, who recently bowed out as executive assistant to Hal Wallis, checks into new berth at Enterprise today as production aide to Charles Einfeld and David Loew. Working in conjunction with David Hopkins, Jurow will coordinate all production activities at the studio.

LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

Mutual muffed its big chance to impress the people it does business with by almost coming a cropper with its broadcast Saturday of "Author Meets the Critics," party of the first part being ex-Huckster Frederic Wakeman. It came off badly because the critics did all the talking and the tradesmen wanted to hear from their exposer. Handled properly it could have been a sizzling session at confessional. The two critics, neither of whom we ever heard of, fumbled, mumbled and stumbled through their prepared scripts and what they had to say was of little interest trade-wise. Only solid lick Wakeman got in was to clear partly a lot of Cutty Sarkers of waywardness by saying the same thing could have happened in the coal or wheat business. Wakeman, asked if he lost his job over the book that required "enormous courage," replied, "No, but I don't work any more." The gal critic, Bessie Beatty, who said she is in radio, had the males snickering with the aside, "gentleman who borrowed my copy commented that Vic Norman should have spent more time in advertising and less in bed." She set off another sparkler by saying that a man like Evan Evan ("repeat that slogan till they believe it") belongs in the daffy house. Discussion was tagged off with a silly giveaway, the listener being asked to fill out the sentence, "I want to own an autographed copy of 'The Hucksters' because . . ." Why Mutual didn't bring an unnamed huckster into the verbal joust for a go at Wakeman is no business of ours but it most certainly would have enlivened a pretty dull chinfest. And it would have brought the network reams of columnar comment with enough mention of the program to perhaps whet the interest of a potential client.

Chain breaks . . . Nelson Eddy has been dropped by the utilities companies sponsoring "The Electric Hour" and Phil Spitalny's "Hour of Charm" takes over in the fall. Producer Charlie Herbert has been asked to come east to handle the show but prefers to remain on the Coast. Show will be toured, which is another reason why Herbert isn't interested . . . John Bates, radio head of the J. M. Mathes agency, casing the talent marts for a new program to be bankrolled by Canada Dry. It goes on CBS in the Friday night time vacated by Ginny Simms, who moves into the vacated Pabst niche . . . J. Walter Thompson lost the Toni Cold Wave account to Foote, Cone & Belding . . . James Carmine, v.p. of Philco, and Pierson Mapes and Hank Booream of the Hutchins agency are here on a scouting expedish but all they'll admit is that Burl Ives has been signed for a series of quarter hour recordings. The trade rumor goes that they're interested in a two-hour record show starring Bing Crosby, Tony Martin and two other topliners for spot booking around the country. Incidentally, Martin, who is on the mend from a fast appendectomy, has asked for his release from Bourjois so he may be free to accept a deal with Texaco, which would have him paired with Frances Langford. It's Mique Kirk's pitch . . . Schenley is abandoning "This Is My Best" for "Star Spangled Theatre," a carbon of Academy Award Theatre and others of that ilk.

Radio is at a unique disadvantage in the launching of new shows, believes William S. Paley, CBS prexy, who passed several weeks indoctrinating the production staff here with his pet theories on future programming along the network. Sezze: "a picture or stage play can be tabbed for success or failure within a week or two. Radio sometimes has to wait from 13 to 26 weeks to know whether a new show has hit or missed. Public or client reaction is slow in coming and too often a promising show is pulled too fast." The growing clutter of audience participation shows is frowned on by Paley and he believes their number should be diminished. Accent will be on comedy, he says, and many of the house shows doing hiatus duty show exciting promise. Network is on the prowl for new comedy talent, which may be interpreted as a challenge to NBC's practical monopoly of the big time zanies. Paley was emphatic in refuting reports that he's selling out to Floyd Odlum or anyone else. His long range plans for the chain would indicate he'll be with CBS for a long time to come and his main interest for the immediate future is in programming.

Hitch hikes . . . Harmon Nelson has resigned as Coast head of the Roche, Williams & Cunningham agency . . . Paul Warwick's record album project, in which he will wax highlights from top comedy airers, is purely personal and not an agency venture. He is said to have lined up Fred Allen, Jack Benny, Burns and Allen, Ed Gardner, Amos 'n' Andy, Edgar Bergen and scads of others . . . Jack Melvin, after a few months as Coast publicity director for Foote, Cone & Belding, has been made national head, replacing Jack Burnett. He'll continue to headquarter here . . . Colgate has tagged its new show "A Day in the Life of Dennis Day." Penciled for the supporting cast are Sharon Douglas, Verna Felton, Joe Kearns and Charles Dant's orchestra . . . Sid Strotz and Hal Bock will mount soap boxes at NBC-Stanford U Radio Institute . . . Daniel O'Meara and Joseph E. Connor latest to join the exodus from Ruthrauff & Ryan to Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles . . . First appointment by Jack Van Nostrand, head of the Hollywood operation of SSC&B, goes to Joe Thompson, onetime NBC producer. He'll likely take the reins on Lionel Barrymore's "Mayor of the Town" . . . Don Thornburgh and "Corny" Jackson fell to discussing their old home state of Indiana. Conversation then narrowed to Indianapolis, where it developed they had both lived. "On what street?" pursued Jackson. Given the address, he withered the CBS Coast topper with a double take. It finally came out they lived across the street from each other for more than a year without even a nodding acquaintance.

INDIE STATIONS, UNION REACH AGREEMENT

Terms of new technician contract between indie stations and International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers were finally accepted by both sides Friday night. Following night meetings of both groups, majority of broadcasters voted to accept and holdout technicians were won over to concessions granted managements. Agreement ends three-month battle that twice fringed on a strike. One station holdout, Frank Doherty's KRKD, seeking further union-clarification of "jurisdiction" of engineers, will probably be brought in by end of this week when ticket is expected to be ready for signature. Otherwise, station will be dealt with separately, says union.

Terms, affecting 12 stations, though agreed to by only 11 at this writing, call for wage hikes that range between 18 and 41 per cent, and re-establish standard 40-hour, five-day week. Generally, raises average 30 per cent for top two groups of stations, and 18 per cent for last group of three stations. Respectively, they hop from $65 weekly to $85 for three top stations, from $57.50 to $75 for middle group of six, and from $57.50 to $68 for lesser trio.

Other terms include, 15 per cent extra for supervisors (upping some over $100 monthly and accounting for 41 per cent extreme), retroactivity to July 1, six hour minimum work call, except in cases of special events or remote pickups when it is four hours; strict policing of remotes by union technicians, calling for presence of technician on all remote broadcast pickups excepting religious programs operating on donated time, and excusing three lesser stations, plus definition of technician work jurisdiction. Contract is for two years but permits reopening of wage provisions if Bureau of Labor Statistics reports a five point increase in living costs.

Robt. Wyler Seeks Stories in Europe

Robert Wyler is currently enroute to Europe as personal rep for producer-director William Wyler. Understood chief objective of the overseas junket is to acquire new story properties for the producer. "NEVADA, U.S.A.," ICE SHOW SET FOR EL PATIO

"Nevada, U.S.A.," new variety show — on ice — will bow new El Patio theatre, at Hollywood and La Brea, into the local show ranks on Aug. 8. Recently reconstructed and refurnished, theatre has been housing radio shows for past few weeks pending introduction as combo legit and film house. Scale will be $3.30, $2.40 and $1.80 for 900-seater.

COAST BANDS GET HEAVY BOOKINGS FOR CONCERTS

Flock of bands now on Coast are either being offered for jazz-concert dates this winter or already have tours set. It is certain to be biggest season to date. Duke Ellington, now in San Diego, already has six engagements lined up in eastern keys. He pioneered the field and has been most successful at the boxoffice. Woody Herman's crew, which opens tomorrow at Casino Gardens, has tour of midwest being set for late November by General Artists Corp.

Music Corp. of America several weeks ago started submitting Xavier Cugat and Tommy Dorsey for straight concerts and now Sammy Kaye, who recently closed at Palladium, has been added to the list. Over the weekend, Carlos Gastel, personal manager of Stan Kenton's ork, let it be known he has started dickers with promoters in NY, Baltimore, Washington, Philadelphia and Detroit for Kenton to give his first concerts shortly before he goes into Paramount, NY, for a month starting Dec. 2.

Sequoia Moves Hat

Sequoia Summer Playhouse, strawhat group composed of local thesps, is moving from Boulder Creek to the Santa Cruz Civic Auditorium to complete its season. Larger facilities and sponsorship of the 20-30 Club brought about the shift, it was announced by David Reed Farmer, director, over the weekend.

FLACK GUILD WILL VOTE FOR NEW OFFICERS

of 275 there were 10 flacks who did not vote, another eight whose votes were challenged, and one vote cast for no union. SPG received 144 votes to Local 798's 112.

SPG, presently affiliated with Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers, Local 1489, already has signified its intentions of withdrawing from painters and seeking an autonomous federal charter from the American Federation of Labor so that it will have no connection with any other studio union except through AFL.

Election covered all but publicity directors employed at Columbia, Goldwyn, Republic, Universal, RKO, Metro, 20th-Fox, Warners, Paramount, Roach, PRC, Monogram, Enterprise, Wallis, Bogeaus, International, Lesser, Loew, Rogers, Vanguard, Nero, Stromberg and Liberty film companies.

There are to be no discrimination, penalties or initiation fees imposed on the losing union and all eligible to vote become regular members of the winning union. Under pre-election agreement, Local 798 will dissolve its union, transferring all assets, records, personal property and money to SPG after obligations are erased.

Screen Guild Gives New Release Dates

New release schedule for Screen Guild Productions, covering remainder of 1946, was announced over the weekend by Robert L. Lippert, veepee in charge of distribution. Films and release dates are: "Flight To Nowhere," August 15; "'Neath Canadian Skies," August 15; "Rolling Home," September 15; "North Of The Border," October 1; "My Dog Shep," October 15, and "Scared To Death," November 1.

Hover Hunts Stage

H. D. Hover is seeking stage space for his independent production "An Evening At Ciro's," which he plans to start in November. Already signed for top roles are Joe E. Lewis and Carmen Cavallaro.

Ben Yost's White Guards set for San Diego hotel for fortnight, opening Aug. 21.

Tony Rizzi tonight replaces Al Hendrickson as guitarist in Boyd Raeburn band.

Dick Dildine's crew inked into Del Mar Club, Santa Monica, for month starting Aug. 8.

Peer International is the publisher of the new Latin-American songs by Armando Orefice.

Frank Brandt's combo tonight commences four-week stand at El Rancho Dio, Las Vegas.

Teddy Stauffer's ork cutting album for Roger Records. Outfit formerly disced for Victor.

T-Bone Walker, sepia blues-bawler, set for Aug. 6 vaude week at Lincoln at $850 for the stanza.

Sterling Young ork set for Pasadena Civic, Aug. 2-3. Bob Mohr's combo inked into same spot, Aug. 30-31.

Monica Lewis disced the new Bernie Wayne - Ben Raleigh tune, "Walkin' with My Shadow," for Signature Records.

Marlin Skiles assigned by Columbia to write the musical score for "Gallant Journey." Morris Stoloff will conduct the orchestra.

Milt Kabak has quit the trom chair in Stan Kenton ork. Replaced by Harry Forbes, who was with combo before Army service.

Ben Ellison, who last month quit as general manager of Exclusive Records, now fronting new waxery, Hollywood International Records.

William Loss, vice-prexy and general manager of Cinecolor, leaves today for New York on business. He expects to return in about three weeks.

Carmen Cavallaro scheduled for a recording session of four sides for Decca first week in August. Carmen gets to Hollywood from New York next week.

Pauline Byrns and The Stardusters, vocal combo, waxing ten tunes for Standard Transcriptions, first chore called for under terms of recently signed contract.

John Scott Trotter and the 45-piece symphony orchestra he has organized start today recording the score of "Abie's Irish Rose," which Trotter composed.

Ezio Pinza will make his film debut in "Carnegie Hall," with Met-opera star lensing in New York next month before starting work with the San Francisco Opera Company in September.

Dinah Shore and Xavier Cugat have recorded "Laborrachita" ("I'll Never Love Again") for Columbia Records. Song has been published by Peer International with English lyrics by Al Stewart.

Boyd Raeburn band now under management of General Artists Corp. Outfit severed from William Morris agency last winter and since bookings have been handled by musicrew's personal manager, Lou Bolton.

Georgie Joy, partner in music pub house of Santly-Joy, due in tomorrow from NY headquarters for periodic visit, during which he will huddle with Dave Bernie, S-J Coast rep, and Bill Coty, local light of Oxford Music, S-J subsid.

KXLA Sets Social Disease Broadcasts

Boldest step in public service race to be tried by an indie station here will be introduction of "Syphillis Series" on station KXLA, July 25, at 6 p.m. Quarter-hour dramatized program will be carried regularly every Thursday thereafter. Idea has been indorsed by State and County Medical authorities.

AFM Warns Katz On Double Biz

The American Federation of Musicians has told Al Katz, Coast chief of Harold F. Oxley agency, to decide whether he wants to continue booking acts or operate a discery. The AFM has affirmed he cannot continue both enterprises. Two months ago Katz received a license to record from Musicians' Local 47, and incorporated a plattery which was to use the label of F-M.

BING CROSBY EYED BY DISCERIES FOR PLATTER BOOM

Transcription business and recording studios and plants are looking forward to halcyon days—and they all depend on Bing Crosby. Where the the Groaner goes, thus goes the trade, is the belief. So, when Bing returns to the air—which he definitely wants on a platter—biscuit factors see an unprecedented trade boom.

Naturally, they'll all be pitching for the Crosby account, and likelihood is that it will go to National Broadcasting Co.'s recording division. Filial regard of Bing alone would be an assist. Also probable that Radio Corp. of America would get the pressing chore after NBC's cutting and supplying of studios. Account would be regarded as ace prestige account, in addition to representing healthy weekly income.

Crosby has revealed positive intention to intimates that he wants time off and fewer demands. Consequently, his show will be waxed or, at worst, a combination of few live programs.

200 Record Stores Plug Shore NY P.A.

Columbia Records and the New York Paramount, it was announced today, are planning the biggest joint exploitation campaign in their history for Dinah Shore's opening, Wednesday. Tie-ups with over 200 record stores in Greater New York have been effected and every top record jockey is plugging the Shore discs. When she completes her Paramount stint, Miss Shore returns to huddle with J. Walter Thompson on her new fall airshow under the sponsorship of Ford Motors.

'Firefly' Opens

"The Firefly" opens at the Greek Theare tonight, starring Allan Jones and Irene Manning. Rudolf Friml operetta is the second offering of the Hollywood Starlight Theatre season and is set for fortnight stand.

TIMES BUYS KFI TIME; OFF KMPC

KFI includes no "exchange of courtesies," such as news, and is a straight commercial program.

Yesterday's move by the Times indicated first step had been taken in expanding the newspaper's radio interests and its coverage of the radio field. Through a publishers' agreement, downtown newspapers have shied away from all but the briefest coverage of radio. It's reported the Times may revive radio column dropped many years ago and give space to complete log on local stations.

Times' deal with KMPC will have lasted three years on expiration date.

ROACH GETS 200G SOUND STAGE UNDER WAY

Hal Roach broke ground for a new $200,000 sound stage over the weekend at his Culver City plant. Stage, to be fitted with latest technical developments, is slated to be completed in mid-October.

The Civilian Production Administration granted Roach permit for the new construction on the grounds that producer had been prevented from expanding the studio during the war years. The lot, up until December, 1945, had been used by the Army Air Forces.

Secret Tag On 'Johnny O'Clock'

Robert Rossen, who has been doubling in brass on Jem Productions' "Johnny O'Clock," directing from his own screenplay, yesterday completed the tag of the story. And the tag is going to be a mystery until the film is previewed. Only persons knowing solution are Edward Nealis, producer, Milton Holmes, associate producer and author of the original story, and Dick Powell, pic's star.

Mitchum Slated As 'Pursued' Co-Star

Negotiations are nearing conclusion for Bob Mitchum to co-star with Teresa Wright in the United States Picture production, "Pursued." Production start on the film has been held up pending many tests for the male lead. Understood choice finally narrowed down to Randolph Scott and Mitchum, with the Milton Sperling-Joseph Bernhard combo finally deciding on Mitchum.

TAB K0RDA IN CHAPLIN SUIT

New York, July 22.—New York Supreme Court Justice Samuel Null today signed an order calling for examination of Alexander Korda in Charles Chaplin's stockholder's action against David O. Selznick, 20th-Fox and United Artists. Chaplin is asking $2,000,000 damages and an accounting of profits made by Selznick from deal with 20th-Fox on sale of three literary properties, "Keys of The Kingdom," "Jane Eyre," and "Claudia."

Chaplin charges that Selznick borrowed $300,000 from UA treasury to consummate the deal and the profits, therefore, belong to the UA stockholders.

Priscilla Lane Sent Back to Hospital

Shooting is held up for at least two days on Andrew Stone's "Strange Bedfellows" by hospitalization of Priscilla Lane, femme lead. Miss Lane returned to work yesterday after several days illness with an ear infection, but at close of yesterday's shooting was ordered to St. John's Hospital for observation.

HUGHES MAY BE UP SOON

Washington, July 22. — Howard Hughes believes he will be up and around in the near future. This was indicated today when Hughes asked FCC to postpone his television application hearing until August 9, when he hopes to testify. Producer-aviation magnate, and Tommy Lee, owner of the Don Lee network, were slated to testify in Los Angeles Wednesday.

Although Howard Hughes was reported to be making continued progress at the Good Samaritan hospital last night, his doctors would not comment in any way on the Washington report.

Ross Dealing With Rank On 'Robe'

Frank Ross is negotiating with J. Arthur Rank on possible production of "The Robe" in England. Producer further disclosed that he was at the same time discussing production with "several major studios in this country," Metro not included. Possibility still exists that RKO will release the film.

Marshall Field Move For New Net Seen in Radio Buys

Washington, July 22.—Marshall Field's ambition for a fifth network is seen in two recent radio moves by Chicago publisher. Publisher has filed application with Federal Communications Commission for purchase of KJR, Seattle, from Bert K. Fisher for $700,000. Plea was actually filed by Totem Broadcasters of which Field is president. If deal is approved, Field will have his fourth wholly-owned standard broadcasting outlet, all of which will have been acquired within two-year period. He already has WJJD, Chicago; WSAI, Cincinnati, and last month was okayed by FCC to buy KOIN, Portland, Ore.

NEW DEAL OR N0 ACTS, SEZ KAYE

The American Guild of Variety Artists yesterday was revealed to have tossed a sizzling firecracker in its battle to make local niteries post cash-bonds covering floor show salaries and agree to six-day work week. HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

BUT for the fat of his back, Andy Devine might be flat on his back today as far as acting in films is concerned. When Warner Bros. launched talking pictures 20 years ago, Andy's voice was a nightmare to the sound men. Up to that time, actor had been a heavy, and when his speech went on the sound tracks, it was not as menacing as it was ridiculous and peculiar. Devine was liked by everybody and he continued to work in pictures for about three years under orders never to open his mouth in the vicinity of a mike. He was always cast as a waiter, bar-fly or nearby pedestrian, and he managed to be in the immediate neighborhood of early talkie conversationalists. Reason was that the mike, before the traveling boom was invented, was hung down his back and, hidden by actor's bulk, the pick-up device was given locomotion. Best scene was in "Stark Mad," with Louise Fazenda, wherein Andy was a waiter. Each time actress was to speak, he would serve her escort and vice versa, which always put the mike where it could hear.

ONE of the larger talent agencies is having trouble with an important group of clients. Matter has been brewing for some time and may break out in the open any day. Sometime back a pair of big time agents affiliated themselves with the agency, bringing in their large roster of name talent. One of the agents has been quite ill in recent months, resulting in little personal attention given to his own clients. The other agent has long hankered to devote most of his time to legit production and film package deals, thus he too has little time for the clients he brought into the big talent agency combo. Understood that most of the clients are looking elsewhere in case situation continues permanently. In the meantime, agency toppers are doing their best in attempting to straighten the matter out.

LOCAL board of governors of Music Publishers' Contact Employes (songpluggers' union) had a perplexing hot potato lobbed into lap late last week when Mort Livingston asked for return of $28 he deposited with union three years ago. Figure covered initiation fee and first-quarter dues. Since that time he has never been employed as a tune-tout. Union has no rule covering situation and local officers are indecisive whether to flatly turn down Livingston or forward the facts in case to national prexy Bob Miller, in NY. Incidentally, since livingston joined union has raised initiation fee to $100 and quarterly dues to $9; under present regulations he could not join organization today, since applicant now must prove he has job waiting before bid for membership is accepted.

OLDTIMERS are getting a break in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now"—13 of them in the cast totaling 476 years of show business experience among them. The list reads: Victor Travers, 43 years; Sam Ash, 40 years; Ross Gould, 32 years; Monte Singer, 30 years; Paul Pierce, 25 years; Harry Clark, 38 years; Tony Merlo, 40 years; Bob Walker, 33 years; Harry Royer, 35 years; Donald Kerr, 35 years; Stuart Holmes, 37 years; Eddie Borden, 44 years, and Heinie Conklin, 44 years. Director Lloyd Bacon, who has a special leaning towards casting old timers, says result of hiring veteran players is a series of one-take close-ups, saving the company plenty of time and money.

MANY ex-G.I.'s with service-acquired film experience are setting themselves up in Gypsy-like exhibition business, according to survey of United Sixteenmillimeter Society. Men are hitting road with bag full of 16m reels, some old reduced major product, and easily portable projection and photographing equipment, and are reportedly "making a living." More intrepid are even taking off for foreign lands to re-entertain at trading post "theatres," etc., where motion pictures were unknown before armed forces introduced them. Others are reportedly hitting escape-hungry European scene, playing barns, bistros and other substitute theatres.

WIDER use of film stars and generally greater studio cooperation with radio interests is seen as offshoot of hypo of transcription business if trend toward platters is started by Bing Crosby. Due to shooting schedules studios have balked at guestings of stars on equally luminary-laden ether shows. Interruptions, strain and other impositions have been stop gap. Situation has been particularly true of Metro. However, since platters may be cut with considerably less inconvenience than regularly scheduled live air show demands, stars will be more available, it's figured.

BREAKDOWN of clear channels here will precipitate three-cornered free-for-all over 750 kc band. Three different interests are either on file or have avowed intentions for coveted ribbon that's braced on either side by KECA and KMPC. CLOSED circuit transmission, a device used by networks for special messages to affiliates, is being utilized by International Pictures for a discussion of five impending releases. Private line into William Goetz's office will be hooked up to the ABC network and exhibitors around the country will assemble at the web's stations in their respective cities. Ted Malone handles the commentary.

RECENT dispatches from Bikini atom bombing are inadvertently boosting Comet's initial feature, "Little Iodine." Wire stories are alluding to drone planes, pilotless machines used to go through bomb clouds, as mischievous "Little Iodines." If drone planes keep tag during subsequent atom tests, Comet feature stands to glean that much more free plugs.

PREVIEWED at Belmont theatre, Los Angeles, Calif., July 18, 1946. Running time: 129 MINS.

Sure fire to reap rich returns, this is another Metro musical which has bulwarked its box office appeal with sleek production, meaningful marquee magnets and a cornucopia of good music, both vocal and instrumental. The only chink in the armor pervious to criticism is pic's undue length; with 15 minutes snipped all the sound values would have been retained and the story less strained.

One of items which will be found memorable in "Holiday in Mexico" is the big-splash into certain future stardom given Jane Powell, 15-year young singer-actress from radio who herewith is afforded first big opportunity. Packing a wealth of charm and piquant personality, she swipes top honors from the vets in cast. Joe Pasternak really built a plushy production around her, whom he is grooming as he did Deanna Durbin.

Yarn presents Walter Pidgeon as U.S. Ambassador to Mexico, less tried by diplomatic ordeals than coping with adolescent problems of bouncing young daughter, Miss Powell. Among admirers she soon lines up Jose Iturbi and Xavier Cugat, who have purely paternal interest in her antics, and Roddy McDowall, whose calf-crush on her makes for some amusing juvenile byplay. Miss Powell indeed has a trying, but audience-amusing, time growing up. But she does, and at the fadeout even understands her widowed father marrying an old flame re-encountered, Ilona Massey. The adolescent-comedy touches of the story have more sinew and naturalness than average fiction elements of filmusicals.

Aside from Miss Powell's strong moments, rendering "Ave Maria," "Italian Street Song" and "Les Filles des Cadiz," there's much rich music in Iturbi's keyboard-rippling of "Lieberstod" and "Polonaise," abetted on the latter by sister Amparo Iturbi on another 88. Xavier Cugat whisks his band through five Latin rhythms in addition to playing a coy comedy foil. The spectacles are orb-enticing if not overpowering, and always in taste; the locale naturally proved colorful.

Pidgeon turned in his usual mature job of acting, veining his work with just the proper shading of deep amusement at daughter's dilemmas, as befit role. McDowall made for good comedy as the halting, occa-

Col Sets Up New Exhib 'All or Nothing' Contract

New York, July 22.—Columbia will offer exhibitors a new contract under which they may buy "all or nothing" of the season's product, according to Abe Montague, sales manager, today. Contract provides for bargaining for each picture separately or severally and cancellation according to formula to be set up in the final government decree.

Montague also revealed that Columbia's "stop sales" order issued from Chicago just before the court's decision in the anti-trust suit against majors was made without prior knowledge of what court's action would be. It was simply because Columbia was not meeting sales costs under its old sales method and wanted to wait for a new sales formula to be set up.

ALL FILMS ON SAME CONTRACT

Company will list all its films on the same contract, even though an exhib can bargain on price and sale individually. Current contract lists 27 special features, four action musicals, and 10 westerns. Short subjects will be sold on the same basis. Trade screenings will be offer for all product, Montague said, but blind buying can continue so long as the sale of one picture is not contingent upon the sale of another. Whatever the government finally decides in the percentage of cancellation will be allowed in contracts already negotiated, according to Montague.

PREDICTS HIGHER DISTRIB COSTS

He predicted an interruption in the flow of new product, with exhibitors forced to pick up films formerly by-passed. He also said there will be a great effort to make better films and predicted greatly increased cost of distribution, although no decisions have yet been made on sales force increases.

No one is clear yet on clearances, Montague said, but the court opinion says it's legal. Inventories will be upped as a result of the sales slowdown and he said there is a big fear that upped costs will result from slowdown of product turnover.

Columbia is continuing its regional sales meets to keep abreast of events. Next district meeting is set for Aug. 3 at the Drake hotel in Chicago.

'Anna and King" Heading For Smashing $81,000 First Week

"Anna and the King of Siam" is heading up local first run theatres this week with outlook yesterday for smash $81,000, or better on its first week at the Chinese, State and Uptown theatres. All theatres are heading for estimated $365,000 on the week, aided by "Anna's" large take.

"To Each His Own" should top $45,500 at the two Paramounts. It is comparatively stronger at the Hollywood house. "Of Human Bondage" is lightweight at the three Warner theatres, sighting not much more than $47,500 for the week. "A Night in Paradise" and "Dressed to Kill" is above average at $34,000 prospects at the Guild, United Artists and Ritz.

Other bills are holdovers, led by neat $37,000 estimate for third frame of "Kid from Brooklyn" at the Pantages and Hillstreet. Sixth roadshow week for "Henry V" at the Laurel is shaping up to steady $14,000 after clocking estimated $86,400 on first five frames. "Easy to Wed" closed five-week stay at the Belmont, Egyptian, Los Angeles and Wilshire last night with estimated $25,000, making way for "The Green Years" today. Latter film had special premiere at the Egyptian last night.

"Young Widow" nearing $28,500 for its second frame in the four Music Halls and "The Stranger" closed three-week run at the Orpheum, El Rey and Vogue last night with approximately $21,500. "Portrait of Maria" folded last night at the Four Star after a dull 11 days with scant $4,200 in the till. Combination of "Smoky" and "It Shouldn't Happen to a Dog" on m.o. at the Carthay looks like $6,000 for second week.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The bombing in the King David hotel in the modern part of Jerusalem echoes louder than any of the previous explosions in that dynamite-laden part of the world. It means that the extremists are becoming more bold and that they believe this is the time when a decision can be reached. The disturbances, in discrediting the British, are fuel for the Russians. We can also expect, now that the Turkish elections are over, that Moscow will renew its campaign for a new Dardanelles deal and for areas along the Black Sea in Turkey. Since the opposition party has shown unexpected strength in Turkey, Moscow can say the government policy of holding firm against Russia has been discredited. There's Madame Sun Yat-sen's support of the Moscow and Chinese Communist demand that our troops get out of China, or a war with Russia may develop there. There is something in what the Madame says. It is also more and more apparent that getting accord between the Nationalists and the Reds is a will-o-the-wisp. But, on the other hand, if we withdraw our troops and aid to Chiang, the Communists may take over, and Russia will be the dominant nation in China. All this and more in a so-called post war world.

'FORTUNE TELLER' NOT LIKELY TO SCORE ON B'WAY

As widely heralded in advance of its bow-in here last night at the Philharmonic, the L.A. Civic Light Opera Assn.'s "The Fortune Teller" production actually is a telescoping of two of Victor Herbert's early works, "Teller" and "The Serenade." Much of the book naturally is from the former, latter having been a lightweight item even in its era, and dredged up now only for its strong song values. The production was well-received by first-nighters, obviously sentimentalists. Even though enhanced by some striking sets, uniformly good operetta cast and wealth of color-splashed costuming, show hasn't that proverbial ghost-of-chance to rate even a B on Broadway; outside possibility is very limited run.

Book by Henry Myers culled a lot of chestnuts from original and new lyrics by Robert Wright and George Forrest lustred Herbert's lilting score to slight extent. But trio don't here accomplish what they did with "Song of Norway" two years ago, and Civic Op hasn't another "Red Mill" in the offing, either.

Helen Bliss makes adequate gypsy princess, albeit could have injected more lively insolence into Act One. Particularly attractive both physically and vocally was Dale Melbourne as nose-tilted marquise. Gene Lockhart weighed in with top all-around performance as typical operetta baron. Fragile comedy supplied by script seemed stronger because it was bulwarked by deft mugging and up-pointing by Walter Catlett and Jack Goode. John Tyers was adequate male lead; masculine pipes of Gilbert Russell, George Britton and Josephy Macaulay were pleasant at least. Val Valentinoff's act one finale hock-hoofing rocked the house as did no thrushing throes of the evening.

Aside from "Gypsy Love Song" standout, musical crest-lines were "Serenade," "Romany Life" and the rarely heard "Piff Paff." The large male and female choruses deserve a nod in passing, and comment must be made that the ballet possibilities were largely overlooked—and missed. Wright and Forrest's direction might have been more in modern mode, although certainly less dreary than usually encountered in revivals. Miles White's costumes definitely lent color and frequently charm.

'Race Rider' in Color

Warners will put "The Race Rider," two-reel Technicolor short, into production shortly. Jockey Willie Swigart will have the lead.

HERMAN WOOED FOR 'ORLEANS'

Jules Levey has initiated negotiations with Woody Herman for a featured chore in "New Orleans," film tracing the history of jazz. Producer wants the orchestra leader to portray role of Jack "Papa" Laine, credited with being the first white jazz-band leader. Projected deal would, in addition, utilize the services of the entire Herman band in the picture. Herbert Biberman has been signed as associate producer on the film, which rolls in mid-August. United Artists will release.

ENT MAPS DISTRICT SALES MANAGER SYSTEM PLANS

Enterprise is currently mapping plans to establish a system of district sales managers, with a survey to be made of districts to be set up throughout the country. This was learned last night following first of a series of meetings between Charles Einfeld, David Loew and Edward Gomersall, Universal's sales manager for the Enterprise product. Latter checked into Enterprise yesterday from New York for a week of sales-planning conferences.

Each of the first six multi-million dollar budget productions turned out by Enterprise for Universal release will be sold individually with special handling. Setting up of district sales managers is expected to hypo sales campaigns.

Donald Nelson Tells Plan for Labor Peace

Labor peace is essential during the next few years to keep the country's economy at full blast, Donald M. Nelson, prexy of Society of Independent Motion Picture Producers, said yesterday in speaking before Town Hall at the Biltmore. He advocated the formation of peace panels, made up of five representatives each from labor, management and the public to settle all disputes.

Kraatz Forms New Tele Agency Here

Formation of Teleways Radio Productions, indie video programming agency, was announced yesterday by Carl F. Kraatz, now repping Schwimmer & Scott, Inc., Chicago, agency. Kraatz resigns Aug. 15 to form own outfit which will headquarter at 8905 Sunset Boulevard. Firm will build live and transcribed shows for distribution by national sales organization to stations.

KGER In Radio Central Events Setup

KGER has hooked into Radio Central for first time and will hereafter feature remote special events and other wired-in programming. The beginner will be regular Monday noon man-in-the-street interview pickup from 7th and Hill streets. Telta fur shop will sponsor the show.

LOCAL 47 STARTS DISCERY CHECK

Musicians' Local 47 now has adopted practice of making windjammers working pop-plattery dates report in advance the where-and-when on discings. Move is to facilitate union to keep tabs on waxeries, particularly the odd-label, vest-pocket size sort and also to advise musikers on what indies might not be found to pay off on dates.

The Local has had some recent trouble getting money for members after they recorded for several small firms, and wants to protect card-carriers in future. Also, union has commenced investigating closely half a dozen picayune platteries recently licensed to record in attempt to discern if operators aren't also agenting performers on the side—a practice last month expressly forbidden by exec council of American Federation of Musicians.

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: William Randolph Hearst has been left at the post in the race of L.A. newspapers for local ether privileges. Apparently his Examiner and Herald-Express believe radio isn't here to stary, for the Daily News has copped a tie-up with KLAC and the Times has signed up as sponsor of a half-hour commercial program over KFI, abandoning its three-year news broadcast hookup with KMPC, while the Hearst papers are still giving radio the back-of-the-hand treatment. Also the Times has applied for FM and television station licenses . . . Nothing but signature of contracts stands between John Ford and direction of an outdoor epic at Metro. They've agreed on terms. Ford, who is rated in the top half-dozen craftsmen by his fellow directors, was griped by extensive cutting performed on "They Were Expendable" while he was in the hospital, but apparently he has been mollified . . . Jose Iturbi gave newlyweds Dusty Anderson and Jean Negulesco a spinet piano for their Camden Drive home. But he wouldn't agree to give them lessons . . . Metro is now interested in getting Humphrey Bogart for the Victor Norman role in "The Hucksters." The writer who makes that mawkish love story credible ought to get a special Oscar.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: When the Hollywood Turf Club was in its formative process, the late Jack Maddux, aviation pioneer, held out for accommodations for a landing field at the track, arguing that horse-owners would be commuting with their entries by plane from coast to coast. Most of his colleagues thought he had gone overboard for aviation, but one proof he was right is the present instance of "Historian," which won the Arlington Handicap Saturday and will be flown to Hollywood Park for the Hollywood Gold Cup next Saturday . . . Signpainters at Eagle-Lion knocked off work yesterday noon leaving a 24-sheet unfinished and reading "Eagle-Lion Stud." We trust they returned and made the place respectable and spelled out "Studio" . . . Unconversion note on Hollywood boulevard: An air raid siren still perched on top of a traffic light at Wilcox intersection . . . Laguna Playhouse production of "Twentieth Century" is drawing crowds down from Hollywood these nights. Diana Lynn took a party to the strawhat presentation starring Keenan Wynn and Tamara Geva, including Marjorie and Jack Reynolds, the John Hoyts, Johnny Coy and Dorothy Babb, the Richard Webbs, Guy Madison and Gail Russell. Diana is considering an offer to play in "Our Town" at the summer theatre . . . Now that they are putting up the bunting on Warners' Hollywood theatre for the 20th Anniversary of Sound celebration, Alex Evelove deserves a low bow for the job he's done on exploiting it, plus the "Night and Day" preem preceding it by a few days.

CALL SHEET: DAVID ROSE will write and conduct an original composition for the last sequence of Boris Morros' "Carnegie Hall," with Leopold Stokowski, Bruno Walter and Serge Koussevitsky already signed to conduct various sequences . . . JACK CARSON tells about the studio bigshot who, when asked what time it was by a grip, replied, "It's five minutes to four, but don't quote me" . . . SELENA ROYLE and WALTER HUSTON are introducing an intellectual note into between-scene waits, occupied by the lower brows with gin rummy and other games—they play chess, no less . . . DOROTHY LAMOUR will be vice president of the farm equipment and Kaiser-Frazier agency for Riverside county headed by her husband, William Howard . . . ALLAN JONES has okayed plans for a European tour next winter proposed by his agency, Frederick Bros. . . . BILL ANSON, the disc jockey, has written a film story with platter-piloting background in collaboration with Fritz Blocki . . . DANNY THOMAS' daughter Margaret visited her father on the set of "Ballerina" and stood in for Margaret O'Brien in a scene with Thomas . . . GARY COOPER'S parents, Judge and Mrs. Charles Cooper, visited Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour on "My Favorite Brunette" set at Paramount.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Literary life has its perils, too. Tom D'Andrea, under contract to Warners as an actor-writer, was beating out a bit of dialogue when his typewriter fell off its stand and fractured a bone in his right foot . . . New pop-plattery is being founded under the title of Superentertainment Records by C. Sharpe Minor. That's his legit name. He has been an organist in various Coast spots for years . . . OFF THE LOTS: The Groucho Marxes, Georges Sanders, Chester Morrises at The Kings. Charles Skouras planing to St. Louis today, Mr. and Mrs. William Dieterle to New York tomorrow via American Airlines . . . Hollywood coin is being invested in a projected Las Vegas hotel to be called the Flamingo . . . Paul Burnford, who's staging "The Good Fairy" at the Phoenix theatre in Westwood, has received an offer from Sir Alexander Korda to direct films for him in Canada . . . Chins up, old chap. Cricket equipment is on its way to Hollywood. Ann Richards is bringing bats, pads, gloves and other cricket appurtenances, all in short supply here from Australia. Sir Aubrey Smith, David Niven and Ronald Colman are among those waiting to put on their blazers and step up to the wicket . . . Sig Ruman is now one of director Wilder's favorite actors. When the latter interviewed him for a role in "The Emperor Waltz," Ruman's only query was, "Is it with or without mustache, how much accent do you want, and when do I start?"—D.D.T.

SOLID SET HEARS 'BALLROOM' ORKS AT H'D BOWL

Waxponent Al Jarvis brought to life his "Make Believe Ballroom" at Hollywood Bowl for benefit of coposed Westview hospital. Under auspices of KLAC and Daily News, Jarvis, emcee, Cal Kuhl, producer, and Bill Bush, major-domo assembled and presented a sitting and filling varied marathon of 11 musical aggregations and personalities, who played to a three-quarters filled house that paid from $1.40 to $10.00 per ticket.

Music lovers and music makers on hand were largely from another world than that of the Stoki circle: they were the solid set. So, in keeping with events, Slim Gaillard's trio sent the house. Then, for a closer, Bob Hope sent 'em again — homeward after a fast and funny closing. Ably abetting were Al Sack's orchestra, Lecuona Cuban Boys, Mello-Larks, Eddie Heywood orchestra, Boyd Raeburn's orchestra, Tommy Dorsey orchestra, Peggy Lee, Art Tatum, Stan Kenton orchestra and Larry Adler.

Tom Harmon Air Program Planned

Chicago, July 22.—Tom Harmon, former All-American football player, has been signed for a new transcribed radio series which will be sold as a once-weekly open-ender for co-operative sponsorship. Program is called "Here Comes Harmon" and is a bick knight package being produced by Criterion Radio Features of Chicago.

Plan To Package Disc Jockey Shows

San Francisco, July 22.—Plan to package disc jockey shows, combining recording and transcription, is being developed by Associated Broadcasters here. Novel idea centers around selection of groups of recordings to establish form and scene, then titles, announcements and chatter on cut on transcription.

A handful of top drawer announcers aren't going to like what makes up these paragraphs but it's more the practice than the personality that inspires this critical assay of a situation that needs correction. Driving through The Pass these mornings we try to catch as many stations as possible on the car set just to hear what goes along the band. At station break time and between record changes the spot commercials come dribbling through and the pitchmen pour it on.

No gripe there but what does rub the wrong way is that the voices are those of big timers, top men in the trade who are good for three to five bills a show on agency and package payrolls. The practice, we believe, has a double liability to balance off the single advantage. Shouting sales comeon in the allotted time break not only cheapens the announcer's professional standing but also reflects on the network client, who pays a munificent wage for selling soap, soup or cigarets.

Then there's the item on the fiscal facet, that of depriving countless small calibre but competent barkers of their modest means of livelihood. Once the stellar spielers make themselves available for the record pitches there won't even be crumbs left for the second stringers. AFRA can't do anything about it under its present constitutional setup but at next month's convention here there'll be a few amendments proposed that might take care of just such situations.

WB PERFECTS NEW PANEL FOR SOUND PERSPECTIVE

A new type miniature control panel for improvement of sound perspective has been developed by the Warner Bros. studio sound department. The small panel, measuring nine by six inches, was perfected by studio sound engineers under the guidance of William Mueller, chief engineer, and George Groves, head mixer.

Innovation permits the mixer, who holds the panel in his lap, to move close enough to players so that he can see if the sound matches the action. Development affords an advantage that is not always possible with the ordinary console-type control panels which are of a size not easily accommodated within vision of the performers.

Green's support was a boost to Walsh's chances at re-election as IA head over the opposition slate headed by William Bennett of Washington, D.C. Opinion of delegates during the first day of confab was that Walsh would have little trouble succeeding himself, especially riding into Friday's election with Green's blessings.

Gov. Dwight H. Green of Illinois also addressed the convention. Tomorrow's meeting will feature an address by Eric Johnston, representing the motion picture industry, Walsh's report as president ,and a report from William P. Raoul, general secretary-treasurer.

By RADIE HARRIS

The combine of director Rouben Mamoulian and songsmiths Ralph Blaine and Harry Warren has proven so felicitous on "Summer Holiday," Metro, that the trio will team again for the musical version of "Huckleberry Finn" with Claude ("The Yearling") Jarman, Jr., playing the title role and Barbara Whiting as "Emiline." The rest of the star studded cast will include Gene Kelly, Frank Sinatra, Pearl Bailey and Harold Nicholas. Quel line-up! Speaking of "Summer Holiday," I visited the set yesterday just as Walter Huston was playing the scene where he explains that facts of life to Mickey Rooney, and you can just imagine how the Eric Johnston office has emasculated this original Eugene O'Neill frank talk between father and son. But Mamoulian, with his usual astuteness, has bridged the censorship brilliantly. He has Walter starting every sentence, but never finishing it and the resultant innuendos are even more pointed than the original—and funnier. Walter finds himself so embarrassed that Mickey winds up the father and he the son! Walter also has several scenes in the picture with "Butch" Jenkins and the other day, after a rather trying time of it, he turned to him and stage-whispered, "What you need is a bull whip!" Whereupon "Butch" deadpanned back, "I already have one."

SCOOPING AROUND: Lennie Hayton, who conducted the entire score for "Till the Clouds Roll By" didn't attend the Jerome Kern Memorial tribute at the Hollywood Bowl Satdee nite—and everyone in the MGM music dept. knows his very good reason why . . . The honeymoon is already over for Judy Abbott and Tom Elwell . . . From London somes word that Ben Levy has written his greatest comedy hit in "Clutterbuck," and although the American bids are already pouring in, he's vetoing all of them, because he wants to bring it to Broadway in January, with his wife Constance Cummings re-creating her same role . . . The Raymond Masseys have found one good way of leasing a house here. Mrs. M. offered Arthur Schwartz her return drawing room on the Chief and as a swap got his home on North Crescent Drive—plus a "slight" rental! . . . Tony Martin's "cut" was a raise for Georgia Gibbs. Her swell pinch-hitting job as emcee and solo vocalist will be continued this Satdee nite.

OF PARAMOUNT IMPORTANCE: Henry Ginsberg, in the midst of an important conference, was interrupted by a phone call on his private wire. It was from his 12-year-old son, John, who announced, "Daddy, I have something to ask you."

"I'm tied up in conference, now, John. Can't it wait until later?" Ginsberg wanted to know.

"No, Daddy, this is important. I want to know why Mr. Irving Asher, who works at Rainbow can get bubble gum for his daughter, Jill, and you can't get any for me at Paramount!"

CUFFO NOTES: Larry Adler, who opens at Ciro's tomorrow nite, is sure that his wife, Eileen, is going to hog the limelight by having her own preem at the St. John's hospital to celebrate the arrival of their third offspring, whom, they hope, will be a "Wendy" for their "Peter." Larry says that, unlike Danny Kaye, who will christen his daughter, Dena, he resisted the temptation of tagging his "Monica!" . . . Bette Davis, one of the few stars who never worries about competition from another good actress, is using every persuasive effort on J.L. to get Mildred Natwick for the Pauline Lord role in "Ethan Frome," next on her Warner agenda . . . Betsy Blair is emerging from her domestic retirement as Mrs. Gene Kelly (and is that hard to take!) to test at Columbia for the femme lead in a Don Hartman production. Susan Douglas, who makes her screen debut in "Bel Ami" (Enterprise) is up for the same part . . . Mike Todd has just received the green light from the city authorities to use real fireworks at the Hollywood Bowl for the picnic scene in "Up in Central Park." He has also just concluded a deal with all the L.A. coutourieres to stage a fashion show at the Del Mar racetrack every Tues. afternoon, with each femme drawing a lucky number at the gate, entitling her to a chance of walking off with an entire new ensemble. No wonder they're calling this "Todd's County" too! . . . First of the MGM platters will be a "Summer Holiday" album of the Blaine-Warren tunes sung by the original cast and until you've heard Frank Morgan sing "Never Again," son, you ain't heard nothin' yet! . . . Van Johnson's gift to Keenan Wynn for his 30th birthday this Satdee is a suit from Eddie Schmidt's. Hey, Van, my natal event takes place in Oct. and I've just seen a little number at Adrian's!

ODE TO A HOSTESS: I'm indebted to Richard Greene for the following rhyme, which I'm sure will strike a respondent chord in every guest who has ever suffered through a bad dinner party:

"If the oysters had been as cold as the soup
The soup as hot as the wine
The wine as old as the chicken
The chicken as young as the maid
The maid as willing as the hostess
I'd have had a helluva good evening!"

AGVA ULTIMATUM TO NITERIES UP TOMORROW

not come to AGVA terms. Of all niteries in area, only 12 have agreed to union demands, and none of these are top-flight spots employing ceiling-coin acts.

Half dozen of the leading agencies here, when queried, stated they felt they must acquiesce to AGVA, since they feared they would be "outlawed" nationally, as they, too, are franchised by union. The letter round-robined to bookers did not tcuch on acts which had been contracted in past to play dates later than Wednesday, and which pacts had passed through union and received imprimatur some time ago. Agencies calling AGVA on matter were told that such contracts would be honored by union, which fact may make for an obviously confusing situation.

Meanwhile, the ultimatum issued by Arthur Kaye, western regional chief of AGVA, ordering niteries to squiggle dotted line on demands by tomorrow or suffer floorshows' loss, still stands.

Kaye is not expected back until late tonight from jaunt to San Francisco where he has inaugurated cash-bond and six-day-week campaign. By late last night none of the embattled niteries had made a move to reconcile the situation as the deadline neared.

Troc Closes Saturday For 6 or 8 Weeks

Trocadero will shutter Saturday night, with the windup of the engagement of the Lecuona Cuban Boys. Nitery will be blacked out from six to eight weeks, during which time remodeling of the bistro will take place and new ownership will institute new policy.

'STAR', 'ATTORNEY' PUT COL IN HIGH

Columbia enters production peak next week, when two films, "Mr. District Attorney" and "Lone Star Moonlight," begin rolling, adding their bit to the eight films already in production. Following the Monday start of the pair, six other films will be greenlighted between July 29 and Aug. 26. Sextet of other starters includes: "Quicker Than the Eye," "Blondie's Holiday," "I Don't Like to Die," "Over the Santa Fe Trail," "Betty Co-Ed" and "Chant of the Voodoo."

KGO WILL SPEND 250G IN WATTAGE INCREASE

San Francisco, July 22.—Station KGO, ABC will increase its power from 7500 watts to 50,000 watts with completion of a new transmitter about January 1, it was announced today by Gayle Grubb, station manager, on receipt of news that the Federal Communications Commission in Washington had granted permission for the increase.

Approximately $250,000 will be invested in KGO's new transmitter to be located near Newark on the East Bay side of the Dumbarton Bridge in the salt flats of the Leslie Salt Company. KGO's present transmitter is near the General Electric plant on East 14th Street in Oakland.

The increase to 50,000 watts, greatest power allowed any standard band broadcasting station in the United States will increase KGO's estimated daytime coverage from 12,600 square miles to 27,348 square miles, according to FCC engineering standards. Night time coverage will be 179,200 square miles with a population of 7,500,000 persons.

UNFAIR PRACTICES CHARGE AGAINST TEN MAJORS

1945-Oct. 31, 1945 studio strike.

Public hearings on the consolidated complaint open Aug. 12 in Federal Building before an NLRB trial examiner from Washington. Board's case, based on charges filed in eight cases by 27 individual employes and one case by the International Association of Machinists, Lodge 1185, will be presented by Robert R. Rissman, NLRB attorney.

Violations of the National Labor Relations Act was charged against Columbia, Republic, Warners Loew's, RKO, Paramount, Universal, Samuel Goldwyn, 20th-Fox, and Hal Roach for assertedly interfering with, restraining and coercing their employes in the exercise of rights guaranteed them under the NLR Act.

Companies are charged with discharging employes and refusing to rehire them because they would not perform work or take jobs of striking employes, with discharging employes because of their membership in Lodge 1185, IAM, and with refusal to bargain collectively with the lodge.

Complaint was issued by Stewart Meacham, regional director of the 21st region of NLRB, and also names the Association of Motion Picture Producers, Inc., as a defendant.

BORDE TO PRODUCE 'EXTRA GIRL'; TIES UP BROWN NOVELS

Chicago, July 22.—"Extra Girl," farce-comedy by Beth Brown and starring Willie Shore, Chicago nitery comic, will be produced late in the Fall by Al Borde, probably bowing here. Producer, whose "Follow the Girls" is skedded to replace "Bloomer Girl" at the Shubert theatre Oct. 7 following six-week run of the latter musical, advised he's secured the rights to stage others of Miss Brown's novels. In the list are "For Men Only, "Wedding Ring," "Riverside Drive" and "All Good Dogs Go To Heaven."

Plans for the Chicago tee-off of "Extra Girl," which concerns the experiences of Shore and three ex-Miss Americas while on call by Hollywood Central Casting office, are prompted by Shore's popularity in his home town, Brode said. Miss Brown is finishing up the stage version now and casting will start in a few weeks.

Choice of Shore for the lead is, incidentally, a continuance of Borde's format of picking nitery performers for his legit ventures, last sample being Gertrude Niesen, star of "Girls."

Mannix, Kahane on Prod Exec Board

sionally agonized, moon-struck lad. Iturbi in several sequences was guilty of venial sin of over-emoting and unduly mugging and getting caught at it; but he was fine in early footage. Ilona Massey looked fine back in big-league musicals; in fine voice, her Hungarian folk song rendition, "Czak Egy Szep Lany Van E Vilagon," was excellent.

Pasternak spared no horses in mounting an always discreet, but lavish-looking production; and he did fit the right talents into the right spots. George Sidney once again evinces he rates in forefront of directors of this sort of fare; his transitions from tunes to talk was accomplished with deft hand, and he keenly pointed up the comedy values of script. Harry Stradling's camera calculatedly captured the scenes; his handling of the ensemble musical bits especially was apt. The Technicolor processing was prime; ditto Georgie Stoll's musical direction. The Art of Cedric Gibbons and Jack Martin Smith strictly Emily Post in taste.

Steady Travelers

Edwin Maxwell and his wife, Betty Alden, have been signed for the lead roles in the ninth coast-to-coast tour of "Life with Father." Pair arrived in the east last week and yesterday started rehearsals under the direction of Bretaigne Windust.

DIRECTORS DRAW DEMAND ON NETS

Initial wage and contract demands for directors will be made by end of this week on three major networks here by Radio Directors Guild. Guild council meets tonight to set definite time and procedure. Actual contract has already been drawn up, following agreement of three unit committees on terms. Only Mutual Broadcasting System, will be ignored for time being due to lack of RDG membership there.

Attempt will be made to establish a $75 weekly minimum with rising scale for seniority. Proposed ticket will be for one year.

JAMES H. LITTLEFIELD

Zacata, Va., July 22.—James H. Littlefield, 38, who did tunes and lyrics for "Stars on Ice" and "It Happens on Ice," died here yesterday. Death was attributed by physicians to heat exhaustion. Littlefield was stricken while visiting the family farm, Chatham Plantation.

MRS. NAN BLYTHE

Mrs. Nan Blythe, 50, mother of Universal actress, Ann Blythe, died yesterday at St. John's hospital, Santa Monica. She was born in Duleik County, Neith, Ireland. Rosary services will be recited at 8:30 tonight at the Church of the Blessed Sacrament and requiem mass will be celebrated at the same church at 9 a.m. tomorrow. Intement will be in Holy Cross cemetery in charge of White, Wallace and Callanan mortuary. Surviving besides her daughter, Ann, is another daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Rowa, and a sister, Mrs. Patrick Tobin.

LEWIS GOODKIND

M. Lewis Goodkind, 41, v.p. and treasurer of Goodkind, Joice & Morgan advertising agency of Chicago, died suddenly of a heart attack Sunday at his home in Northfield, Ill. Partner of Raymond R. Morgan, Hollywood agency head who created and sold "Breakfast in Hollywood" and "Queen for a Day," Goodkind was one of Chicago's outstanding radio figures. He organized the radio department of Lord & Thomas (now Foote, Cone & Belding) and was director from 1928 to 1935. He supervised the time buying and network contracts. He was a charter member of Chicago Radio Management Club and treasurer of Central Council of American Ass'n. of Advertising Agencies. Widow and son survive.

Johnston, Walsh Warn IA of Interunion Rows

Chicago, July 23. — Jurisdictional fights between unions were denounced here today by Eric Johnston, president of Motion Picture Association of America, and Richard F. Walsh, head of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes. While Johnston's talk on labor before the IA convention at the Stevens Hotel covered general conditions, it also was pointed directly at jurisdictional squabbles that have featured the Hollywood labor picture.

Walsh, in an hour and a-half long ad-libbed speech, sandwiched in between a 32-page president's report, accused William L. Hutcheson, prexy of United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, of being the stumbling block to industrial peace in Hollywood.

He traced the history of the fight

German Shows For G.I. Joes

New York, July 23.—Army occupation forces in Europe will hire German talent to entertain U.S. troops —the first use of enemy personnel by the Army for entertainment. Decree was necessitated by the reduction of USO camp show units. There are currently 19 of the latter in European territory, but all are expected to be withdrawn and sent Pacificward where need is greater.

"This Is America" British Series RKO Plan

New York, July 23.—RKO-Pathe is currently planning a series of shorts to be produced in England along the lines of "This Is America" series. Director Gene Milford and writer Phil Reisman, Jr., leave for London early next month. Series will be filmed in RKO's London studios.

FILM STOCKS SKID IN BREAK

New York, July 23.—Motion picture stocks took a rough cuffing today in one of the worst breaks of the year in Wall Street. On the general list, one industrial average recorded a drop of more than five dollars. Warners led the skid for film stocks dropping 2¼ points. Par was close behind with a fall of 2⅛. Record of picture securities on the big board.

Stock	Close	Loss
Warners	41½	2¼
Paramount	33⅝	2⅛
Universal	38½	1¾
20th-Fox	49⅞	1⅝
Loew's	33	1
Columbia	26	1
RKO	19⅞	¾
Republic	12	⅝

Among the film accessories, Eastman Kodak tobogganed 4 points to 231. Technicolor, on the Curb, was off ⅝ at 22⅜.

Jerry Mayer Under Knife in Frisco

Jerry Mayer underwent an abdominal operation today in the Stanford Lane hospital in San Francisco. The Metro studio manager, it is hoped, will be back at his studio post in about three weeks. L. B. Mayer and Howard Strickling, who have been staying in San Francisco with Mayer, are slated to return to Hollywood today.

Film Biz to Drop Sept. 1 As Start of Year for Jan. 1

New York, July 23.—Historic film practice of launching new picture sales seasons on Sept. 1 will be a thing of the past under new selling formulas set up by government decree. Several companies have already adopted practice of computing picture output on the basis of the calendar year beginning Jan. 1, as a matter of bookeeping simplification. 20th-Fox has adopted new method and Metro is getting away from season's block-by-block selling. Paramount and RKO still adhere to policy of numbering blocks from Sept. 1. Warners some time ago dropped practice of teeing off a definite selling season.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

JUST back from Chicago date, vaudeville star is telling the story of trouble that brewed with maestro playing the same night spot. Former sideman turned stickwaver, tried to damage the star's act by giving false song cues, drowning out part of the act with heavy music and generally making himself a nuisance. Finally, on closing night, the batoneer let it be known he was not only going to snafu the star's turn but damage some of the latter's equipment employed in the act. Hostelry high command got wind of the affair and had 12 private eyes standing around to see that nothing happened. Star walked on for his final turn and was given Chopin's Dead March for his walkon. Knowing how trouble could be cleffed by background music, he turned to the audience and said: "For the first time in 18 years of show business, tonight I will not use music in the background." Maestro was stopped cold and sulked over to a nearby table. When act was over, the star turned to the audience and said: "I guess you know now, why I used no music tonight." He walked off to thunderous applause, while the private gumshoes toddled over to the maestro and muttered, "Okay, punk, crawl back in your cage and start playing."

DANISH film star Paul Reichardt, around Warner Bros. lot where he was introduced by Jean Hersholt, is in Hollywood for more than a looksee. Actor starred in the Danish film, "Der Rode Enge," which is considered by that country to be the best film dealing with the story of the Danish fight against the German invader during the five years of occupation. Film was made by Asa Films, written and directed by Lau Lauritzen, and teaming his wife, Lisbeth Movine, with Reichardt in the starring roles. Film with English titles will shortly be released in this country and other non-Scandinavian markets. Denmark's films are made by four companies, Asa, Palladium, Saga and Nordisk. They make a total of 20 feature films annually. Lauritzen's Asa Films didn't have to go outside its sound stages for story material or props, because Danish underground machine-guns were actually stored on the stage for the resistance. The place was searched by German soldiers on several occasions without any success.

MUSIC Row ridged along Vine St. is still chattering over Frank Sinatra threatening to stalk off the Jerome Kern memorial concert in Hollywood Bowl Saturday night, if Negro baritone William Gillespie vocalized as scheduled. At the Friday rehearsal the Swoonster did a temperamental nip-up when he discovered the program called for Gillespie to solo "Ole Man River" in front of chorus as first-act finale and Sinatra to do same as evening's windup. The latter flatly stated he alone would be entrusted with chore, or no dice on his appearance. Bowl execs hastily capitulated to him, and thumbed Gillespie right off the show. The sepia singer was promised his pay regardless, but at late hour last night money had not been tendered.

MUSICIANS' Local 47 now has decreed that all symphony orks operating within its jurisdictional area must employ a non-playing contractor at time-and-a-half scale to oversee the hiring of windjammers and check that all union rules and regulations are observed. The local established the contractor jobs after reports reached it that those hiring musicians in several of the long-haired aggregations hereabouts were not even AFM members. The law on contractors applies whether a symph plays a regular season or mere casual dates.

Claudia and David

(Drama)

TWENTIETH-FOX RELEASE. Producer, William Perlberg. Director, Walter Lang. Screenplay by Rose Franken and William Brown Meloney. Adaptation by Vera Caspary. From stories by Rose Franken. Photography, Joseph La Shelle. Art direction, James Basevi and Albert Hogsett. Set decorations, Thomas Little and Ernest Lansing. Special effects, Fred Sersen. Music, Cyril J. Mockridge. Orchestral arrangements, Edward Powell. Sound, Bernard Freericks and Roger Heman. Costumes, Bonnie Cashin. Makeup, Ben Nye. Film editor, Robert Simpson.

CAST—Dorothy Maguire, Robert Young, Mary Astor, John Sutton, Gail Patrick, Rose Hobart, Harry Davenport, Florence Bates, Jerome Cowan, Else Janssen, Frank Twedell, Anthony Sydes, Pierre Watkin, Henry Mowbray, Clara Blandick, Eric Wilton, Frank Darien.

TRADESHOWN at Twentieth-Fox Studios, Westwood, Cal., July 19, 1946. Running time: 78 MINS.

"Claudia and David" is one of those pictures that will have the women flocking to the box office. And the gals' escorts won't have any special reason to complain. Dorothy Maguire's portrayal of Claudia is enough in itself to capture a full measure of male interest and, with Robert Young, she heads a cast of top performers with fan following.

The yarn is basically just another light-and-shadows-of-matrimony piece, virtually devoid of plot complication, but told with effective naturalism. Young, Miss Maguire, Mary Astor, John Sutton, Gail Patrick and Rose Hobart perform to get gripping dramatic effect even out of the quieter, more homely incidents of the script.

Harry Davenport, Else Janssen, Florence Bates and Frank Twedell give good account of themselves in character bits. Jerome Cowan earns special mention, and balance of cast turns in quality work.

Screenplay by Rose Franken and William Brown Meloney is neatly devised for a proper balance of laughter and tears and Walter Lang's direction gets full value out of it. Lang can be credited with skillful timing and pointing of sequences which, under less effective treatment, would have missed fire.

One notable factor in making the film 78 minutes of solid entertainment is the showmanship of Producer William Perlberg. The picture has been given de luxe production throughout, with sets and technical details all of top quality. Photography by Joseph La Shelle is keyed accurately to changing moods and action of the piece, and is an outstanding job of camera work.

'Bloomer Girl' Gross 204G; Civic Will Take $Million

Fastest buck ever turned by a legit production in Los Angeles was the record gross of $204,000 set by "Bloomer Girl," which checked out of town over the weekend. At the same time, it was announced that the Civic will top the half-million-dollar mark in grosses this week, definitely putting the L.A. and San Francisco aggregations over the $1,000,000 figure for the first time in the nine-year history of the twin city operations.

50 G'S EACH 4 WEEKS

"Bloomer Girl" stayed here for four weeks, hitting over $50,000 each week. Initial stanza at the Philharmonic Auditorium was the high frame, with the production garnering $52,300. Record-smashing mark put the Civic up to $472,800 for the first three productions. Meanwhile, the San Francisco stands have caught $288,000 for nine weeks' playing time at the Curran theatre, giving the operation a total of $760,800 to date.

Expectancy of the Civics to go over the million dollar mark is based on advance sales, with $120,000 in sight here for three weeks of "The Fortune Teller." Stand of five weeks for "Bloomer Girl" is geared now for haul of $180,000 in the Curran, and Civic officials state that the latter figure can be topped easily, basing the estimate on the advance only.

STRIKES BOOST COSTS

Other side of the ledger, however, is the fact that the season thus far, is the costliest one ever experienced by the Light Opera Associations. Both the street car strike in S.F. and the national rail strike bit into the Civic takes heavily, costing $10,000 for the exchange of two shows between here and the Bay City. Another factor is the bountiful guarantee given to John C. Wilson, original producer of "Bloomer Girl," to bring the show to the Coast. Civic toppers, while gratified by the gross returns, state that margin of profit will be lower this year than any time in past four seasons.

Film Cleffers Will Ask New Royalty Plan From ASCAP

At its first general-membership meeting since formation four months ago, the Screen Composers' Association last night deputized counsel Leonard Zissu to return to his NY office and formally go to bat with exec council of American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers in effort to get Society to recognize a segregation of classification on its membership rolls whereby screen scorers' royalty payments will be based on entire new plan.

The system worked out during past week by Zissu and SCA obviously is based on that originated by British Performing Rights Society (ASCAP equivalent in England), whereby film-music composers are paid special royalties predicated on number of showings theatres give their works. ASCAP makes no distinction, merely dumping the ten-cents-per-seat-per-annum revenue derived from filmeries into pot split among all members, whether or no their works ever are heard in theatres. It is known that ASCAP bigwigs in NY have indicated they will lend an ear to presentation of SCA plan.

Meanwhile organization's campaign to get scorers better deals on contracts at studios here will be sidetracked until Zissu has gone to the mat with ASCAP. The counsel will return here in November for a go at the picture producers; he leaves for NY tomorrow.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The main story of the day is the atomic bomb blast, and the most effective commentary on the event is that it is almost lost in the news. Nothing holds more portent for our future, for progress or destruction, than atomic energy, but we are looking elsewhere. We're concentrating on the fate of OPA controls, the fate of the Wagner-Ellender-Taft Housing Bill, the Palestine question—all important, and of direct concern, but none so fated with portent as the bomb. One story that relates to the bomb is one that also may not get much, if any play in the press. That's the report by Farnsworth Fowle, CBS correspondent, just back from fourteen months in the Soviet Union. This is a report more sensational than that made by Brooks Atkinson of the New York Times, and by Bullit in his book, but it passed with little notice at least yesterday, because of some old-fashioned ideas of relationship between the press and radio, and between rival networks. Fowle says, in his main point, that the Soviet, basing their reasoning on Marx, believe a war between the capitalist nations and the Communist Soviet is inevitable, that they do not want a war now, but they are preparing for it. Fowle says they want to use five years to get back to where they were economically before the war, that they estimate it will take ten years more to get to the economic level of the United States before the war, and sometime after that to surpass us. In the meantime, he says, it's a race between the hare and the tortoise, with the hare thinking it can break training during the race, but the tortoise not going to take any such chance.

RKO RELEASE. Producer-director, Alfred Hitchcock. Screenplay, Ben Hecht. Assistant producer, Barbara Keon. Photography, Ted Tetzlaff. Special effects, Vernon L. Walker and Paul Eagler. Art, Albert S. D'Agostino and Carroll Clark. Sets, Darrell Silvera and Claude Carpenter. Score, Roy Webb. Musical director, C. Bakaleinikoff. Editor, Theron Warth. Sound, John E. Tribby and Terry Kellum. Gowns, Edith Head. Assistant director, William Dorfman.

CAST — Stars Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman. Features Claude Rains, Louis Calhern, Madame Konstantin, Reinhold Schunzel, Moroni Olsen, Ivan Triesault, Alex Minotis, Wally Brown, Charles Mendl, Ricardo Costa, Eberhard Krumschmidt, Fay Baker.

TRADESHOWN at Ambassador thearte, Los Angeles, Calif., July 22, 1946. Running time: 103 MINS.

Again displaying his penchant for impactful one-word titles, director-producer Alfred Hitchcock herewith has assembled a host of top talents and himself has fashioned another sure fire triumph, artistically and financially. "Notorious" won't be heralded from house tops as the Hitchcock Touch at its deftest, no more than are the impersonations of Cary Grant and Ingrid Bergman their lifetime bests, nor Ben Hecht's script his most effective—but the combination provides solid, satisfying entertainment calculated to catch all strata of stub-buyers in all situations, keys or cornfields.

Theme has bit more arresting start than flow or climax. Miss Bergman is bluntly presented as daughter of traitor collared and convicted in Miami, after war's end, for Nazi undergrounding. Embittered, disillusioned and on protracted grog-grind, she unsuspectingly falls for FB-eye Cary Grant. He pitches just enough schmooze to corner her interest, then turns practical and peddles her patriotism in lieu of passion.

Assigned to nip, in Rio de Janeiro, Nazi escapees who are making atomic-scientific preparations for another war, she learns that to really chink herself into mosaic of inner enemy circle she must accept romance and finally wedding-band from key-figure Claude Rains. Grant feigns disinterest in her forthwith and this apathy induces here to go off the deep end. The finale is rational, and the slick manner of its handling removes much of the curse of its banality.

Hitchcock doesn't imbue this film with quite the numbing intensity of suspense which high-voltaged some of his past pictures, but the climax is shrewdly lengthened and the pitch of excitement steadily heightened until the cumulative effect is about equal. The director has dispensed completely with horror trappings, gunshots and even screams and chases. The minor key in which the action and acting is compressed does not detract from the punch; rather, it somewhat enhances a matter-of-fact naturalness and air of credulity frequently absent from other Hitchcock works. It would seem the Sultan of Suspense is pioneering a new technique. In his metier, he still is laps ahead of competitors, bulk of whom are obvious, shallow imitators.

Of Miss Bergman is demanded many journeys up and down the emotional ladder; she is found sure-footed and firm and keenly aware of when and how to pitch the chameleon colorings of her screen personality. The portrayal disdains to strain

They Were Sisters

(Drama)

UNIVERSAL RELEASE. British production by Gainsborough Pictures. Producer, Harold Huth. Director, Arthur Crabtree. Executive producer, Maurice Ostrer. Screenplay by Roland Pertwee. From novel by Dorothy Whipple. Adaptation by Katherine Strueby. Photography, Jack Cox. Art direction, David Rawnsley. Sound, B. C. Sewell. Musical direction, Louis Levy. Incidental music, Hubert Bath. Dress supervisor, Yvonne Gaffin. Makeup, Len Garde. Scenario editor, Brock Williams. Film editor, Charles Knott.

CAST — Phyllis Calvert, James Mason, Hugh Sinclair, Anne Crawford, Peter Murray Hill, Dulcie Gray, Barrie Livesey, Pamela Kellino, Ann Stephens, Helen Stephens, John Gilpin, Brian Nissen, David Horne, Brefni O'Rourke, Roland Pertwee, Amy Veness, Thorley Walters, Joss Ambler, Roy Russell, Edie Martin, Dora Sevening, Helen Goss.

PREVIEWED at Universal Studios, Studio City, Cal., July 23, 1946. Running time: 90 MINS.

"They Were Sisters," domestic drama on the heavy side, is chiefly remarkable for its portrayal of a complete heel. James Mason, in the sort of part that most actors shun stubbornly, gives a thoroughly convincing delineation of polite human cussedness without lapsing into one redeeming feature during the entire show. He drives his wife, Dulcie Gray, first to drink and then to death; keeps his three children in thralldom of fear; does it all politely and, generally, without raising his voice.

Mason's work in the utterly unsympathetic role is the outstanding feature of the show, but he gets top support from the balance of the cast. There is enough wholesome sentiment of a sophisticated and modernized hearts-and-flowers order to balance the depravity and the picture should get fair box office response as strong drama well acted. But the show definitely is not for the seeker of unalloyed sweetness and light.

Miss Gray puts on a notable performance as the harassed, fear-ridden wife, a role that is almost as exacting as Mason's Hyde-without-Jekyll part. Of the other two sisters, Phyllis Calvert as a childless wife who seeks to mother Mason's tortured youngsters and to save her sister from his cruelty carries conviction. Ann Crawford gets across with a rather tough chore in presenting the third sister as a philandering wife rather on the selfish and hard-boiled side herself.

Pamela Kellino as Mason's grown-up daughter, Stephen as his young son, Ann Stephens as their small sister, and Helen Stephens as Miss Crawford's daughter earn applause for their work.

Production is well handled by Harold Huth and mounting of the film is adequate, though not lavish by Hollywood standards. Arthur Crabtree's direction underscores the drama and controls the emotional scenes with a sure touch. Photography is used to good advantage by Jack Cox in intensifying the action.

Nunnally Johnson Sets 'Park Avenue' Start

Nunnally Johnson checks out of the International lot Aug. 3 to start rehearsals on musical, "Park Avenue," for which he and George Kaufman are writing the book. Ira Gershwin and Arthur Schwartz are creating the music. Johnson will return after "Park Avenue" Broadway bow to start production on his next film, "Mr. Peabody and the Mermaid."

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: Jerry Giesler, enemy of that gas chamber at San Quentin, is turning actor, but not for long. He and his daughter, Jerry Lee, and the family pooch, Jerry, will play bit parts in the Jem production, "Johnny O'Clock" at Columbia. He is the G of the company of which Eddie Nealis and Milton Holmes are the other partners . . . Joan Crawford and Clark Gable showed the photogs how regular they can be. They showed up at the Cabana Club, posed for pictures, and invited the bulb-squeezers to sit down and have a drink . . . Sight of the week: "The Angel," the massive Swedish wrestler, spotted in a Hollywood boulevard men's shop daintily sniffing various brands of cologne . . . Lana Turner couldn't make her studio's preem of "The Green Years," but at Bob Hutton's invitation she will be on hand for Warners opening of "Night and Day" . . . Columbia producers ran off a test of Arlene Dahl shot at Warners and directed by Sophie Rosenstein. They liked the way she handled the newcomer so well she will probably be getting a director's ticket at the Gower street studio . . . Republic is planning a big fan mag blast for Frank Borzage's production of "I've Always Loved You" . . . Curtis Bernhardt will plane to Paris immediately after completing "Possessed," the Joan Crawford starrer at Warners, to close a deal for the screen rights to the story of Sarah Bernhardt's life. He still hasn't decided whether it will be filmed here or in England.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: According to a publicity release, Vivien Fay, prima ballerina in "The Firefly" and a sculptress in her offstage moments, "has a bust on exhibit at the Los Angeles Museum now." Why, Miss Fay! . . . Redbook's August issue carries another short story by Peter Stirling Cardozo, Warners publicist, titled "They Found Their Love," for which three majors are bidding . . . William Gargan tells of his wife's attempts to have their boys keep their shirttails tucked in, instead of flying outside in the current style. She noticed a neighbor's children who went around in more sedate style, asked her how she managed it, and the latter said: "I sewed lace all around the shirttails and they don't dare let them hang out" . . . Gladwin Hill, New York Times correspondent in Los Angeles, drove from City Hall to the Beverly Hills Brown Derby without making a stop, and he's been out here only two months . . . Arch Oboler already owns a jeep and a duck and is now looking for an alligator. He drives to the studio in the jeep daily, he used the duck for driving and boating on his ranch which has a lake adjoining, and wants the alligator for hunting and fishing. Then the director will have a complete automotive menagerie.

CALL SHEET: ADELE MARA, Columbia starlet, has been invited to preside as queen of the Fishermen's Fiesta in San Francisco over the weekend. She returns Monday to begin work in "Spoilers of the North" . . . JOHNNY BLACKBURN is musical director of Recordo Music Co. and Leon Rene Publications, but he sold his latest ditty, "Wouldn't You Miss Your Wooden Shoes, Miss?" to Leeds Music for fall release . . . CONNIE HAINES, squired by Phil Romany, caught Les Brown's opening at the Palladium . . . BOB CROSBY has chartered a Pacific Airliner for his orchestra's hop to San Francisco and Indianapolis, beginning of an eight-week tour. Ork leaves today . . . STU ERWIN and his wife June Collyer, who retired from the screen when they married, celebrated their 16th wedding anniversary yesterday . . . XAVIER CUGAT has persuaded Joe Pasternak, Metro producer, to test Lorraine Allen, his bride-to-be . . . SIGMUND ROMBERG broke all attendance records at Philadelphia's Robin Hood Dell last week but was rained out for two successive nights for his scheduled dates with the NY Philharmonic over the weekend at Lewisohn stadium . . . MARTY HOLLAND'S new novel, "The Glass Heart," will have prefaces written by James M. Cain and Robert Montgomery. She wrote "The Fallen Angel."

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Robert Riskin has postponed the starting date of "Magic Town" to keep his promise to Jimmy Stewart, who will be starred in the film. Riskin promised the actor a vacation between "It's a Wonderful World" in which Stewart is working for Capra, and the start of his own picture. "Magic Town" had been skedded to start Aug. 15 . . . Warners will have sound trucks cruising Hollywood boulevard from Western to La Brea playing Cole Porter tunes on the night of Aug. 1, when the picture opens at Warners' Hollywood . . . OFF THE LOTS: Tom Drake and Beverly Tyler at the Beverly Tropics. Charles Chaplin, Jr., and Virginia Weidler at Henri's. Natalie Schafer and Louis Calhern, her ex-husband, at Romanoff's . . . Ground was broken yesterday for Moe Lewis' and Mike Gaynes' new restaurant "The Dells," which will cost $150,000 . . . Hy Daab, now in London for David O. Selznick, sounds a tragic note—there's no Scotch available in Scotland . . . Alice Talton, wife of Lew Kerner, Goldwyn casting director, opens in "Dark Victory" at Laguna Beach's summer theatre . . . 20th-Fox's "The Homestretch" will employ 78 assorted horses in its cast . . . Arthur Lake was telling how a horse he had bet on romped in the winner at Hollywood Park. "The way she ran, she would have won with Sydney Greenstreet as her jockey," he said.—D.D.T.

'FIREFLY' PRETTY DIM AMUSEMENT EXCEPT IN SPOTS

Supposedly a bright and flitting sort of entertainment, "The Firefly," which opened at the Greek theatre Monday night, showed signs of its 32 years quite markedly. Otto Harbach's book certainly hasn't stood the test of time and, aside from two or three tunes, the Rudolf Friml score isn't exactly stimulating either. In addition to which James Westerfield's direction does nothing to help matters, resulting in the overall effect of a Shubert road gang after a hot day in the sun.

What few bright moments there are in this museum-piece are contributed by Allan Jones dragging in "Donkey Serenade" literally by the tail and ribbing himself; Walter Long performing some of the best tap-terping hoofed in local theatres in many a day; Isabel Randolph giving an honest impression of a stuffy society dowager; and the more than pleasant warbling of John Shafer, Juli Lynne and Pamela Caveness, who could have been given additional vocalizing chores along with Jones.

On the negative side of the ledger stands the antiquated antics of Roy Atwell whose embarrassing attempts at humor are not only weary but defunct. Irene Manning may also be counted in the red ink side, singing in a bleating and off-key manner most of the evening.

Crediting the show again is easy for the scenery by Norman Rock, which almost outshines the performers, and the nifty costumes by Kate Drain Lawson. Ray Sinatra's orchestra needs a bit more rehearsal and certainly extra pickup mikes in the pit, for the lighter passages and solo instrumental work. Lighting and sound bugs still are to be completely worked out in the Greek theatre but they are much better than at the first production.

At war's end we read a lot about misplaced persons in Europe. That it can also be a domestic problem, yea even a local one, is evidenced by the wholesale shakeups in the commission houses. Creative talent, a rare article in the agencies, has been juggled around with such disregard of their potential that results have militated against an effective alignment of production personnel. Behind oak desks have been placed men, seasoned in all the niceties of putting a show together, who are better fitted for scripting or producership. Making executives of top chaftsmen is not solving the agency's problem, the results more often working in reverse. We know, and so do you, quite a few desk men who would better serve the interests of a client in the control room or wood-shedding with the writers. Whether the reshuffling now going on in a dozen agencies achieves the desired results can only be guessed. If sight is lost of the suitability of highly placed men and the executive complex overplayed it will have all been of no avail. Place the men where they can accomplish the most good and if that doesn't do the job the fault must lie somewhere else.

Chain breaks . . . It becomes more and more apparent that Kay Kyser and George Washington Hill have come to the parting of ways after seven years. Rumor hath it that a running deal between Colgate and the ol' professor has been negotiated, starting Jan. 1 and continuing for one year with options. Kyser was to have returned to American Tobacco (Luckies) first of the year after being farmed out to Colgate on a lend-lease arrangement and the trade view is that Hill may have resented Kyser's rejection of a recent proposal and turned him adrift as an expression of his displeasure . . . General Petroleum is scouting a sports program with Sam Hayes in mind and pro football as the incentive . . . WASHINGTON HULLABALOO

Washington, July 23.—It is going to be nip and tuck whe-ther Rep. Fritz Lanham, of Texas, gets through Congress his bill providing a Federal film storage building before the legislators quit for the rest of the year. And the odds are against it at this moment.

Bill, which has been reported out favorably by the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, calls for "a building or buildings on Government-owned land for the servicing and storage of film records for the National Archives and Library of Congress. It authorizes $1,160,000 for the plans and for construction of the first unit.

This, of course, is the project which the industry has been deeply interested in, since it would enable the Government to file for posterity a print of every pic made. At present, because of lack of storage space, only a small number of selected pictures are chosen each year for filing.

Following up the recent Government-ATA huddle here, Arch Mercey, OWMR film chief, has sent out the following memorandum to all Government agencies which would like to get shorts on theatrical screens:

"A motion picture subject in order to meet ATA requirements, should be: (1) brief, factual and non-controversial in nature; (2) of substantial national importance; (3) of sufficient enduring interest that the presentation will not be out-dated before the film pays off its exhibition.

"It is also desirable for the film itself to be useful for distribution in non-theatrical or 16m field subsequent to its theatre exhibition."

Mercey tells Hullabaloo that he feels the relationship between his agency and ATA is progressing satisfactorily, and that his outline of procedures sent out to the Government agencies was an effort to assure the industry of a very limited number of requests.

Topics our Government would like to see depicted on the nation's screens, either in documentary or entertainment form, still remain: famine, housing, and the problem of the returning veteran.

Along the lines of the above, indirect kudos were paid to RKO for its treatment of the vets' problems in "From This Day Forward." During the downtown run of the pic, U.S. Information Center and U.S. Employment Offices here displayed posters recommending the film.

Argentine Government has ordered importers of raw motion picture film to give priority on as much as 10 per cent of their imports to orders from government agencies there.

In addition, the importers must notify the Bureau of Public Performances periodically about their total imports, buyers, quantities sold and prices obtained. Same decree removed raw stock from rationing and price control.

Latest guests on the State Department's register include Wan Chia-Pao, well-known Chinese playwright, who uses the pen name, Tsao Yu, and Lao Sheh (Shu Shey-yu), Chinese novelist. A visit to Hollywood is on their itinerary. Wan, the playwright, is particularly interested in visiting the various studios and meeting some of the film people, in an effort to study the technical aspects of film making.

Teen age delegates to the first National Youth Conference broke into headlines here with their resolution rquesting ATA to reverse its decision and distribute "Seeds of Destiny" theatrically . . . "Caisson Choir," Negro service chorus, which toured Europe after V-E Day, under special orders from General Eisenhower, has been reorganized here. Veterans Administration and some newspaper correspondents brought them together again. You'll be hearing about them . . . CIO reports that more than 400,000 of its members regularly see educational films in their local union halls. 16m pix . . . Efforts of Harry Anger, ex-Warner stage show producer here, and Paul Young, local nitery operator, to open a fancy new night club in the ballroom of the Willard Hotel nixed because the local Alcohol Control Board refused a liquor license . . . Local theatre owners are going all out in cooperation with Warner's John Payette in the local celebration of the company's 20th anniversary of sound pix, with lobby displays, personal messages, etc. Telephone company also cooperating . . . 20th's drive to stir up interest in "Anna and the King of Siam" included a "Siamese Dinner" for local drama desks last night . . . Housing Administration currently researching on various aspects of the housing problem in an effort to collect a file of useful data for Hollywood producers interested in making films on the subject, as well as for pictures to be made by the agency.

BOWL 'SYMPHONIES' HEAD FOR ALL-TIME RECORD CROWDS

Current eight-week "Symphonies Under the Stars" season in Hollywood Bowl appears certain to set all-time attendance in the horseshoe. First two weeks, including last Sunday night, lured 92,244 payees, abetted by the Gershwin and Kern Memorials, each of which magnetized more than 22,300 customers. Even though present pace falters, six remaining weeks on schedule contain enough surefire attractions to tilt season's total attendance over 321,000, the record for any year, established in 1935.

The six performances of Ballet Russe, which commence tolling off tomorrow, probably will draw 70,000, according to indications at box-office last night. This will appreciably top the 62,000 admissions which greeted nine performances of Ballet Theatre last summer. One record which probably won't be toppled this year is the all-time high for single night, the 26,410 stub-buyers drawn by Lily Pons' concert in 1936.

Keyes Weds Huston On Way To Work

Evelyn Keyes yesterday returned to work in "Johnny O'Clock" after her surprise marriage to John Huston, writer-director. Actress was on time for 10 a.m. call. Her first scene of the day was a hot love sequence with Dick Powell. When this was over, Rita Hayworth, pounding a bass drum, came over from the "Down to Earth" set leading a parade to welcome the bride back. Couple plans to postpone honeymoon until picture winds shooting.

LOEW HONORING 75 WORKERS FOR 20 YRS. SERVICE

Loew's International this week is honoring employes throughout the world who have served the company for 20 years or more. Prexy Arthur M. Loew yesterday disclosed that 75 men and women are to receive diamond rings and membership in Loew's "Twenty-Year Club." Like honors will be given 400 employes who have been with the organization 10 years. Latter group will receive gold lapel pins. Loew will personally present the awards to employes in company's home office and the rest will be air mailed to recipients throughout the country and world.

"These employes are the heart of this company as well as its brains," Loew stated yesterday. "They have done more than build a great business. They have built a bridge of international understanding among peoples of the world.

"Motion pictures are a universal medium of entertainment and also a means for nations to know one another better. If the horizons of Loew's International are wider today, it is due primarily to loyalty, vision and enterprise of these men and women who form the hard core of this company's strength. They have served industry, the public and the cause of world amity well."

Radio Slated to Get Back Its $10,000,000

New York, July 23.—Everything's even Steven in radio industry, it's figured, despite seeming losses. With half of $10,000,000 that's knocked off in radio billings going back into ether through different channels, and new bankrollers being introduced as antenna walkers, trade is leveling.

Total may be made up by the end of the year, according to crystal gazers, with return through the "back door" small markets, thanks to farmer income upping of 331 per cent over pre-war figures. Rising populations in small markets and upped small retail businesses in bucolic broadcasting will account for it.

ment as supporting phenomenal profits.

Theatre attendance will at least equal the 100,000,000 figure of 1945, the report says. The minor, scattered increases in admission scales in the large metropolitan houses are not likely to spread because audience discrimination is now greater and bad pictures would be hurt by a price boost. Foreign take, due for a gradual increase, will probably offset any domestic drop, the report says.

Sizing up speculative attraction of the majors, the survey estimates Paramount, 20th-Fox and Warners as best of the current stock buys, with Loew's fourth.

"group of fellow travelers" had won an important place in the equity nominating committee which enabled them to place an officers' slate before the membership which left the members "without an opportunity to make a free choice."

NETS SPLIT OVER WHO'LL WAVE FLAG FIRST

Motion picture and radio industry leaders met with Mayor Fletcher Bowron yesterday to plan show biz participation in and coverage of California's flag raising centennial, Aug. 13 to 20. One and a half hour conference was presided over by Mayor and attended by film production heads, theatre execs and network and indie station chiefs and managers.

Filmers promised virtual carte blanche in availability of stars and personalities, in addition to theatre and newsreel cooperation. Event will be teed off Aug. 6 with teasers and advance ballyhoo, including transcribed radio announcements promised by indie stations.

Network participation was temporarily left up in air when usual ball tossing over who would carry opening day's one-hour program flared between nets. Latter are expected to reach agreement by this morning and come up with net coverage.

MAXIE'S NEW SHOW ROUGH - ROWDY ENTERTAINMENT

Slapsy Maxie's is a bit on the plushy side after a two-month shutdown, but main stock-in-trade is still rough and rowdy entertainment. New decor contrasts oddly with show antics, but latter formula is what customers want and the blue gags and blackouts are laid on thick. Nitery gets nod for show and food but is still short on customer comfort and service. Overcrowding is main fault.

George and Gene Bernard headline the show and have no peers as long as they stick to impressions of top record artists singing hit tunes. They step out of character and become uncomfortably blue when encoring with their own gags and poems. Team should dig up a couple more records to use as encore material.

On the clean side of the bill is Senor Wences, ace ventriloquist whose slick voice manipulations with his dummies is standout entertainment. Matty Malneck's ork makes for smooth dancing and leader also joins with Milton De Lugg, accordion, for show number specialties. Callahan Sisters are modestly pleasing tap dancers.

Blackouts fall to such buffoons as Ben Blue, Patti Moore and Ben Lessy. Trio is a familiar part of this local fun spot and pleased following with blue, slap-happy material. Best blackout is opener, which takes form of silhouette scene with smooth pantomime. Others are Bedroom blackout, Boat Scene, "Get Out of the Office." Trio also spots neat parody on local used car tycoons.

CANADA FILM GROSSES DIP

Montreal, July 23.—Canada's film gross of $52,618,000 for 1945 represents a downward trend for the first time in years. Figure represents a $455,353 drop from the 1944 gross. Rental figure of $15,850,599, however, registered a $301,705 gain over 1944. Latter gains, it was pointed out, may be wiped out by complete report to be issued next month. Drop in film gross is attributed to post-war conditions, but theatre operators are not worried. Return of Canadian dollar to par with the United States dollar means more coin for distributors.

between the IA and the carpenters for jurisdiction over studio workers, stating his intentions firmly with the remark, "I request the power of the convention to further protect the source of supply (meaning more union members) from our Hollywood studios." Above statement was considered by many delegates as Walsh's bid for re-election.

Walsh made the claim that Hutcheson and the carpenters had refused to abide by the decision handed down in January, 1946, by the three-man board appointed by the executive council of the American Federation of Labor to look into the Hollywood jurisdictional dispute. At the time the board was appointed all unions concerned agreed to adhere to the board's findings. Hutcheson continues to ignore them, Walsh said, while the IA accepted the findings.

CHALLENGE TO REDS

Walsh challenged convention delegates to either "adopt the party line as a definite part of this organization or to take positive action that will now and for all time rid the Alliance of this growing, insidious menace" when speaking of "Communistic attempts to infiltrate the labor movement."

At the end of the speech the delegates gave Walsh an ovation.

JOHNSTON WARNS LABOR

Johnston warned labor not to, in effect, "get too big for its britches," pointing out that force of public opinion gave big business a tremendous setback in the 1920's and can do the same to labor unless it pays more attention to that public opinion. "You're up against the tens of thousands of American people who are fed up to the eyebrows with some of labor's indefensible practices," Johnston said.

"Decent, reasonable people want to be friends of labor," the MPA topper went on, "but they are not going to be your friends if you persist, for example, in jurisdictional strikes. I know of nothing which outrages the American people more than a strike because two unions can't agree on who should do what work and who should collect dues from whom.

HOLLYWOOD PLAGUE

He declared, "the jurisdictional strike is the one which has plagued Hollywood the most. Some of them have not only been outrageous but ridiculous. They have been so ridiculous that comedians have used the arguments involved as meat and substance for their jokes."

Johnston said the jurisdictional strike is indefensible, without justification and immoral and declared, "I want to say to labor that it will either outlaw the jurisdictional strike or Congress will outlaw it for labor" and warned that unless labor wanted the government in its unions it will have to discipline itself.

He asked that labor and management pull together with full cooperation to avoid government legislation and to assure top production in American industry.

ANITA LOOS DUE FOR REHEARSALS OF HAYES SHOW

Auditions are still being conducted here by Leighton Brill, Coast representative for Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, for the Helen Hayes starring legiter, "Happy Birthday." Show, written by Anita Loos, is due for rehearsal start Sept. 3, with an Oct. 4 break-in date slated for Boston. Josh Logan is to direct.

Brill stated yesterday that Miss Loos will be here Thursday to look over six potential players who have been selected out of the several auditioned thus far. However, casting is still going on.

Brill announced the Coast operation for the Hammerstein-Rodgers setup has been highly successful so far, with at least 12 Coast thesps sent to appear in Eastern productions for the writing and producing partners since the first of the year. Brill also is working closely in conjunction with Queenie Smith, representative here for the Theatre Guild. Latter outfit has already produced "Oklahoma" and "Carousel," created by R-H combo.

TINKHAM LEAVES KIEV, SUCCEEDED BY JACK HEINTZ

Kenneth O. Tinkham has resigned as manager of station KIEV. He will be succeeded next Monday by Jack Heintz, salesman at Don Lee's KHJ. Tinkham had been with station three months.

Parting was amicable, according to Reed Callister, partner in station with his lawyer, Dave Cannon, now vacationing. Tinkham, it's stated, was brought in to station then to succeed L. W. Peters and to get station out from under gun of Federal Communications Commission's disfavor, following its citation in much-referred-to "Blue Book." Under Tinkham station revised operation policies and instituted other changes in personnel, properties, etc.

Tinkham has returned to his real estate interests for present, having $120,000 investment in Sigrid Vista Estates in San Fernando Valley. In the Fall he will return to radio business on commitment to trouble-shoot for two new California stations for which construction permits are reportedly soon due. Latter two are in the State, says Tinkham, but not local.

AGVA WILL NOT JERK NITERIES' FLOORSHOWS

That the American Guild of Variety Artists will not tonight order floor shows out of local niteries which have not signed new pacts with union limiting performers' work-weeks to six days, plus placing cash bonds with union covering two weeks' salaries for shows, became definitely known late yesterday with return from NY of Max Sisenwein, attorney who has been repping ten of top clubs here.

Sisenwein flew east over weekend and on Monday had long huddle with Matt Shelvey, national director of AGVA. The attorney stated last night that he and Shelvey had prepared joint press statement and agreed that Shelvey would release it. Sisenwein would reveal no details other than "a satisfactory agreement has been reached." In answer to direct query, he said there was no possibility that union would jerk floor shows tonight, despite ultimatum of fortnight ago that AGVA demands would be met by today, or else. Indications are that a breathing spell has been agreed upon.

Local AGVA officials last night flatly refused comment. Last week they were ordered by Shelvey not to talk to the press at all. The statement which the union chief and Sisenwein agreed to make public was not made available on the Coast last night. The niteries' legal light indicated that the release would clarify the situation completely and reveal terms of agreement, but Sisenwein declined to publicize the facts on the grounds he thus would be guilty of a breach of his word.

for sympathy or chic; it seeks but sheer credulity and attains it.

Grant's part, neither long nor fat, is accomplished with the studied underplaying which befits it. Rains notches another fine characterization in his already bursting gallery of them. Louis Calhern makes of a senior FBI investigator an unperturbable, even-keeled chap whose presence tones the tale noticeably. Other roles, mostly menaces of the beady-stare sort, are uniformly well handled by Madame Konstantin, Reinhold Schunzel, Moroni Olsen, Ivan Triesault, Alex Minotis, Wally Brown and Charles Mendl, among others.

The production has the glossy gleam characteristic of all Hitchcock's cosmopolitan films' polish. Ted Tetzlaff's lensing is pluperfect; his (and the director-inspired) provocative oblique shots as well as the suspenseful framing of scenes for mounting dramatic effect buttress the production considerably. The special effects, chiefly montage, supplied by Vernon L. Walker and Paul Eagler, likewise greatly aid. Roy Webb's score helps in pointing the moods sought. Other technical details par the customary crest attained by Hitchcock.

PIC ENGINEERING SOCIETY MARKS 30TH BIRTHDAY

The Society of Motion Picture Engineers today rounds out its 30th year of existence. Organization, founded on July 24, 1916 in Washington, D.C., by a small group headed by C. Francis Jenkins, cites its help in solving technical problems of talking pictures as its greatest achievement. Outfit currently has a membership of more than 2,200.

Prexy Don E. Hyndman, in reporting on the many contributions to industry development by the SMPE, yesterday declared that international standardization, television development and a broad instructional program are to be the major projects to be undertaken by the society in the immediate future. Organization, in addition, will start the assembling of data for engineering reference books, compile reports on film exchange practices, and do research on process photography, theatre engineering and preservation of film.

Producers Bill Pine and Bill Thomas have come up with an idea on the auction selling of films. They want Paramount to hire "Speed" Riggs, the Lucky Strike auctioneer, to sell Pine-Thomas films from the auction block in Greensboro, North Carolina.

ACAD SETS GALA CELEBRATION FOR WB 20TH ANNI

The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences yesterday was added to long list of co-sponsors of the Warner Bros. celebration of the 20th Anniversary of Talking Pictures. Prexy Jean Hersholt will preside at a special program August 6 to be staged at Warner Bros. Hollywood theatre. Program will be highlighted by scores of film toppers, industrial, scientific and civic leaders. Other co-sponsors of the celebration of the advent of sound include the Society of Motion Picture Engineers, The American Telephone and Telegraph, Western Electric, Bell Telephone Laboratories, RCA Victor Corp., Thomas A. Edison, Inc., and Eastman Kodak.

Victor Young, composer-conductor, is scoring for Paramount's "California" this week. Mixed choral group of 65 voices is being used for "vocal montage with musical background." Special music was written by Earl Robinson and E.Y. "Yip" Harburg and vocal arrangements are by Joseph J. Lilley.

Irwin, of ABC, To Produce U.S. Steel Airer

New York, July 23.—Carol Irwin, ABC programming talent head, has resigned to take over production of the U.S. Steel-Theatre Guild airer when it returns in the fall. Irwin is a former member of the Chet Laroche-Hubbel Robinson regime at Y & R and ABC.

FORUM

Editor, Daily Variety:

Daily Variety's story on the so-called promotion battle between NBC and KFI is so untrue that I feel impelled to answer it.

NBC's policy always has been, and always will be, directed toward maximum local coverage in every available population center. For that reason, KFSD, San Diego, and KERO, Bakersfield, have been added to the network, and KIST, Santa Barbara, will join when it is completed. Of these only KFSD is a basic station and must be used by an advertiser, while KERO and KIST are supplementaries and may or may not be used. In all three cases KFI was advised of NBC's intentions before we even entere dnegotiations with the three stations, and KFI had no objection in any of the three cases.

Does Variety think that our "strategy of encirclement" applies to Sacramento where we recently added KCRA, which is within the primary coverage area of NBC's owned and operated KPO?

Variety says, "NBC is attempting to show losses to KFI of primary coverage area," and that "station will combat that with intensive promotion campaign." NBC never has attempted to show loss to any station but only to show added coverage. KFI's current promotion campaign was worked out in consultations with NBC; and is, in fact, featuring network shows, and certainly is not anti-NBC.

Our local affiliate contract is with KFI, and no other station in the area is "flirting" with us nor are we even looking in the direction of any other local station. We believe KFI is the best station in Los Angeles, and we are appreciative of our good relationship, and fine cooperation, both past and present.

HUGHES, LEE MAY GIVE BEDSIDE TELE TESTIMONY

Television hearings will be resumed here today at 10 a.m. in Federal building by Ray Wakefield, member of Federal Communications Commission. Hearings will concern additional testimony regarding Don Lee and Howard Hughes applications. FCC is insisting on personal depositions of Tommy Lee, head of Coast net bearing his father's name, and Howard Hughes, promised at original hearings here two months ago, and later in Washington, D.C., at engineering sessions, but each time delayed. Hearing starts at 10 a.m.

Lewis A. Weiss, Mutual-Don Lee v-p stated last night that if ailing Tommy Lee were well enough he would put in scheduled appearance. On Monday he (Lee) had indicated likelihood that he would, though it is known that he has been incapacitated for some time. Weiss, and Don Lee's Washington attorney, William J. Dempsey, will be on hand.

It is understood Hughes' testimony will probably be taken at Good Samaritan hospital on Aug. 9. Arrangements have been made for bedside visit, depending on Hughes' now improving condition. It's also possible that same procedure may be applied to Lee if he fails to appear today.

METRO FIRES 5; SPG PROTESTS

Screen Publicists Guild will meet with Fred Pelton today in protest against discharge of five Metro studio flacks yesterday. SPG will take position that discharges were in violation of the National Labor Relations Act in that they were made because of union activities. Guild also charges that four of the five firings violated Selective Service Act as quartet is made up of veterans who have not been back on the job a full year.

Handed two-week notices yesterday by the studio were Bill McGrath, Fred Eggers, Bob Barsky, Frank Sherlock and Dick Anderson. Latter four, all veterans, were discharged July 2 but later were reinstated. Studio handed out discharge notices yesterday on grounds that quintet's work was not satisfactory.

Rossellini Sent For By Sam Jaffe

Robert Rossellini, top Italian director who directed "Open City," is being brought to this country by Sam Jaffe, it was learned last night. Understood director arrives here in early September. He will be used in a package deal with a major indie setup.

E-L Signs Antheil

George Antheil, composer, was signed yesterday by Eagle-Lion on a three picture deal. His first assignment will be "Repeat Performance." He also will compose an original piano concerto for "Concerto of Death."

Rockwell Wins Latest Round In Feud With Tommy Dorsey

Six-year-old feud flared again late Tuesday night at Casino Gardens when Tommy Dorsey encountered Tommy Rockwell, prez of General Artists Corp., and bluntly ordered the booker out of the ballroom. When Rockwell ignored a series of jibes, chiefly of belligerent nature, Dorsey, who controls majority stock in Casino, ordered manager Dick Gabbe to give Rockwell the heave. Gabbe successfully sidestepped such an assignment.

With Rockwell quietly sitting on, Dorsey became enraged apparently and ordered waiters to cease serving the GAC topper's party. Batoneer also made a move to eject Rockwell on grounds he was a nuisance, but was restrained by onlookers and the policeman called in. Rockwell, who had made an

REPORTS and rumors were circulating around town last night that three of Universal's producers have been handed notice of termination of their contracts. Speculation was that the Valley studio is throwing its program of "B" pictures overboard and will concentrate on top budget films aimed at the international market. Also, much of the forthcoming product would be handled by indie producers releasing through Universal.

DESPITE the fact that small, indie record companies are foundering daily here and elsewhere and many are so unproductive they remain in business only nominally, Musicians' Local 47 within past month has licensed 20 new labels, largest number ever to pass muster in a 30-day span with single exception of last March, when 25 brand-new outfits bobbed up. New crop contains the expected ratio of exotic, baffling and frequently conflicting names. In the lineup: Regal, Rhapsody, Roger, Sarco, Specialty, Venus, Enterprise, Caribbean, Cardinal, Crest, Crystal, Elko, Gennett, Guitarist, Hamilton, Hollywood, Imperial, Milton, Mirror and Winner. Gennett, formed here by Cliff Rucker and Henry Martin, is name of label which hasn't been used in about score of years. Outfit using that tag on platters operated in the early 1920's on Chicago's South side, turning out jazz platters which now are lister among most prized collectors' items. Two of new firms are backed by ork leaders, Winner being a Bob Mohr-owned outfit, and Milton belonging to Roy Milton, of the sepia sextet billed under his name.

DIRECTING his first feature length film at Metro, "The Arnelo Affair," Arch Oboler is introducing several unusual techniques in movie making. To a large extent, much of the story, also scripted by Oboler, revolves around the reactions of one woman character, played by Frances Gifford, to various situations. A good percentage of the screen story consists of single shots of actress. Oboler filmed all these single shots at the start of the picture. As far as can be ascertained, this is the first time it has been done. For two days of filming, Miss Gifford was the only person in front of the camera as Oboler recorded scene after scene of her reactions and dialog. The director concluded it would better support the "mood" of the suspense drama if all these emotional reactions were filmed at once instead of intermittently throughout the shooting schedule.

AT a late hour last night a deal whereby a NY plastic manufacturer will purchase ARA pop-plattery had not been consummated, but looked precipitant. Mark Leff, waxery's owner-prez, who admitted over weekend his property was for sale, last night declined to reveal precise identity of eastern outfit seeking ARA, but intimated that the firm was one which wanted to get into record business to concentrate on putting out platters made of plastic, not shellac. Leff also revealed that Shelby York, veepee and sales chief, was in NY doing the negotiating. Meanwhile ARA has canceled all discing pending sale and has shuttered its own pressing plant. Still churning out ARA discs, however, is the Olympic plant and one small indie presser, both of whom are working off contracts entered into with Leff's firm some time ago.

PARAMOUNT'S policy of using its shorts to build up new talent will be continued in the new season, with the first two-reel Technicolor featurette of the Musical Parades series for 1947 release rolling next Wednesday. The short will be given, it was learned, the full advantage of all Paramount production facilities accorded high-budget features. Already such finds as Olga San Juan, Johnny Coy, Frank Faylen and Alfred Drake have come to prominence through being showcased in shorts, and latest is Catherine Craig, who has the femme lead in "Masque Ball." New short is based on an idea by Lou Harris, who will produce this as his first assignment since his return to the studio.

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The fate of peoples and nations is often dependent on some small detail—the personality of a man, as in the case of Adolf Hitler, in the clash of men like Lodge and Woodrow Wilson, or on some incident such as the shooting at Sarajevo. I'm led to think of this in connection with the atomic bomb. The broadcast on Able Day stirred almost no one because the effect had been overplayed beforehand, because the bomb went off so high, and because static interfered at the crucial moment. But the broadcast on Test Baker was clear, terrifying. It came at an hour when few could listen, but it's been re-broadcast and must be broadcast again and again so that everyone can finally hear it. Maybe that will rouse the people to the portentous importance of the bomb, to its serious implications, especially since on the very same day Gromyko says he wants no part of the Baruch plan to control atomic energy, and as Pravda blasts us after we've acquitted their Redin of espionage at Seattle. All these events together make the sound of that bomb more awful. Maybe through the broadcast we'll be more likely to become aware that the ten seconds, nine, eight, seven—are ticking off what could be not a blast at remote Bikini, but our own doom.

WARNER BROTHERS RELEASE. Producer, Alex Gottlieb. Director, David Butler. Screenplay, Charles Hoffman and I. A. L. Diamond. Photography, Arthur Edeson. Art, Leo E. Kuter. Editor, Irene Morra. Sound, Stanley Jones. Sets, Jack McConaghy. Special effects, Harry Barndollar and Edwin DuPar. Montages, James Leicester. Makeup, Perc Westmore. Wardrobe, Leah Rhodes. Score, Frederick Hollander. Musical director, Leo F. Forbstein. Orchestral arrangements, Leonid Raab. Assistant director, Jesse Hibbs.

TRADESHOWN at Beverly theatre, Beverly Hills, Calif., July 23, 1946. Running time: 91 MINS.

Despite diligent efforts of cast, this comedy doesn't quite come off. At least a quarter-hour overlong, laugh lines and genuine giggle situations are too distantly spaced. Essentially farce material, the script tends to treat too many sequences in a reverent rather than ribbing vein.

Dennis Morgan plays a Balkan prince, visiting the U.S., who tires of getting official, kid-glove diplomatic handling on his tour and sneaks away, incognito, with Brooklyn cab driver, Jack Carson, to "see the real America." Not unexpectedly he gets pulse-throbs for the hackie's gal, Joan Leslie, the while learning and liking American ways. Plot takes no unexpected swerves off path of standard formula. If the ending seemed to surprise the cast, it certainly didn't the audience.

Character assumed by Morgan proved difficult to troupe, since script failed to mock it. And not very understandably, the bevy of Brooklynites also gazed awestruck at the prince—pretty unlikely nowadays. If Morgan explicably was stiff in so unnatural a role, Carson was right in his element and his capers and chatter proved about all that kept the piece lively. Miss Leslie turned in bright performance as the object of affections. Janis Paige proved standard in standard part of not-too-cranial chum of heroine. S. Z. Sakall was routine in type of role he so oft has done, this time playing Balkan aide of prince. Child actress Patti Brady had several innings as Carson's overbright, adult-embarrassing niece. Tom D'Andrea, in bit as Flatbush barkeep, definitely scores dent.

Alex Gottlieb's production is carefully, if inexpensively mounted. Director David Butler overcame some of the script deficiencies by stressing comedy byplay and keeping the pace well-whisked. Arthur Edeson's lensing lent some help to the whole and the montages of James Leicester deserve a nod.

HAL WALLIS WILL STAGE B'WAY PLAY

Hal Wallis will stage "Most Likely to Succeed," the Michael Robinson play, on Broadway this fall. Producer, who has earmarked filmization of the play as a Barbara Stanwyck starrer, will assemble a top-name cast. Film is slated to roll late this year. Leonard Spiegelgass, who Wallis recently placed under contract, checked in yesterday to do the screen play.

Ent Backs U Distribution With World Sales Force

Bolstering its Universal distribution format, Enterprise is currently mapping its own world-wide sales program for its product. Following discussions yesterday between E. P. Gomersall, Universal sales manager for Enterprise, and the Charles Einfeld-David Loew combo, it was learned that company will set up its own four district offices, with district managers shortly to be named for New York, Chicago, Atlanta and Los Angeles. David Loew, who leaves for England in September, will confer with J. Arthur Rank on the naming of a foreign sales head for Enterprise. Move will be followed by opening of Enterprise sales offices in key European cities.

An unusual feature of the Enterprise-Universal distribution pact, it was learned last night, calls for Universal to put into release Enterprise films within 90 days from the time the product is received. No time limit is placed on Enterprise's turning over a film following its completion. Outfit, however, is committed to make a minimum of six features annually for Universal release.

In conjunction with its hypoed domestic and international sales program, Enterprise will create a large exploitation field force. Personnel is to be placed in key districts throughout the world. Gomersall winds his conferences here tomorrow. He will return to New York and place the entire program before Universal toppers William Scully and Joseph Seidelman.

$ Million Amber Film Junked; Darnell Handed Top Role

All the footage taken in five weeks of shooting with Peggy Cummins in the title role of "Forever Amber" at a cost of $1,000,000 was junked yesterday by 20th-Fox. Producer William Perlberg announced that he will start from scratch when production is resumed in mid-September.

Linda Darnell was officially announced for the Amber role and Otto Preminger will direct in place of John Stahl who was doing the megging when work was suddenly halted on the picture last May.

Cornel Wilde will continue as the co-starring male lead, but the script is said to be undergoing an overhaul. Screenplay as it stands, however, got the Johnston office okay after several scripts had been turned down and changes, if any, will probably be minor.

Todd Hypoes 'Central Park' For Bowl Production Sept. 7

Mike Todd is hypoing "Up in Central Park" for its 22-day run here at Hollywood Bowl, starting Sept. 7. Production is being re-geared with emphasis upon the eye, rather than the ear, it was revealed yesterday. Show, currently playing in Chicago, is being re-set in some instances for the Bowl, because present sets require hanging, which is prevented by the Bowl arrangement.

Todd also is having the dialog slashed in many instances and more musical arrangements being worked out by choral groups. In addition to the stress upon spectacle, Todd will cast 150 players for "super" chores, when the show opens here. Casting will begin in about two weeks.

Musical will leave Chicago in the latter part of August and break up the jump for a week in Kansas City, moving into Hollywood Sept. 2 for five days of rehearsals prior to the opening. No matinees are scheduled, but production will play for 22 straight nights.

65 Nat'l Theatres Heads Will Huddle

Approximately 65 district managers, division presidents and film buyers of National Theatres gather here Aug. 5-6-7-8 for first postwar session on operations. Divisions to be represented at the four-day huddle include Northern and Southern California Fox West Coast divisions, Evergreen, Inter-Mountain, Mid-West, Wisconsin and Michigan.

MAJ. WARNER IN 20TH ANNI GIFTS TO U.S. GOVT.

Washington, July 24.—Major Albert Warner today presented the Library of Congress with a print of "Lights of New York," first all-talking feature. Dr. Luther H. Evans, Librarian of the Congress, accepted the print.

"Talking pictures," Dr. Evans said, "not only brought full expression to the screen, but raised motion pictures to heights never before thought possible as entertainment and cultural art.

"Major Warner has acknowledged that others pioneered in this field before Warner Bros. became interested in it as a vehicle of mass communication. By the same token, I am sure everyone will agree it was Warner Bros. who brought sound motion pictures to multitudes and that their place in history is unchallengeable."

Major Warner also presented a part of early sound projection equipment to the Smithsonian Institution. Mort Blumenstock, advertising-publicity head, accompanied Major Warner at the presentations, which were held in commemoration of the 20th Anniversary of Talking Pictures.

Sargent Quits Fox For Flack Duties

Thornton Sargent, National Theatres public relations director and co-city district manager of Fox West Coast first run theatres locally, has bowed out of latter spot to give full time to expanded public relations duties. Department is being enlarged and Perry Pasmezoglu joined it this week to work with Sargent. Pasmezoglu was formerly in the Daily News advertising department.

Ted Bonnet Resigns

Ted Bonnet yesterday resigned as advertising-publicity director for Walter Wanger Productions, effective August 31. The veteran publicist will devote the next six months to finishing two novels he began during his overseas stint in the Army.

'Abie' Ready Aug. 15

Eddie Sutherland, who produced and directed "Abie's Irish Rose" for Bing Crosby Producers, Inc., will have the final cut ready for showing by August 15 and will plane to New York with a print to show executives of United Artists.

Bebe Inks Wilson

Marie Wilson yesterday was signed by producer Bebe Daniels for a featured role in "The Fabulous Joe."

Conklin Sees 'Ghost'

Chester Conklin yesterday was assigned featured role in "Ghost Town" at Columbia.

Bardette to 'Tripoli'

Trevor Bardette inked for featured role in "Flame of Tripoli" at Universal.

DEKKER GETS TEDDY ROLE IN PHOENIX THEATRE PLAY

Albert Dekker will star as Theodore Roosevelt in "Father Was President," prize winning original play, which will be given its premiere at the Westwood-Phoenix theatre late in September. Play, to be directed by Franklin Heller, will be second in the 1946 series of five plays in the tieup between Paramount and the Phoenix group.

Initial production is Ferenc Molnar's "The Good Fairy," which tees off the season Aug. 8 with a four-week stand. Paul Burnford will direct and cast includes Hugo Haas, Peggy Noonan and Ian MacDonald. Third presentation will be "Dunnigan's Daughter," by S. N. Behrman. Anne Revere will star and Samuel Rosen will direct play, which was given last season on Broadway by the Theatre Guild.

George Bernard Shaw's "Arms and the Man" is the fourth play scheduled and an untitled original, now in the process of writing, will close the year for the Westwood house.

Duke Veepee Is Due For Indie Coin Talk

Louis J. Kurlan, veepee of Duke and Company, arrives from New York today for financial discussions with Frederick Brisson, prexy of Independent Artists. Angier Biddle Duke, prexy of the Wall Street firm, and executive veepee J. M. Carr, will join Kurlan later in the week to conclude the financial arrangements for the new indie setup.

Brown Arena Topper

New York, July 24. — Walter Brown, head of Boston Gardens, was elected president of the Arena Managers Association at a meeting Tuesday. He succeeds John Harris who declined the renomination due to the pressure of other duties. Al Sutphin of Cleveland, was named vice prexy; Allen Loeb, Chicago Arena chief, treasurer; Nathan Podoloff, New Haven, secretary.

Kellogg Riding Bike

John Kellogg will bicycle between films at Columbia next week, when he starts work in "Mr. District Attorney." Kellogg already is working in "Johnny O'Clock."

THE GRAPEVINE: "Sister Kenny" has attained the highest audience penetration rating of any RKO picture, according to the latest pulse-taking reported by Audience Research Institute. Picture is rated at 36, while "Bells of St. Mary's" copped only an 18 at the same stage of exploitation . . . We-told-you-so dept.: Linda Darnell got the "Amber" role as predicted here weeks ago. Not to be pompous about it . . . Tay Garnett was in the center of a big huddle at Enterprise yesterday. He spent several hours on the terrace of the lot's dining room in conference with Charlie Einfeld, David Loew and Martin Jurow . . . Every producer, director and writer at Warners got a Must summons from headquarters to attend a series of skits presenting new faces on the studio's contract list . . . The Westmores are booming "angora white" as the next fashionable shade in hair styles, and claim it will become as popular as platinum blonde when the late Jean Harlow introduced it . . . Thomas Gomez's hit as King Croesus in "Night in Paradise" will keep him closer to Hollywood in the future. Universal gave him leave to play the King in "Hamlet" with Maurice Evans but nixed an offer for him to play the Oscar Homolka role in "I Remember Mama" . . . Constance Bennett and her bridegroom, Col. John Coulter, board an American Airliner tomorrow for Memphis. They'll return Sunday with his mother.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Evelyn Keyes had hardly finished saying "I do" with John Huston at Las Vegas than she had to go into an "I don't" routine over the phone to people inquiring whether she is giving up her Sunset Plaza apartment. They'll keep it as well as Huston's ranch in the valley . . . Another housing note, in the lugubrious vein—Peggy Cummins is about to be evicted for the sixth time since she arrived in Hollywood less than a year ago . . . Rory Calhoun is under consideration for one of the leads in "Pursued" . . . Humphrey Bogart has a large radio in his dressing room at Columbia. Over it is a sign reading, "Bothers You?" . . . Director Joseph L. Mankiewicz has the same crew for "The Late George Apley" as he had on "Dragonwyck" and "Somewhere in the Night." The boys like him because he buys ice cream for the cast and crew every day—and for a slightly more important reason. He is always thinking of the little guy . . . Jean Negulesco and Dusty Anderson will make their first public appearance since they were married at the "Night and Day" preem Aug. 1 . . . ZaSu Pitts reports a new routine for ex-GI house-hunters. They tramp along the highways running through the Brentwood estates and leave notes in mailboxes asking if there are any rooms to rent and leaving phone numbers . . . John Roche, William Powell's standin for "Life with Father," lost 15 pounds while ill from food poisoning. Now he calls himself the "Thin Man's Thin Man."

CALL SHEET: CLIFTON WEBB worked in his last scene for "The Razor's Edge" and leaves tomorrow for New York, where he will appear in "Present Laughter" . . . ANNE BAXTER has returned from her Colorado honeymoon with John Hodiak . . . GLORIA DE HAVEN celebrated her birthday yesterday on the set of "Summer Holiday" at Metro . . . ELLIOT NUGENT is using one of the snazziest automobiles in Hollywood for a scene in Paramount's "My Favorite Brunette." It is a maroon Rolls Royce limousine and the director obtained in on loanout from Mrs. Robert Montgomery . . . PETER O'CROTTY makes it known that he did not obtain that quonset hut for frivolous reasons. It will be shared by the families of two former servicemen . . . FRED ASTAIRE will be on hand at Hollywood Park Saturday when his Triplicate runs in the Hollywood Gold Cup . . . JEANETTE MacDONALD will record her new album for Victor in New York before returning to Hollywood . . . HELEN FERGUSON was given a birthday party by Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor . . . FRANK LLOYD gets back today from Walker Lake with a fine mess of fish and suntan . . . LESTER COWAN has bought a 60-acre ranch in Canoga Canyon for a reported $200,000. Gagsters are wondering if he plans to erect studios on the extra 50 acres . . . JUNE ALLYSON, in pigtails and looking about 14, showed up at Columbia the other day to visit her husband, Dick Powell, on the "Johnny O'Clock" set but was turned down by a studio gateman who thought she was a bobby-soxer trying to crash the gate.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Michel Bernheim and George Kessel, technical advisers on "Arch of Triumph," are getting nostalgic about finding their phone numbers listed in the 1938 Paris telephone directory which is a prop on the "Arch" set . . . Ann McCormick, Jackie Coogan's girl friend and member of the Slapsy Maxie floorshow, was rushed to Glendale sanitarium for an emergency appendectomy Tuesday night . . . Smiley Burnette's party looked like an Indiana maize field with virtually every western and hillbilly personality in Hollywood on hand shucking the corn in between hot dogs and soda pop . . . Trekking to Laguna Beach for the strawhat version of "Twentieth Century" the last couple of nights were the Lewis Milestones, Bonita Granville, Oliver Thorndike, Peter Lawford, Van Johnson, the Kent Smiths, the Richard Whorfs, Charles Russell, Anne Stewart, Dwight Whitney, Joan Lorring, Russell Arms, John Alvin, Michael Curtiz, John Emery . . . Tyrone Power and Cesar Romero planed to Milwaukee yesterday for the National Air Show. John Payne leaves over the weekend for Roanoke, Va., where he will visit his mother, who has been ill . . . Douglas Dick, featured in Hal Wallis' "The Searching Wind," left on a p.a. tour of Denver and Salt Lake City in connection with the picture's openings . . . Front office at Paramount has cautioned Bing Crosby about letting his flair for practical jokes get the worst of him. The other day on "The Emperor Waltz" set, just before an intricate scene including 100 extras, a dozen horses and a few assorted dogs was to be filmed, Bing announced over the mike: "Okay, folks, one hour's break for lunch." Before the "order" could be rectified everyone had scattered.—D.D.T.

THEATRE OWNERS FIGHT PIX SALES BY AUCTION

overcome auction bidding section of the court's recent anti-trust decision.

SCTOA, with a membership of 370 made up of a majority of independent and affiliated theatres in this territory, will seek to obtain cooperation of all other national exhibitor organizations so that a solid front can be presented to the Department and the Court prior to entry of a decree in the case.

In a unanimously adopted resolution, SCTOA members, which include Fox West Coast Theatres, Southern California Amusement Co., Cabart, Principal, Metropolitan, Southside, Gus Metzger, Ned Calvi Theatres, Jenne Dodge Theatres, and other indie and circuit houses, blasted auction type of selling as destructive to the interests of exhibition. All exhibitors who object to the auction method will be urged to send their views to the Attorney General in Washington so government will know how the exhibition branch of the industry stands on the matter.

SCTOA members also adopted a resolution expressing belief that a return to the old method of selling, namely on an annual basis with adequate and reasonable elimination, is the most desirable insofar as exhibitors are concerned.

Paul Williams, general counsel of SCTOA, will present organization's views in person to the Department of Justice and steps will be taken to ascertain what, if anything, can be done to overcome the court's decision in this respect.

'INTRIGUE' AIRER KICKS OFF WITH GRISLY OPUS

For fans of the gory and grisly, peeloff of CBS' new summer sustainer, "Intrigue" (5:30 to 6 p.m.), must have been a meaty pre-dinner morsel. But for adults it lacked very much to make it as every known element of crime and slime were tossed into a nearly confusing half-hour, including mysterioso musical wailing a la cinematic trend.

Title is a good eye and ear catcher, and if material selected and workmanship of all responsible perks some, it should hold its own among the flock. Geoffrey Household's "Rogue Male," once filmed as "Man Hunt," was initial vehicle. Robert Tallman adapted it for ether under original title without much success. Story, placed in pre-war Europe on brink of the impending horror, was poor choice. Nothing is older than yesterday's news—even yesterday's war, it's been learned.

Charles Vanda produces, Joseph Schildkraut stars and everything happens, it seems, except generally acceptable entertainment.

Drew Pearson Lines Up Vacation Subs

Drew Pearson has lined up guest commentators for the six weeks he'll be absent from ABC microphones. Harold Ickes leads off Sunday, followed in order by Frank Sinatra, Bill Mauldin, ex-GI cartoonist, Gen. LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

Get out among the people if you want to learn about radio. That sage bit of advice has been dinned into our ears for six years come St. Swithins Day. We've tried it in a mild sort of way from time to time but nothing concrete came of it. You come away with the feeling that you can't please everyone and, taken by and large, what you hear bandied in friendly circles is precisely what pours out of receiving sets. There's something for everybody if they'll just learn to play around with the buttons or knob. We were reminded of the reply of Will Rogers to a lady who wrote she didn't like his program. Said the great humorist: "I have no sympathy for anyone who is too lazy to turn the dial."

Few days ago we ventured into a covey of femmes and made a sounding. Their pet peeve seemed to be the daytime soap operas, which, despite their protestations and rabid criticism, continue to play their favorites. Spoke up one damsel: "Why is it that every husband is a philanderer, if we are to believe what we hear on the serials. Don't they know that's what breeds suspicion and undermines family happiness? You hear a program and the breadwinner has an affair with his secretary or nurse. He tells the good wife he has some work to do at the office and won't be home for dinner. The thought percolates in the home maker's noggin that maybe her old man is doing the same thing when he calls to say he's detained at the office. You can hardly blame her because her mind has been poisoned, vicariously, at least. I say give the husbands a break. They're not all that bad and the innocent should not be made to suffer with the guilty."

The lady undoubtedly has a point there even though it's make-believe the same as it is on the picture screen. We'd rather let an authority on the subject answer this critic so we've called in Irna Phillips, who has long penned many of the foremost serials, to rebut the testimony. What she has to say in defense of her literary craft will appear in an early issue, as they say in the mags.

Nowadays you can't tell which way the Hooper will jump. In scanning the list you'll find a plus as often as a minus shows up. Which proves nothing a'tall unless you happen to be identified with a plus show. Some of the entries have bogged to such depths there's only one way they can go and still stay in the league. Tuesday's chillun bucked the summer enni thusly: "Date with Judy" 5.4, off 2.7; Encore Theatre 7.9, up 1.6; Evening with Romberg 7.4, off .3; Lum and Abner 3.5, up .7; "Man Called X" 8.8, off 1. On Wednesday's slate the needle fluctuated like this: Academy Award Theatre 5.3, off 2.5; Bob Crosby 5.2, up 1.1; "Dr. Christian" 7.7, off 1.2; "Holiday for Music" 3.7, off .5; Kay Kyser 8.1, off 2.2; Lum and Abner 3.6, up 1.7; "Sad Sack" 6.3, up 1.2.

Chain breaks . . . Dick Powell and Fitch will call it quits after the summer session of "Rogues Gallery." He has a deal working with Texaco and when Don Stewart of the petrol outfit gets in next week they'll knuckle down . . . Carroll Carroll and the missus flew to the Jackson Hole, Wyo., ranch of Stanley Resor, headman of the Thompson agency. To pitch hay? "Corny" Jackson follows later . . . What goes with General Mills and their radio setup? . . . Betty O'Hara, Coast copy chief for Compton, left yesterday for NY to work on fall copy. Lewis Titterton, radio head, heads east Saturday and training this way are Willis Cooper, who has a commercial film deal on the fire, and Brewster Morgan, who'll sit in while Murray Bolen is lolling in ease on a ranch in Wyoming . . . Memo to Chamber of Commerce: Irna Phillips is getting to like California more and more day by day . . . Bill Robson now dons cowboy regalia while directing "Hawk Durango" . . . Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" back east looks like a hot fall prospect as does "Sad Sack" from this seaboard . . . Joe Rines trains to NY tomorrow for parleys at Sherman & Marquette.

You've heard it before and you'll hear it again—"those AFRA kids get an awful pushing around"—but why must it be? We are well aware of the union's membership of 3,000, more or less, and they all can't be seen personally by producers, casters, bookers, et al, but there's certainly an easier way out without wounding the kids' feelings. To mind comes a case to point up what we mean. Dorothy Garner, just one of many but an accomplished supporting player of broad versatility, drives in from Long Beach every day—that's 70 miles round trip. She passes the day making the rounds of the agencies and networks and if she's lucky she'll land a job. But it's the waste of her time that accumulates while waiting in the outer offices for an interview. Too often she and others are left sitting when it would be just as easy to let them know at once whether or not there's anything for them. It's not an intentional slight on the part of agency producers or bookers so this is just a gentle reminder to consider the time of the stockers, who must rely on the law of average to keep going. The more calls they make the better their chances of getting an occasional paycheck.

Hitch hikes . . . Office decor of Tom Lewis at Young & Rubicam and Cornwell Jackson at J. Walter Thompson is occasioning gasps among the agency workers. And gay new pieces are still being added . . . Hal Gibney, NBC commentator, and Juanita Fields, actress, take the vows Sunday . . . Judy Canova will be the first of the vacationing NBC-ites to hit the air again—Aug. 21 . . . Dalors Bennett, NBC page, has been signed for a singing role in the touring company of "Oklahoma" . . . Bertie Nichols resigned as fashion editor of NBC . . . An Al Jolson audition is in the works.

CAP TRANSCRIPS SET TO PACKAGE RADIO SHOWS

New York, July 24.—As expected in trade, Capitol Transcriptions will take logical step into the packaging of radio productions. Though now primarily interested in pushing their initial incursion, a musical library, company brass are laying groundwork for bow into open-end and tailored radio shows.

Idea will be gunned as soon as the aimed-at basic library of 3,000 musical selections have been waxed. Like other transcriberies, Cap is rushing all musical matters in anticipation of possible work stoppage over wage question with American Federation of Musicians. Production is now at peak.

Likely that talent rosters of Capitol Records, parent company, and Capitol Transcriptions, will be used as nucleus of new venture. Largely musical, personalities will probably be fitted into variety packages. Move into new field, usually bugabooed by necessity of national sales organization, is regarded as safe since sales system is already set.

NEW PROBE OF FCC LOOMS

censorship or control has restricted or may restrict freedom of speech in radio broadcasting." Tobey also asked the committee to check on the issuance of FM channels, particularly with reference to whether the farm areas were being discriminated against.

Tobey would have the committee authorized to continue its work after Congress adjourns in the next week or so, and even to extend into the next Congress.

The resolution indicated that the New Hampshire solon felt his state was being discriminated against in the issuance of FM channels. While such an investigation may be authorized, some Senate leaders doubted whether it would be done at this late date. Senator Wallace H. White, a Maine Republican leader of the Senate and the ranking Republican on the Interstate Commerce Committee, expressed surprise when the resolution was introduced. Senator Burton K. Wheeler (D., Mont.), committee chairman, was not available for comment. He would have to decide on whether his committee votes the probe.

FCC spokesmen were not commenting.

RADIO UNION CALLS TERPALACES ON NON NET GABBERS

Ballrooms—a field heretofore the domain of musicians and radio technician unions — will be invaded by American Federation of Radio Artists. Union will call town's dancery owners who originate remote pickups in to conference on announcer employment. Notification has been sent terpalaces for meeting tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. in offices of Screen Actors Guild over which Claude McCue, exec secretary of AFRA, will preside.

Union wants to set up a scale for gabbers who announce at dance halls, and will voice dissatisfaction with hit and miss pay given freelance men. There's no concern over network gabbers whose contract with nets make them eligible for outside assignments as part of their jobs. Frequently, ballrooms extend a gratuity, or overtime if assignment involves same. Pitch will be made solely for non-net gabbers who are reportedly compensated with from $5 nightly to $75 weekly. All such announcers will be covered regardless of station carrying musical programs.

Wilkinson Back

James Wilkinson, head of RKO's editorial department, planed back to Hollywood after two weeks of conferring with Churubusco studio heads in Mexico City on filming of RKO pictures there.

OBITUARY

AUGUSTIN J. GLASSMIRE

IA VOTE BIOFF, BROWNE OUT OF RANKS

Report was up for approval before the delegates and when no objections arose it was unanimously adopted.

In view of fact that anti-Walsh forces, headed by William Bennett of Washington, D.C., who is expected to oppose Walsh for the IA presidency in Friday's election, have been making an issue of Walsh's alleged connection with Browne and Bioff, the peaceful adoption of the board's declaration was a surprise to the majority of delegates. Report was expected to set off the pre-election fireworks and tension during time report was up for consideration was clearly felt.

Question of granting an IA charter to the Theatre Managers Guild to organize on a national basis is scheduled to come before the convention tomorrow but opinion of the delegates is that the charter will not be issued inasmuch as the laws of the union do not permit the granting of charters to anyone who is in the executive bracket or who has the power to hire and fire.

Convention is expected to get down to real business in tomorrow's sessions. On tap for the delegates' consideration, besides the manager problem, are issues involving organization of television employes, operators of 16m projectors, upping of Negro auxiliaries to local status, and the nomination of officers.

MILSTEIN SLATED AS UWP WESTERN DIVISION HEAD

Negotiations are nearing conclusion for naming of J. J. Milstein as Western Division head for United World Pictures, it was learned last night. Deal calls for Milstein, a producer's rep, to headquarter in New York. Simultaneously it was reported that Morris Safier, former PRC district manager here, was being considered as Pacific Coast sales head.

William Heineman, UWP general sales manager, and Monroe Greenthal, advertising and publicity chief, were slated to plane to Chicago this morning, following a week of conferences with International toppers, William Goetz, William Dozier and John Beck, Jr., on the formation of the UWP sales organization. Greenthal will set up exploitation program for the opening there of "The Strangers" before accompanying Heineman to New York on Monday.

Al Green Gunning 'Fabulous Dorseys'

"The Fabulous Dorseys" will take off today at General Service Studios under the producing banner of Charles R. Rogers. Al Green is directing and film stars Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey and Janet Blair. In the supporting cast are Bill Lundigan, Sara Allgood, Arthur Shields, Paul Whiteman, Woody Herman, Charles Barnett and Henry Busse.

Oberon Going Latin

Merle Oberon announced yesterday that "Bella Donna" will end her film chores for the year. Immediately upon finishing that film this week she will leave for Mexico City with her husband, Lucien Ballard, and go from there to South America. Her first role next year will probably be in "Ivy'" for Sam Wood.

BROADCASTERS IN ANNUAL DOINGS

Annual gathering of Southern California Broadcasters Association yesterday at Brentwood Country Club was, as usual, a broadcasters' battle. Some 300 attended the combo golf tournament windfest, feedbag and salooning that ran from 11 a.m. until 10 p.m. It was a very live program in which rivals KLAC and KFWB walked off with most of prize loot out of 30 golf prizes and 82 door prizes.

Following day of golf, in which Lou Cook, KCEA announcer, won low gross with 81, and Oscar Turner, NBC Recording head, hit with net of 71, prizes were awarded at steak dinner, with KECA's manager, Clyde Scott officiating. Al Jarvis, who assisted for a time, managed to pull ticket of his boss, Don Fedderson, from bowl—in addition to names of four others from rival station, KFWB, including Bill Anson, his successor, and arch rival, concluding day.

Golden Sees Golden Years For Film Equipment Firms

Washington, July 24.—Several years of peak prosperity are ahead for the motion picture equipment manufacturers, according to a new survey by Nathan D. Golden, motion picture expert for the U.S. Department of Commerce.

In addition to extensive needs for replacement in the U.S., there is a tremendous market overseas, Golden finds. He warns American manufacturers not to fill all needs in this country before starting after the foreign biz. Golden urges that a portion of present production be allocated for export as an "entering wedge" to make it easier to go after the world market when domestic business begins to fall off.

TAKES LONG VIEW OF MART

"It is safe to say," he wrote in a statement, "that equipment manufacturers will enjoy their wartime type of prosperity at least for the next few years. But they will want to maintain the same high production and employment levels when the home demand inevitably slackens. What then?

"The obvious answer is to turn to world markets. But to realize fully on future possibilities, it is necessary to lay the groundwork today. In comparison with domestic needs, those of foreign theatres are far more critical. In the majority of cases, the equipment is of foreign make and generally not up to American standards.

CITES ADVANTAGE OF QUALITY

"Wartime experience has served to convince many of our world neighbors in the motion picture theatre business that it is more economical in the long run to buy quality equipment. They have had ample proof that the advantage of a lower initial cost of German-made products, for example, is quickly offset by its shorter-lived usefulness.

"Certainly the needs of American theatres deserve first consideration. By the same token, however, the far-seeing American manufacturer cannot completely ignore the demands from abroad. They cannot and they will not wait until the home market is satisfied.

SUGGESTS ALLOCATION PLAN

"Taking a tip from the plans of many other industries, the motion picture equipment producers might well consider a system of allocation. In other words, they might set aside a definite, if far smaller, portion of their total production for export and thus pave the way for an expanding trade abroad when they will really need it.

"The possibilities for winning new foreign markets are exceedingly bright. Theatres throughout the world have never enjoyed a more important position than today. They have been among the first business projects to be reestablished in war-torn countries. As more and more of them are reopened, and new ones are built, the demand for up-to-date equipment will zoom."

BIOG DROPPED BY BRONSTON

Samuel Bronston, currently in New York, has shelved production plans for "John Paul Jones." Warner Bros., for past eight years has had a script on life of naval hero on its shelf. With Warners intent on doing the film biog, it is believed Bronston figured on having tough going in obtaining strong distribution setup.

Bronston's plunge into the European distribution field is reported as another reason for production foldo. He has been buying European rights to old films, and distributing them in Belgium, Holland and Czechoslovakia.

Levey Holds 'Orleans' To Ink Name Bands

Jules Levey yesteday postponed production date on his "New Orleans" from August 14 to August 21. Understood reason for the shift was producer's aim to sign up a minimum of ten big name bands for the picture. Negotiations with Woody Herman musical combo heads the list of bands. Film will get a United Artists release.

'Gaslight' For Latins

Metro announced first showing yesterday of "La Luz Que Agoniza," Spanish dubbed dialog version of "Gaslight," at the Rex theatre in the Bronx. Film is screening on new policy of company's to show Spanish versions of films in this country, aiming directly at Latin audiences.

Film Cleffers Elect Officers

First general-membership polling of Screen Composers' Association yesterday elected a slate of officers and 12 board-of-directors for terms of three years. Organization of 107 film scorers, just about all active celluloid cleffers hereabouts, has been operating since formation late last winter with tentative group of appointed officials.

Elected were: Max Steiner, prexy; Adolph Deutsch, v.p.; Eddie Plumb, secretary; Roy Webb, treasurer. Voted onto board were Daniele Amfiteatrof, Dave Buttolph, Robert Emmett Dolan, Leo Erdody, Franz Waxman, Arthur Lang, Eddie Powell, Werner Heymann, Leigh Harline, Victor Young and Deutsch.

appearance at Casino because one of agency's bands, Woody Herman, was opening, stayed approximately two hours despite the Dorsey tirade.

The batoneer-booker bad-feeling is known in trade to have existed since about the time Rockwell formed GAC on own after splitting with ex-partner, Cork O'Keefe. So many reports have been circulated as to nub of matter that real underlying cause has become lost in the maze of rumors.

HUGHES, LEE TELE HEARING LASTS 15 MINUTES

In what was probably the briefest Federal Communications Commission hearing on record, the final testimony and depositions were made yesterday at 10 a.m., on Don Lee application for video licensing. As more or less anticipated, Tommy Lee, nominal head of network, failed to show due to illness. Lewis Allen Weiss, v-p and g.m., spoke for Lee and in so doing established for the record that he, Weiss, is, in effect, and to all intents and purposes, Don Lee, having full authority and responsibility for policy and operations.

Hearing, lasting less than 15 minutes, was FCC attempt to fix final authority and financial responsibility of applicant. For those reasons commish has been insistent throughout three different hearings across country that Lee and Howard Hughes personally be heard. Commissioner Ray Wakefield was apparently satisfied with substitute and concluded matter with request that financial statement on Don Lee Estate be furnished as an exhibit.

LEE INACTIVE

Lee has taken no active part in administration of network for past six years, it was disclosed. He has been consulted on overall policy and corporate activities, but has left administration, expenditures and all other facets of Don Lee activities in hands of Weiss. Latter stated Lee was not altogether bed-ridden but that doctors advised against any cross-examination "ordeal." It was further revealed that Lee net has, since hearings here two months ago, also filed for approval of FCC to conduct technical experiments in color television.

For obvious reasons, hearing on Hughes' application was continued until August 9, when it is very probably, and already agreed to by Commissioner Wakefield, that testimony will be taken at bedside of Hughes.

SEPT. ACTION LOOMS

Wakefield, following session, stated that "within a few weeks after final testimony is in, decision on prospective licensees will probably be handed down by commission." That should mean action by mid-September, according to present estimates.

Regional attorney John P. Hearne, and FCC's chief investigator, Ray Lewis, also appeared. When queried on his presence here and length of stay, Lewis would make no comment. However some significance was interpreted in his presence here for first time. Reps of virtually all other video interests were also on hand, including Klaus Landesberg, for Television Productions (Paramount); Dr. Thomas Goldsmith, for Dumont Laboratories; Eugene Overton, KFI attorney; Claude Jordan, Columbia Broadcasting System; Dick Graham, National Broadcasting Co.; Edgar Hayes, for Hughes Tool Co.; William Dempsey and Ray Sandler, for Don Lee, and David Crandell, Los Angeles Times. Again, and perhaps significantly, hearing was held in Room 324, of Federal Building, regular and so-lettered "bankruptcy court." Wakefield remains in area until mid-August.

REV. BUREAU RULES FULL INCOME TAX MUST BE PAID ON 5 GOLDWYN PIX

Washington, July 25.—After two years of investigation and spadework, the Bureau of Internal Revenue has opened its drive on Hollywood's single picture corporations. Samuel Goldwyn has been the first hit, but many other indie producers are expected to be forced to dig up millions in additional taxes. Revenue Bureau has laid down the ruling that such corporations must pay taxes according to the regular income tax scale and not the 25 per cent capital gains tax basis.

Under the statute of limitations the Bureau of Internal Revenue can go back for three years on such corporations. A high Revenue Bureau spokesman said tonight that the Bureau intends to go back the full three years to collect all the money that it claims is due to it.

MORE TAXES INDICATED

The result is that leading film industry figures will be tapped for more taxes where there have been such cases as incorporation of a producer and his family and top associates; or incorporation of single pix by stars and directors. According to Revenue spokesmen such incorporations have been to avoid paying the 80 to 90 per cent bracket taxes and to get off easily with the 25 per cent rate for capital gains on assets held for six months or more.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue has already notified Samuel Goldwyn that it will not accept as subject to capital gain taxes, five personal corporations which it is alleged he set up to cover single pictures. The Goldwyn ruling was reportedly given to his attorneys in New York after a request for ruling had come from Goldwyn.

ALL SIMILAR SETUPS HIT

However, the Bureau spokesmen made clear today that the ruling by Joseph P. Nunan, Jr., Commissioner of Internal Revenue, applies across the board to every similar corporation set up in Hollywood and will continue to apply in the future. Under a Supreme Court ruling, the Bureau of Internal Revenue has a right to make such rulings.

The law does permit court reviews, however, and it is expected that the Federal Courts will get a number of test cases in the near future. The courts will have to decide whether Internal Revenue based its findings on facts in each case and whether the decision of the Bureau is in line with such facts and findings.

While Samuel Goldwyn is the first producer to be touched, tax returns on the bulk of independent producers and single picture corporations in Hollywood have been under investigation.

The Revenue Bureau has been working on the case for the past two years. Last summer, Nunan and John P. Wenchel, his

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

GLARES are currently being swapped by bandleader Jan Savitt and the management of the Avodon, sleek downtown terpalace. The Avodon toppers sizzled when ork opened there last week sans a girl vocalist and Savitt has not added one to date; a chirp is rather standard accoutrement for a big band getting appreciable money playing for the stomping set. It is understood ballroom management minced no words in bluntly calling the lack of a lark to batoneer's attention, and as bluntly told him he should get one in view of the $3,000 weekly being peeled off for the crew. As yet Savitt continues to carry on with single male warbler.

MARKING the initial time the film industry has used such a procedure, Enterprise is piping all sound for "Arch of Triumph" direct to the laboratory of Sound Service, Inc., located nearly four miles from the studio. Transmission is by means of a private equalized wire. The new method of recording over long distances replaces the usual process of recording in a sound truck located directly outside the sound stage. Reason for the change is to take advantage of the extensive facilities for testing and recording normally found in a large laboratory but which cannot be installed in portable trucks owing to space limitations.

TELEVISIONARIES report as inside on the industry-wide survey that 1,250,000 video receivers will have been manufactured and distributed by end of 1947—and that Coast video, meaning Los Angeles and San Francisco, will get 11 per cent of those. It's expected that quarter million sets will be in shipment throughout U.S. by end of 1946, with L.A. getting seven per cent and northerners getting four. Other million is anticipated output of all set makers for 1947, and L.A. and Frisco will, by virtue of video production activity here, get allotted 11 per cent.

JIMMY Dorsey yesterday agreed to take his band into Casino Gardens ballroom for four weeks, commencing Aug. 20. Crew will double off General Service lot where ork still will be getting lens treatment for "Fabulous Dorseys" film. Batoneer's acceptaince of date ends haggle of three weeks, during which leader didn't want to double into ballroom, and yet didn't want to follow brother Tommy's band into Casino. Latter was willing all along to double; now it is unlikely he will make a stand at spot, which he financially controls, until next season.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The OPA ain't what it used to be. That's what we have to remember as we enter a new period with OPA controls. However the higher ceilings that will result from adding costs since 1940 to the profit margin of that date may get us the increased production we need. In making the new bill work, as the President says, we'll need cooperation—from consumers who must refuse to pay exhorbitant prices, although this kind of action is most immediately concentrated on the man who's least to blame, the retailer. It will mean that manufacturers must forego the temptation, when it offers, to make big profits now, realizing that this threatens long-range stability. And it should mean action against the black market as never before, including both the one who sells and he who buys. The black market was the great main obstacle to operation of the old OPA, but with larger profit margins there can be no argument for it now even from the standpoint of pure expediency. Buying on the black market was considered a crime by most persons with any moral sense during the war, and this present period is just as threatening. The other threatened our winning of the war; this period is a potential threat to our very system.

"Slightly Scandalous" is a merry, uneful, fast-moving musical comedy, ith a cast equal to more pretentious roduction and direction that makes he most of both tunes and laughs. how adds up to 61 minutes of solid ntertainment and looks like a box ffice natural.

Fred Brady, playing twins that urn out to be triplets after all, works double lead role for both romance nd comedy. Paula Drew gets across ig as the femme love interest and lso does a neat job of song selling. Valter Catlett carries a good part of he comedy load without missing any aughs, and Jack Marshall wows them vith his hat act and two novelty ongs.

Specialty numbers that feature the how include song and dance sequence by Isabelita that has plenty of ye and ear appeal, a dance act by Dorese Midgley and Georgann Smith hat stands out.

Production chores have been handled to best possible advantage by Marshall Grant and Stanley Rubin and Will Jason's direction is responsible for keeping laughs, music and action moving along without a dull moment.

Musical direction is skilfully handled by Milton Rosen and the three tunes written by Jack Brooks and sung by Miss Drew have definite appeal. Photography by George Robinson is high quality.

ANN YOUNG TOPS MPA TITLE OFFICE

New York, July 25.—With transfer of David Palfreyman to head Motion Picture Association's trade-relations department in Washington, Ann Young has been upped to top MPA's title registration bureau. She has been on bureau's staff for a decade.

The title-registration office recently has been expanded, due to ten additional non-MPA members utilizing its service and agreeing to its rules. Those outside fold now using facilities and files are Enterprise, Story Productions, Sol Wurtzel, Mark Hellinger, Anson Productions, Diana Productions, General Motion Pictures, J. Arthur Rank, International Pictures, Gold Seal Productions and Negro-Marches-On, Inc. Bureau's index currently contains 41,500 titles.

MPA Ups Johnston Pact; Hits Shakeup Rumors

New York, July 25.—Recent newspaper reports, roundly branded false, that NY's Mayor William O'Dwyer would replace Eric Johnston as prez of Motion Picture association, prompted the MPA board today to indicate confidence in its chief by extending his contract for two years. Five-year pact, which would have expired in 1950, thus is pushed to 1952.

It is understood Johnston will still receive $100,000 yearly, plus expenses, for added hitch. Agitation that O'Dwyer would replace present prez followed reports of few months ago that some film company toppers were dissatisfied with Johnston administration, and rather recently the prexy admitted to Variety he was aware of expressions of dissatisfaction emanating from the Coast.

However, it is believed that Johnston's success in getting preferential treatment for U.S. films abroad, plus visit to Hollywood several weeks ago, soother ruffled feelings.

In extending the contract, MPA board today made this statement: "His deep understanding of the motion picture as an instrument of democratic living, his demonstrated leadership, his plans for the industry and his far-sighted vision have won our admiration and respect." In turn, Johnston issued this statement: "I would like to say that my experiences in the past years have strengthened my confidence in the enlightened, imaginative public-spirited men of this industry. They are men of responsibility and broad vision who desire to bring the screen to its highest fruition." Johnston, after a board meeting, departed for Washington, whence he will leave tomorrow for a three-week visit to Spokane, where he will combine a vacation and look-see at personal business interests.

Broadcasters Will Map Proposals for Expansion

Revitalized and expanded Southern California Broadcasters Association is being planned by local radioites. Executive board of organization meets here next Wednesday or Thursday to go over tentative plans and set prospectus for presentation to general membership following week.

Among proposals to be considered and later recommended are:

Employment for first time of full-time and paid representative and front man for group, opening of centrally located office headquarters, liberalization of agency recognition rules to permit greater agency membership, development of better relations with local newspapers, and strong and steady representation in civic, religious, cultural, business and industrial groups and their activities. SCB would also assume new duties by embracing work and problems usually allotted to a radio council and formation of separate council group would be abandoned. Broadcasters now include some 32 stations and broadcasting and affiliated firms.

Vets Group Joins Battle on Discharge of Ex-GI Flacks

Battle over discharge of ex-G.I.'s at Metro was entered last night by the American Veterans Committee, which took action to block firing of five members of the studio publicity department. In a wire to William Walsh, Metro industrial director, legal committee of AVC warned it would "strenuously oppose in every manner any effort, even though indirect, to violate the G.I. Bill of Rights."

Notices, effective Aug. 3, were handed out at Metro Wednesday to four veterans, and another, Bob Peterson, was given his walking papers yesterday. Discharges were all on grounds that flacks' work was not satisfactory. A sixth flack, Bill McGrath, was among group given notice Wednesday. Peterson, with the studio before entering the service, returned to the payroll less than three months ago.

Screen Publicists Guild, which protested discharges Wednesday on grounds they violated G.I. Bill of Rights and the National Labor Relations Act, failed to get a meeting on the matter yesterday with Fred Pelton, labor contact of Association of Motion Picture Producers. Pelton, when asked for a meeting, stated he would meet only on the question of severance pay, which studio is not granting, as other phases came under government grievance machinery.

Wire to Walsh, copies of which went to Eddie Mannix and Pelton, was signed by Alvin P. Jackson for AVC's legal committee, of which Samuel Chatinover is chairman. Wire read: "We are informed that five veterans were discharged by MGM, though entitled to reemployment under the G.I. Bill. We shall strenuously oppose in every manner any effort even though indirect to violate G.I. Bill. Kindly advise us full facts immediately."

The El Paso Kid

(Western)

REPUBLIC RELEASE. Associate producer, Bennett Cohen. Director, Thomas Carr. Original screenplay by Norman Sheldon. Photography, Edgar Lyons. Film editor, William P. Thompson. Musical supervisor, Raoul Kraushaar. Sound chief, Victor Appel. Art director, Fred A. Ritter. Set decorations, John McCarthy, Jr., and Earl Wooden. Makeup supervision, Bob Mark.

CAST—Sunset Carson, Marie Harmon, Hank Patterson, Edmund Cobb, Robert Filmer, Wheaton Chambers, Zon Murray, Tex Terry, Edward Cassidy, John Carpenter, Post Park and Charles Sullivan.

REVIEWED at the Hitching Post theatre, Hollywood, Calif., July 25, 1946. Running time: 59 MINS.

This western is different. Under the old code the honest cowboy gallops into town, foils a holdup, breaks jail a couple of times and exposes the owner of the Eureka gambling jernt, after which he rides out into the sunset, singing a buckaroo song and questing new adventure in the next valley next week. In "The El Paso Kid," Sunset Carson starts out as a no-good varmint in league with the bandits of Laramie City and winds up as a law-abiding deputy sheriff all for the love of a gal.

The hosses out in yonder canyon will probably kick about this revolutionary proceeding, but the script writer wrote it that way, and Sunset had to go through with it.

It starts out young Sunset as a bandit, not because he is a baddie but because he likes easy money, so he is a member of Robert Filmer's gang which lurks in wait for the Laramie City stagecoach and goes south with its cargo of gold. Sunset has an old pal, Hank Patterson, who is plugged with a forty-four and is left to die in the hideout by the bandit mob, so Sunset nurses Hank back to health and start out as a two-man gang, in opposition to the Filmer mob. They gallop into a stagecoach holdup and are trying to double the old gang and get away with the gold when in gallops Marie Harmon, a cute trick, whose old man is sheriff of this here county. Marie thinks Sunset is a square, fighting the bandits on the side of law and order, so she induces him to ride into Laramie City to become a deputy sheriff.

With love plunking on his heart strings, Sunset joins the sheriff's posse, but the gangsters copper on him and the next thing you know he is galloping thataway with the angry citizens on his trail, equipped with six-guns and nooses for his early demise. It winds up with Sunset leading the posse into the bandits' hideout where he tosses away his rod and knocks the chief bandit for a long count with his trusty haymaker. Instead of riding away from there, Sunset marries Marie and sticks around to make Laramie City a haven of law and order. You miss the customary windup where the cowboy rides into the sunset trail crooning a ballad that you can hear five miles away.

PIC ART DIRECTORS SOCIETY CHANGES RULES ON OSCARS

Society of Motion Picture Art Directors members will select films eligible for annual Academy Awards under new procedure rules approved by Society's board of directors. Under former basis of voting, pictures up for awards were nominated by the studios.

New procedure, under which each art director will be permitted to submit one black-and-white production and one color production as his nomination, will be presented to the membership for approval as a recommendation of the board. New rules were suggested by Hans Peters, chairman of SMPAD Academy committee.

From member nominations, a board of judges, appointed by the Academy in cooperation with Society's board of directors, will select three black-and-white and three color productions for consideration for art directorial awards. Final six nominations will be voted on by Society members to see which gets the Oscars. Films will be shown members in advance of voting.

THE GRAPEVINE: Three careers are going to get a jet propulsion boost at Metro in the next couple of months. Leonard Picker, who co-produced "Bandit of Sherwood Forest" at Columbia, made a lot of b.o. commotion on a medium-sized budget and thereby came to the attention of Louis B. Mayer, picked himself a story, "Gun Glory," off the story dept. shelf. "Gun Glory," an original bought for 25G's, is a rough, tough western saga which Picker figures he can put in the big draw class. For the leads he has selected James Craig and Lina Romay, latter getting her first shot at a top role. Craig got the nod after he appeared at "The Green Years" preem and was accorded as frenetic a reception from the bobby-soxers and bleacherites as Van Johnson, Frank Sinatra and Peter Lawford . . . Joan Crawford is sporting a new Cad. That's a Cadillac, not an old-fashioned wolf with spats, cane and sen-sen on his breath . . . John Huston and Evelyn Keyes will spend the weekend aboard the Humphrey Bogarts' yacht, The Santana . . . Frederick Brisson, head of the new Independent Artists set-up, was in conference yesterday with Louis J. Kurlan, veepee of Duke and Co., which will unsnap its bankroll for the new indie . . . Charlie Blake hit town with eight girls, instead of the five with whom he once scored a journalistic coup. He's the Chicago reporter who tied up all rights in connection with the Dionne quintuplets. Now he's beating the drums for those eight Florida beauties competing with the California product . . . New trend in yokelry: A group of Harvard and Yale alumni dining at Romanoff's and trying to stare down Errol Flynn, at a table with his wife Nora. Flynn won.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Linda Darnell is taking off for Lake Arrowhead, with a script of "Forever Amber" tucked in her luggage. She'll study her role for a week in the solitudes, according to the studio . . . Andy Russell currently in his fourth week at the Paramount theatre in New York, is going over so big he's getting a bonus from the management in addition to his very healthy paycheck . . . Carole Landis opens her eastern vaudeville tour with a stand at the Earle, Philadelphia, the week of Aug. 16 . . . William Holden got a second break this week, in addition to the lead in Paramount's "Dear Ruth," when he was tapped for appearance on the Theatre Guild show Sunday night in New York . . . Film actress is due for deflation of her ego. Her recent escort, a wealthy New Yorker, is entertaining half of Manhattan with tales of how she made a play for him and all the attendent maneuvers . . . Studios are bidding for new novel by Charles Grayson, Warners writer, tagged "Angel Town." It's set in Los Angeles . . . Elliot Nugent, directing "My Favorite Brunette" at Paramount, tried to make a baby actor react for a scene and hammed through a burlesque of a Bob Hope routine. Hope remarked: "Nugent is a Dave Butler with only one stomach."

CALL SHEET: STAN KENTON and his ork hope to put a cap on the classic fad next week when they record the leader's original, "Concerto to End All Concertos"—which ought to . . . ROBERT E. KENT and JULES LEVINE are collaborating on the screenplay for Eagle-Lion's forthcoming musical, "Hollywood Hi," which has nothing to do with the educational institution . . . MAXWELL SHANE will tell all as guest on the Hollywood Trends program over KLAC Monday afternoon, when he will discuss his duties as story head for Pine-Thomas . . . DORIS DOWLING had a lucky day—bought a home in the Hollywood hills and was notified by a dealer that a 1946 convertible was waiting for her . . . ROLLIE ASHER, assistant director on Goldwyn's "The Secret Life of Walter Mitty" has finished his 35th short story . . . CHRISTINA and MARVIN, dance team which just wound up a Trocadero engagement and a stint in 20th's "Carnival in Costa Rica," is now appearing at the Club Zarape . . . DIANA WANGER, Joan Bennett's eldest daughter, left for Mexico City where she will visit with a school friend and her family . . . JOHN ABBOTT and PETER GODFREY, who once played together in Gate theatre shows in London, held a reunion on the Warner lot. Godfrey is directing "Cry Wolf," while Abbott is featured in "Deception" . . . ADRIAN BOOTH celebrated her birthday yesterday . . . PATRICIA MORISON has received several offers from British film producers . . . ED BRADY, KGFJ announcer, solved the transportation situation, and thumbed his nose at piratical dealers, by buying a bicycle.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Deanna Durbin's fans all over the world are demanding that she stress singing instead of acting, so her husband, Felix Jackson, producing her next at Universal, "I'll Be Yours," is loading the picture with songs in Spanish, Italian and French as well as English . . . William Bendix, now appearing in Universal's "White Tie and Tails," is adding a swimming pool to his Encino home . . . OFF THE LOTS: For Grace Hayes' opening at Charlie Foy's valley spot, the Wayne Morrises, Arthur Treachers, Tommy Dorsey and Pat Dane, the Warren Williamses, the Jerry Lesters showed up at ringside. Tommy Hamm and Jane East at Billingsely's. Rudy Vallee and Mary Ann Nyberg at Biltmore Bowl. Dick Haymes and his wife, Jimmy Grier and ditto dancing to Woody Herman's music at Casino Gardens. Frank Parker and Kitty Kallen a new twosome. Irene Dunne will vacation for couple of weeks in August at the Santa Barbara Biltmore . . . Jane Adams, Universal starlet, got a surprise call yesterday from her husband, Lieut. Tom Turnage, stationed in Tokyo . . . Bing Crosby was a bad boy again yesterday. Practicing golf shots on the studio lawn, he hit a high one, which bounced from the fourth story of the directors' building and dropped onto the hood of a new town car. The car had been delivered to Bob Hope less than an hour earlier.—D.D.T.

HERMAN ROBBINS IS ELECTED TO MPA BOARD

New York, July 25. — At board meeting of Motion Picture Association today Herman Robbins, prexy of National Screen Service, was elected to membership. Board also heard a progress report on various research projects instituted by Eric Johnston. A questionnaire on foreign theatre survey has been okayed by reps of each international company and it is expected the quiz forms will be mailed across the world within two weeks.

It is reported that W. B. England, acting chairman of advisory committee on research, and Robert W. Chambers, director of research, were designated to obtain vital statistics on all theatres outside the U.S., with each company responsible for collecting data from segment of the globe assigned to it.

NEW GREEK FILM REGULATIONS HIKE IMPORT CEILINGS

Washington, July 25. — New Greek regulations for the import of films, received by the State Department today, usher in a new era of increased free competition in that country. George Canty, motion picture specialist for the State Department, described it an indication "of the healthy way the Greek Government is doing business."

The regulations are for the fiscal year ending May 31, 1947, and are a decided improvement over the old controls.

The market is made free of all import licenses. Films imported into Greece fall into two categories: (1) Pictures sent in on a consignment basis to the producers' own branches there or to their agents: and (2) pictures sold against a minimum guarantee.

IMPORT CEILING UPPED

For the first classification, there will be no ceiling on the number imported, as contrasted with a limit of 180 for all foreign films for the previous year. Films in the second group are limited to 80 for all foreign films as against 60 last year.

Since the majority of all pix screened in Greece are Hollywood product, the gain is mostly ours.

Another feature of the regulations benefits the newsreel companies. It permits the import of reels and shorts without limit and ups to $400 the maximum allowable royalty per subject. The old ceiling was $150. This figure is exclusive of the cost of prints, sales material and shipping costs, and appears an obvious step to encourage distribution of shorts and newsreels.

BANKING ANGLE SNAG

The new benefits are accompanied by certain qualifications. Distributors of the imported pix must deposit at the Bank of Greece their share of box office receipts for Athens within three weeks, and their share of income in the provinces within four weeks. This is described as necessary to hold down inflation and is not objected to by the State Department.

Importers of films on a royalty basis must deposit the minimum guarantees with the Bank of Greece at the time of first release to protect the producers and eliminate cheating.

20th Hands Ratoff Raise and Ticket

Gregory Ratoff has been signed to a new producer-director term contract by 20th-Fox at an upped figure. Ratoff is currently working on preparation of two productions. He will direct "Christmas in Havana" which is based on an original idea by William Bacher and himself, and "Falling Star."

MPA POSTPONES ACTION ON HUGHES

New York, July 25.—Motion Picture Association board today deferred action on Howard Hughes until the producer has sufficiently recovered to appear before it if he so desires. Contemplated action by MPA is to expel Hughes and withdraw the production seal from "The Outlaw" because of producer's refusal to comply with Johnston office advertising standards.

Starr Sale!

Columbia Pictures yesterday announced purchase of screen rights to "The Corpse Came C.O.D," whodunit by Jimmy Starr, Herald-Express' Hollywood columnist. Sam Bischoff will produce the picture, in which George Brent will be starred. Negotiations have been opened to get Veronica Lake to share the marquee with Brent.

LOCAL 47 DROPS TRANS U.S. AIRLANE WAGE DEMANDS

Attempt of Local 47 to hike musician wages on transcontinental commercial programs before expiration of existing contract has been dropped. Network objection and unsettled union conditions fostered by international's own anticipated demands in January, 1947, have put quietus on what was to be a long shot try at forcing nets to pressure agencies into extra coin while union was still legally bound by ticket that expires Jan. 31, 1947.

Matter of short term raise was forwarded to American Association of Advertising Agencies last month, but on reaching discussion stage here between net execs and union reps, it was abandoned. Cleffers working commercial will now wait until scheduled time when, it is expected, James C. Petrillo, American Federation of Musicians prexy, will make demands for substantial increases for all radio, recording and transcription work. Latter two will probably be hit by October.

On top of nets turning cold shoulder, local here received word from Petrillo that new commitments of any type be avoided where possible. Particularly, locals are not to enter into agreements—in writing or verbal—that extend beyond Jan. 31, 1947. That there is a definite raise in the offing is recognized by all but local here indicated demands might be lighter at conclusion of existing contract if nets came through now.

Jeritza Sued For $75,000 By Agent

New York, July 25.—Maria Jeritza, onetime Viennese Metopera star and widow of Winfield Sheehan, was sued today in NY Supreme Court by John T. Adams, artists' rep, for $75,000 damages. Plaintiff charges that Mme. Jeritza repudiated a contract he had with her to manage a return to concert stage.

RKO Rolls 'Trail Street'

"Trail Street," RKO's outdoor drama starring Randolph Scott, Robert Ryan, Anne Jeffreys, George "Gabby" Hayes and Madge Meredith, goes into production today with Ray Enright directing. Supporting cast includes Steve Brodie, Billy House, Virginia Sale, Harry Harvey, Sarah Padden, Harry Woods, Jason Robards, Lee Fredericks, Phil Warren, Ernie Adams, Guy Beach, Glen Walters and Eleanor Warren.

Damrosch Plays Self

Walter Damrosch, now 87, was signed yesterday by Boris Morros and William Le Baron to play himself in "Carnegie Hall."

Editor of the Amarillo (Tex.) aily News took a particular shine to eredith Willson, neither of whom nows the other, and he batted out he following lead editorial:

"If we were a sponsor looking for radio network show (which is a fine ay for a newspaperman to be talk- ng) we'd consider this fellow Mere- dith Willson. He's a band leader who has directed the music for the Maxwell House program for years. His comedy consists chiefly of in- roducing musical numbers. He peaks in a flat, matter-of-fact voice macking of his native state of Iowa. He sounds a bit like Bob Burns but without the hayseed. He has a natural and sometimes subtle sense of humor. The main thing is he is not an old vaudeville or musical comedy actor who depends on screwball gagwriters and hysterical studio audiences hopped up before the broadcast by a stable full of stooges. In fact, sometimes his own studio audience misses the point entirely. Willson is a good band leader. But he has a fresh sort of humor that radio needs. Band leaders are dime a dozen. We'd rather hear Willson explaining in great detail why everybody mispronounces the name 'Capri' and why it doesn't make any difference."

Mr. Willson, we have learned, is available for his own fall show. Any takers?

Chain breaks . . . While reports are making the rounds that a Bing Crosby deal will be closed within 24 hours, it's anyone's guess which way The Groaner will jump. General Motors deal is said to still be very much alive but that hasn't prevented Philco from moving in for a kill. Texaco has pulled out in favor of negotiating for Tony Martin and Frances Langford. There's also evidence that the whole thing has been thrown wide open again, with Everett Crosby talking to other agency heads . . . Heat wave holds no terror for Frank Ferrin's "Phone Again Finnegan." On the upbeat for 2.2, the Stu Erwin comedy piece posted 6.4, second highest in the Thursday list. Topper is "Suspense" with 7.7, up .7. Other ratings include Dick Haymes at 4.4, up .1; Meredith Willson 4.5, up .4; Kraft 5.7, up .3 . . . Stuart Siebert of the Chicago Thompson press bureau around.

By RADIE HARRIS

Louis Calhern, who expects to be on the road for ten months with "The Magnificent Yankee," says that the only way he can face the dull monotony of the same hotel rooms in every city that eventually look alike, is by writing a book of his memoirs. He's already tagged it "Some of This Is True" because as he confesses, "I'm protecting myself in advance, since most of it will be filled with unrestricted flights of my imagination!" Well, if Lou writes half as amusingly as he talks, I herewith predict that his first lit'ry effort will be less pure and more Chase-d than his former wife's first name, Ilka . . . Jan Clayton is at the Cedars of Lebanon for another check-up, and may have to undergo surgery again . . . Jed Harris, bunking in with Walter Huston at the Bev-Hills, is here for the sole purpose of John Hancocking Raymond Massey for the star role in "Command," an all male drama by William Wister Haines. Massey is tres interested, providing he can get a vacation first after winding up "The Secret" (Warners). Says it's the best war play he's read since "Spread Eagle" . . . Quite a few invites to that dinner party for Cecil Beaton were turned down—for obvious reasons . . . Bette Davis, inconsolable over the loss of her pet Scottie, had his ashes flown to her New Hampshire farm, "Butternut" . . . Louella Parsons, slimmed down to 120 lbs., made her first public appearance at Maggie Ettinger's small cocktail soiree yesterday, and confessed that although she still has a month's recuperative period, she's gnawing at her pencil stubs, rarin' to get started again . . . The Paramount punsters are still having a waggish time of it suggesting new titles for "The Big Haircut." Latest to turn up are "My Grain Headache" and "Revenge Is Wheat."

BULLETIN BOARD: Real reason behind the surprise announcement that Linda Darnell would play "Amber" when Gene Tierney was set for it ever since the Cummins switch, is because Gene bowed out—and not because of medico's orders, as rumored—but "on account of" a tiff with the front office over a salary tilt. Seems that come art or income tax, this is a commercial age we live in!

If Olivia de Havilland greets you these days with a Scotch accent and a pair of busy knitting needles, don't be too surprised. She's just practicing for her role of "Maggie Shand" in "What Every Woman Knows," which she'll debut at Westport, Aug. 25. She's trying to persuade her ex-brother-in-law, Brian Aherne, to go east with her and re-create the same role he played opposite Helen Hayes in the Metro screen version, but Brian isn't too keen about boning up again on that long part for only one week's engagement. Gertie Lawrence is also purs-wooing Brian to tour with her as "Professor Higgins" in "Pygmalion" on her cross-country trek this season, but Brian, who has had enough of traveling since his USOverseas tour, prefers to wallow in the luxury of his new found domestic happiness on Kings Road.

Just before Ed Lasker pulled out for NY, Bob Taplinger happened to mention that Cliff Henderson's Brentwood estate was for sale, so on the way to the airport, he stopped off to give it a quick o.o. and bought it pronto at a plenty fancy figure, with an option on the guest house. Now Bob is wondering whether he ought to go into the real estate business too!

After watching Joan Fontaine repeat a scene over and over again with Sahara, the black French poodle around whom the story, "The Emperor Waltz" (Par) revolves, I can appreciate her remark to me later, "In this picture, the stars are the dogs and vice versa!"

MAKE MINE ADLER MUSIC: The Abe Lastfogels hosted Gracie Fields and Monte Banks—the Armand Deutschs had a ringside for Howard Lindsay, Dorothy Stickney, Cynthia Gleason, Harry Kurnitz, Paula Lawrence, Charlie Lederer and Eileen Adler (who graciously didn't cramp her husband's act by a conflicting "production") — Bart Marshall table-for-twoed with Boots Mallory—Henry Wilson didn't emulate his boss but let the photogs close-up him and Diana Lynn—Howard Worden, John Bates and Jean Harrington represented Radio Row—in the turn-out crowd to welcome Larry Adler back to Ciro's. Larry, resplendent in white tie and tails, evoked the remark from Lastfogel that it was quite wonderful to represent a client with such a full dress suit!

Larry is only skedded for a two-week engagement, with Hover flirting with Charles Trenet as the next star attraction, but as far as the paying customers opening nite were concerned, he can stay on indefinitely. He played "Rhapsody in Blue" as he had played it for 40,000 G.I.'s in Nurenburg—dueted "Stardust" and "Summer Time" with Leonard Sues, and encored more than the half a dozen numbers he had spontaneously prepared. Even Senator Claghorn was happy, because Adler, spotting him with the Paul Stewarts, tactfully omitted "Dixie" from his repertoire!

SCOOPING AROUND: Sidney Skolsky is compiling the best yarns about Al Jolson as told by his intimates in show biz as an added highlight to his Jolson biog, coming soon to your favorite theatre . . . Tony and Sally de Marco Chief back to NY to holiday at their favorite Montauk Point before re-opening at the Persian Room, Sept. 26, with Tony keeping his promise to Joel Herron by having his orchestra accompany him in their Hotel Plaza debut . . . Billy Hawes, scripter on the "Truth or Consequences" etherizer, returns to his alma mater, Skowhegan, next week, to reunion with Mel Burke, Grant Mills, Bea Drew Deveraux and his old cronies . . . Greer Garson and Richard Ney celebrated their third anniversary this week, thereby confusing the cynics who predicted it would never last. Incidentally, when some inquiring reporter asked Richard how Greer liked him without a mustache (which he was forced to shave because Harvard sophomores aren't supposed to have mustaches—at least not George Apley's son) he retorted, "I flatter myself that Greer likes me either way." Would that all husbands were as confident of their wives!

top legal advisor, went to the Coast to look into the progress being made by the regular Revenue investigators in Los Angeles.

Revenue officials were mum today on who will be notified next. The general procedure is to bill a man for alleged delinquent taxes and not to publicize the matter further if the taxes are paid.

Because of the large amounts involved here, however, affecting producers, directors, and stars, it is expected that many of the cases will reach the newspaper headlines even before they go to court for tests.

Local 767 Yanks Plantation Band

Negro Musicians' Local 767 has ordered Jay McShan's band out of Plantation, one of town's largest black-and-tanneries, and blacklisted spot, which is operated by Joe Morris. McShan notified union execs that Plantation owed his 14-piece ork total of $812 in back salaries and refused to pay off. When local's agents failed to collect, musicians were called out. Nitery went under similar ban last year.

'Night and Day' Preem A Sellout

With local premiere of "Night and Day" at Warners' Hollywood theatre still a week off, house last night reported that entire capacity, 3,000 seats, is sold out for the Aug. 1 showing. Cole Porter will be guest at preem, for which bleacher seats will be erected on Hollywood Blvd. and affair otherwise frothed up.

New Nite Spot

Glenn Billingsley will open his new night club, located above his present restaurant on Sunset boulevard, the first week in September. Now being decorated in a French motif, the spot will aim to be a showcase for young screen and radio talent.

SHELVEY DUE HERE FOR SHOWDOWN IN NIGHTERY CASE

Matt Shelvey, national director of American Guild of Variety Artists, is due here from NY headquarters within a week for a showdown on the Mexican-standoff situation now existing between vast majority of local niteries and the union. It is known now that AGVA has withdrawn its original demand that henceforth clubs limit work weeks for performers to six days, albeit ukase that spots post cash-bonds covering two-weeks salaries for floorshows still stands.

As noted earlier this week in Daily Variety, the union withdrew its ultimatum that all niteries hereabouts meet AGVA demands or suffer penalty of having shows ordered out. That modification was obtained from Shelvey by local attorney Max Sisenwein, who flew to NY last weekend and obtained concession from union chieftain. What has been declared is merely an armistice until Shelvey arrives on the scene and personally negotiates with club operators. Sisenwein, the legal rep of Florentine Gardens, also spoke for nine other top-flight spots: Ciro's, Trocadero, Bar of Music, Charley Foy's, Tom Breneman's, Slapsy Maxie's, Band Box, Earl Carroll's and Larry Potter's, at his sit-in with Shelvey.

One concession the AGVA boss is known to have received from Sisenwein is agreement that niteries will not group together in an embattled, united front and seek collective bargaining on new contracts, but will session with Shelvey singly. To date, about 12 spots here already have posted bonds with AGVA; all are of the small-nut floorshow type. Meanwhile the union's bond-seeking campaign continues in San Francisco at pace much more rapid than here. Within past six days, more than a dozen spots have posted an aggregate of $27,000 to cover their floorshow salaries.

MPEA Biggies to Holland on Monopoly Biz as Kahn Quits

New York, July 25.—Henry W. Kahn today resigned as manager in the Netherlands for the Motion Picture Export Association. He will continue to be available to Motion Picture Association in an advisory capacity on film subjects touching on the Netherlands, but plans to join a major picture firm within a month. No successor has been tabbed for spot he has vacated.

Since returning from Amsterdam early in June, Kahn has been huddling at MPEA and indicative of how far from settled is the situation there is fact that Francis S. Harmon, MPEA veepee, and Gerald Mayer, associate manager of Motion Picture Association's international department, fly to Amsterdam tomorrow, where they are slated to hold discussions anent showing U.S. product to the Dutch.

U.S. producers have been fighting the Netherlands film monopoly, and in instructing Harmon and Mayer, Eric Johnston, MPA prexy, explained that the American film industry wants to release in Holland wherever appropriate and equitable basis for full-scale resumption of operations can be achieved. Johnston further expressed the hope that the two emissaries will be able to present a practical solution to the Export Association upon their return.

Before returning to this country Harmon and Mayer also will check into Germany and Austria to attempt to work out agreement with military-occupation authorities on distribution of films in American zones.

U-INT MERGING REPORTED

the two companies are in the process of combining.

News of the pending merger followed the action of Universal in abandoning production of "B's" and serials and releasing four executive and five associate producers. Rumors of some such combine has been current since the J. Arthur Rank-Universal-International interests hooked up in the United World releasing organization.

United World, it is understood, is now to be eliminated entirely, with the new organization formed by the merger handling both foreign and domestic release. There is also the possibility that Eagle-Lion, recently organized Rank affiliate here, will be included in the releasing hook-up.

Indications are that Eagle-Lion and PRC will supply the low bracket product that Universal has quit making. PRC recently announced intention of producing serials and may arrange for release of that product through the new company.

Executive producers bowing out of Universal include Marshall Grant, Ben Pivar, Morgan B. Cox and Howard Welsch. Associates are Charles Schneer, Charles F. Hass, Stanley Rubin, Leon Barsha and Joseph O'Donnell. Several writers, most of whom were on Cox's serial staff, have also checked off the lot.

Barnet Disbanding Ork Before 'Dorseys'

Charlie Barnet has notified local Music Corp. of America bandbookers that he will disband his ork prior to flying here for lensing in Charles Rogers' production, "The Fabulous Dorseys." Batoneer will make last ballroom stand at Asbury Park, N.J., on Aug. 9 and proceed directly here. Until now MCA squigglers had proceeded on assumption Barnet would be available for Coast bookings, and band had been penciled in for dates hereabouts, including autumn fortnight at Casino Gardens. It is understood at agency here that following film chore and a rest-up, Barnet will re-form musicrew in east.

RADIO NEWS MEN GROUP TO FIGHT FREEZE BY DAILIES

Radio newsmen's association is in process of formation. Reps of southern California stations met yesterday afternoon at KMPC to lay ground work of organization that will foster unearthing of news sources and channels, develop greater coverage of local news by stations, and improve standards of handling radio news. Combatting of newspaper freezeout is planned also.

Outfit will engage in no union activities but will devote itself to purposes outlined. Objective committee and membership committee were named, former headed by Chet Huntley, of Columbia Broadcasting System, and latter by Fred Henry, of KLAC. Stations in area were placed in three classifications of network, and indies with and without regular news rooms. Second meeting will be held at same place on August 8 when committees make reports.

TERPALACES PILE UP PROFITS, GET OUT OF RED

After several months' dreary pace, local ballroom business has upsurged, in the main, and the larger spots are again inking their ledgers in black. The terpalaces are piling up profits despite the fact the top spots are paying out more coin to their attractions than customarily. As a matter of fact it is doubtful if current aggregate salaries being paid the bands ever have been equaled here.

Stan Kenton, now in third and next-to-final stanza at Meadowbrook, is establishing records for the Culver City capery. Booked in at $4,000 guarantee per week, against 70 per cent of the gross, Kenton last week walked out with $8,240 for his end, which attests to kind of business he has been doing.

CLEANUP A SURPRISE

The Kenton cleanup has come as a surprise to trade wiseacres who several months back were predicting he would get badly mashed in a squeeze-play when opposing Woody Herman and Les Brown.

Casino Gardens is doing its best biz of the year with Herman, who is in at $7,000 guarantee against 55 per cent of the gate. On the strength of crew's opening on Tuesday and pace of wicket-spinning to date, the Herd is certain to nab at least $10,500 for its end during first week. Les Brown, on the Palladium deck at straight $5,000 per, is pumping more life into heart-of-Hollywood site than it has had in months.

STOMP SET AWAKES

Jan Savitt, getting $3,000 at the downtown Avodon, barely is holding own and spot, which labors under heavy nut, definitely has been staggered by the formidable opposition arrayed against it. That dancery gets crowds at all, in view of rivals' attractions, proves the stomping set has been reawakened. Lawrence Welk, after these many months at the Aragon, continues to beckon steady profits; fact the ork nicks the ocean-front spot but $2,500 per helps swell the net. The Trianon is only toddling along, apparently content to merely tread water until the high-voltage Lionel Hampton re-bops into the place on Sept. 3. But the Horace Heidt-owned site hasn't too great a strain on it since the Jimmy James' band reportedly is taking but $1,750 weekly.

Hepburn Re-Signed, To Star in 'Song of Love'

Katharine Hepburn yesterday was signed by Metro to a new term ticket and handed starring role in "Song of Love." Clarence Brown will produce.

Par Grabs Lemon

Paramount yesterday swallowed portion of Lemon Grove Ave. which extends into studio property and is entirely surrounded by it, with the city's permission. City Council okayed acquisition, with no strings attached, of Lemon Grove avenue between Van Ness avenue and its western terminus.

fledged locals and a movement to organize theatre managers directly by American Federation of Labor instead of by IA.

Executive board had recommended to convention that negro groups be given direct representation at convention—meaning that they be allowed to vote—and that all their disputes should go direct to general council instead of being worked out among themselves.

TWO VOTES NEEDED

Recommendation was brought up for approval as part of general council report. There was no discussion and Walsh asked for a voice vote. The "no's" definitely predominated. Walsh, however, wouldn't accept it, declaring, "The chair is not satisfied with the vote, I will ask for a hand vote. All those in favor raise their hands."

Asked to show their faces, the majority vote was a complete reversal. the ayes had it, and the negroes were in.

As for theatre managers, George Dunn, president of the Motion Picture Operating Managers and Assistant Managers Guild of N.Y., presented a statement to the executive board to the effect that it's against the constitution of IA to admit anyone who is in an executive capacity or who has the right to hire and fire.

Dietrich Gets Okay To Finish Paris Pic

Marlene Dietrich yesterday cabled for and received permission from Paramount to extend her stay in Paris to finish work in film with Jean Gabin. Star was scheduled to plane for Hollywood today but pic was not completed in time. Producer Harry Tugend will start "Golden Earrings" on schedule Monday without the star, shooting scenes in which she does not appear.

Film Flacks Will Vote in September

New officers of Screen Publicists Guild will be elected at the September general membership meeting, according to program laid out by SPG since being voted exclusive bargaining agent for screen flacks. A nominating committee will be selected at executive board meeting in August and nominations made at the August membership meeting.

Gaumont Sues WB Again on 'Sing It'

New York, July 25.—Irving Gaumont today filed another suit in Federal Court charging Warner Bros. with alleged infringement on his story, "You've Got to Sing It," in the film "My Love Came Back" Gaumont states he submitted story to studio, had it rejected, but charges plot was used in picture.

Hearne to Quit FCC

John P. Hearne, regional attorney for Federal Communications Commission, headquartering in San Francisco, will resign shortly to enter private practice. Reginald Denny yesterday was signed for a role in "My Favorite Brunette." He will portray a geologist who is murdered by a gang of foreign agents.

FCC WILL TAKE TESTIMONY AT HUGHES BEDSIDE

Raymond Wakefield, Federal Communications Commissioner, leaves for San Francisco over weekend. He will vacation at his permanent home in Fresno until Aug. 7 when he holds hearing on movement of KTKC from Visalia to Fresno. On Aug. 8 he holds hearing on same matter in Visalia, taking depositions of citizenry there.

He'll return to Hollywood to hear testimony of Howard Hughes, probably at hospital bedside, Aug. 9, and then return north for FM hearings in San Francisco, starting Aug. 12. Likely that he'll spend week on latter, listening to pleas of nine applicants for eight available channels. He returns to Washington, D.C. at conclusion of hearings.

Retroactive Pay Snags Majors' Offer to SEG

Screen Extras Guild announced last night it had received a contract offer from major producers including wage increases and improved working conditions. SEG board voted to make a counter offer accepting all provisions except retroactive pay. Producers offer retroactive pay to Jan. 1, 1946.

HUGE FILM PROFIT SEEN

DOUBLE 45 EARNINGS FORECAST

New York, July 23.—Profits more than double last year's peak business is forecast for most major film companies in 1946 in Standard and Poor's latest film industry survey. Zooming profits will result in a hike in dividend payments.

Analysis of the current scene lists the dip in Federal taxes; burgeoning foreign business; continued high-level consumer income; and public willingness to spend for entertainment as supporting phenomenal profits.

Theatre attendance will at least equal the 100,000,000 figure of 1945, the report says. The minor, scattered increases in admission scales in the large metropolitan houses are not likely to spread because audience discrimination is now greater and bad pictures would be hurt by a price boost. Foreign take, due for a gradual increase, will probably offset any domestic drop, the report says.

Sizing up speculative attraction of the majors, the survey estimates Paramount, 20th-Fox and Warners as best of the current stock buys, with Loew's fourth.

Eric Johnston, at a meeting with the Veterans' Committee of the Screen Writers' Guild, on June 22, 1946, stated that in his opinion the industry had a "moral obligation" to offer an opportunity to reestablish themselves to qualified returning veteran-screen writers.

Today, there are still 18 such returned veteran qualified screen writers, who have not been given that opportunity. And there are still more coming back. What about it?

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

HERE on his annual vacation Tommy Rockwell, prexy of General Artists Corp., also has been doing considerable romancing of Maury Cohen, operator of Palladium, with high hopes of inducing terpalace potentate to buy fewer Music Corp. of America musicrews and more GAC attractions. Although Cohen doesn't seem to have been precisely chummy with MCA of late, his ballroom has been almost monopolized by MCA orks. Rockwell is pointing up his sales chatter with an eloquent forefinger extended in the direction of Meadowbroow, where one of his crews, Stan Kenton, is snapping site's past records. Kenton played Palladium last winter, closing out satisfactory stand on Dec. 23, but Cohen wouldn't give band a percentage deal (as does Meadowbrook) so Kenton chose latter for his summer spotting. The grip MCA has had on Palladium is indicated by fact only two GAC orks have or will play spot during 1946. Tex Beneke goes in for five weeks, starting Sept. 3, and Jerry Wald will span the Oct. 8-Nov. 17 stretch. Only other crew repped by another agency set for the Cohen capery is Charlie Spivak band, which William Morris agency has angled into hoofing-hall for six stanzas starting Dec. 26.

THURSDAY will be a big night for Jack L. Warner, with a triple feature programming job on his hands. ''Night and Day'' preems at Warner Bros. Hollywood, which demands his presence, but there's a big plus. He's topkick of Lt. Gen. Jimmy Dolittle's Air Forces Association, which calls for him to do a hitch with Dolittle and the present AAF chief, General Tooey Spatz, on a 30-minute Mutual coast-to-coaster. Later in the evening, he will introduce Lt. Gen. George Stratemeyer, the featured speaker, for the chamber of commerce's party observing ''Air Force Day'' at the Hollywood Roosevelt. When Warner dashes from the preem to the Roosevelt, he will be accompanied by Bob Hope, Edgar Bergen and Sgt. Charles McCarthy, AAF retired, Red Skelton, Janis Paige and the Warner Bros. orchestra, all participants in the Air Force show.

BUREAU of Internal Revenue ruling on capital gains setups is not expected to halt onrushing growth of independent production units or new film companies. What its effect will be on major studios offering stars, producers and directors participation deals is currently a matter of conjecture. The majors, in recent months, have been handing out participation deals in order to keep top talent in all departments from swinging over to the loner setups. In some quarters it was reported that the majors as far back as 1943 had asked federal officials to look into capital gains formats of smaller indies, while the bigger studios were subject to straight corporate taxation. It was reported that at that time a rep of the major producers was sent to Washington to lay the matter before the proper government authorities.

JUGOSLAVIA can't contribute anything to the Warner Bros. 20th Anniversary of Talkies lore, according to a letter received by Jack Warner from Richard Richter, the WB manager in Zagreb. Gestapo, he says, put the grab on everything containing English words and American way of life, and all accounts, ledger entries, and records of the office in Zagreb went into bonfires in 1941 after the Balkans fell into the hands of the German invaders. in that way, the inroads and impact made by first talkies there has been lost in the same way the works of great writers with whom the Nazis disagreed, which puts it in distinguished and martyred company.

GENE Howard, Stan Kenton ork vocalist, was notified over weekend by batoneer that an order has come down from upper-level execs of Capitol Records that he no longer is to chirp on platters cut by band. Both Kenton and Howard are mystified by the ukase. The waxery wants, hereafter, all Kenton cuttings to be either straight instrumentals or graced by chantings of June Christy, regular band thrush. Capitol is known to have two unreleased sides whereon Howard sings afront Kenton crew, and presumably these will be scrapped.

KEIGHLEY AAF PIC SERVICES CITED

Washington, July 28.—Legion of Merit has been awarded to Col. William J. Keighley. Award is for his services as chief of headquarters of AAF Motion Picture Services. Citation said:

''He was largely responsible for formation of the entire AAF motion picture organization including combat camera units and by means of his briefing films of targets, target areas and routes made a substantial contribution to the success of very heavy bombardment operations in the Pacific.''

INJUNCTION SAVES 'OUTLAW' PIER RUN

Vice Chancellor Malcolm Woodruff in Camden. It was served on William S. Cuthbert, director of public safety here, City Solicitor Leon Leonard, and Police Chief Harry Saunders. All had threatened Hamid with arrest if film opened as advertised.

So large were the crowds awaiting to see the picture when it opened this afternoon that Hamid featured it at both of the large film houses on the pier. Jane Russell, star of film, is making a personal appearance on the pier.

COSMO RECORDS BUYS NATIONAL

Cosmo Records over weekend made outright buy of National Records, using as purchase coin the funds received from last month's flotation of stock. The National label will be continued by Cosmo. The acquired outfit was a NY indie outfit which primarily produced race and oatune records, with Billy Eckstine ork being its top seller. Cosmo was bidding for ARA label, which openly is on the block, but it is understood that interest was lost when Mark Leff, ARA prez-owner, spurned Cosmo's top bid.

Radical New Plan for Writers Up for Vote

Plan for an American Authors Authority for all writers will be up for endorsement tonight at general membership meeting of the Screen Writers Guild. Plan, drafted by James M. Cain from suggestions by SWG members, would ban outright sale of all material and control copyrights for writers similar to functions of American Society of Composers, Authors & Publishers for song cleffers.

Guild members have been urged to have suggestions ready for yea or nay on endorsement of plan by the membership as a whole. Proposed AAA would be set up by a director from each of the four guilds, Screen Writers, Dramatists, Authors and Radio Writers. These directors, in turn, would elect a president, who would also be a director and chairman of the board.

LOBBIES PLANNED

Attorneys, field representatives, lobbyists and custodians of records would be appointed by the prexy. Offices would be maintained in New York, Chicago, Washington and Los Angeles and close contact with Sacramento, Springfield and Albany would be established to lobby against legislation adverse to writers.

Authority's aims would be:

1—Copyrighting in its own name for benefit of members all material, whether for stage, screen, book, magazine or radio, exceed material produced on salary and not subject to copyright.

2—Keep accurate records of copyrights and transactions for members.

3—Clear all deals and advise members on contracts' legal questions, etc.

4—Lease, but never sell, rights under the copyright.

5—Prosecute the writer's case in court in its capacity as copyright owner.

6—Furnish competent field representatives capable of dealing with publishers, studios, etc., in all cases where a writer's rights have been infringed.

NEW COPYRIGHT LAW

7—Prepare a new copyright law and use every means to get it passed.

8—Maintain aggressive, adequately financed lobby in Washington and other places where necessary to protect writers' interests on all matters.

9—Fight on all fronts to promote the members' rights.

Authority would be financed by a service charge, probably one per cent, levied on all corporations doing business with AAA. Eventually a percentage, to be levied against audited gross of every magazine, book publishers, reprint publishers, every radio station and every picture company, would be pooled into an American Authors' Fund and either divided among members or used for an actuarial plan for members' future security.

TIGHTLY CLOSED

Authority will make no attempt to supersede the four guilds or writers' agents. To insure its power, plan is in the making whereby members would refuse to work on any material except that whose copyright is owned by the AAA.

Writers have been fighting for some time to halt outright sale of their material and gain revenue from reissues of films and other works as well as remakes of picture material.

'Oklahoma' Leaves Town With $444,000 in the Bag

"Oklahoma" pulled out of Los Angeles Saturday night after 12 weeks of playing time with a gross of $444,000. Theatre Guild's all-time musical hit took in $32,000 apiece on the first two Guild subscription weeks then skyrocketed to $38,000 for the remaining 10 stanzas. Practically half a million dollars in gross for the stand could have been doubled, theatre management estimated, if the show could have stayed on. Belief is that "Oklahoma" could have pulled in the same amount of money for another three months or even longer, if the booking could have been extended.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The Paris peace conference, since it's merely one in which the Big Four give the small seventeen the chance to express themselves, will not settle anything. But it will be another occasion when the basic contending forces are Soviet Communist-imperialism and the United States as the belated champion of the peoples in the name of the Atlantic and the United Nations charters. That's why we threw down the gauntlet in that statement on the situation in Hungary the day before Byrnes left for Paris. Without mincing words we accused Russia, by taking more than half of the grain in 1945, half the meats, 80 to 90 per cent of the heavy production, etc., of having caused the economic distress there. Such chaos plays into Communist hands, but even a Red, when caught red-handed, cannot admit of any but the most noble intentions and most righteous acts. Our strength is in our principles; our weakness has been in "passing by on the other side."

UTAH SPENDS 32G TO LURE H'WOOD LOCATION COS.

In a bid for publicity via films, the State of Utah in the past year has spent a total of $32,809 in connection with filming activities in the state, it was disclosed over the weekend.

Of this amount, according to statement from David Mann, state director of publicity, $26,000 was spent for roads to facilitate location operations in Utah of Hollywood film companies. Two of these roads, while a part of the general state development plan, were constructed in Zion National Park for the filming of Harry "Pop" Sherman's "Ramrod" for Enterprise.

More than $6500 has been spent from state funds in connection with shooting of newsreels and shorts in Utah.

State publicity department believes cash used to promote use of Utah's scenic areas in films gets top value in worldwide publicity.

Hart, Jr., Has Dad's Brain Autopsied

Fact that an autopsy of brain of the late William S. Hart had been performed only two days ago was disclosed over the weekend. Will of the late "two-gun" man was admitted to probate last Friday. According to Joseph Spray, attorney for the estate, the autopsy was performed at the request of William S. Hart, Jr., who was cut off without a penny in the actor's will.

Bill of Rights assuring vets year's re-employment in pre-service jobs.

STUDEBAKER TRIES NEW FORMAT FOR REGIONAL AIRER

An incongruous mixture of music and dramatics has been whipped up for Studebaker's half hour show along a Columbia hook-up of 16 western stations by Roache, Williams and Cleary. That something new is being tried is at once evident, both musically and in the dramatic segment. Comes off as just another experiment in radio format and not particularly notable.

After Jimmy Cash and June Hayden had rolled ditties off their larynx, the Indian sign was up for the dramatic KO of "The Bird Woman," who has a statue in Portland to commemorate the deed of daring, none too well enacted. Once out of the wilderness and with Lewis and Clark left to pound along, scene shifted back to the music of Felix Mills and the vocalizing duo. About the only device from the dramatic vignette was to tie the historical incident with the commercial, which had something to do with Studebaker's history-making something-or-other.

Musically the program also tries for innovations with one number seguing into another and only the narrative thread to hold them together and explain the quick transition. Mills used a string section with gentle, summery touch and the voices of Cash and Hayden are sufficient unto a regional display of singing talent. Tol Avery's emceeing gives promise of better things to come and Murray Wagner doled out the commercials. Caryl Colman wrote and directed.

20th Preps Film On Circuit Rider Yarns

Film based on the life of an old time circuit rider is being prepped for production by 20th-Fox with Lamar Trotti, who will produce, building a script out of two story properties—"Lone Star Preacher," purchased by the studio from the estate of the author, John W. Thomason, Jr., and "A Circuit Rider's Wife," Cora Harris autobiography. Scene of yarn is laid in Blue Ridge mountains and picture will be made largely on actual location.

THE GRAPEVINE: Treasury Department's ruling on the capital gains situation ought to clear up Metro's Mexican standoff with Clark Gable. The star's dispute with the studio never concerned stories, but was strictly a matter of money. Gable wanted the right to make one capital gains deal off the lot yearly and a profit-sharing arrangement with Metro on all his pictures. As for the stories submitted to him, Gable liked the "Lucky Baldwin" treatment but not the screenplay tailored from it; he's never read "The Hucksters" but expressed willingness to read any screen version of the novel, and he is enthusiastic over Charles Nordhoff's 78,000-word story, "Christian of the Bounty." Gable's impersonation of Fletcher Christian in "Mutiny on the Bounty" was one of the strongest in his career . . . Incidentally, now that Gable is going around with Joan Crawford, newspaper editors have been dipping into their morgues for appropriate art (morgues aren't what they sound like in newspaper usage, they're reference libraries where clips and pix are kept). One southern paper recently ran a clinch shot of the pair from "Chained," in which they co-starred 12 years ago . . . Errol Flynn's father arrived from NY yesterday to join his son on a Mexican cruise aboard the Zaca . . . Woody Herman bought the Humphrey Bogarts' Hollywood Hills house over the weekend. There was no haggling over price but considerable palaver over whether the Bogarts' washing machine would be tossed into the deal. Lauren Bacall (Mrs. B) talked Herman out of the machine and it goes with them when they decamp.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: The Gregory LaCava technique of picture-making—"throw the script away, boys, I've got a few notes jotted on a match-clip"—is back on trial. LaCava, one of the industry's more original craftsmen, is shooting "Life's for the Living" unhampered by literary material. Film has been rolling for two weeks off the cuff. LaCava and his writers make it up as they go along, and why should Metro worry? It's paid off at the boxoffice for years . . . Songwriter Don George was married in Reno last week. Today the song he authored with L. Wolfe Gilbert is released. The title: "I Could Be Wrong" . . . Tommy Dorsey has quit smoking . . . Ben Bogeaus will squire June Haver to "Night and Day" preem Thursday . . . Cruelty to animals note: Clem McCarthy, announcing the Hollywood Gold Cup race, declared that Assault came in seventh. There were only six horses in the race . . . Note to Time Magazine: If you had to lift that item printed here about Aggie Underwood slugging her city editor with a barracuda, did you have to call us a liar and make it a three-foot fish instead of a four-footer? What's a foot of fish between us scavengers? . . . Republic is spending $50,000 to transform Bill—William, that is—Elliott into a drawing room actor from a cowboy star. Maybe they forgot Elliott got his start in the old Warner Bros. stock company—in the Cagney-O'Brien-Blondell days—playing gigolos and other lilyfingered types . . . Our Cedars of Lebanon correspondent reports Mrs. Pedro Cordoba checked in for a major operation. Seymour Felix went home, Ginny Simms leaves tomorrow and Tony Martin Wednesday.

CALL SHEET: DOROTHY LAMOUR brought her six-month-old son, John Ridgely Howard for his first studio visit the other day and his mother brought him on the "My Favorite Brunette" set where she is co-starring with Bob Hope. The child began to cry but Dorothy hushed him with, "Don't cry, baby, this is a Hope picture and everybody is supposed to laugh" . . . JULES LEVEY is looking for a female Danny Kaye, a girl who can deliver everything from scat to opera in his production on the history of jazz, "New Orleans" . . . LARRY ADLER is telling one on himself sprung recently by Abe Lastfogel. Latter, agent for the harmonica player, told Adler the other day, "It's so wonderful to represent an artist with such a wonderful set of tails." Ego-buster or no, Adler wants to know if Lastfogel was kidding or playing it straight . . . JERRY HOPPER, former assistant to Charles West, head of Paramount's film editing department, has been promoted to director and given "Masque Ball," a two-reeler in Technicolor, as his first assignment . . . SHEILAH GRAHAM, NANA correspondent in Hollywood, signed a contract with Photoplay and the NY Sunday Mirror over the weekend . . . CLIFF GANS, Sol Wurtzel's story editor, tells about the girl who told a wolf: "You're making as much progress as a beaver with false teeth."

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Arnold Pressburger, who produced films in France, England and Germany in the pre-war years, climbed out on a limb and gave out with his list of the ten stars who will rate biggest at post-war European box offices. They are Hedy Lamarr, Ingrid Bergman, Dorothy McGuire, Bette Davis, Linda Darnell, James Stewart, George Sanders, Claude Rains, Humphrey Bogart and Cary Grant . . . It's prodigy night at the Million Dollar theatre tonight. Louis Prima's guest stars will be Joey Preston, the nine-year-old hot drummer, and six-year-old Sugar Chile Robinson, ebony imp of the ivories . . . OFF THE LOTS: Rudy Vallee celebrated his birthday yesterday and received a flock of congratulatory wires from Maine to California. Frank Morgan is taking another ocean voyge aboard his Dolphin II today. Bill Gargan, Bill Morrow and John Charles Thomas are at Bohemian Grove near San Francisco for the annual festivities. Catching Les Brown at the Palladium were Patricia Morison and Wynn Rocamora, the Al Sacks, Fred Brady and Sheila Ryan . . . William Boyd and his Hopalong Cassidy troupe, filming "Dangerous Venture" on Lone Pine location, did a quick fold when several head of cattle nearby were struck by lightning during one of those flash storms in the mountains . . . Monday Review of Literature: Best of the hot weather specials is H. Allen Smith's "Rhubarb," which just hit the bookstalls. It's about a cat who inherits a ball team and includes such Smithsonian characters as the Broadwayite who loves dentists and goes to them so often his fillings have fillings.—D.D.T.

STATIONS EXPECT FALL UPSURGE IN RATES AND BIZ

Increased rates and anticipated upsurge in business will feature Fall return from summer to normalcy among independent stations. That's opinion of indie broadcasters who generally plan hike in time rates, trend toward new and increased business and added hypo of State political campaign income.

Commitments for time are already coming in, some report, indicating at this point that by autumn all regulars will still be with radio, plus newcomers. In anticipation, and to offset generally increased operating costs that were aggravated by increases obtained by American Federation of Radio Artists (announcers) and International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (technicians), rates will jump from between 15 to 25 per cent over previous figures.

Some of stations are not admitting rate raises, but are referring to it as "adjustments." Nick, by any other name, will sound as bad to time buyers, however, and all are confident it's coming.

Among 12 indies KFVD and KFAC must, perforce, alter their rate cards due to recent uppings in power from 1,000 to 5,000 watts. Others, too, will be obliged for same reasons to hike their sales schedules, including KMPC, anticipating 50,000 watts over present 10,000; KWKW from 1,000 to 5,000, and possibly KXLA. Remaining seven stations are all mulling the jack jump. By mid-September the amounts should be pretty public. General standardization of rate card forms and detail is also expected, following pattern set down by National Association of Broadcasters. Changeover would automatically mean increases.

KNX Newsmen To Get Pay Boost

New contract affecting news men at Columbia Broadcasting System's KNX will be signed today or tomorrow. Ticket grants newcomers approximate 10 per cent pay hike, raising wages for seniors with one year's time with net pay hike from $62.50 to $69.25. Raise puts CBS'ers on par with other net newsrooms in town. Agreement between Don Thornburgh, CBS v-p and negotiators of Radio Writers Guild has been reached. All that remains is signing.

LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

Point of saturation has been reached in one of big time radio's prize properties and whether this glutted condition redounds to anyone's advantage can only be guessed. It has been a long time coming but arrived it has and despairing hands have been raised in the major sprocket plants. Everyone has been wanting to get into the act since Lux, Screen Guild Players and a few others hit the jackpot with picture adaptations. So now the old bandwagon is groaning under the weight of new catchers-on. Film exploitation has been successfully implemented by etherized trailers and the possibility lurks, in the face of present conditions, that the word will go out to avoid the Hollywood colossals. Just a case of too few for too many.

Walter Craig, who guides the radio destinies of Benton & Bowles, ran smack into the situation when he called on L. K. Sidney, an old friend, at Metro. In pursuit of one of the cinema blue ribbon specials for maiden air venture of American Association of Railroads, Craig was set back on his heels by what Sidney had to say. In effect, it went like this: "You fellows in radio are using up picture properties faster than we can turn them out. Where's it all going to end? We're willing to play along but you fellows are pushing us too hard."

Sidney's point was well taken and left no room for argument. Let's look over the list of shows that will draw on picture scripts next season and see for ourselves why Sidney and the other film execs are disturbed. Lux will use 44 adaptations and Screen Guild Players even more. Then will come the surging demands of Academy Award Theatre, Hollywood Star Time, Theatre of Romance, Star Spangled Theatre (Schenley), Hedda Hopper's Camay exhibit and a few others like Cavalcade of America which occasionally latches on to a picture property. Studios will command the situation and those that don't play the game their way will find the gates bolted and the supply shut off.

Chain breaks . . . "Mr. District Atorney" rests his case, and well he may, for there he sits atop the summer Hooper listing at 12.1, a fat three points ahead of the Jergens summer edition. You'll find some new ones in the First 15, a temporary condition. The field spreads out thusly: "Crime Doctor," Dr. I.Q., "Mr. and Mrs. North," "Man Called X," Kay Kyser, Hit Parade, Drew Pearson, Phil Baker, Mustery Theatre, Encore Theatre, Bob Hawk, "Dr. Christian" and "Suspense." Now for a few individual ratings: "Darts for Dough" 3.6, off 1.7; Harvest of Stars 5, up 1.3; "One Man's Family" 6.8, off .1; Summer Electric Hour 2.5, off .4; Jack Haley 6.9, off 2; "Gregory Hood" 5 (no change); "Blondie" 5.1, off .6; "Corliss Archer" 4.9, up 1.4; Frank Morgan 6, up 1.1; Ford Festival 2.7, up .1; Gene Autry 4.4, up .2; Jimmie Fidler 5.5, up .7; Louella Parsons (sub) 5.6, off 2.6; "Rogues Gallery" 6.2, up 1; Silver Theatre 4, off 1.2; Tommy Dorsey 4.1, off 1.9; "People Are Funny" 6.5, off 2; Tommy Riggs 4.1, off .5; Aldrich Family 5.7, off 4; Hollywood Star Time 3.8, up .7; Tony Martin 3.7, off .9; Hit Parade 8.7, up .3. Among the multi-weeks, Lum and Abner posted 3, up .5. High daytimer is "Portia Faces Life" at 7.1, showing the way to Tom Breneman by .3 . . . George Washington Hill is still trying to make up his mind whether to turn over Kay Kyser to Colgate permanently or recall him for Luckies at turn of the year . . . Pied Pipers will be back with Frank Sinatra in the autumn.

Perry Como's "loan-out" to Chesterfield for a run on NBC expires in December and CBS, which holds his exclusive contract, may recall him. Just now Columbia is trying to clear a half hour for the Como-Chesterfield combo and failing there may permit him a few more cycles for the ciggie packer on the competitive chain. Those who think Como reached his high estate among the crooners in jig time may be surprised to know that Mickey Rockford of MCA, then with Ted Weems, and Paul Whiteman pegged him as a comer 13 years ago. Singing with a small band in Pennsylvania for $35 a week, he refused to be tempted by an offer of $350, knowing that his loss to the band would mean its breakup. Some time later Rockford enticed him away but his progress was anything but meteoric. Now with his records among the top sellers he is one of the hottest names in the business. Perhaps his possible breakaway from Chesterfield will take some of the client pressure off Bing Crosby.

AM. B'DCASTING NIBBLE FOR ARA

ARA pop-plattery, which prexy-owner Mark Leff placed on block ten days ago, has not been sold as yet, but reliable reports indicate that American Broadcasting Company has flickered an eyelid of interest. Obviously, the network is considering purchase with idea of moving into platter as well as other opposition to CBS and NBC. Former, of course, controls Columbia Records; latter is under mantle of RCA as is NBC.

Direct confirmation that ABC covets ARA is unavailable here, due to Leff's reluctance to identify the network which he admits has nibbled. It is known, however, that the ARA prez himself broached matter to ABCers here, who immediately fed the feeler to cliff-dwellers in NY. Shelby York, ARA veepee, is in NY now carrying on the sales chatter for his chief. York also is continuing to talk with the plastic manufacturing company, located just outside NY, which five days ago made a bid as yet unaccepted for the Leff layout.

INDIES TO STICK DESPITE U.S. TAX MOVE

Harry C. Westover, Collector of Internal Revenue for Los Angeles disclosed yesterday that he will shortly start action to collect the millions of dollars the government claims in back taxes from one picture film corporations. Identity and number of independents involved was not disclosed.

Indications point to a protracted court battle with both the Internal Revenue agency and the independent producers expecting the litigation to be eventually carried to the United States Supreme Court. Experts last night indicated that it may be at least two years before a final decision may be reached.

150 INDIES SPROUT

A check several months ago by Daily Variety concerning corporate setups of the nearly 150 independent production units, which have mushroomed in past three years, revealed that practically all of them intended to "stay permanently in the business of making pictures." Among those contacted at that time were Jules Levey, Jerry Geisler, Mark Hellinger, Bruce Manning, Jack Skirball, Walter Wanger, Frank Borzage, Preston Sturges, Frank Ross, Leslie Fenton, Bo Roos, Fred MacMurray, Seymour Nebenzal and others.

It was strongly indicated, that despite the current federal income tax action, the growth of the independents will continue unabated. With the excess profits tax eliminated, the indies, operating under straight corporate taxes, currently pay in income tax little more than the 25 per cent capital gains tax take.

COMPANIES TO EXPAND

New and expanded indies like the Charles Einfeld-David Loew combo, Enterprise; Milton Sperling-Joseph Bernhard's, United States Pictures; William Goetz-Leo Spitz's, International Pictures; Walter Wanger-Fritz Lang Productions; Hal Wallis Productions; Frank Capra-William Wyler-Samuel Briskin's "Liberty Films," and others, indicated a long range policy of expansion in production and distribution.

Independent producers who indicated aim of remaining in loner ranks included Hunt Stromberg, William Cagney, Benedict Bogeaus, Edward Small, Sol Lesser, Charles R. Rogers, Andrew Stone, Seymour Nebenzal, Jules Levey, Lester Cowan, Preston Sturges, Howard Hughes, Frank Ross, Howard Hawks, Buddy Rogers-Ralph Cohn's Comet Productions; Jesse Lasky and others.

Among the many film stars who have formed single-picture companies are Bing Crosby, John Wayne, Constance Bennett, Bette Davis, Errol Flynn, Gary Cooper, Joan Bennett, Joan Fontaine, John Garfield, Paulette Goddard, Pat O'Brien, Ginger Rogers and Burgess Meredith.

Specialist Pic Firms Merge, Ink Pan-Am

New York, July 28.—Merger of two specializing film firms has been effected. Seven Seas Film Corp., and Modern Film Corp., specializing in 16m and 35m pix for steamships, airlines, railroads, have joined and signed first contract with an airline, Pan-American. George Barnett, prexy, who headed Army's overseas film service during war, is board chairman.

'Amber' Being Dolled Up With New Script for Second Bow

"Forever Amber" is not only getting new Amber in the person of Linda Darnell but new script. Script has previously been reported under revision but 20th-Fox disclosed over the weekend that Philip Dunne is "preparing the screenplay."

Extent of the work was not revealed but Dunne's script, used in shooting before the film was halted last May, has the Johnston office okay.

Virtually all 20th-Fox writers are currently on assignment, with 22 stories in various stages of scripting at the studio. Lamar Trotti, who will also produce, is finishing script on "Captain from Castile;" Talbot Jennings is conferring with Producer Louis D. Lighton on "The Black Rose;" and Jerome Cady has been assigned to script "Foxes of Harrow" for William Bacher, and Ring Lardner, Jr., is writing "The Dark Wood" for Otto Preminger.

Other writing assignments at the studio are: F. Hugh Herbert, "Scudda Hoo-Scudda Hay;" Samuel Hoffenstein and Elizabeth Reinhardt, "Honeyfogling Time;" Richard Murphy, "Boomerang;" Eugene Ling, untitled FBI story for Louis de Rochemont; Harry Kleiner, "Stranger on the Highway;" Leonard Hoffman, "The Life of Lily Langtry;" Gene Markey, "The Night the World Shook;" Marion Turk, "Missouri Waltz;" Mary McCall, "The Bandwagon;" Robert Hill, "Brooklyn Bridge;" Art Arthur and Robert Harari, "Christmas in Havana;" Si Bartlett is doing a whaling story; Dorothy Bennett, "Party Line;" Martin Berkeley, "Green Grass of Wyoming;" Valentine Davies and Ira Wolfert, "Ballad of Furnace Creek."

U.S. WILL LAUNCH SECRET DRIVE FOR MORE TAXES

paying up or filing appeals. Appeals are expected to be the rule, with the Samuel Goldwyn case as the guinea pig which probably will go up to the Supreme Court to test the legality of the Revenue ruling.

CUMULATIVE INTEREST

There is an odd gimmick in the appeals procedure. If no payment is made and if the Supreme Court rules in favor of the Revenue Bureau, the six per cent interest will be cumulative up to the time of final payment. Such cases will be appealed to the Federal District Court in LA and go up to the Appellate Courts from there.

On the other hand, if payment is made under protest to the Revenue agency, an appeal can then be started through the US tax courts. In this case, in the event the final high court ruling is in favor of the Hollywood single picture corporation boys, the Government would have to pay six per cent interest on the money turned in under protest for the full time that it was in the hands of the Government.

In the present case, if Internal Revenue should lose in the courts, it has an ace in the hole, the right to go to Congress and ask for legislation to outlaw the single picture corporations. Generally, however, such legislature would not be retroactive.

AID TO MAJORS

One angle in the single pix corporations as pointed out by picture industry people here, is that it will enable the major studios to regain control of their stars and directors again which, from the viewpoint of the studios is all to the good.

That, in turn, means that the annual lists of $75,000 a year and over people will fatten up again. Many of Hollywood's top earners have gone off the lists in the past couple of years via the single picture corporation route.

Formation of so-called "phoney" corporations for tax dodging purposes was not limited to Hollywood, according to one Justice source. Some of this bobbed up in war industries and such cases are now under investigation. And it may be added that if the final determination of the Supreme Court is that the single picture corporation practice did constitute tax evasion, Hollywood is still not in the class with some other industries in which tax schemes far more lucrative to individuals and far worse from the Government's point of view, have been developed.

Revenue people see considerable similarity between the single picture corporation and the family partnership case which the Bureau of Internal Revenue won in the Supreme Court some months back. In that case, small merchants "went into partnership" with their wives and children, although the wives and children put in neither capital nor services. The purpose was to split the income among several individuals to keep it in lower tax brackets.

While this was legal under some state laws, it was ruled illegal for Federal tax purposes.

LIKE GIMMICK IN 30's

Some comparison is also claimed to what occurred during the late 20's and early 30's when wealthy individuals set up personal holding companies under which they incorporated yachts, racing stables and palatial estate, so that they could claim business deductions for the expense of keeping up those properties. That loophole was plugged when Congress placed a very heavy tax on personal holding corporations.

Independent Artists Going Ahead

Duke and Company's first Hollywood picture production venture in Frederick Brisson's recently organized Independent Artists Inc. will not be hit by the recent Internal Revenue ruling on independent motion picture companies, Brisson announced last night.

"The company has been organized on a permanent basis with no subsidiary corporations," Brisson stated.

Brisson and Lewis J. Kurlan, vice president of Duke and Co., are huddling on capital and working plans for the company. Angier Biddle Duke is due soon to close the deal.

RADIO ARTISTS TO DEMAND NIGHTERY GABBER PAY HIKE

Effective Aug. 1, American Federation of Radio Artists will demand newly established scale rates for announcers working in ballrooms, niteries, etc., where musical remotes originate. Decision was made over weekend, union deciding to issue ukase following failure of majority of operators to show at a meeting it called Friday a.m. Ops will be notified today.

Though some 40 owners were notified of the meeting, only three responded, Aragon, Palladium and Earl Carroll's sending reps. Meeting was abandoned and union decided on arbitrary action in consequence.

Order will affect both network and indie station gabbers. Former are excepted only when working on assignment from regular employers and will be guided by new AFRA ruling when otherwise free-lancing. AFRA contract with nets here permit such assignments away from home base. Gratuities that ranged from $5 nightly to $75 weekly are out, under new AFRA rule, payment will be hiked considerably, and operators are also being asked to use AFRA members only on such chores.

Work has been broken down into two classifications, network and indie station coverage. Net scales are: One hour, one day, $11; one hour, six days weekly, $60; two hours, one day $13; three hours, $15; four hours, $17, and five hours, $18; two hours, six days, $72.50; three hours, $82.50; four hours, $93, and five hours, $103. Indie rates are: One hour, one day, $9; one hour, six days, $45; two hours, one day, $11; three hours, $12; four hours, $14, and five hours, $15; one hour, six days, $45; two hours, $60; three hours, $67.50; four hours, $75, and five hours, $82.50.

WB Home Office Workers Get Tilt

New York, July 28.—Motion Picture Home Office Employes Union, Local H-63, IATSE, and Warners have signed agreement covering about 650 employes. Deal calls for salary increase of 15 per cent, retroactive to June 1, 1946. Previous agreement is not scheduled to expire until Feb. 10, 1947.

Eagle-Lion roster of writers on contract also includes Joe Fields, Crane Wilbur, Gina Kaus, Polk Lenoir, Robert Kent, Emma Lazarus and Dorothy Yost.

HERMAN INKED BY AVODON AT 7G FLAT PER STANZA

Avodon ballroom over weekend signed Woody Herman, who is current with band at Casino Gardens, for two-week stand commencing Oct. 1 at flat $7,000 per stanza. Buy was accomplished at what is lowest figure Herman is receiving for his string of Coast dates. For present month-long booking at Casino ork is pocketing $7,000 guarantee against 55 per cent of gate; on strength of first week's business, ending last night, the Herd picked up a juicy $10,500. Casino is doing its best thus far this year.

To facilitate the Herman booking, Avodon manager Barney McDevitt secured okay from Music Corp. of America to postpone opening of Bob Crosby combo from Oct. 9, as specified in recently inked contract, until Oct. 15. The Billy Butterfield band, which precedes Herman, will thus hold for a total of seven weeks.

Meanwhile, Larry Finley, operator of Mission Beach ballroom, San Diego, conclusively refused over weekend to release Herman from contract which binds him to site for two weeks commencing Aug. 20 at a flat $7,500 per week. Casino understandably wanted to extend Herman run and Herman wanted to linger since his current percentage deal would net him far more moola than a squat at the Mission. Casino has Jimmy Dorsey set for Aug. 20 bow-in, but as both bands are handled by Music Corp. of America, arrangements could have been made to enable Herman to stretch stay for six weeks, with Dorsey following on Sept. 3. Latter wavered three weeks before deciding to play Casino, anyway, as his crew will have to double off General Service lot, where musicrew will be getting lensed for "Fabulous Dorseys" concurrent with ballroom date.

MUSIC NOTES

Matt Dennis, the songwriter, pacted for platters by Capitol as a vocalist.

Jimmy Wakely waxed four rusti-rhythms over weekend for Decca Records.

METRO PLATTERY SIGNS GAILLARD; HAGGLE ENDS

Metro's subsidiary pop-platter firm, still in process of going into production and still laboring under working label of MGM, over weekend signed Slim Gaillard to an exclusive, long-term discing pact. The sepia singer-composer thus finally becomes permanently anchored with a plattery after one of longest haggles among waxeries over a performer in years.

Last March Gaillard himself set an exclusive deal here with 4 Star Records. When William Morris agency, his handler, learned of action firm immediately asked American Federation of Musicians to snap contract on grounds agency alone was empowered to represent him. Victor Records heard of this request and notified Morris office here that if singer was sprung from pact the little-dog label would take him on. Morris agency won plea when AFM exec council heard case, so contract with Victor was drawn and sent to NY for signature of Eli Oberstein, victor veepee. With his pen literally poised over the paper, Oberstein was tipped that Gaillard had done considerable discing in February for Bel-Tone Records here and that Dick Elwell, prez of plattery, had just sold ten unreleased masters of Gaillard Trio renditions to Majestic, which planned to issue items before Victor possibly could wax singer and get him on sales stalls. Oberstein consequently refused to sign.

Frank Walker, chief of MGM label, presently here prepping entry of firm into the biscuit business, got a tip from NY on Oberstein's action and grabbed Gaillard before town was aware Victor negotiation had ceased.

WALSH ELECTED; GETS POWERS OF DICTATOR

Bennett gave Walsh a run for his money, polling 426 to Walsh's 649 votes.

Entire administration slate was swept into office, including William P. Raoul as general secretary-treasurer and nine incumbent vice presidents, who walked in with a two-to-one majority.

DICTATORIAL POWERS

Final day's business failed to develop anything of importance until the closing hours when the Hollywood strike situation was brought up. Delegates gave Walsh what amounted to dictatorial power in dealing with the matter. He was empowered to suspend provisions of the union's constitution, if necessary, in order to come to a solution of the coast jurisdictional dispute. Action followed Walsh's report on Hollywood, in which he recited his efforts to settle the jurisdictional dispute that has crippled Hollywood, at times, in the past two years.

CONDITIONAL FM GRANTEES TOLD TO GET ON AIR

Washington, July 28.—FCC gave notice here over the weekend that holders of FM conditional grants and construction permits must move quickly to get their FM transmitters on the air or risk forfeiting their grants to those who will. The Commission intimated that "considerable delays" by FM applicants and permittees would not be tolerated in the future, and that the public must receive FM service soon, even if it is necessary to use temporary or makeshift equipment.

A new FCC ruling requires holders of conditional grants to file the information necessary to enable them to receive final C.P.'s within 30 days. The old requirement was 90 days. Where applicants are "dilatory," FCC said it would review their grants to see whether they should be set down for hearing or cancelled out entirely.

FCC also warned the 180 holders of final FM permits to try and get into operation within eight months of their grants. Where applicants are unable to get delivery of complete equipment, they will be expected to use temporary FM transmitter equipment to provide service in the interim. FCC revealed it is sending a questionnaire to all these companies to discover the status of their building plans.

Lester Koenig Gets Bronze Star

Award of the Bronze Star to Lester Koenig for outstanding achievement in Europe during the war was announced over the weekend by the War Department. Koenig, a master sergeant in the Army Air Forces, was associated with Lt. Col. William Wyler in production of the documentaries "Memphis Belle" and "Thunderbolt." He is now Wyler's special assistant on Samuel Goldwyn's "The Best Years of Our Lives."

"Good Companions"...

OF DUPLICATING QUALITY

FOR duplicates which compare favorably with the original, a natural choice is Eastman Fine Grain Panchromatic Duplicating Negative Film, Type 1203, used as a companion to Eastman Fine Grain Duplicating Positive Film, Type 1365.

The low speed, extremely fine grain, and high resolving power of these two films give them important places in the family of Eastman Films, favorites of the industry for more than fifty years.

Writing Monopoly Voted by Guild

The Screen Writers Guild last night at a full membership meeting approved in principle a resolution which even its most ardent backers admitted would create a monopoly in American literature.

Voting was limited to active members of the Guild with 330 giving their okay to the proposed American Authors Authority. Seven voted against the plan. Five who were eligible declined to ballot. Approximately 600 attended the session packing one of the largest auditoriums in the Roosevelt hotel. Many were forced to sit in the aisles, on windows and on the steps.

Resolution adopted which its supporters admitted was the most radical ever taken by any talent organization was presented by Ring Lardner, Jr. It read:

"That the Screen Writers Guild endorses in principle the working out with the other Guilds of the Authors League of America a plan for the establish-

PAY HIKES BLAMED IN BIG CUT

Walt Disney Productions will lay off almost half of all employes Thursday for an indefinite period in one of the most drastic economy steps ever taken by a studio. Necessity for move was blamed by studio on increased wage demands by unions and continuing contract negotiations with the crafts, which prevents long range production planning on costs, etc.

Layoff notice, signed by John F. Reeder, vice prexy and general man-

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

THE nation's ears probably will be bombarded during coming Yule season with biggest crop of Christmas songs ever. Usually the music publishers do not start prepping new ditties until late September, but activity already hums here. Each year sees more and more tunes of the sort being released, ever since Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" scored such a smash. Just about all the 98 pubs operating offices on Coast state they are priming tinsel-tunes, whether of a Santa Claus or somewhat spiritual savour. Berlin Music Corp., of course, is expected to lead the parade with reprise of its four-year-oldie. Feist once again will concentrate on more sales of "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town," and Leeds will re-work "Xmas Candles" and Robbins "The Happiest Xmas." Among brand-new songs already getting printed are Southern Music's "Old Fashioned Xmas" and "Xmas Cavalcade;" Peer International's "Night Before Xmas;" Burke and Van Heusen's "The Xmas Song." Melrose Music will revive "I'll Be Home for Xmas." The Becker-Williamson Music Co., an oddity among pubs in that firm has but one ditty in catalog, the carol "Old Fashioned Tree," is once more bursting into its annual show of activity on behalf of its lone release.

PARAMOUNT Music's "To Each His Own," which has become a sheet and wax best-seller, is one of those surprise hits. As revealed three months ago in Daily Variety, the tune was written around the title and the ditty was fashioned purely as a publicity lever for the Paramount film of same title. Just prior to release of the pic, studio flacks figured out the angle, by no means new, and two songwriters under contract on the lot, Ray Evans and Jay Livingston, were assigned chore of churning out the piece. Platters of the ditty were sent exhibs, who were asked to angle it onto local radio stations. Meanwhile the studio's sheet-music publishing subsid went to work and immediately found it easy to get orks and record companies to give the tune a workout. Song does not appear in film, and in final analysis may well prove a bigger hit, in its metier, than the pic it was primed to plug.

NUMBER of topside British stars and directors are holding out for guarantee of comfortable place to live and a car before they'll agree to sign contract to make jaunt to Hollywood for a picture. During past week, no less than three male stars and one director have refused to affix their names to proffered tickets until Hollywood companies include accommodations and vehicular transportation, and it's understood that others are beginning to favor this clause. London newspapers are filled with stories about housing shortage here, with inability of any newcomer to get cars at any figure but outlandish price.

SOMETHING new in the way of opening tryouts for legit will be essayed Friday night, when the Theatre Production Guild gives "The Gentle Approach" its bow at Catalina. Never before has a legit troupe worked out on the island. Avalon theatre is the scene of first premiere on the island and members of cast and newspaper critics are being ferried over on the yacht Rainbow. Headed by Robert Mitchum, Jacqueleine de Wit, Isabel Jewell and Marcy McGuire, troupe leaves Newport at 11 a.m. Thursday and returns Saturday after a two-day breakin.

UNUSUAL safety record was hung up by Paramount's "The Emperor Waltz" troupe on location in Jasper National Park, Canada. In the 4000-mile round trip to the park 200 people and a fleet of 15 trucks and a dozen cars were involved. The trucks and cars were driven a total of more than 10,000 miles on the location. And there was not one major accident or illness. Nearest thing to serious accident was the fall of Roy Ambler into a deep crevice from which he was rescued unhurt.

RECOMMENDATIONS that more information regarding content of transcriptions be included in label lettering has been made by Sales Managers Executive Committee of National Association of Broadcasters. Labels should show licensee of music, whether ASCAP, BMI or others, and length of platters should be shown in second of playing time required, are suggestions.

VERNON BUYS 'VANITIES' TOUR

Bobby Vernon has bought the vaude touring rights to billing "Earl Carroll's Vanities" and next week starts casting specialty acts for unit already booked to open week of Sept. 17 at Orpheum, San Diego, with following stanza set at Million Dollar theatre downtown. Line of 24 girls with buttress layout of acts, which are being booked by local agent Harry Rogers. Unit is asking $8,500 per week, and following Coast stands show heads east, via trek through Texas.

In past seasons, Carroll himself has produced "Vanities" vaude units, but leased tagline rights to Vernon because he plans to devote full time for a while to his new theatre project, as well as nitery and other business interests here.

Standard Switches Its Discing to Col Records

Standard Radio has withdrawn all of its recording and processing work from National Broadcasting Co., and Radio Corp. of America facilities here and switches to factoring of Columbia Records Co.

Fact that newcomer transcriptionery, Capitol, is working closely with RCA may have some bearing on withdrawal, and move may be interpreted as initial step in prospective knock-down and drag-out between rival and only two Coast-active musical library services.

Actual bow of Cap into field, heralded since first of year and activated on July 1, has alerted Standard. Latter enjoyed virtual Coast monopoly on talent and, to some degree, business, until arrival of Cap on scene. As only transcribery doing extensive recording here, Standard was to talent what Palladium was to dance bands.

CAP TYING UP TALENT

Now Cap is tying up talent on exclusive contracts, is able to take from its parent company, Capitol Records, and is offering good recording deals in exchange for discing talent's doubling onto transcriptions. In cases of strictly outside talent, Cap is reportedly dangling heftier coin, instead of usual palaver of transcriptions being great radio bally for talent and therefore workable at reduced rates.

Aside from production edge, Standard, due to its geographical location, has had business advantage in western area because of absence of competition on home ground. Though natonally set up, west has been its bailiwick.

PRESSURE ON MUSIC

Capitol is also pressuring from another side—music. Publishers and others are being informed that Cap doesn't want to play second fiddle on new numbers. Though positive policy has not been established, it is being circulated that among transcriberies Cap "likes" to be first to wax tunes. Situation gives them, according to hit-picking faculties of production staff, first crack at up and coming music, without necessarily limiting them on standard tunes and others.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The effect of the British agreement to unify their zone in Germany with ours is difficult to forecast. The French have said they want to exclude the Saar area, and the Russians that a central government must be set up and tested a few years first. A working arrangement with the French is not out of the question, and it may be that this is the first step toward getting some kind of a unity in communications, transport, trade and government that will include the Russians as well. In any case, even if the only unity is between the British and us, we will have the means of moving coal and manufactured goods from the British zone to ours, and consumer goods out of ours into theirs. The Russians have the food zone, and they know that's a trump card . . . The Moslem rejection of the White Paper proposal for a free India comes as a thunderclap after it was thought an ideal proposal, acceptable to both Moslems and Hindus, had been found—one that required a majority vote of both in the legislature on any proposal affecting the Moslems. Now, strangely enough, the Moslems are again demanding Pakistan, or an independent Moslem state. That's out of the question because the two areas of that state, one in the northeast, and the other in the northwest, are 1500 miles apart, and a corridor between them would go through the areas most important to the Hindus, and take in the whole valley of the Sacred Ganges.

Brewster Made KFVD Program Head

Carl Brewster has been appointed program and special events director of expanding indie station, KFVD. Station is prepping to hoist its output from 1,000 to 5,000 watts by mid-August, and is realigning personnel, etc. Plant on Western Avenue is being overhauled and new offices created. Entire upper floor will be given over to station operations.

Al Katz, to whom American Federation of Musicians recently gave choice of continuing as Coast chief of Harold F. Oxley booking agency or continuing own incipient pop-plattery for which he was licensed to record by Musicians' Local 47, last night chose latter. He will sever from Oxley as soon as his affairs with agency can be adjusted and arrangements on commissions due worked out.

Stein Rites Pending

Paris, July 29. — Arrangements for the funeral of Gertrude Stein, American writer, were still pending here today while her body lay in the American Procathedral Church. Miss Stein, 72, died Saturday night in the Paris suburb of Neuilly. Alice B. Toklas, her secretary, said nothing has been decided yet about the services.

FIVE FILMS BEFORE GEN. SERVICE CAMERAS

General Service Studios, for first time in many years, will have five pictures shooting simultaneously this afternoon, with return of William Boyd's "Dangerous Venture," from Lone Pine location. Yesterday's total of four films before the cameras also was record over five-year period.

Pictures now at work include Benedict Bogeaus' "A Miracle Can Happen"; Hunt Stromberg's "Dishonored Lady," starring Hedy Lamarr; Charles R. Rogers' "The Fabulous Dorseys" and Sam Bischoff production for Columbia, "Mr. District Attorney." Latter company moved on lot yesterday for week to 10 days, due to lack of space at Columbia.

Rakmill Named Decca Veepee

Decca Records yesterday, out of its NY headquarters, announced appointment of Milton R. Rakmill as exec veepee. Other appointments included Harry C. Kruse and Leonard W. Ciro's Runs Flackery

In a change of policy, Ciro's has set up its own flackery, headed by Wilson Brown, who took over post yesterday. Previously, nitery farmed out its praising to indie publicity offices.

LEGIT OPENING

"THE MERRY WIVES OF WINDSOR"

It has long been established that "The Merry Wives of Windsor" is not Shakespeare at his best. Not even the Bard of Avon could hack out a script in two weeks that could keep such a character as Sir John Falstaff in tip-top form. However, scratch away is what Will did and the result bowed at the Biltmore last night. The fruit of that fast fortnight some 350 years ago shows occasional good, earthy flashes of Shakespeare, but by and large the comedy is pretty dull and wordy. The Elizabethan humor suffered also at the hands of director Romney Brent who paced the bawdy old piece for a high comedy or even straight drama instead of giving it the necessary speed and whoop-te-do for knockabout low comedy.

Charles Coburn and Jessie Royce Landis topped a cast that had only Wauna Paul for lusty support in the role of Mistress Quickly. Coburn as the fat knight was ingratiating and pleasantly believable. Miss Landis gave a thoroughly charming reading of Mistress Ford. Other than that, the players seemed to be impressed with Shakespearean verbiage, which was neither too well-written, too well read nor too amusing. Theatre Guild's production had satisfying sets by Stewart Chaney.

CAHUENGA BLVD. SLEEPER STUDIOS READY IN FALL

"Sleeper" studios are under construction at 850 North Cahuenga Boulevard to be ready for occupancy in the fall. Motion Picture Center Corp., New York financial group, headed by J. M. Miller, is bankrolling, and will lease to indie film producers.

One block square, property will house four sound stages, three of which are now in various stages of completion, plus space for exteriors. Block is bounded on south by Waring, north by Willoughby, west by Cahuenga and east by Lillian Way.

Two blocks south of KLAC, area will, within a year, take on appearance of another theatrical center. In addition to two mentioned above, area will also serve new Don Lee-Mutual studios and new headquarters and club of Musicians' Union, Local 47.

'Abie's Irish Rose' Held Off Radio

The resumption of Anne Nichols' "Abie's Irish Rose" on the radio this fall has been postponed until after the release of the picture, which was produced and directed by Eddie Sutherland. This decision was made by United Artists executives, who want the picture to hit the screen before the air program starts again.

ROSE RESIGNS AS PAR TOPPER

tures annually, one in Britain and the other in the U.S., with English picture for Rank distribution.

New York, July 29.—Resignation of Rose as Paramount Britain boss was neither confirmed nor denied here, but it is known he tendered his resignation as managing director for Great Britain, with his successor not known up to tonight. His departure was amicable as is shown by Paramount's desire to have first crack on distribution of any pictures he turns out.

It will be recalled that Rose originally went to England to assume charge of Paramount's British production. Later he was made British managing director when the company wanted active official there, feeling that ill health of John Cecil Graham, then director, prevented this. Graham has since gone to Hollywood where he is reported in failing health.

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: Columbia is negotiating for a year's lease on a Broadway theatre for the opening of "The Jolson Story." Sought by the studio is either the Winter Garden or the Broadway, with the opening set for late September or October. People who've caught the picture are raving over Larry Parks' performance in the Jolson role . . . Piano content of Sigmund Romberg's home has been boosted to six in preparation for the master's return . . . Jimmy Dorsey's ork will get a straight seven grand a week when the crew makes its month-long stand at Casino Gardens starting Aug. 20 . . . Town is congratulating Freddy Brisson on his coup d' etat in landing the Duke dough as backing for Independent Artists . . . Also a bit of blather about those tennis matches. Paired off in the first quarter are the town's best players, Arthur Marx, son of Groucho, and Ronald Lubin, and with one eliminated early it will give a chance to the rest of the field, including Gilbert Roland, Errol Flynn, etc. . . . Crisis on the Strip: Bob Taplinger running into his girl friend, Helen Lipsey, dining with her ex-husband . . . Fatted calf is roasting at Columbia for Sidney Buchman. Producer-writer has agreed to return to make "Assignment to Treasury" and write the screenplay for "Royal Mail." But yesterday, as a hint to Buchman's future, he was conferring at Enterprise.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Sunk into the mysteries of Hollywood—like the Sargasso Sea—are two motion pictures, RKO's "Desirable Woman" and Metro's "Letter for Evie." What has happened to them will have to be discovered by William Beebe and his bathysphere . . . In a telephone sequence in "Humoresque," Oscar Levant tells the operator, "I want Oxford 3472 and get it quick, like they do in the movies" . . . Jed Harris, the demon producer, and most actors will confirm that "demon" tag, has arrived in Hollywood for conferences with Metro's front office. He wants Lucille Ball, now the apple of the studio's eye although they were ready to let her go a few months ago, for his legit version of "Loco." After watching the critical audience returns on her in "Easy to Wed," he is likely to encounter considerable reluctance . . . OFF THE LOTS: At Charley Foy's were Oliver Hardy and his wife, Bill Tracy and Lois James, Jennifer Holt and Billy Bakewell. At The Kings were Connie Moore and Johnny Maschio, Norma Shearer and Marty Arrouge, Jack Dempsey and Gene Fowler . . . Major studio is considering handing out a termer to Jack Young, the actor who looks more like Franklin D. Roosevelt than anybody alive, including Godfrey Tearle, the excellent English actor chosen by Metro to play the F.D.R. role in "The Beginning or the End" . . . Consider the case of Ralph Pearl, western editor for This Month. He was in New York recently and left for the Coast with a sigh of relief—that New York heat being even worse than Hollywood's unusual summer weather this year. Shortly after arriving, he was assigned to do a story on Las Vegas—temperature 110 degrees or thereabouts.

CALL SHEET: BOB HOPE, in all his glory but without morning coat and whitepiping vest, yesterday presided over the first board meeting for Bob Hope Productions . . . STEVE FISHER'S puss hits the cover of Writer's Digest this month with a lengthy article on the art of writing inside . . . GEORGE MONTGOMERY has one of the heaviest acting chores of the year—1037 lines and 464 separate speeches as the private eye in "The Brashear Doubloon," recently known as Raymond Chandler's "The High Window" . . . PATRICIA MORISON is playing the title role in Universal's "Claudia's Wife" and simultaneously finished her 12th oil portrait . . . RED SKELTON is tossing a party for the town's press photogs tomorrow night at the California Cabana Club. They couldn't have picked a better man since Red has turned camera fiend . . . CAMERON SHIPP will have eight stories in national magazines next month . . . MAUREEN REAGAN, five-year-old daughter of Ronald Reagan and Jane Wyman, will do all right in show business. When Ted Malone interviewed her parents on the air, and they talked about "Night and Day's" preem Thursday, she piped up: "And don't forget to plug 'One More Tomorrow,' mommy." That's Jane's latest release.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Joe Pasternak hosted a party at his Beverly Hills home for Dorothy Day, the NY columnist, with a full piece orchestra and more than a hundred guests attending. Only news about this piece is that nobody fell into the swimming pool . . . Intramural good gesture dept.: Joan Crawford gave Bette Davis, co-queen of the Warner lot, a striped handbag set with stones and matching sandals . . . Pat O'Brien is enjoying an Old Home week on the set of RKO's "Mr. Fix." Percy Kilbride, playing with him for the first time on the screen, was with him in stock in 1923 and they were last together on Broadway in 1928 in "Up and Up;" Vern Murdoch, makeup man, made up the classic O'Brien features in 1931 for "The Personality Kid;" John Tribby, soundman, was with him in "Consolation Marriage" in 1932, and Ted Tetzlaff was cameraman for "Virtue" in which O'Brien played in 1932 . . . Edward H. Griffith and Gene Fowler, writer-turned-tycoon, were deep in conference at the Beverly Hills Club. Their concern was how to get a hotel room in New York when they travel east in the next few weeks . . . Ad in the Kansas City Star passes up a chance to use the Jane Russell motif but nevertheless makes Paramount's "Kitty" spectacular with—"Kitty—Pretty—Witty—Entirely without Pity, and How She Takes Milland makes a Horrid Hitty."—D.D.T.

FCC OKAYS TWO POWER HIKES; NEW STATION GRANTS

Most recent nods of Federal Communications Commission in direction of California concern granting of two power hikes, KGO, San Francisco and KSFD, San Diego, and acceptance for filing of applications for five new stations.

Morris Luskin, of Burbank, has filed for 25-watter on 1490 kilocycles, with unlimited time; A. D. Newton and W. H. Wood, of San Joaquin Broadcasting Co., have resubmitted application for standard station of one kilowatt, on 1420 band; also unlimited; Hollywood Community Radio Group, of Gardena, has asked for one kilowatt station on 1530 kilocycles; Fresno Broadcasting Co., has requested one kilowatt station on 620 channel, unlimited, and Balboa Broadcasting Corp., San Diego, wants daytime operating station of five kilowatts on 750.

KIEM, of Redwood Broadcasting Co., Eureka, has requested permission for new transmitter with vertical antenna, and with added FM antenna atop same tower. American Broadcasting Co.'s KGO, 'Frisco, has been okayed for hop from 7½ kw's to 50 kw's, and had new directional antenna and new transmitter location approved. KFSD hikes to 5 kilowatts from one, and will also install new directional antenna at new transmitter site. Latter is affiliate of National Broadcasting Co., and operated by Airfan Radio Corp., Ltd.

Lenser Drops Camera Loaded With 'Battle'

They were hustling a new camera from 20th-Fox to "Bob, Son of Battle" location at Kanab, Utah, today and hoping that the film from the broken one it's replacing isn't all spoiled. Kenny Williams, assistant cameraman, was crossing a temporary bridge over a creek at Kanab when he stumbled. Camera he was carrying was pitched into the creek, smashed, and the film for the entire day's shooting landed in the water.

Joan Barton Inked For 'Moonlight'

Joan Barton has been set for the femme lead opposite Ken Curtis in "Lone Star Moonlight" at Columbia. Film rolls today with Ray Nazarro directing for producer Colbert Clark. Others in the action musical are Guy Kibbee, Hoosier Hot Shots, Arthur Loft and Robert Stevens.

Ankers Signed

Evelyn Ankers, Paul Kelly and James Millicam have been signed for top roles in "Spoilers of the North" at Republic. Film rolls today with Richard Sale directing for first time. Initial filming is being done at Big Bear Lake.

HOLLYWOOD RUNAROUND

By RADIE HARRIS

Thomas Mitchell is swinging over to Metro from 20th-Fox on a long termer, but before he does, he might find himself threatened with a breach of contract suit by Vinton Freedley. Seems that when Freedley was here a few weeks ago, Mitchell signed on Equity's dotted line to go east and direct the Jacqueline Susann-Beatrice Cole farce, "The Temporary Mrs. Smith," and now with an Aug. 22 rehearsal date, out of town bookings and a cast line-up, headed by Francine Larrimore, Mischa Auer and Millard Mitchell, he has calmly notified Mr. F. he is unavailable. In the Sardi set, old boy, that's what is called not quite cricket! . . . Luther Davis, now emasculating the screen version of "The Hucksters" so that both the Eric Johnson office and youknowhat agency will both be appeased, is anticipating a little "huckster" of his own, come Oct. . . . It's supposed to be a beeg secret, but RKO is flirting madly with Harold Arlen and Yip Harburg to write the words and music to "Legend of Sleepy Hollow" . . . Arlene Francis will leave her house of one "Gabel" to play a week of "Burlesque" with Bert Lahr at Greenwich, Conn. She'd also like to revive "Twentieth Century" if she can find the right "Oscar Jaffee" . . . Pam and Emily Blumenthal are tossing a cocktail shindig at their Alpine Dr. Manse this p.m., where everyone within hearing distance will learn that Emily has no desire ever to return to NY—the traitor!

LOGICAL CONCLUSION: A certain w.k. producer was entertaining a sprinkling of celebs at a private projection room showing of a recent indie movie co-starring two outstanding film personalities. It was obvious from the first reel that everyone was suffering with a frustrated desire to choose the nearest exit, and when it was over, at long last, there was one of those marked silences, while each guest waited for the next to make the obvious insincere compliment. Finally, the producer himself came to their rescue as with a shrug of his shoulders he exclaimed, "What can you expect? Capitol gain!"

SCOOPING AROUND: Ed Wynn, rarely in the same neck of the woods to help celebrate Keenan's birthday, hosted a small gathering for his 30th natal day Satdee nite. Among those singing "Happy Birthday to You:" Lana Turner with Bob Hutton—Van Johnson and Pete Lawford stag—Dorothy White for Ed and the Johnny Mashios. The loot was terrif, especially the gold cuff links with the two muses, comedy and tragedy, embossed on each side, from Keenan's ever lovin' bride, Evie . . . Ty Power, solo-ing his own plane at the National Air Races, checks in from Minneapolis today. But he'll only stay grounded until Oct. when he takes off again for a three-month flight through South America with "Butch" Romero as his "hubba-hubba" traveling mate . . . Theatre Guild of the Air opener for the fall season, teeing off Sept. 8th, will be Helen Hayes in "Harriett" .

LITTLE ACORNS: Bette Davis, in pink woolen slacks, made no noise like a movie star when she quietly slipped into her aisle seat at the Laguna Playhouse Satdee nite to see Claire Trevor re-enact the stage version of her Academy Award performance as Judith Traherene in "Dark Victory." Claire, knowing that Bette was in the audience, confessed before curtain how nervous she was, but you'd never suspect it from her assured, superb performance, made more remarkable by the fact that in this highly emotional and many faceted part, she only had one week's rehearsal. It only proved once again how shortsighted Hollywood has been in overlooking her great potentialities as a dramatic star by typecasting her as the hardboiled Other Woman. If this one week at Laguna is effective in waking up some of these astigmatic talent heads, then the amount of concentrated work Claire put into it, will be well worth it. Incidentally, the Playhouse this summer has been so successful that Keenan Wynn is now working on a deal whereby this stock company will be continued here in Westwood, teeing off with a repertory of "Angel Street," "Blind Alley," "Twentieth Century" and "Petrified Forest." Plans call for a two-week rehearsal period with a two-week engagement of each play. Board will consist of Keenan, who will contact former stage players, anxious to recharge their batteries again after going stale in front of the cameras; Dick Irving, who will dig up new, undiscovered talent, and Mort Werner, who will handle the business details. Keenan will also direct, and if he can get MGM interested in financing the whole set-up, he'll be an even happier character than he is now, when after twelve years of struggling to get where he is, he's there!

MOVIE-ING ALONG: Fred Stone, who has been playing "Grandpa" in "You Can't Take It with You" in summer stock for the past few seasons, will soon be a real one, when daughter, Paula, and Michael Sloane "heir" the nursery . . . What producer's wife, who is hardly making life a bowl of cherries for him since their separation, calmly thefted his car the other a.m.? . . . Irene Castle checks in at the Hollywood-Roosevelt this week, and the reason is said to be Romance . . . Carol Irwin and the Paul Hollisters are off to Lake Tahoe to recuperate from the Hollywood whirl before starting back on the Mad-hattan one . . . Red Skelton will make with the laughs for the press photogs when he entertains at an informal dinner party at the California Cabana Club tomorrow nite . . . If my own unimpeachable Philo Vance is right as always, don't be too surprised if Corny Jackson resigns from J. Walter Thompson to become story ed of a major company—at any rate, John Reber is en route here for busy inter-office huddles . . . Add now I've heard everything dept.: There's to be a gala preem next Tues. nite at Hollywood and Vine for the opening of a sign! KFWB, launching its news service strip like the one on Times Square, will have Tommy Dorsey's band, Ken Murray, the Earl Carroll beauties and a carload of "moom pitcher" stars to tie up traffic and give the visiting hicks (including me!) the conclusive proof that Hollywood is just as maad as "They" say!

AFM AID SOUGHT TO COLLECT PAY FROM OXLEY

William Morris agency has pitched a plea to national exec council of American Federation of Musicians to lend a hand in the collection of $2,000 in back salaries owed Johnny Moore and His Three Blazers, sepia singing act, by Harold F. Oxley agency. The act was spotted by Morris in an Oxley-backed Negro vaude-and-nitery unit which recently trekked Texas, and which the headlining turn quit during tour because full salaries were not being received.

It is understood that business was exceedingly spotty for unit, titled "Swing Parade of 1946," and when full Oxley funds were not forthcoming, Moore withdrew without notice and immediately flew to NY where he personally lodged complaint with Rex Riccardi, of AFM exec council. Morris office thereafter took up campaign for the act, for which agency had secured one week's salary, $1,500, from Oxley as a deposit before committing Moore.

Foreign Theatre Survey Approved

New York, July 29.—Questionnaire on a foreign theatre survey has been approved by international film companies and will be mailed throughout the world within the next few weeks, according to report made to Motion Picture Association by W. B. England, acting chairman of the advisory committee of research, and Robert W. Chambers, director of research for MPA. Survey is designed to collect data on theatres outside United States.

Aaron Pines Homing

Aaron Pines, Manila representative for Columbia, took off yesterday for San Francisco and thence to Manila. En route here from New York, Pines' plane had a crash-landing at Lockheed Air Terminal in Burbank in which he was shaken up. However, he continued via air to his new post.

Light 'n' Airy
(on the ½ shell)
by JACK HELLMAN

The Chase is about over (or is it?) and that it has been the costliest in radio history is at once admissible. It's the pursuit of Bing Crosby that fetches these lines and sent us on a chase of our own to tally up the cost sheets. We've heard figures as high as $400,000, the charge-off by agencies against expenses incurred in trying to lure The Groaner into the fold. We'd rather, however, believe our own openly-arrived-at set of numerals—closer to $300,000. That's paying a high price for crooning on the hoof, talent that hasn't been corraled, but it all comes under the head of trial and error and try they did—any number of them.

Two agencies alone, and there have been a dozen after der Bingle, were put to vouchers totaling close to $100,000 and sad to relate neither has yet landed his autograph and their chances fast dwindling. We say The Chase is about over because Bing is said to be in the mood for getting set in the fall and maybe by early this week he will have come to terms with Philco or General Motors. Most of the others dropped out some time ago, wearying of the hassel and preferring a less ulcerous manhunt.

Disney Is Laying Off 450; Pay Hikes Blamed

ager, was posted yesterday at the studio and will become effective at the close of work Aug. 1. Approximately 450 employes will go off payroll out of a total of 1,060.

Only employes necessary to complete production on four features now in work and such others required for studio maintenance, regular business functions and future production planning will be retained during the layoff.

Reeder's statement declared:

"The necessity for this step is simply a matter of economics. During the war years, we devoted most of our facilities to the production of training films for the armed forces and pictures for other government agencies. These films we proudly produced at cost. As a consequence, today we have little revenue coming in from entertainment product. Our first postwar release, "Make Mine Music," will not be in general release until this Fall.

"Immediately upon conclusion of our part in the war effort, we embarked on the largest program of entertainment features and shorts production in our history. In the midst of this expanded program, however, we found labor and material costs mounting so rapidly that production budgets had to be constantly revised upwards. Despite this fact, we had hoped by careful planning and economics to avoid a drastic cut in our production schedule.

"However, last week we acceded to the demands of the Screen Cartoonists Guild for a 25 per cent increase in base minimum wages. This was imposed upon us as a condition for the continuance of negotiations on other clauses in the contract, all of which have an important bearing on our production costs. This increase, in addition to similar increases granted numerous other union crafts employed by the studio, many of which were retroactive to January 1st, makes it imperative to curtail sharply our operating expenses at once and to completely revise our plans for future pictures.

"As an employe of Walt Disney Productions, you should know that during our contract negotiations with the Guild we repeatedly pointed out, with complete frankness, that the granting of such a large increase at this time would necessitate a sharp reduction in our staff. To facilitate this readjustment, we have asked the Screen Cartoonists' Guild to cooperate with us in speedily completing negotiations on all clauses remaining open in the contract."

Reeder stated that production would be stopped on all features except "Song of the South," slated for premiere showings in November; "Fun and Fancy Free," a next summer release; "How Dear to My Heart," going into release in the fall of 1947; and "All in Fun," scheduled for early 1948 release.

Stories will continue to be developed from which Disney will select future productions when necessary adjustments have been made. Among these are "Peter Pan," "Alice in Wonderland," "Cinderella," "Lady and the Tramp," "The Little People," "Destino," and a story on American folklore.

Just what will happen to the shorts program is speculative. It is known that costs of shorts have gone beyond the point where a profit can be shown. Reeder's announcement of the layoff stated that "Mickey Mouse, Donald Duck and other famous Disney characters will continue to furnish their quota of entertainment throughout the world," but it is believed that unless costs can be greatly curtailed, shorts program may be drastically trimmed. Studio has about 15 on hand now in various stages of completion, which means approximately a year's supply.

Educational projects will go ahead in both research and production, Reeder stated, and company will continue to make every effort to expand its world market. There will be no halt on making of foreign versions, at the studio and in such places as Rome, Stockholm, Paris, Bombay and Rio de Janeiro.

SCREEN WRITERS GUILD VOTES MONOPOLY

ment of an American Authors Authority along the general lines prepared by James M. Cain in conjunction with the original material committee of the Screen Writers Guild, and that the executive board is instructed to proceed in cooperation with the rest of the League to draft a specific program, which program will be subject to ratification at a future general membership meeting."

The Guild passed out green cards to those eligible to cast ballots on the proposal so that voting could be easily checked and delays averted when the balloting started. Action of Richard Macaulay, who was expected to be in opposition to the AAA plan, in urging all conservative members to support it came as one of the big surprises of the session.

Macaulay called it "a very nice capitalistic enterprise—a coalition of one bunch of capitalists to see what they could get away from another bunch of capitalists." He also presented an amendment that AAA be required to accept material for copyright from anyone, whether or not he was a member of the four writing guilds which are planned to make up the Authority. This was aimed to silence any talk of a writing monopoly. It was voted down.

Members did, however, vote unanimously in support of an amendment designed to prevent censorship of material by the AAA. Amendment, moved by Eddie Blum and seconded by John Wexley, was to the effect that AAA could not discriminate against any author on the basis of contents of his material.

Main speakers in favor of the plan were Ring Lardner, Jr., Maurice Cohn, SWG counsel, Howard Estabrook, who also spoke on licensing conditions in France which closely paralleled the proposed setup, and James M. Cain.

Discussing the matter from the floor among others were Macaulay, Robert Harari, Arch Oboler, Fred Niblo, Jr. Latter was in opposition and urged a vote against the plan. He made it plain, however, that he had no quarrel with the proposal in principle but was against internal difficulties that might make for unfavorable administration.

This is the first positive action on the AAA proposal by any of the Guilds in the League and is expected to pave the way for favorable resolutions from the other three organizations. Discussion has been carried on among the other groups, some even participating in drawing up present form as outlined in the Screen Writers Magazine last week. Boards of directors of Dramatists, Authors and Radio Writers Guilds would have to recommend approval in principle and then put it up to their general membership for their majority vote.

AAA briefly would act as copyright owner of all material written by members, controlling the licensing of it for any form of publication or production. The outright sale of material for any purpose would be positively forbidden.

New U-Int Merger in Market For Theatres

Universal-International production merger, reported exclusively in Daily Variety last Friday, was formally announced yesterday in a statement that indicates Universal Pictures Company, Inc., will function chiefly in acquiring and operating theatres and as a distributing organization.

Under the new set-up all production activities of both Universal and International will be merged in a new company to be known as Universal International Production Company. The new firm will be strictly a subsidiary company, wholly owned by Universal Pictures Company. It will be headed by Leo Spitz, as chairman of the board, and William Goetz, as president. Cliff Work, Universal veepee, will remain as one of the senior studio execu-

PRC Single Sales Policy Waits Benjamin

New York, July 30.—PRC sales policy on single selling of product awaits the return of Robert Benjamin, general counsel, from England. All independents are wondering just how the decision applies to companies not parties to the suit and PRC will probably follow Columbia's lead with sales of one or all of its year's product with sale of one film not conditioned on purchase of another.

RKO-Pathe Studio In Harlem Stymied

New York, July 30.—Opening of new RKO-Pathe studios in Harlem here stalled and expected preem of Aug. 1 now off due to manpower shortage. Equipment has all been received but lack of labor to install it forcing delay.

HARRIS, FAYE BIG 5 YR. DEAL

New York, July 30.—Phil Harris and Alice Faye have been signed to five-year contract by F. W. Fitch Co., for $3,000,000. They'll be slotted on Sunday nights, 7:30 to 8 over National Broadcasting Co., starting Sept. 22. L. W. Ramsey agency of Davenport, Ia., closed deal for show that's prorated at $15,500 per week, as compared to $9,500 spent on Cass Daley program. Format of new show not yet set.

Runyon 100G Story Deal for Crosby

New York, July 30. — Damon Runyon's $100,000 English picture deal is for a Bing Crosby pic. Groaner is committed to English production next year. Runyon will do all work in New York for next six months with $25,000 down payment. Deal blocks his 20th-Fox chore.

Depinet Due for Talks

Ned Depinet and Phil Reisman, vice-prexy in charge of foreign distribution at RKO, arrived yesterday for 10 days of huddles at studio with N. Peter Rathvon on foreign situation.

Four Indies Reported in New Combo For Releasing Deals

Four indie producers are reported to be joining forces, in effort to use combined producing power to seek improved releasing terms and put their operation on a more economic basis through central offices and common distribution representation.

Combine consisting of Edward Small, Howard Hawks, Sidney Buchman and Deutsch-Horne's Story Productions, Inc., will also be financed by a common source.

Motion Picture Investors, lending agency operated by Small with Daniel O'Shea and Maury Cohen, will bankroll, with combo planning minimum of one and maximum of two pictures annually from each member. Releasing deal now is being talked with number of majors.

NEW DRIVE FOR COIN REPORTED

Washington, July 30. — Radio stars who incorporate during their contract in order to pay only the 25 per cent capital gains tax were reported tonight to be the target of a new Internal Revenue Bureau secret drive to force payment of high income tax rates.

3 CAHUENGA LOT STAGES WILL BE READY IN AUG.

Producing Artists Studio, now in process of construction at 850 No. Cahuenga Blvd., will have three sound stages ready for use by end of August, and remaining six slated for completion in November. Studio is being built strictly as a rental lot by Joseph Justman and Jack Schwarz, who are sole owners of project.

Studio, with its nine stages, which will be complete from mills to projection rooms, will cost approximately $2,000,000 when finished, including price of property. First tenant will be Producing Artists Corp., headed by Arthur Lyons and Justman. They will move into offices on lot late in August, to prepare "Prelude to Night" and "Imperial Venus," concern's first two pictures. Schwarz also will take offices for his indie producing company, releasing through Screen Guild.

Augmenting stage space for lessees will be 40 acres in Valley, near Burbank, to be used for whatever exteriors may be needed. Plan now is to erect permanent sets on this property, about 20 minutes from studio. City and western streets, as well as foreign settings, will be put up in Fall, with locations available early next year.

Boasberg Is Sued By Universal Exchange

Universal Exchange has filed suit against Nathan Boasberg, former owner of the Ritz theatre in Inglewood, for $1,785 damages. Action, brought by Herbert T. Silverberg, charges Boasberg owes damages asked for commitments on unplayed Universal pictures for which he had contracted prior to sale of theatre and film contract was not taken over by new owners.

Berlin Song Sought For 'Magic Town'

Robert Riskin is making a bid to get Irving Berlin to clef a single song, which also will be used as a theme, for "Magic Town," which producer is now prepping for his first RKO release. Film, slated to go before cameras early in September, will star James Stewart.

Shea Off to Frisco

Larry Shea, Western Division manager of Ascap, flies to San Francisco this afternoon on final half of swing through his territory. Shea will stay in the Bay City until Sunday, when he will go to Denver, accompanied by Harry Levinson, western regional director.

Collins' 'Bobby-Soxer'

Ray Collins has been signed for a featured role in "The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer" at RKO. Actor will portray a psychiatrist in the film which stars Cary Grant, Myrna Loy and Shirley Temple.

Gibney NYing

Sheridan Gibney leaves today for New York, where he will spend two weeks conferring with Lester Meyer. Pair plan to co-produce several plays on Broadway this Fall.

Col Inks Coulouris

George Coulouris yesterday was signed for lead heavy in "Mr. Distritc Attorney" at Columbia. Sam Bischoff is producing the film.

• JUST FOR VARIETY •

THE GRAPEVINE: William Powell celebrated his birthday yesterday on the "Life with Father" set at Warners. Got a special gift from his wife, Diana Lewis—a black and yellow yo-yo . . . At least three Falstaffian characters were in the audience to catch Charles Coburn's impersonation in "Merry Wives of Windsor," Guy Kibbee, Alan Hale and Louis Calhern. Also in the audience were Harry Davenport, Wally Ford and the Peter Godfreys . . . RKO will do a "different kind of western," namely "Blood on the Moon" adapted from the Saturday Evening Post serial by Luke Short. Story is laid in the 1860's before the word "cowboy" was in use and avoids a lot of the cliches of the run-of-the-mill giddyaps. Another plot twist—both of the male leads are heavies . . . Sight of the week: Lana Turner and her daughter, Cheryl Christine, on the swings at La Cienega playground in Beverly Hills, with Bob Hutton providing the propulsion . . . Jeffrey Lynn, after several years in service, arrives in Hollywood today and his friends are engaged in an intensive hunt for living space for the Warners' leading man . . . Looks like Mary Martin's interests will remain centered on Broadway. She's bought a house in Norwalk, Conn. . . . It will be Jane Jones night at Charley Foy's club in the valley tonight with Grace Hayes presiding. Foy is still in critical condition after his operation Monday, and his brother Irving and sister Madeline are en route to Hollywood . . . Now 21, Bobby Breen will hit Broadway stage in a musical in fall . . . Louella Parsons' "scoop" on the Universal-International merger may have been a scoop yesterday morning at 11th and Broadway, but it wasn't anywhere else. Daily Variety carried the news last Thursday.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Just before the lunch break on "It Happened in Brooklyn," Frank Sinatra and Kathryn Grayson were doing a scene in a convertible coupe. Director Dick Whorf ordered more action from the wind machines. But Sinatra warned him: "Hey, we'd better wait until after lunch, or I'm liable to blow away" . . . Vic Orsatti and Audrey Totter were a twosome at Dave Chasen's . . . Hoagy Carmichael and Frankie Laine have written a new tune, "Put Yourself in My Place, Baby" . . . Jerry Wald, who has been building up a rep as star-maker with Dane Clark, Bob Hutton, Mark Stevens and Andrea King getting their first breaks in his productions, may have another candidate with Don McGuire. The young actor's work in "Humoresque" is getting raves from sneak preview audiences . . . Marquee of the week: "A Night in Paradise" and "Without Reservations" . . . Leslie Fenton showed up at California Cabana Club with Dolores Moran one night, Rita Johnson the next . . . Russel Crouse received a check for $14 the other day from Guy Fowler, Valley Times columnist. Years ago when both were newspapermen, Fowler borrowed the sum from the playwright-to-be. He doesn't particularly need fourteen bucks right now but it probably gave him a new faith in human nature . . . Nat Pendleton, now playing in Action Pictures' "Death Valley," says he's enacting "a prospector whose wits are somewhat dulled—in other words I'm sort of a stupor-man."

CALL SHEET: CATHY O'DONNELL took advantage of a two-week break in her scenes for "The Best Years of Our Lives" and planed to Oklahoma City for a visit with her mother . . . JIMMIE O'TOOLE, flacking for Robert Riskin, planted a story with U.P. to the effect that the producer was looking for a small town as location for scenes for "Magic Town," and yesterday had received 35 bids from Chambers of Commerce . . . JOAN FONTAINE bought her second Angna Enters painting from Francis Taylor galleries . . . LELAND HAYWARD planes out for NY via American Airlines, as does David Niven today . . . ELAINE RILEY, Paramount contract player, is tossing a house-warming party for all her colleagues. Reason: new house in Sherman Oaks . . . ELLIOT NUGENT'S family is busy gracing legit—Lee, his 20-year-old daughter, will make her Broadway debut in "The Big Two" which her father and Robert Montgomery will produce this fall; his daughter, Barbara, arrived here from a summer stock stint at Skowhegan, Me., and his father, J. C. Nugent, is staying on at Skowhegan . . . LINDA DARNELL received a note from Kathleen Winsor, author of "Forever Amber" congratulating her on getting the "Amber" role and expressing approval of the choice . . . JACK LARUE must think the days of the silents are back again. In "My Favorite Brunette" he menaces Bob Hope without a line of dialogue—does it all with dark, sinister stares . . . CLARK GABLE has joined Frank Morgan in his yachting and fishing activities off Avalon Bay.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Before Duke and Co. shot all that dough into Freddy Brisson's Independent Artists, it consulted Jock Whitney, who did all right for himself backing Selznick's "Gone with the Wind" . . . Dana Andrews stepped from his boat to the dock at Balboa yesterday. At least that was his intention. Instead he fell into the drink. Lost—one $300 wristwatch . . . Bundled up in winter clothing, Bing Crosby was supposed to crash a ball at Emperor Franz Josef's palace yesterday in "The Emperor Waltz." Crosby rushed in, sweating like a longshoreman. Director Billy Wilder suggested: "Take it slower this time. You're not supposed to be an expert at second story work" . . . OFF THE LOTS: Glenn Billingsley will keep his Sunset boulevard spot open until 4:30 a.m. beginning Saturday. His upper floor night club will open the first week in September. The Victor Moores and Harry Engels at House of Murphy.. Kitty Kallen and Don McGuire at Beverly Tropics. Martha O'Driscoll and A. C. Lyles, Ross Hunter and Jane Withers at Henri's . . . Osa Massen says she knows a star so practical she went without a honeymoon so her husband could save up for her alimony . . . George Marshall says his biggest thrill in years is the direction chore on "Variety Girl," not only because every star and featured player on the Paramount lot will appear, but because it will show the life and good works of the Variety Clubs . . . An Oscar Levant crack in "Humoresque"—"I haven't any etchings but I'd like to show you the handwriting on the wall."—D.D.T.

IF AUCTION PLAN PERSISTS, PAR TO SLOW RELEASES

the government's idea, lend credence to speculation.

Film company attorneys are mulling possibility of huddling with the statutory court and asking, if Wright agrees, that auction selling be dropped. The difficulties of administration, plus the likelihood of continuous legal actions by unsuccessful bidders, are among their strongest arguments.

Exhibs see in the bidding plan nothing but myriad detail without improving their economic position. Real hope of the indies is divorcement and auction bidding is considered a possible out to what they want.

Paramount intends to slow up its releases if single picture selling persists despite the existence of a large backlog of product, according to report. Production will probably be tuned down at the studio along with release slowdown.

Company presently has 29 pictures completed but unreleased, a greater number than will be delivered by the end of the 1945-46 season when a total of 26 will have been made available.

While setting up no specific sales plan in the face of single selling, Paramount has issued lengthy instructions to its sales force, which, among other things, advises that auction bidding is to be disregarded for the time being.

Goldwyn Ad Toppers Due for 'Best Years' Talk

Lynn Farnol and Ben Washer, advertising and publicity toppers in the east for Samuel Goldwyn, will arrive Monday for huddles with Bill Hebert and the Foote, Cone and Belding promotion executives on campaign for "The Best Years of Our Lives." Arriving later will be James A. Mulvey and Art Crown, who will confer here until Aug. 7.

'Kissing' At 20th

Pending construction of two sets at Fox Western Avenue Studios, Director Lloyd Bacon and troupe yesterday moved to 20th Century-Fox lot where they will continue filming the George Jessel production, "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now."

AVERAGE PAY OF FILM WORKERS UP $2 A WEEK

Average weekly earnings for film workers increased to $84.40 during June, as compared to average of $82.38 during May and $81.19 for June, 1945, according to California Labor Statistics Bulletin. Workers put in less hours a week to collect their checks also. Average hours per week during June, at $1.849 per hour, were 45.1, compared to 46.9 in May and 46.8 in June, 1945. Hourly rate during May was $1.730.

Both payroll and employment indexes dropped while wages went up. Employment index for June was 123.1 per cent, contrasted with 126.9 per cent in May. June, 1945 was way under past two months, hitting only 89.0 per cent due to long film strike that was in progress at that time. Payrolls index for June was 231.8 per cent, which shows upswing in film earnings for hourly workers since index was started in 1940 with that year figured as 100 per cent.

John Flinn, Jr., Will Move to Monogram

John C. Flinn, Jr., head planter for Warners publicity department, has been appointed to a similar post and also to head up expanded flackery at Monogram. Flinn was with the Valley studio for seven years.

OUT OF THE HORN'S MOUTH

Don Wood opened with his musicrew at Ciro's last night.

Tiny Dobbins' ork set for rest of season at Lake Arrowhead Lodge.

Eddie Bartell inked into Biltmore Bowl for month, commencing Aug. 1.

Hal Campbell band has been extended until Oct. 16 at San Diego hotel.

Charles E. Washburn, prexy of Coast Records and Peerless Records, is consolidating the offices of both films in new quarters at 2534 W. Pico Blvd.

THACKREYS YAN FM APPLICATIONS FOR H'D, FRISCO

Applications for FM stations Hollywood and San Francisco hav been withdrawn from Federal Con munications Commission by Ted ar Dorothy Thackrey. Feeling is th both extremes of ether coverage wi be reached via present standar broadcasting on KLAC, here, an KYA, San Francisco, and via planne television operation. In-the-midd FM will be superfluous, offers litt competitively and investment ar interest would not be commensurat with costly operation, it's figured.

Thackreys see novelty of FM wear ing off, particularly since receiver buying public will undoubtedly pre fer to invest coin necessary for sec ond set in television, rather tha just higher fidelity, straight sound

Primary improvement of FM ove AM is in the elimination of static However, since Coast area is ac knowledged to be relatively free o static, FM offers little advantage ove standard receivers, Thackreys figure, since FM affords little over AM, and considerably less than television, concentration on standard broadcasting and video will, in long run, prove themselves. Therefore, money that would have been put into FM will, instead, be used to improve present standard operations, when FCC approves power hikes of stations here and in 'Frisco, and will go into video interests.

One of radio's real vets, a crafts-han who has touched all bases in the ame, engaged us in a bit of conver-ation at cocktail time. What he ad to say made so much sense that e asked him to put it on paper. He id and here it is.

"Far be it from me to bite the and that feeds me—but comes a ime—so let's take a small bite. This ll harks back to your story about preading movie material too thin—urely there can't be any argument bout that—but let's get behind it. Why? I'll give you two reasons—oth of them definite obstacles in the path of radio progress. First and foremost—a smugness rampant in the too successful field of radio advertising—a smugness born of a cushy 15 per cent without too much effort.

"I say this without rancor—but with a sincere regret for the passing of the day when creative effort was a business getter. Creative effort today seems to consist of whether or not you can sign Bing Crosby—not the terrific idea you have dreamed up for him. Mind you—creative effort is still with us. It has not all been promoted into executive chairs—and that brings us to the second point.

"As long as advertisers will buy more and more of the same old movie material—that same smugness of their agencies permits each to be perfectly satisfied. There is no challenge—no fight for something fresh—because the tradition is—"they won't buy it anyway." By the way, have you ever asked any of the advertising agency boys on the production side of radio if they happened to hear this show or that—a show that you might have liked or disliked? If you have, you discovered a funny thing. The boys don't listen to radio. That's a strange commentary, isn't it? I know movie producers who insist on seeing the other guys' pictures.

"So we wind up another radio year with "Queen for a Day" the outstanding achievement . . . with practically no experiment at all by any advertising agency or sponsor . . . with the same old producers holding the same old watches over the same old shows . . . and sitting over their Cutty Sark complaining about their ulcers. Heavens to Betsy, what do they get them from? ? ?"

Chain breaks . . . Bing's Philco deal is said to be getting hotter than a valley studio while the chill is settling around the edges of the General Motors transaction. There's a capital gain feature to the Philco arrangement that might swing the deal. A Crosby Corp. would be set up for the manufacture of Bing's records. These would be bought by Philco and given for free to its distributors, who in turn would buy time on local stations for the spinning. James Carmine, v.p. of Philco, shuttled back east to present the proposal to the board of directors. Bing's only answer to the maze of deals is, "I'd rather sit it out" . . . New U-Int Merger in Market For Theatres tives, but status of various other executives is left up in the air.

Announcement of the merger, made simultaneously here, in New York and in London, specifically states that it "is the intention of the combined group to add to its present interests in more than 1000 theatres throughout the world by acquisition or building of theatres, including theatres which Universal International intends to acquire in the United States."

Speculation is to the effect that Nate Blumberg, as Universal prexy, will direct building up of company's own theatre chain to insure distribution of both J. Arthur Rank and Universal-International product without running into difficulties under the recent Federal court decision in the industry anti-trust suit.

NEW POST FOR FOX

The new set-up dissolves United World Pictures, set up only six months ago as a Rank-Universal-International releasing organization. Matty Fox, United World prexy, becomes executive vice president and a director of Universal Pictures Company, Inc.

Universal - International combine was effected at London conferences of the various companies involved. No statement has been forthcoming as to what will happen to various old timers on the Universal lot.

Some of those who might be involved in any shakeup have contracts with some time still to run. The Universal-International set-up is not effective until October 1 and there may be no further radical changes before that date. Among those whose status is uncertain are Edward Muhl and George Bole, Work's assistants, and Dan Kelly, production supervisor, who has been with the studio 16 years.

Decision under the new arrangement to abandon all lower bracket production, including serials and westerns already had its effect last week when producers, directors and writers concerned with this product were let out. Producers remaining include Joe Gershenson, Felix Jackson, Jane Murfin, Paul Malvern, Howard Benedict, Michael Fessier and Ernest Pagano. Fessier and Pagano, writer-producer team, still have contracts with nearly a year to run. Gershenson's contract, also has several months to go, and Jackson, it was understood, is likely to remain, as he is the Durbin producer.

AWAIT RETURN FROM LONDON

Situation may be cleared up a bit when Fox, Blumberg and Joseph Seidelman get back from London. Fox left Monday and is due in New York today. Blumberg and Seidelman are scheduled to leave London Friday.

Joining in the London huddles was a representative of Robert Young's Eagle - Lion Distributing Company. Eagle-Lion, Universal and International execs, said, is not involved in the new combine, but was represented at the conference as "an interested party."

The statement added that "the relationship heretofore established between the J. Arthur Rank Organization and . . . Eagle Lion . . . will be continued."

Production plans for Universal-International call for putting out "25 pictures of distinction" in its first year. To be distributed besides these 25 are 12 pictures from Rank and five from Enterprise.

RANK'S SPECIAL DEPT.

"A special department within the Universal distribution organization will be created," the announcement said, "to give specialized, concentrated attention to the product of the J. Arthur Rank Organization. The same long term relationship which is being created in the United States for the distribution of Rank films will obtain in the United Kingdom where General Film Distributors, Inc., will distribute the product. In the remander of the world, distribution of the respective products will be continued by Universal International and the Rank distributing companies.

"It is the intention of the combined group to add to its present interests in over 1000 theatres throughout the world by the acquisition or building of theatres, including theatres which Universal-International intends to acquire in the United States."

McIntosh Leaves OWI For Transcriptions

After three years with government bureaus, R. U. McIntosh, one of veterans in transcription business, is returning to field. He has opened offices following severance with Office of War Information, and has started production on "The Green Home" and "The Plainsman," open - end, quarter-hour platter shows as initial efforts.

'Always Loved You' To Preem In Chi

"I've Always Loved You," Frank Borzage's high budgeter for Republic, will have its world premiere in Chicago's Apollo theatre late next month. Harold Butchin has been signed to handle special publicity and exploitation on the film which features classic music theme.

Shafer Held for 'Moon'

John Shafer has been held over for a featured role in "The New Moon" at the Greek theatre, following his current stand in "The Firefly." Third operetta in the current season will open Aug. 5.

Hale, Booth Set

Republic has set Monte Hale and Adrian Booth as stars in "Under Colorado Skies," musical western to be produced in Trucolor by Lou Gray. Clark Mathews authored the original story.

'Finger' for O'Sullivan

William J. O'Sullivan has drawn "The Finger Woman," crime yarn, as his next production for Republic. O'Sullivan yesterday finished production on "The Magnificent Rogue."

Metro Topper in Greece

Panos Coutsoucos has been promoted to managership of Greece for Metro, according to word received at the studio. Coutsoucos formerly was manager of the Metro theatre in Cairo.

GI HARVEST ENDS IN RED FOR DIEGO BALLROOMS

The bottom has collapsed completely out of the ballroom business in San Diego. The twin name-band sites, Mission Beach and Pacific Square, are finding their ledgers flooded with carmine ink week after week thus far this season. After four boom war years, departure of the hordes of servicemen from the San Diego area has wreaked the havoc at the hooferies.

Starting Aug. 10, when the Freddie Slack band is the attraction, Pacific Square will light but one night weekly. Mission Beach plans to keep breasting the tide by opening doors six nights out of each stanza, despite a worsening wicket-take. Frankie Carle, current, is drawing at rate of only about 2,000 customers per week, and Jimmy Dorsey, who preceded him, didn't even bring into the ballroom his guarantee, $4,500.

Oddly, only ork which has drawn appreciably since last May was Bob Wills' rustic - rhythm crew, at the Square July 5-6-7; it was only band to go into percentage in the town thus far in 1946. Fact Wills has an aggregation of oatuners may be indicative of San Diego's altered tastes.

Niteries, too, are roundly taking a lacing. Burg's biggest, Sherman's, presently is operating but two of its six bars, all of which used to hum. The syndicate which operated site turned down a bid of $165,000 last February; last week it was sold for $54,000. Obviously only straw of optimism still blowing around San Diego is the knowledge that the Pacific Fleet will be in around Aug. 12 for a long tieup.

15,000 EXPECTED AT 'NIGHT AND DAY' PREEM

Preparations for handling a crowd of more than 15,000 for the preem of "Night and Day" at Warner's Hollywood tomorrow night were being completed yesterday. Special bleachers flanking the theatre and another section facing the showhouse from across the boulevard are being erected. Bleachers will accommodate 3000.

Total of 160 police and 30 motorcycle officers have been detailed to handle the crowds outside the theatre and facilitate arrival, unloading and parking of celebrities' cars.

The 2760 seats for the performance have already been reserved by screen stars, film industry biggies, civic celebs and members of the Yale Club, attending in honor of Cole Porter on whose life story film is based. Also attending the opening as tribute to Porter will be members of Indiana Society of Southern California.

Harry Crocker will serve as master of ceremonies in forecourt of the theatre.

Wallis To Screen Alcoholics Anonymous

Activities of Alcoholics Anonymous will be made basis of a motion picture to be produced by Hal Wallis for his 1947 Paramount schedule, it was announced yesterday by Hal Wallis Productions and Alcoholics Anonymous. Wallis has Robert Smith, writer, now in New York getting material for script. Screenplay material will be passed on for accuracy by board of trustees of the organization.

Gaines Gets Hatchet

Richard Gaines yesterday was signed for the role of George Washington in "Unconquered" at Paramount. Search has been on for several months by producer Cecil B. DeMille for an actor to portray Washington as a militia colonel at the age of 31.

TREASURY DRIVE FOR TAXES FROM RADIO REPORTED

up clam tight on the radio matter but it is figured in some quarters that big name radio entertainers may have incorporated to duck paying the high income tax rates.

It would be a simple matter for a radio star to incorporate for the duration of a year's contract and then dissolve the corporation at the end of the contract period paying only the 25 per cent corporate gains tax. New corporation could then be formed for the following year.

BANKRUPTCIES SEEN

At the same time a string of Hollywood bankruptcies was seen as the result if the government wins back taxes on single picture corporations through court action. On the Hollywood bankruptcy angle it is understood here that only a few who made big money via independent production salted away some just in case the Government ruled them wrong on paying the 25 per cent capital gains tax. Large bulk of the producers, directors, stars and writers spent it just as fast as they made it.

WAY TO END DEBT

Result is that the bulk of the one-pic people probably do not have the money to pay up the difference between the 25 per cent capital gains tax and the 80 to 90 per cent personal income tax plus the six per cent interest charged by the Revenue Bureau.

Tax claims, like private debts, are wiped out through bankruptcy, although taxes are first lien on the assets of the person going through the ringer. Thus the easiest way out for some of the biggest names in filmdom is seen as bankruptcy and some are expected to take advantage of it.

Brooke's Star Role

Hilary Brooke draws third starring role in Preston Sturges' "Vendetta," joining Faith Domergue and de George in other two top parts. Starting date has been set back from Aug. 5 to Aug. 12, picture to roll at Samuel Goldwyn studio.

OBITUARY

JENNIE TORRIANI

Jennie Torriani, 79, concert soprano and vocal coach, died at her Hollywood home yesterday. Private funeral services will be held tomorrow at Forest Lawn. Among the survivors are a daughter, Aimee Torriani, radio writer, a grandson, David Hanna, Daily News columnist, and a granddaughter.

DIVESTITURE OF BIG FIVE HOUSES SEEN

Washington, July 30.—Predicting that the Supreme Court "doubtless" will order total divestiture of the Big Five Theatres, the Allied States Association of Exhibitors told indie exhibitors today that they can't make the New York court reverse itself on auction selling.

Allied, in a statement, urged the indies to keep "cool heads and steady hands" pending the appeal.

"We can dismiss at once," said the statement, "the naive notion that the court, having made findings of widespread law violation and having with great deliberation provided what it conceives to be an appropriate remedy can now be persuaded to change its views by resolutions or plebiscites."

In an attached 12,000-word analysis of the New York decision Abram F. Myers, general counsel for Allied declared that although the indies were not satisfied with the remedy the majors had nevertheless suffered a heavy defeat.

Independent exhibitors, he wrote, should not allow their disappointment over the refusal of the court to grant total divestiture or to provide other measures advocated by them to obscure the fact that the major companies have suffered a humiliating defeat by far the worst in their numerous tilts with the law.

"So many of their practices were condemned that they can no longer claim to have a legal method of doing business."

Substitution of auction selling for divorcement was called "treating a cancer with headache pills."

Metro Product In NY Freed By Skouras

New York, July 30.—Metro product, held up in the Greater New York area in which George Skouras operates, is freed as result of a deal reached during the past week, with immediate playing time assigned to "The Green Years." While the haggle was on Skouras resorted to reissues or repeats.

WASHINGTON HULLABALOO

By FLORENCE S. LOWE

Washington, July 30.—Well, Congress breaks out of Washington this weekend and heads home until next January, leaving Hollywood still hale, hearty and unbruised despite the threats which the legislators threw around.

Even the Rankin Un-American Activities Committee has failed to show anything wrong with the film colony, despite Rankin's horrendous grimaces and loud language. All in all, it might be said that this session of the Congress annoyed the film capital less than any in recent years.

Word has been received that the Bavaria Filmkunst Studios have been inspected by our occupation authorities and found capable of handling actual production after minor preparations. Along with this comes the news that a manufacturing firm in Frankfurt has received four tons of nitro-cellulose cotton from the British as a first consignment on a contract for 20 tons and will shortly begin producing film base.

With 700,000 meters of motion picture raw stock available in the Soviet zone for use by Bavaria Filmkunst Studios, plus more in sight, pix production should start rolling soon.

Despite some reports to the contrary, State Department is still very much in the dark about what the Italians intend to do when the present film import agreement expires at the end of this year. The Italian Government intends to review the situation toward the end of the year.

Our people are willing to start work on a new agreement at any time, but the Italians have not indicated any interest and the general belief here is that it is too early to start thinking about what is in the future.

Ben Washer, Sam Goldwyn's rep, in from New York, heard Evelyn Tyner, local pianiste, at the Statler and commented, "She ought to be in pictures." If that means anything . . . The new "dignified" publicity campaign for Jane Russell brought her to town to visit relatives and do some swimming in the pool with the disabled vets at the Walter Reed Army hospital. Bathing suit art, from high angles, flooded the town's press and, brother, if that cheese cake picture gallery is dignity, back to Russell Birdwell . . . Ethel Waters skedded for a local negro nitery around Labor Day . . . Ike and Harry Katz setting up an exchange for reissues here along the lines of those they already operate in New Orleans, Atlanta and Memphis . . . Belle Fenstock, well known composer who did the score for Billy Rose's Aquacade, has just had her "American Rhapsody" published and is hard at work on her first concerto. She is Mrs. J. C. Brown, wife of the chief of Metro's "News of the Day" shop here . . . Lanny Ross was the hit of the season in his appearance last week with the National Symphony at its final outdoor pop concert . . . National theatre, D.C.'s only legit house, and Sidney Lust's Hippodrome, which goes in for long hair pix, both joined the ranks of the air-conditioned last week, making it practically unanimous in town.

Prices on rentals of musical instruments went off the OPA control list last week . . . Gordon Swarthout, former head of motion picture section of Army Public Relations, back in civvies and working for Paramount in N.Y. where he joined Curtis Mitchell, his former chief . . . William Wells, in Geneva to lay the groundwork for film activities at the UNRRA Council meeting, is arranging a theatrical preem for "Out of the Ruins," famine pic made by Canadian Film Board . . . Understand March of Time will have men at the meeting to work on a famine subject on the orders of boss Henry Luce . . . Russians recently preemed a new opera in Leningrad based on the first part of Leo Tolstoy's "War and Peace" . . . New theatre for Soviet naval officers being completed at Tallinn. It will seat 800 . . . Total number of film houses now operating in the American zone of occupation in Germany is up to 674. In addition, 354 theatre-music licenses have been issued.

Most lavish show yet tried by the Army-sponsored Ernie Pyle Production unit was Gilbert and Sullivan's "Mikado" staged at the Ernie Pyle theatre in Tokyo. Cast numbered 65, including Army personnel. This was the initial production of "Mikado" in Japan. It had been banned because of the comic portrayal of the emperor . . . Warner's highly successful celebration of the 20th anniversary of sound was climaxed here today with a brass hat luncheon screening of "Night and Day" . . . Mary Losey, John Grierson's rep here, and Arch Mercey, OWMR pix specialist, are supplying information to Rep. Helen Gahagan Douglas for a speech on rural film libraries to be made before a House committee reviewing the subject.

Government film workers are watching with interest the progress of Farm Films, headed by Charles Dana Bennett. Ostensibly to raise the standard of sponsored films for rural audiences, and openly speaking for the farm lobby, outfit will distribute free. Most interesting angle is that Farm Films will be in direct competition with the highly successful Department of Agriculture pix program. Agriculture charges for its films. No indication yet of the first subject on the new company's agenda.

Hull to Strawhat

Henry Hull washes up his role in Benedict Bogeaus' "A Miracle Can Happen" today and leaves end of week for Wakefield, R.I., to star in "Dear Brutus" presentation of Matnuck Summer Theatre.

JACK KAPP IN ON SITE SEARCH

Decca Records plans erection of new super headquarters here. Jack Kapp, Decca chieftain, arrived yesterday from New York and will begin this week seeking site. Move, following in wake of Capitol's reconstructed Vine and Sunset site, and furthered by plans of Columbia Records for similar activity, points up musical growth of Hollywood to position of running neck and neck with New York.

It's likely that in new building Decca will house its World Broadcasting, transcription subsidiary; recording activities now located in studios at 5505 Melrose, and its distributing offices, now located at 1865 Cordova, in addition to executive offices.

Processing plant, at La Brea and Romaine, probably will remain where it is, since structure represents considerable investment, and because that end of business requires considerable space.

World offices are now at 1000 No. Seward. Land has been acquired for construction of new Columbia offices, studios and plant at Robertson and Beverly Boulevard. Actual start of work has not been set but it's likely that work will start by Fall when building restrictions loosen.

Norah Bayes Body Reinterred Near Spouse

New York, July 30. — Norah Bayes' body was removed from its receiving vault and interred in Woodlawn cemetery today 18 years after her death. The singer, who died in 1928, was laid at final rest beside the body of her fifth husband, Benjamin Friedland, who died last Spring.

Par Gets 'Gentlemen'

"Gentlemen, You Are Mad," a novel by Pierrepont B. Noyes, which was first published in 1927 and predicted the atomic bomb, has been submitted to Paramount for possible filming at the request of producer Charles Brackett. The book, which has an introduction by Bernard Baruch, is being re-published by Baxter Freres.

DISNEY SCG UNIT OK'S COMMITTEE

Walt Disney Productions put the nix on Screen Car-oonists Guild's offer of a so-ution to studio's present eco-omic difficulties. In a reply sent esterday to Maurice Howard, SCG usiness agent, John F. Reeder, Disney vice-prexy and general manager, declared cartoonists' offer failed to take into consideration studio's financial condition which made it impossible to continue full scale operations.

Disney unit of Screen Cartoonists Guild wired studio last night agreement to setting up of a fact-finding committee, but repeated stand that lay-offs must not take place tonight or at any time until negotiations are completed.

Studio proposes to establish a fact-finding committee of 12, made up of both union reps and employes

Matty Fox Sez Trust Edict Brought Merge

New York, July 31.—The anti-trust decision dictated the merger of Universal and International and the absorption of United World Pictures, Matty Fox, UWP president, said today. With the entire character of the Universal program changed by the court ruling, Fox said it would have been uneconomical to have two sales forces selling top products.

Expansion of sales forces by all majors is called for by the decision and it would have been costly for UWP and Univer-

FILM LIBRARY BILL DOOMED

Washington, July 31.—The bill providing film storage buildings for the Library of Congress and the national archives appears to be dead for this session. Rep. Fritz Lanham (D., Tex.), floor manager of the Legislation has been striving unsuccessfully to get it up in the House for action.

Even if the House should pass it tomorrow or Friday there would be no time for the Senate to act since Congress quits cold Friday evening. The pending bill would set up $1,160,000 for architectural work on the project and for construction of the initial unit.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

PLAN of the Motion Picture Theatre Operating Managers & Assistant Managers, a New York guild, to move for a federal charter from the American Federation of Labor will probably set the pattern for local theatre managers union in seeking an affiliation outside of its present Teamsters Union charter. New York guild has asked the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes for a charter, but was turned down at the IA convention in Chicago last week. After the nix, Robert Dunn, prexy of guild, announced group would apply directly to AFL for a federal charter. Local managers union, known as Theatrical Service Drivers & Helpers, Local 266, Teamsters, is understood to have favored a switch to the IA, but with IA turning down New York group, will probably make a try for AFL charter. Matter of withdrawal from Teamsters is still to be taken up with that union's heads.

ROBERT Riskin has trashed idea of producing "Johnny Appleseed" as one of his three pictures for RKO release. Although character is in public domain and no one owns any rights to it, producer, after he announced intention of including it in his program, was deluged with novels, booklets, plays and reams of research material from both friends and strangers, with offers pouring in from many others. Matter has become so complicated that Riskin decided best out, in view of later possible suits if he unconsciously used any of this material in his own research, would be to forget the whole thing. Besides, Walt Disney is including character in a sequence of one of his forthcoming features, and Groucho Marx is reported having a play written for him revolving around legendary figure.

PARAMOUNT will maintain present production, Henry Ginsberg, studio production chief, announced yesterday, upon his return from huddles with home office execs in New York. Coming season's program will include 16 top-budget films, same number as company turned out last year. This will be in addition to three to be produced by Hal Wallis, and seven on Pine-Thomas' regular schedule. Company presently has backlog of 29 pictures unreleased, which puts it in organization's strongest position in several years.

REPORT that Bob Weitman, managing director of New York Paramount, was being transferred to Par studio was denied last night by Henry Ginsberg. Story was that Weitman, one of Par hierarchy's fair-haired, was, because of his successful handling of labor situations in east, destined for labor relations post here. "He's a showman and belongs where he is," said Ginsberg, "and, furthermore, he's under contract to Paramount Theatres."

FCC INQUIRY SIDETRACKED

Washington, July 31.—The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee took no action today on a resolution to probe FCC. A spokesman for committee chairman Burton Wheeler said the members discussed but did nothing about Senator Charles Tobey's resolution to investigate FCC's alleged control of radio programs.

The Tobey resolution would have opened to Congressional scrutiny FCC's entire licensing policies and its decision to shift FM broadcasting upward in the radio spectrum. Tobey was out of town today but declared earlier he would reintroduce the resolution next session if it failed this time.

Genius At Work

(Comedy)

RKO RELEASE. Executive producer, Sid Rogell. Producer, Herman Schlom. Director, Leslie Goodwins. Original screenplay, Robert E. Kent, Monte Brice. Photography, Robert de Grasse. Musical director, C. Bakaleinikoff. Special effects, Vernon L. Walker. Art direction, Albert S. D'Agostino, Ralph Berger. Set decorations, Darrell Silvera. Sound, Richard Van Hessen, Roy Granville. Editor, Marvin Coil. Gowns, Renie. Assistant director, Harry D'Arcy.

CAST — Stars Wally Brown and Alan Carney. Features Anne Jeffreys, Lionel Atwill. Supporting players, Bela Lugosi, Marc Cramer, Ralph Dunn.

TRADESHOWN at RKO Hillstreet Theatre, Los Angeles, Calif., July 29, 1946. Running time: 61 MINS.

"Genius at Work" is run-of-the-mill programmer, teaming Wally Brown and Alan Carney in star spots, dull moments far outnumbering its laughs. Comedy picks up in final reel, when comics and heavies, plus detectives, retire to a narrow ledge high above the street and battle out their differences, with audience frequently holding its breath. Plot in original screenplay by Robert E. Kent and Monte Brice is given acceptable motivation, but material for top entertainment simply isn't there.

Brown and Carney are pair of radio detectives who appear weekly on "Crime-of-the-Week" air show, written by Anne Jeffreys. Scripter is assisted in her writing, which generally gives true story behind the story of the crime, by Lionel Atwill, celebrated criminologist, who actually is The Cobra, the criminal who is perpetuating all the heinous deeds. How boys and the gal bring criminologist to justice forms basis of plot.

Stars present their usual brand of comedy, Brown as the slick one and Carney the dumbbell, and manage to get themselves involved in all manner of predicaments. Home of Atwill is a veritable chamber of horrors, with its wax figures and historic instruments of torture. During one of broadcasts, Atwill and his assistant, Bela Lugosi, use blowgun to kill one of company on stage, an act which, when repeated later, brings the police down upon them, but not until action unfolds teeteringly on building ledge.

Atwill and Lugosi provide suitable menace, but are made too much on buffoon side. Miss Jeffreys is pretty though unconvincing radio writer and Marc Cramer is detective lieutenant. Whether they fall for one another as intended, remains a mystery after film winds up.

Herman Schlom as producer gave production appropriate physical values and Leslie Goodwins did best he could in his direction with script at hand. Robert de Grasse's photography is well handled, other departments stacking up correspondingly.

Marcal Going All-Deluxe As 'Outlaw' Grosses Soar

Marcal theatre, currently screening "The Outlaw" as a moveover first run, will launch full-fledged first run policy with its next bill. Galston & Sutton, operators of the 800-seat Hollywood boulevard theatre, plan extensive refurbishing, including re-seating and redecorating, to make over into de luxe class.

Galston & Sutton, who lean heavily on exploitation showmanship, will use same methods for selling Marcal's new screen bills as was used at the Hawaii before it went into the Music Hall circuit as an exclusive United Artists outlet. Galston & Sutton have been considering plan for some time, feeling town needs an exploitation operation where selected pictures that might be brushed off in normal runs can be given specialized treatment and draw larger returns.

OUTLAW GROSS CITED

Indication of success Marcal will probably have under new operation is the run of "The Outlaw." Film has grossed $44,700 in six weeks at the house and the sixth week was larger than fifth. It started seventh frame yesterday. Al Galston, partner with Jay Sutton in ownership of the Hawaii, Marcal, Beverly Hills Music Hall and other houses, predicts that the Howard Hughes production will still be playing the Marcal for some months to come. On basis of past six weeks and continuing run, Galston expects to pay better than $50,000 film rental for the Marcal booking on "Outlaw."

CONSTANT BO RISE

Strength of the Hughes film is amazing considering fact that it had played for 11 weeks in the four Music Halls before moving over to the Marcal. The third week of current run was better than the second. The fifth surpassed the fourth and sixth beat the fifth. Galston predicts eighth will be greater than seventh frame. Results have been obtained with the same advertising-exploitation budget for each week, but copy changes and other switches are keeping public interest high.

"Outlaw" pulled record gross of $470,000 for its 11 weeks at the Music Halls and the take so far at the Marcal means film has grossed $514,700 for local run, with no end in sight yet.

Last month Lorraine obtained 25 per cent slices of each outfit from Leff, who owned companies outright until that time. Meanwhile, ARA itself, which Leff has been trying to sell for two weeks, has yet to be peddled. No unreported deals pend.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The British proposal for Palestine looks good offhand. But when you realize that the Zionist district would be but 1500 square miles, less than the area of Los Angeles County, it's realized that it is little more than another ghetto, an area that would probably have to be supported from now on by charity. Furthermore, the port of Telaviv, the main Jewish city—Jaffa—would be Arab. There can be no question but that the four-zone idea will not appeal to the Jews, because it freezes them in a most limited area, and would end the "home for the Jews" idea. The central government would have complete authority, handling defense, foreign affairs, police, prisons, telegraph and telephone, broadcasting, customs, courts, the railway and port facilities at Haifa, and excise taxes. The speaker of each province assembly would be appointed by the British and no bill could become law without his approval, and the executive council of ministers in the provinces would be appointed by the British high commissioner. The problem is pressing. It may be hot summer now, but another winter is not far off, and if the 100,000 Jews are still in internment camps for another winter, anything can happen. There's tension, as a result of that and of general economic conditions, all through Europe, too. What can be done? It's been proposed that Transjordan and Palestine be made one state, thus increasing the Arab population predominance, and that the resulting state be neither called a Jewish or Arab state, but that each be protected by a proposal like that for India. To aid the Arabs, there might also be that proposed United States grant to them.

The Black Angel

(Melodrama)

UNIVERSAL RELEASE. Producers, Tom McKnight and Roy William Neill. Director, Roy William Neill. Screenplay by Roy Chanslor. Based on the novel by Cornell Woolrich. Photography, Paul Ivano. Art direction, Jack Otterson and Martin Obzina. Set decorations, Russell A. Gausman and E. R. Robinson. Special photography by D. S. Horsley. Assistant director, Charles S. Gould. Musical score, Frank Skinner. Songs by Jack Brooks and Edgar Fairchild. Sound, Bernard B. Brown. Technician, Joe Lapis. Gowns, Vera West. Makeup, Jack P. Pierce. Dialogue director, Raymond Kessler. Film editor, Saul A. Goodkind.

CAST—Dan Duryea, June Vincent, Peter Lorre, Broderick Crawford, Wallace Ford, Hobart Cavanaugh, Constance Dowling, Freddie Steele, Ben Bard, John Phillips, Junius Matthews, Maurice St. Clair, Vilova, Pat Starling.

PREVIEWED at Universal Studios, Studio City, Cal., July 31, 1946. Running time: 80 MINS.

"The Black Angel" is closely plotted whodunit, tight with suspense, lightened with romance and blessed with that rare element in film murder mysteries — a surprise ending that is as plausible as it is unexpected. Dan Duryea, Peter Lorre and June Vincent are names for the marquee and the show is good enough to keep the customers coming after they've once started.

The story starts with Constance Dowling effectively asking for murder and getting it. From there on in the audience is treated to some excellently acted detective work of both the amateur and professional kind.

Dan Duryea and June Vincent, the latter as the wife of the innocent man sentenced for the murder, work together to prove the duly constituted detective (Broderick Crawford as head of the homicide squad) wrong. They succeed excitingly and the yarn gets its final filip when they prove themselves wrong, too—the actual killer turning out to be the man Duryea might have suspected from the start but didn't.

Lorre figures as one of the most promisingly sinister murder suspects of recent whodunits, putting on a characteristically good performance.

Duryea scores heavily in his portrayal of the drunken, songwriter husband of the murdered woman. He and Miss Vincent make the romance that doesn't quite jell for her convincing. And the songwriter angle is plausible planting for sequences in which they team up as a night club act and Miss Vincent sultrily vocalizes a couple of Jack Brooks-Edgar Fairchild songs.

Supporting cast is all to the good with Wallace Ford and Hobart Cavanaugh earning a special hand.

Roy William Neill gathers kudos both as co-producer with Tom Knight and as director of the piece. He and Knight have fashioned a good, entertaining show within the limits of a modest budget. Neill's direction gets top value out of the first-class Roy Chanslor script.

Photography of Paul Ivano matches up well to the quality of the drama.

Monica, Brentwood Nabe Theatres Sold

CAGNEY BUYS PART OF GENERAL SERVICE LOT

Purchase of a large piece of General Service Studios, Inc., by Cagney Productions and arrangements for the latter firm to move on to the General Service lot were announced yesterday by William Cagney and Benedict Bogeaus, General Service topper.

Under the deal Cagney Productions gets permanent stage space on the lot and plans to move over from present quarters at the Goldwyn studio next January.

William Cagney yesterday was made a director of General Service and elected vice president of the company. Other officers of General Service are C. J. Tevlin, president and treasurer; Sam Weisenthal, secretary, and Bogeaus and Tevlin, directors.

Amount of General Service stock bought by the Cagney interests was not stated but is understood to be a 45 per cent interest.

White Pleads Guilty, Major Charges Dropped

San Diego, July 31. — George White copped a plea and two charges of manslaughter against him were dropped by District Attorney Whelan. White pleaded guilty to technical hit and run driving. Whelan emphasized that investigating officers agree that had White stayed on the scene of the accident he would not even have been arrested.

THE GRAPEVINE: Metro has begun the reconversion of Lana Turner, who will be groomed as another Mary Pickford. First step in this demure direction will be a re-make of Mary's old starrer "Coquette," which Robert Lord will produce as his first under the Metro banner. The studio is also looking for other vehicles which will show Lana as a sweet, pure and wholesome small town girl, and not a naughty, naughty girl with a butcher knife in hand like she was in "The Postman Always Rings Twice." From now on, the studio will also attempt to have her portrayed in publicity along the Pickford lines . . . Susanna Foster planed in yesterday, picked up a script, read it, planed back to San Francisco hours later—all without a hint to her intentions . . . Fellow actors of a big male star are disgusted the way he knuckles under to his wife. He won't make a move until she checks all angles . . . The Robert Aldas are motoring back from New York and personal appearances in a new station wagon . . . Looked like a gigantic picnic on Wilshire boulevard yesterday. RKO's "Katie for Congress" is shooting scenes for a political rally at the Wilshire Ebell theatre, with 850 members of cast and crew and extras at work. They aren't permitted to eat in the chaste confines of the theatre, so they break out their lunches all over the boulevard, and hundreds of passersby halt and tie up traffic to gape at the film picnickers . . . Bette Davis has gone into the ceramics business at Laguna, which is incidentally the country's ceramic center.

CALL SHEET: JOAN CRAWFORD knows there's a lumber shortage now. Someone stole a wooden bumper from the rear of her new sedan . . . CHUY REYES and his orchestra will open the new night club Cantinflas is building in Mexico City . . . LOU HARRIS auditioned nine fire-eaters for a role in his Technicolor two-reeler at Paramount, "Masque Ball." Maurice J. McLaughlin won when he shot out a tongue of flame 14 feet long from his mouth . . . FRANCES LANGFORD, touring 40 veterans' hospitals, will compile a Purple Heart album from polling wounded vets on their song favorites . . . ROBERT RYAN, turning cowboy actor in RKO's "Trail Street," has bought the western wardrobe of the silent star, Fred Thompson . . . SONNY TUFTS has recovered from housemaid's knee after four days of filming a crap-shooting sequence in "Swell Guy" . . . LES BROWN says inflation is the state of being flat broke when your pockets are bulging with money . . . IRVING MILLS is taking it easy at Arrowhead Springs . . . DINAH SHORE ought to get a break in all that ballyhoo about "The Strange Love of Martha Ivers" breaking records at the NY Paramount. It's just possible that America's No. 1 girl singer is responsible for a few of those shekels coming into the b.o. . . . GENE RAYMOND, DIANA LYNN and HERBERT J. YATES are among the Hollywoodites American Airlining to New York in the next few days.

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Star on a valley lot is really taking it big. Her latest edict is that studio employes can't eat their lunch under the windows of her dressing room because their innocent chatter annoys her. She has now posted a studio cop to scatter the lower classes and preserve her meditations from the rabble . . . "Night and Day" preem tonight will draw the biggest tails and ermine representation since the war . . . RKO says "Desirable Woman" has not been shelved, but will be previewed in about three weeks under the new title "Woman on the Beach" . . . Mitchell Leisen and Marlene Dietrich will be reunited as a director-star team for the first time in 12 years in "Golden Earrings" . . . Lionel Barrymore thought his piano had gone a little flat, and called in a piano tuner for examination. The piano tuner's diagnosis was: "I extracted from the piano five pencils, two rubber erasers, one etching stylus, two pads of music paper. From all appearances your pet cat has been using the strings as a bed at night" . . . Wally Rawles, once Pacific Coast manager of I.N.S. and lately public relations director of Forest Lawn, has been named executive secretary of the Wilshire Center business district. As Mr. Rawles put it himself, "Press Agent Escapes Alive" . . . The "Erskine Johnson Gives Away Robert Cummings" contest over 200 Mutual network stations has ended, with the actor going to Mrs. Edith Vincent, of Delmar, Delaware. Mrs. Vincent has a prosaic use for Mr. Cummings. He will plane to Delmar to work for one day behind the counter of her husband's grocery store.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: After a five-year hiatus, the B-girls are back grubbing around the Main Street dives. The blowsy brigade, which helps relieve the lesser playboys of their hard-earned wine and beer money, had been banned by police edict . . . Hard-luck-in-hot-weather note: Photogs from Metro and Life journeyed to Anaheim yesterday in the ghastly heat to take shots of an old Stanley Steamer in connection with the studio's "Summer Holiday" exploitation. They had to monkey around all day to get the pressure up to 400 pounds so the old teakettle would get rolling . . . Wynn Rocamora is planning a touring company to present "Carmen," with Patricia Morison in the title role . . . Mervyn Leroy and David O. Selznick are negotiating with Paul Henreid to play opposite Jennifer Jones in "Little Women." He would play the professor, enacted in the previous film version by Paul Lukas . . . OFF THE LOTS: The John Waynes hosting a party at California Cabana Club. Rudy Vallee has redecorated his Palm Springs house . . . Barry Fitzgerald, his cronies say, once set out to be an artist and moved to Paris to take up his career. Somehow that Dublin kisser under a beret, plus velvet smock and flowing tie, is too much to contemplate on a hot day . . . The Pied Pipers drive into town next week after a 7000-mile p.a. tour . . . Gordon Jones was complaining to Danny Kaye that he had bought a couple of geese but couldn't find the lumber to build a pen. Meanwhile he's been keeping them on the back porch of his ranch house. Quipped Kaye: "Oh, Portuguese, eh?" . . . Obviously he saves his better material for film, stage and radio.—D.D.T.

EMOTE GABBERS CALE LEFT UP O PARLEYS

Abandoning plan to set up arbi- irily scales for announcers working remote musical pickups from ball- oms, niteries, etc., American Fed- ation of Radio Artists yesterday clared matter will be left open to gotiation. Second meeting with llroom operators is in offing, following initial failure of great major- / to show at AFRA-called meeting discuss establishment of regular ay rates for gabber chores.

Union at first decided on scale it evised when managers failed to iow. Beefs immediately followed, ith managers stating scale was iuch too high, that cost would be icked over to networks and stations, r announcers—if not remote broad- asts themselves — removed as too ostly.

Notices were to have been sent ut Monday detailing scale. However, nion will make second attempt to each more generally agreeable terms nd call second meeting with ops of alladium, Aragon and Earl Carroll's.

Toppers Sought For V-J Hospital Program

Invitations will be sent out today by Motion Picture Coordinating Committee to top motion picture and radio personalities to appear at V-J Day observance ceremonies, to be held at three Southern California Veterans Administration hospitals Sunday, Aug. 11. Kirby Quits Par On Keep Moving Order

New York, July 31.—John Kirby, southeastern district sales manager for Paramount, is resigning as a result of the company order for all field sales heads to keep moving through their territory. He is reported to be receiving plenty of offers for a new affiliation, including one from David O. Selznick.

NICHOLS WILL MEG INDEPENDENT'S 3RD

"This Is the Life," which Dudley Nichols will direct from his own original screenplay, is Independent Artists' third announced picture. Nichols, who arrives from New York on Monday, following confabs with Eugene O'Neill on picturization of "Mourning Becomes Electra," will do picture following completion of "Electra" for RKO.

No releasing deal yet has been set for new company, of which Fred Brisson is prexy, and includes, besides Nichols, Rosalind Russell and Frank Vincent, but talks have been going on with Universal, RKO and Columbia. Understood that Nate Blumberg, prexy of Universal Pictures, Inc., sent word to Cliff Work, at studio, last week from London, to continue negotiations with Brisson, and that he would top any offer from other majors.

LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

Talent is where you find it and the pasture sometimes is just as green in your own backyard as in yon meadow. Picture studios discovered some time ago that potential timber is to be found among secretaries and on the back lot and more than one star found the springboard to fame in the humble confines of a studio cubicle. Now comes NBC to seize upon the idea of looking over its own premises to see what lurks around the edges. Idea has been nurtured by Homer Canfield and became a reality with establishment of the NBC Cooperative Workshop, which last night gave its second non-broadcast performance. Cast and entire production setup was drawn from the studio "payroll" and ambitious youngsters given their first opportunity under the watchful eye of the network's production crew. If out of the series comes one or two players or directors or writers of promise the incubation process will have been well worth the effort. Show business attracts youngsters with a theatrical bent and this project gives them the chance they've been spoiling for. It will be interesting to note the results of the Co-Op Workshop a few weeks hence.

The atom bomb has blown Buck Rogers back into radio. Shunted from the ether back in '38 when his following deserted him because of a change in heroics, he has been content to roam the planets on his creator's drawing board. Buck was going quite well up to the time that CBS ruled he would not be allowed to joust with men but that he could fight the forces of nature. The kids wouldn't go for such denatured antics and quit him. Now with the world up to its ears in atomic energy it dawned on Walter Craig, radio chief of Benton & Bowles to bring Buck back. That he did and General Foods sponsors. Network hasn't been picked but CBS, having rescinded the old ruling, has as good a chance as any of landing the serial strip.

Chain breaks . . . Back east they're whispering that Noble's niece may be the next Mrs. Adrian Samish . . . Inter-American Radio Congress will be held in Mexico City starting Sept. 30 . . . If Mike Kirk doesn't land the Texaco billing for Kudner it won't be because he hasn't tried. His latest pitch is with Robert Montgomery in a series of Raymond Chandler chillers . . . Shirley Mitchell has been nipped by the stage bug and will pass the coming season in New York. Which will make a lot of AFRA kids happy . . . Chuck Rinker is in NY with the Cliff Arquette platter. It's a cross between "Glamour Manor" and the Mr. Fix It comedy premise of Mel Blanc's new Colgate stanza . . . Reason Dale Evans was not renewed by Durante-Moore is because her studio commitments would not permit her to be in NY with the show for four weeks in early fall . . . Sid Fox, owner of NBC's affiliate in Salt Lake, will be the first to break television in the mountain states.

It came to this pillar's attention through the regular trade news channels and might have been tossed into the waste basket had not a vagrant thought crossed our mind at the time. The announcement merely said, "Bowey's has renewed sponsorship of "Stars Over Hollywood" for the sixth year." You've probably never heard it in all the years it has been on CBS but the fact that the client (Dari-Rich Products) takes up the option year in and out is much more important. That it has an audience and moves merchandise cannot be disputed and it has many parallels in radio. What earns it this paragraph is the fact that it points up the fallacy that if it comes from Hollywood it has to be a big glamor show. True it uses film players of modest stipend but its success is more a matter of careful writing and production than stars in your ears. There are scads of picture players in the featured brackets who are as air-worthy as the stellar constellation of big names and do a job to boot. But the prevailing impression seems to be that to the stars belong the spoils and let the lesser lights fend for themselves.

Hitch hikes . . . To guard against too rapid expansion and for personal reasons, too, the new agency firm of Sullivan, Stauffer, Colwell & Bayles has already turned down $2,000,000 in time and space. WAR DEPT. NAMES LORENTZ AS PIC UNIT HEAD listment of personnel to hold key positions in organization. At present, he is trying to recruit 34 top film editors and production men who will hold positions all over the world. He is looking to Hollywood and studios here to supply him with personnel, to number over 100, which will include administrative officers and technicians. Veterans are to be given preference.

Lorentz will make both features and newsreels in his own unit, which will utilize seized studios abroad, in Munich, Vienna, Salzburg and Tokyo. Recruited personnel will be sent to these studios to make pictures, according to present plans.

Unit already has commitment to produce 120 reels of documentary film, to be sent to Germany, Austria and Japan, as well as other enemy nations for re-orientation of population there. It will shortly send 2,000 projectors to Germany and Japan, to be set up for wide schoolroom program of re-education.

In his new capacity, Lorentz will be in charge of approving all features and newsreels shown in all occupied countries, as well as having power to purchase films and order production of films for shipment overseas.

Film and Theatre Unit is one section of War Department's program for re-orientating the enemy. Other branches include Magazines and Newspapers, Educational and Religion, and Special Projects. Maj. Gen. Oliver Echols is overall chief of the four sections.

Parentz's unit will be divided into five divisions, newsreel, story, Pacific, European and Theatre. Unit will be enlarged in personnel later.

Sutherland to Film State Dept. Short

Sutherland Productions has been commissioned by State Department to make one-reel live-action short, tagged "Woodlot Wisdom." Film is to be part of U.S. Forest Service's reforestation and conservation program, for export to different countries of the world, to show how waste lands can be converted into practical growing areas.

METRO IS FIRM ON FLACK DISCHARGES

Metro has no intention of retreating from its position on the discharge of five ex-G. I.'s, all of whom were members of the studio publicity department, it was declared yesterday. Studio contends dismissals were for cause, charging quintets' work was not satisfactory.

Conflicting statement on studio position came from the American Veterans Committee, which asserted that William Walsh, studio industrial relations director, had promised to give an answer on whether or not Metro would re-instate the veterans by Saturday. Two attorneys for AVC visited studio yesterday, talking with Walsh and the five vets and declared there was no evidence to support their discharge. AVC plans participating, as a friend of the court, in a suit against studio charging violation of G. I. Bill of Rights.

RAW STOCK LACK SOLE SNAG TO BIG MART IN FRANCE

New York, July 31.—Insufficient raw stock for dubbed versions is only thing holding up distribution of American films in France, Harold L. Smith, MPA representative in France, announced upon his arrival here today.

Otherwise, the Blum-Byrnes pact, operative July 1, is paving way to a lucrative market, with 16 U.S.-subtitled pictures already distributed since starting date.

Flow of features slated for dubbing in France will begin on a large scale Sept. 1, official decree legalizing Blum-Byrnes pact the only formality, according to Smith, which is guaranteed by government pledges. Pact is not subject to ratification by the Assembly, although only the Communists would oppose it there.

Problem of coin remittances from France, Smith said, depends upon negotiations between top-level American and French diplomats now in progress.

MARCH OF DIMES, RED CROSS SPURN ONCE-A-YEAR DRIVE

New York, July 31.—March of Dimes and the Red Cross have flatly refused to participate in once-a-year collection drives. M.O.D. advised industry officials that the American Theatres Association's resolution for single drives was a contradiction of the industry's promise to Franklin D. Roosevelt before the 1945 M.O.D. campaign. The blanket drive would be disastrous, they say, since it would lack the dramatic appeal of the fight against polio.

The Red Cross has decided to go on, passing the theatre plate on a local basis. M.O.D. is still hopeful for a revocation of the idea and is continuing negotiations with film toppers.

NAT'L CHILDRENS THEATRE MEET IN SEATTLE OPENING

Seattle, July 31.—Children's theatre people from all over the nation will be drawn here for the first National Children's Theatre Conference of the American Educational Theatre Association, August 2-5, at the University of Washington. Virginia Lee Comer is director of the conference, Mrs. George Savage is assistant director, and national leaders who are scheduled to attend include Charlotte B. Chorpenning of the Goodman theatre, Chicago; Winifred Ward, Northwestern U.; Roy Morgan, Palo Alto; Gloria Chandler, consultant on radio for the Junior Leagues; and Helen Platt, Portland radio script writer. Localites who will be featured include Margaret Barry, Aurand Harris and Glenn Hughes, U of W school of drama.

The children's conference will be marked by a nation-wide radio broadcast over KOMO, NBC, on Saturday, August 3.

The conference is being held in conjunction with the second annual Northwest Writer's Conference, July 29-August 9, which will cover all branches of writing, including television, and which has a number of prominent writers, critics, editors, publishers representatives, etc., scheduled for participation.

Richard Hubbell will lead the talks on television; critics include George Freedley; Lili Foldes and J. Donald Adams; writers—Betty MacDonald, Richard Neuberger, Nard Jones, Nancy Wilson Ross and Robert Ormond Case; publishers reps—Ken McCormick, John Selby and Harrison Platt; editors — Margaret Cousins, June Wetherell and Geraldine Rhoads.

STRAWHAT TALENT POOR PICKINGS

New York, July 31.—Film company talent scouts have zig-zagged two-thirds of way through current strawhat season with usual scanty yield. Along Atlantic Coast, summer theatres from Maine to Virginia have been covered, but bag of picture possibilities is small to date. Joe Pincus, of 20th-Fox, sums up majority opinion with, "Established Broadwayites are still the most likely for films; the beginners are not yet ready." Metro and Paramount echo Pincus, but RKO's Arthur Willi sounds a high note, saying he's uncovered five likelies. As a whole situation surprises many who anticipated big crop of new talent bobbing up during first peacetime summer season.

Disney Cartoonist Unit Okeys Committee If Layoff Halted

to make recommendations on possible solution. This proposal and what guild action will be was subject to lengthy discussion last night at meeting of the SCG Disney unit and executive board. Union stand, up to last night's meeting, was that either all of its members, except apprentices, should be reinstated or that none should work.

Action of the Disney unit, plus executive board's recommendation, will be submitted to vote of the general membership at a meeting tonight, which is the date on which lay-offs of better than 45 per cent of Disney employes becomes effective. Unless Disney is able to continue employment for majority of SCG members, it is expected all will vote not to work. This would tie up four Disney productions, now in various stages of completion.

REPLY TO GUILD

Reeder's reply to Guild's offer stated, in part:

"After carefully considering the proposals in your wire we find they do not recognize the present financial condition of the company or the drastically reduced production schedule necessary under our present reorganization plan.

"As a suggestion for your consideration we propose the setting up of a fact-finding committee composed of 12 people as follows: four to be selected by the union, of which three shall be Disney employes, and the fourth the business agent of the Screen Cartoonists Guild. Four Disney employes to be selected by the company, one of whom shall be the personnel director. Four Disney employes to be selected by the above eight.

"The purpose of this committee will be to make recommendations for the solution of our mutual problem. In this manner both the union and the company can continue to make every effort to work out a satisfactory answer."

'Brown Danube' Music Bought for 'Hall'

From the local offices of William LeBaron and Boris Morros yesterday came the announcement of the purchase of the musical novelty, "The Brown Danube," a boogie-woogie waltz, for introduction in "Carnegie Hall." Number was written by Hal Bourne, musical director of Comet Productions. In the picture the number will be performed by William Prince accompanied by the New York Philharmonic Orchestra.

ATTY FOX SEZ .S. EDICT FORCED - INT MERGER

l to build up twin forces. The curnt manpower dearth aggravates the tuation even further.

Fox explained that the London eal entails the transfer of stock but ot money. He would not, for the resent, disclose the financial terms. o stockholders meeting is necessary approve the merger, Universal lawers advised.

U BIDS FOR THEATRES

Universal intends going ahead with ne acquisition of theatres in key pots and hopes to acquire a miniium of 30 showcases, either through ease, purchase or construction. Neotiations are currently under way or several but it may take two or hree years before the total of 30 is eached. Theatres would be operted separately from Universal, a ompany with prexy and other offiials to be set up when enough houses are acquired.

Universal expects no difficulty rom the court in acquiring theatres because it does not intend to control any territory and "one theatre in a community doesn't create a monopoly but helps competition," Fox said.

William Heineman, UWP sales chief, and Monroe Greenthal, head of advertising and publicity, are wanted by Universal to handle the Rank product. It would be handled under a separate executive setup. Neither have committed themselves as to when they will accept Universal offer.

SEPARATE RANK EXECS

While the same sales force will handle Rank product, a separate sales manager will close the deals and direct sales operations independently. Publicity director would also be separate for the advertising and exploitation of Rank product. Universal's product will receive the same treatment in Rank theatres as Rank's own pictures under the deal, Fox stated.

While plans call for 42 pictures next season, the actual total will probably be 37, Fox said. Of these at least 12 will be Rank films, with Universal granted the rights for more should it so desire.

Merger becomes effective Oct. 1 but already plans are under way to make the best use of manpower immediately.

Nate Blumberg, Joseph Seidelman and Robert Benjamin are planing here from London Friday or Saturday. Leo Spitz embarks on the Queen Mary Aug. 7 and J. Cheever Cowdin returns in two weeks.

Army Pix Western Officials Shifted

Seattle, July 31.—Richard Schmidt, western regional manager of the U.S. Army Motion Picture Service, is being transferred to Atlanta, Ga., where he will serve in a similar capacity in that division. Change is effective tomorrow. Torsen Reidar, booker for the western division, is being transferred to San Francisco and George Dorough is coming here to be manager of the Seattle office.

Rodzinsky in 'Hall'

Artur Rodzinsky was signed yesterday to play himself in Boris Morros-William Le Baron's "Carnegie Hall."

Victor Riled At Capitol Move

Victor Records Red Seal division bigwigs' tempers tautened yesterday when they learned that Capitol Records has switched titles on a jumptune disc done by Bobby Sherwood, and when item is released next month it will be tagged "Duel in The Sun." Victor is now prepping, in a tieup with David O. Selznick, an album of the film score of Dimitri Tiomkin, which Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops ork now is cutting. The Capitol jam tune will hit the sales stalls long before the album.

Two months ago, when Sherwood band was playing Avodon ballroom here, crew cut for Capitol a ditty tagged "Bedlam." This is the tune which Cap execs have renamed, obviously to grab some backwash of publicity built up for the film. As far as can be ascertained Selznick International isn't getting drawn into the issue.

Seattle Repertory Fall Season Set

Seattle, July 31.—The Repertory Playhouse will conclude a successful season this week with final performances of "Home of the Brave," and the fall season will open September 16 with an original musical based upon the famous San Juan Islands "Pig War" of 1859.

Sterling Chain Key House Goes Vaude

Seattle, July 31.—Palomar, Sterling chain key house, goes back to vaude this week with Kramer's Midgets featured in the stage show. Chuck Gould's band will again take over the house orchestra chore and will also be featured on stage.

HONOR PORTER AT 'NIGHT' PREEM

State of Indiana, Yale University and other groups and localities identified with Cole Porter in his life and career will be represented tonight at preem of "Night and Day" at Warner's Hollywood Theatre.

R. B. Miller, prexy of Indiana Society of Southern California, will represent Indiana Governor Ralph F. Gates at opening. Gates yesterday wired his felicitations on occasion. Peru, Ind., simultaneously conferred honorary citizenship on Cary Grant, who portrays Porter, Peru's local boy who made good, in "Day." Yale Club of Southern California, as tribute to Porter, who was member of Eli's '13 class, will occupy large block of seats.

LEVY TO NY FOR ANDREWS SISTERS, EYES LONDON DATE

Lou Levy, Leeds Music chieftain as well as personal manager of the Andrews Sisters, flies east tomorrow to huddle with the trio in NY and set autumn spottings. The Andrews still have an old agreement, still to work off, by which they will play four weeks at the NY Paramount for a flat $60,000; the Par wants trio to span month of October. Meanwhile from London, Jimmy Phillips agency has made a bid of $8,500 per week for Sisters to make string of British theatre appearances, with promise take can be doubled by simultaneously working London niteries and flying on Sundays to continent for single shots on Radio Luxembourg. A rather vague series of bids from South America also will be hashed over by Levy and threesome, before autumn plans are made.

Currently, Andrews are laying off after cancelling vaudates on Texas' Interstate circuit, due to Patti Andrews breaking her hand. Levy, who will be gone from Coast office for ten days, last night stated he will not on this jaunt again tackle the exec board of American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers on oft presented pitch to secure for Leeds higher point classification (and hence greater royalty cuts) for his firm. Publisher, after receiving something of a setback recently in going up against the board, is known to be altering approach and preparing new statistics to abet his attack.

10,000 Nightly Seats For 'Central Park'

Mike Todd will offer 10,000 seats nightly at popular prices for his presentation of "Up In Central Park," opening at Hollywood Bowl Sept. 7 and continuing for 22 nights. These seats will be placed on sale for 50 cents and $1.00, former general admission and latter reserved. Scale of prices will be up to $4.00.

Quartet for 'Kissing'

Bill Bailey, Nolan Leery, Monte Treadway and Johnny Scott were signed yesterday by 20th-Fox as quartet for musical number in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now."

'San Antone' Guns

"Trail to San Antone," new Gene Autry saddler, got starting gun yesterday at Lone Pine, under direction of Jack English. Peggy Stewart appears opposite star.

E-L Prez Candidate Will Lamp Studio

Arthur Krim, National Screen Service exec and who has been mentioned as possible choice for presidency of Eagle-Lion, arrives here Friday for a week of conferences with Eagle-Lion production executives. Krim is member of Robert Benjamin legal firm which represents J. Arthur Rank interests in this country and also Robert Young Eagle-Lion interests.

'Coyote' Running

Shooting was started by Comet Productions on "Adventures of Don Coyote" in Cinecolor, company's third feature for United Artists release. Picture is starting on location at Vasquez Rocks, with Buddy Rogers and Ralph Cohn producing, and Reginald LeBorg directing.

UNIVERSAL INDIES SKEDDED TO STAY IN NEW DEAL

Indie units at Universal-International which have producing contracts for release through Universal will remain to complete their various commitments, it was indicated.

These include Mark Hellinger, Walter Wanger, Skirball - Manning, Diana and Mike Todd Productions. All had deals with Universal to produce varying number of pictures annually, and according to producers themselves there is no reason to believe they will not remain to fulfill full terms of their pacts. There is possibility some of terms may be changed, with arrival here of company heads from London confabs.

Arrival of Nate Blumberg, Universal Pictures prexy, is being awaited before any decisions will be made, in regard to change of personnel and duplicating of departments between the old Universal and International. Blumberg is expected to return to New York over weekend, with likelihood he will arrive here within next two weeks.

John Joseph, Universal publicity and advertising director, is seen as taking over same position in new setup. He will probably take his pick of Universal and International publicity department personnel, with both Pete Dailey, present Universal studio publicity director, and Les Kaufman, International, remaining. Monroe Greenthal, of United World, will probably become exploitation director, with offices in east.

Warners Stockholders Split Common 2 for 1

New York, Aug. 1.—Warner Brothers stockholders, in a special meeting today at Wilmington, Delaware, voted approval of a 2 to 1 split-up of the common stock. The Burbank company thus becomes the third of the Big Five to cut stock melons. Last year Loew's cut its common up three shares for one. In June Paramount bisected its stock.

The Warner stockholders voted to increase the number of authorized common shares from 7,5000,000 to 10,000,000 and cancel 100,254 shares now held in the treasury. Earnings for the past nine months were at the rate of $3.98 a common share on the old stock, or $1.99 a share on the new stock. The Warners common has been paying at the rate of two dollars a year.

Goldwyn Angles for Leigh or Fontaine

Samuel Goldwyn has started negotiations with Vivien Leigh and Joan Fontaine for starring role opposite Gregory Peck in "Earth and High Heaven." Peck was signed for the role yesterday. Film will be one of three Goldwyn has earmarked for production in 1947.

E-L Buys New Bromfield Novel

"Kenny," latest novel of Louis Bromfield, was purchased yesterday by Eagle-Lion for $50,000 plus percentage of profits. Novel, which is set to run serially in Cosmopolitan, has been put on Aubrey Schenck's production schedule.

Revel Returns

Harry Revel returned yesterday from six weeks in Washington and New York. While in Washington, he huddled extensively with Gen. Omar Bradley on his proposed Vetville, city for permanently disabled veterans.

STONE FALLS OUT OF BED

Washington, Aug. 1.—Indie producer Andrew Stone has agreed to go along with MPA and change the title of his new film from "Strange Bedfellows," it was disclosed at MPA today.

Stone filed "Strange Bedfellows" with the MPA Title Registration Bureau last week. He was notified that this would not be approved. Next day he protested. However, he has since wired Eric Johnston that he has changed his mind. A new release title will be submitted shortly.

Veronica Lake Gets 'Wayfarer' Star Spot

Veronica Lake has been handed co-starring role in Paramount's "The Wayfarer." Harry Tugend is producing and Paul Stewart will handle directorial chore.

Smith Short Rolls

"I Love My Husband — But," latest Pete Smith short, rolls Monday at Metro with Dave O'Brien directing and playing the featured role. "I Love My Wife—But" is second of the new series slated for 1946-47 release.

Harmon Starts Parleys for Film Peace With Holland

New York, Aug. 1.—Review of latest reports on the Central European market situation was held today by members of the Motion Picture Export Association. Francis Harmon, vice prexy, and Gerald Mayer, associate manager of Motion Picture Association's international department, arrived today in Amsterdam and start initial huddles with Holland government representatives tomorrow to bring about deal in the film biz, it was announced at the meeting. Arnold C. Childhouse, formerly with Skouras Theatres, has been appointed managing director for the Netherlands by Irving Maas, MPEA general manager, filling the post vacated last week by Henry Kah.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

BOTH Decca and Columbia platteries are pressing in haste "To Each His Own" to get on bandgawon of surprise hit. It is a rarity when one of the Big Four waxeries gets scooped in a race to the sales stalls, but both in this instance did. Usually when a song is about to be published the top recorders are asked first, which happened in this instance when Paramount Music was prepping "Own." Both Decca and Columbia backlogged item and didn't hasten ditty onto discs until they realized that Majestic had pulled a sneak with an Eddy Howard rendition of tune which has almost overnight become just about national best seller. Within past fortnight Decca hurriedly got Ink Spots to wax item, and Columbia quickly countered with Modernaires' rendition. However, before either can get circulation, Majestic's release may have hogged market.. It is biggest hit Jimmy Walker's waxery ever has had and credence may be placed in trade talk that the platter will just about resuscitate Majestic, which has been having its share of wobbles.

COAST legit booking situation is now so thoroughly jammed that producers are begging for time in the top flesh houses and even looking somewhat longingly at the theatres which are not on the preferred list. Example of difficulty in "housing shortage" is the forthcoming situation in San Francisco, where the Lewis and Young productions of "Hasty Heart" and "Lady Windermere's Fan" will be playing opposition to each other. "Heart" goes into the Geary and "Fan" into the Curran and producers felt they were lucky to make the commitments when they did—eight months ago. Day-dating of the single producing company's two legiters is the first example of outfit "playing against itself" in well over decade, Henry Duffy being the last Coast producer to have two shows running simultaneously in the same town.

CARL Leserman, sales chief for Loew-Lewin Productions, will leave for east shortly to huddle with Grad Sears and other top United Artists execs on re-shuffling releases already set, so that "Bel Ami" can be released in November. David Loew and Albert Lewin are understood to feel that film, a quality picture, is in line for number of Academy awards, and want production out in time to qualify for 1946 nominations, if arrangements for release can be made with Sears, distribution head of UA. UA now is booked solidly in releases through balance of 1946, but there is possibility that Leserman may be able to talk company into setting back another producer's offering until after first of year and slipping in "Ami" in its place.

WALTER Wanger's current "Smashup" is producer's final commitment under his present deal with Universal. What type of setup he will have with the new Universal-International production company is still a matter of conjecture. Wanger and Goetz are friends of long standing and it is understood that the UI production head is offering Wanger a special deal to remain on the lot. Wanger, who owns "The Ballad and the Source" had been negotiating to do the Rosamond Lehmann novel in England but it is reported that Goetz is pressing Wanger to do the filmization for UI, teeing off a projected new long-range Wanger production slate for the company.

"THE Magnificent Yankee," play by Emmet Lavery based on life of Oliver Wendell Holmes, which Arthur Hopkins produced last season on Broadway, is being offered to major companies, with proviso that Louis Calhern, who starred as Chief Justice, appear in title role. Understood that Hopkins has had talks with three studios in east, one being Enterprise. Picturization of play can't go before cameras until September of 1947, due to fact that when Calhern, now appearing in Enterprise's "Arch of Triumph," winds up role in October he will leave immediately for New York to begin a 10-month road tour of "Yankee."

ACCORDING to Loew's International, the South American market is going to be bigger and better for musicals. Current musical releases are registering heavily at the b.o. throughout that area. When the Metro Latin-American managers recently visited the studio, they were assured an increased output of musical films in Spanish versions. As a result, most of the femme contract players and stars have been urged to study Spanish. New group to enroll in classes this week included Marie MacDonald, Jean Porter, Marilyn Maxwell, Beverly Tyler and Frances Gifford.

ON-THE-HOOF recording of artists and bands is being gradually discontinued by Capitol Transcriptions to maintain quality of output. Practice of waxing talent where it is found has proved unsatisfactory due to variances in studio acoustics, recording equipment and experience and familiarity found in regularly used crews. Now, whenever at all possible, recording dates will be delayed until talent hits Hollywood and can be waxed under ideal conditions, instead of being picked up on the road and recorded at nearest facility.

KGFJ Inks Lenz For Nightly Plattering

Ted Lenz has been signed as marathon disc jockey on KGFJ and will nightly conduct a split four and one-half hours of musical plattering. He will combine activity with his program packaging firm of Lenz & Kohler. Chores run from 5 to 5:30 p.m. on "Jive at Five," from 10 p.m. to midnight on "Hollywood House" and from midnight to 2 a.m. with "Midnight Special," on all-nighter station.

Riskin Plans 240 'Big Town' Preems

Robert Riskin is planning an innovation in world premieres for his first production, "Magic Town," starring Jimmy Stewart, which seems as logical as it is startling. Instead of having the premiere at one particular spot, he plans to work far enough in advance to have 280 prints available so that five representative towns of 20,000 population in each of the 48 states can premiere the picture simultaneously.

CONSENT DECREE LOOMS IN CASE OF SCOPHONY

Washington, Aug. 1.—Early consent decree is looked for here in the Scophony anti-trust suit with the Justice Dept. now completing its study of the terms offered by Scophony interests.

Joseph Borkin of the Anti-Trust Division who has been handling the case gets back from vacation next week and the action is expected to follow soon afterward.

Counsel for Paramount and General Precision Equipment has filed a plan under which they would withdraw from their stock interest in the company. Scophony would then open its Skiatron tube and other patents for general licensing in this country, thereby meeting the demand of the Government.

MEETS GOVERNMENT DEMAND

This settlement would have the same effect as could be gotten through a court case. Government wanted the Scophony patents opened up. It contended they were being held off the market for the advantage of Paramount and one or two others.

Par announced some time back that it was perfectly willing to get out of Scophony since it had found something superior for theatre video.

Par Uses 25,500 Sq. Foot Backdrops

Two of the largest backdrops ever created by Paramount's scenic arts department, covering a total of 25,500 square feet, are in current use at the studio. For the new DeMille production, "Unconquered," the scenic arts craftsmen created a 460-foot-long backdrop of water and sky covering three sides of one of the studio's huge sound stages. Thirty feet high, it covers 13,800 square feet of space. For the new Alan Ladd starrer, "The Big Haircut," three sides of Stage 9 are entirely covered with a replica of a wheatfield ready for harvesting. Covering 11,700 square feet, the backdrop is 390 feet long and 30 feet high.

Lloyd Bacon yesterday announced a revision of his plans for his next independent producing venture, "Over the High Board Fence" in the light of the new capital gains ruling by the Internal Revenue Department. Bacon is negotiating with several permanently established independent producing organizations who are anxious to have him produce and direct his picture following "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now."

McLeod and Ameche

Catherine McLeod yesterday was set in femme lead opposite Don Ameche in the Frank Borzage production at Republic, "Gallant Man." Borzage is producing-directing.

Goetz Starts Forming New Production Setup

Prexy William Goetz yesterday started whipping together a production organization for the newly created Universal International Production Company. William Dozier, who checked into International a few weeks ago as production aide to Goetz, will remain with latter in same capacity in the new combo. New production format is slated for completion by October 1, date for start of operations by UI.

Matty Fox, prexy of United World Pictures, distribution organization absorbed by UI, is currently in New York awaiting arrival there from London of Leo Spitz, International topper, and Nate Blumberg, Universal prexy. Latter leaves London by plane today. Goetz stated that the trio are slated to arrive in Hollywood "in about two weeks" for conferences on the projected UI production organization.

Welcome mat is being rolled out by Goetz for top talent in all departments, with maintenance of a strong policy for high-budgeted package deals being indicated. Understood that J. Arthur Rank will utilize UI production facilities starting early next year, although Goetz stated development depends on arrangements made by Blumberg, Spitz and Fox with Rank in London.

Goetz did not disclose whether he intends to pare any further the current Universal production organization but indicated it would be absorbed, where needed, in the new organization.

Harry James Band Cuts Pay Demands After Tour Fizzles

Harry James' band, which generally has had recognition as nation's top at ballroom boxoffices, has reduced its money demands. When ork bounces back here in two weeks after several months' barnstorming along Atlantic Coast, terpalaces will find crew can be bought this fall and winter at figures far less than eastern spots paid.

Already reports of what James did during his tour have seeped back and sharpened ballrooms' buying senses here. Batoneer left here in June after telling Music Corp. of America execs that he wanted to knock off $25,000 per week during eastern fling. Immediately lined up were series of one-nite stands, which guaranteed either $3,000 or $4,000 per stand, depending on size. Almost all the promoters dropped copious coin. James had two big winners, a one-niter in Bridgeport, Conn., which lured 16,000 admissions, and a single-shot at Old Orchard Beach, Me., which grossed $7,200. The band grabbed $27,500 out of eight-day stand in Asbury Park, but hall didn't make a nickel. Steel Pier, Atlantic City, shelled out $22,500 for a week, but business sagged. The Totem Pole terpery, which Cork O'Keefe operates at Auburndale, Mass., lost heavily in paying ork $17,500 for five days.

Only two definite dates set for James' return here are one-niters on Aug. 22 and 29 at Balboa Beach's ballroom, which reportedly will pay but $2,000 a whack. Band is penciled into Pacific Square ballroom, San Diego, for nine weekend evenings during September at straight $3,000 per night, but Pacific already is trying to get readjustment on salary before dates are sealed.

Last spring Avodon ballroom downtown offered James $10,000 per stanza and got spurned; now the site has offered a top of $7,000 for band to play a fortnight in October. Bid has not been nixed, and consequently with dickers continuing possibility exists that James may oblige the Avodon.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

An agreement that private United States business firms have reached for operations in Romania is most important not only from the commercial, but also from the political standpoint. It means that a way has been found by which Romania will make use of United States engineering skill and key manufacturing materials. Thus we will be able to break into what has been a Russian trade monopoly, and with Russian economic dominance decreased, we can expect a loosening of the Communist reins. The plan worked out by an industrialist named Nicholas Malaxa, would give 51 per cent of the stock of a company to Malaxa, 20 per cent to some Soviet agency, 20 per cent to an American corporation under contract, and 9 per cent to the Romanian government. We would not furnish any capital, but engineering materials and products. One of the companies already negotiated with is Henry Kaiser. This comes at a time when it looks as if Russia may be adopting a more conciliatory policy, as demonstrated yesterday by Molotov at Paris in the Greek and Dutch proposals. The Russians may have learned, as Virgil Pinkley points out, that although they had a high prestige in Europe and the United States a year ago, they have now become mistrusted and feared. Pinkley cables this from Vienna after a year traveling all over Europe.

Film Review

Prairie Rustlers

(Western)

PRC RELEASE. Producer, Sigmund Neufeld. Director, Sam Newfield. Screenplay, Fred Myton. Photography, Jack Greenhalgh. Musical director, Lee Zahler. Editor, Holbrook N. Todd. Sound, Lyle Willey. Assistant director, William O'Connor. Production manager, Bert Sternbach.

CAST—Stars Buster Crabbe. Features Al St. John, Evelyn Finley, Karl Hackett, Stanford Jolley, Bud Osborne, Kermit Maynard.

REVIEWED at Hitching Post, Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 1, 1946. Running time: 54 MINS.

This tumbleweeder is even more prosaic than its title and a decidedly sub-standard entry in the Buster Crabbe series. Triteness of plot and story treatment might have been alleviated by some rousing action, but that factor got short shrift.

Actually, only sequence which earned attention from audience was trick bicycling routine of Al St. John. His wheeling antics antedate his Keystone Kop career, coming out of comic's oldtime vaude act. That's really reaching back to grab a crutch for an oats opera, but routine did serve as a relief from tedium otherwise offered, which is comment enough on general quality of the film.

Buster Crabbe and rest of cast, save St. John, don't appear too enthusiastic, but then they couldn't have been. Star does a dual role, playing identical cousins—a rustler and a law 'n' order upstander—along familiar formula story lines. It is doubtful if inclusion of livelier action, more chases or six-gunning could have salvaged it. Evelyn Finley is standard heroine, while Stanford Jolley, one of the better western heavies, makes as much meat of role as he could have. Cast pretty scant, even for a prairie pic.

Sigmund Neufeld's production budget obviously was extremely tight-reined. Director Sam Newfield, vet fashioner of this sort of fare, often has done far better. Technically, only nod that is rated belongs to cameraman Jack Greenhalgh, who almost added interest at times with fine framing of outdoor scenes and particularly well handled double-exposures of Crabbe, who incidentally made a far more interesting villain than a goodie.

Sound Deal Closed

Robert S. Golden yesterday closed deal with representatives of Western Electric for use of Stereophonic Sound, new departure in multi-channeled reproduction and amplification, in the forthcoming Golden Production for United Artists release, "Eddie and the Archangel Mike."

OBITUARY

EMERY HEIM

Funeral services will be held today for Emery Heim, 38, musical director of Pan-American Records, who died here Wednesday. A Hungarian by birth, Heim wrote at an early age what has become that country's national anthem, and before coming to the U.S. about a decade ago, scored many European films, including "Ecstasy." During World War II he served as a corporal in the Army. The services today will be read at the Hollywood cemetery chapel, 6000 Santa Monica Blvd., at 2 p.m., followed by interment. Heim is survived by his widow and a son.

CELEBS TURN OUT FOR 'NIGHT 'N DAY' 20TH ANNI PREEM

"Night and Day" premiered at Warners Hollywood theatre last night to a packed house of celebrities and full turnout of sidewalk star-gazers. Tickets to special affair, which ties in with Warners celebration of the 20th anniversary of sound, were sold out days in advance of the preem.

Picture, based on the composing career of Cole Porter, debuted before approximately 1,500 stars, producers, directors, film executives, civic, military and diplomatic officials. Bleachers, accommodating 3,000 fans, were filled early in the day, despite the heat. Thousands more jammed sidewalks and streets around the Hollywood boulevard theatre to watch the notables filing in to see the Technicolor musical.

Special broadcast of the event was aired over KFWB with Harry Crocker m.c.'ing. Air show was staged in lobby of the theatre, starting half-hour before curtain time, for introduction of guests to listeners.

THE GRAPEVINE: Lot of rumbling coming from the inner circles of downtown newspapers. The cozy little arrangement whereby they cleared everything through publishers' agreement is probably coming to an end, and "everybody for himself" will be the new slogan. Which would leave the two Hearst papers aligned against the News and Times in a three-cornered brawl for the take, expected to be terrific in the next few years . . . Meanwhile, the Newspaper Guild is making it hot for the publishers, too. Guild is now demanding $100 for reporters and copyreaders with five years experience and $115 for rewritemen. Only the Herald-Express and News are Guild shops but other two papers scale their editorial payrolls according to the former . . . Virginia O'Brien will replace Marilyn Maxwell as Red Skelton's leading lady in "Merton of the Movies," which is making both of the girls very happy . . . Screen Guide will go all-color before the year is out . . . Male star who makes a big thing of his solid home life, but who's kicking up his heels during personals, is due for a solid letdown when he comes home. The little woman knows all—and will probably tell same . . . Charles R. Rogers has ordered a publicity campaign on Bill Lundigan, now playing the romantic lead in "The Fabulous Dorseys."

HOLLYWOOD CAROUSEL: Opinion is divided on whether Alfred Hitchcock injected his usual amount of black magic into "Notorious," but one scene at least is curling the back hair of studio audiences. That's the four-minute stretch of lovemaking undertaken by Ingrid Bergman and Cary Grant. Hitchcock got so much intimacy into the scene that he makes the audience feel like a collection of Peeping Toms . . . Harry Cohn will spend three or four weeks yachting off Catalina, taking off in a few days . . . Initial returns indicate that Rosalind Russell has taken an early grip on the Academy Award with her performance in "Sister Kenny." The press has never been so enthusiastic, so early in the game, as it is in the case of "Sister Kenny," which Miss Russell fought to make for five years. One of the most praiseworthy elements in the production was the honesty and realism with which Sister Kenny is portrayed. She is shown as a human being, with human failings, rather than a plaster saint . . . Fred Finklehoffe and Chester Erskine, producing and writing "The Egg and I," are out of their offices at International while the decorators take over. Color scheme, of course, will be Easter egg blue . . . Viveca Lindfors' husband, Folke Rogard, is leaving Sweden to join her here in September . . . Leo Guild will be the first author to have his works peddled in gasoline stations throughout the country. The Warners' flack, who wrote "You Bet Your Life," signed the contracts yesterday. They'll probably be selling books in saloons if the trend continues.

CALL SHEET: GARY COOPER reported at Paramount yesterday for his role in "Unconquered," but dropped off at Stage 9, where Jerry Hopper is beginning his directorial career on a short subject, and wished him well before proceeding to his own set. Hopper had worked on several Cooper films as film editor . . . JAMES FLAVIN was bicycling between "Dishonored Lady" and "The Fabulous Dorseys" yesterday. Not much distance between the two acting chores, as both are shooting on the General Service lot . . . DINAH SHORE wound up her first week at the NY Paramount with a record gross of $110,000, topping Danny Kaye's high mark of $90,000 and Frank Sinatra's $86,000 . . . DOROTHY LAMOUR will sing in "My Favorite Brunette" after all. Chirp chore hadn't been scheduled but it was decided to add a Lamour song yesterday and studio is busy looking over possibilities. It will be her first singing spot in films in a year and a half . . . HEDY LAMARR tossed an ice cream party to celebrate completion of "Dishonored Lady" yesterday . . . MARGARET O'BRIEN will press her foot and hand prints into the cement at Grauman's Chinese Aug. 15, when "Bad Bascomb" has its local preem . . . ALICE TALTON is playing her fourth role in four weeks at the Laguna Beach strawhat—the lead in "Petrified Forest" . . . BEN PIAZZA'S talent search at RKO has brought in 200 tests on 16m film. Piazza says about one per cent shot promise, but that still assays high enough to make the program worthwhile.

ON THE SOUNDTRACK: Life Magazine has hyped up its Hollywood coverage. Magazine now has three men covering the studios on a fulltime basis under supervision of Bart Sheridan and Sidney James . . . Former silent film featured player has at last found his medium. He was too hammy when sound came in. Now he gesticulates all over the place while making transcribed commercials with the platters picking up only his voice . . . Mickey Bloom, who played trumpet in the late Hal Kemp's band and other aggregations, applied for membership in the songpluggers' union yesterday . . . Eddie Dean, Eagle-Lion western star, will plane to the Missouri preem of his latest film, "Down Missouri Way" . . . OFF THE LOTS: The John Deckers throwing a party at The Kings for Vincent Price, Gene Fowler, the Anthony Quinns and others. Gracie Fields and Monty Banks, Herbert Marshall and Boots Mallory, Xavier Cugat and Lorraine Allen at Ciro's. Viola Essen and Lionel Shelley, Rusty Farrell and Bob Lowery at Pep's. Robert Coogan and Janet McCormick, Anne Gillis and Sidney Miller at Henri's. Bill Blowitz off to Big Bear. Joan Caulfield and Philip Reed entering the West Side Tennis Club's annual motion picture tournament . . . "The Emperor Waltz" set at Paramount has been drawing overflow crowds. Yesterday a couple hundred visitors were crowding around, and director Billy Wilder asked Bing Crosby, "What attracts all these people—your acting or my direction?" Bing replied: "Neither. It's the air-conditioning."—D.D.T.

20TH GRIP CHIEF IN 226TH PATENT ON TRAPEZING LENS

John M. Lavin, 20th-Fox grip department head, chalked up his 226th patent in 17 years with studio yesterday, when application was made for a swinging cradle he constructed for a musical number in "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now." Lavin worked out a new gadget for Martha Stewart singing number, replica of first time a singer sailed in swing out over heads of audience in a music hall, to show warbler in swing together with bird's eye view of backdrop, stage, footlights, pit orchestra and audience as she swung in air.

Grip chief devised a swinging platform of steel tubing suspended by two five-eighths cables, capable of holding 3,000 pounds — camera, lights, and five persons — and describing 100-foot arc. Swing, propelled by electric-powered inlet line, is set to synchronize with playback music.

Ent Tests French Girl Featured in Life

Enterprise has inked Lise Bourdin, 19-year-old French pin-up girl and model who has pictorial spread in current issue of Life, to test-option contract. David Lewis, producer of "Arch of Triumph," saw advance copy of mag and immediately cabled Nate Watt, now in Paris with camera unit for backgrounds on film, to sign her and rush extensive tests to Hollywood. If tests work out, Mlle. Bourdin will be set on term deal and brought immediately to this country, for appearance both in "Arch" and "The Other Love."

Light 'n' Airy

by JACK HELLMAN

Most articulate group in radio today are the writers. Quite true, they have something to bellow about and they know how to bellow it, being, as they are, past masters in the art of putting together little words that make big sounds. But this time they're being bellowed back at and as matters now stand it's six-two-and-even. It's a litle matter of who owns what they write after it has been broadcast that's kicked up the mild tempest.

It's easy enough to take sides in the controversy because there's plenty of argument to go around yet this fence-walker may look both ways but his toes are pointed straight ahead. Main point at issue, of natural consequence a fiscal one, is perpetual right to ownership of creative material that has been bought and paid for at a price beyond what is earned by our top fictioneers. We know of scripters drawing up to $500 a week, part of a writing battery of four or five, who contribute only a few pages of dialogue to a half hour program. So let's assume that the question of rights has been adjudicated and they start divvying up who owns what. We'd hate to keep books on that one. That they are paid well for their literary labors is a non-argumentative statement. But, and that is what has the employers nanny.

To simplify their stand, let's take a team of solid and gifted writers like Sam Moore and John Whedon, who have done so much to make Hal Peary a success as "Gildersleeve." They turn out one of their whammo scripts, it goes on the air and up goes Gildy's Hooper. Short time later Peary goes into a picture and the writers, if not Moore and Whedon, ask to see some of Gildy's old scripts to "get the feel" of the character. Needless to say, more of the basic radio material is used than what is typed up by the scenarists.

Would you say then that Moore and Whedon are entitled to further compensation for their participation in the film's manuscript or that they had already been paid in full? Answer that one to the satisfaction of both sides and the fight is off. That's just one phase. Who gets the payoff, they also want to know, if a script is rebroadcast or becomes the basis of a magazine story or published book? Don't look at us, figure it out for yourself.

Chain breaks . . . Sam Hayes has been bought by General Petroleum for a half hour sportcast program in the NBC Monday night spot being vacated by Hoagy Carmichael. Highlighted on the program teeing up Sept. 9 will be college and pro football . . . Jay Sommers and Jessie Goldstein have been set to script the Victor Borge-Benny Goodman program for Socony . . . Tony Martin deal with Texaco is cold but that doesn't mean he won't air for the oiler. If the Dick Powell variety show is bought, Martin will guestar on the first 13 as permitted on his Bourjois contract .

By RADIE HARRIS

Ethel Barrymore wasting all afternoon on the set of "Katie for Congress" (RKO), until she was finally called, had to have her make-up refurbished. Sitting in the same chair, with a few deft movements she applied her lipstick and dabbed some powder on her nose. "Don't you need some better light?" asked the make-up man. "No, thank you," was her retort. "I can do this in the dark. Thank God I'm not a glamour girl!" Incidentally this First Lady of the Theatre will welcome her first grandchild in September, when her daughter Ethel Colt "heirs" the nursery at the same house in Mamaronack where she, too, was born, and grandma is hoping that the "Paradine Case" (Selznick) won't get started until she can go east and be on hand for the blessed event . . . Eleanor Powell, who packed away her dancing shoes in mothballs when she went into domestic retirement as Mrs. Glenn Ford, will be taking them out again for the Chez Paree in Chi this fall . . . Peggy Knudsen's trip to New York was cut short by the sudden death yesterday of her grandmother who shared her home here. Peggy's 3000-mile absence from Bill Paley may be making him very sad, but it's making a certain femme in New York, who got nowhere while Peggy was around, think she might have a chance now—which is her usual optimism with all the eligible stags at eve . . . Memo to Corny Jackson: Oops, sorry that my unimpeachable Philo Vance turned out to be Baron Munchausen, and that you've turned down all those "moom pitcher" feelers to stay on with J.W.T. . . . Add Bev-Hills arrivals: Jimmy Walker, Cornelia Otis Skinner, and the Jack Kapps . . . What w. k. moppet's mother disgraced herself at the House of Murphy the other dinner hour by imbibing too freely, and to make matters worse, the child that feeds her was sitting along side of her! . . . Susan Hayward is being "Life"-sized for a "Smash Up" (Wanger) layout, showing her as a femme "Don Birman." Funny twist of the angle is that Susan, off-screen, owns a 15 per cent interest in a flourishing business—Wright's Ice Cream Parlor!

VERY GOOD EDDIE—Perry Charles explains the reason he turned out to be best man at the Ed Wynn-Dorothy White Las Vegas elopement was because he came in third. Keenan, the "favorite," was tied up on "Petrified Forest" in Laguna and Van Johnson who "placed" next was also busy at the Metro workshop on "High Barbaree." Incidentally, I wish you could see what Ed gave his bride as a wedding gift—a wide gold band encrusted with rubies and centered with a 200 carat topaze, her birth stone. When he placed it on her arm he cracked, "Darling, I hope this is vulgar enough!" Everyone who met the new Mrs. W. at Wednesday's reception were enchanted with her, and delighted that, at long last, Ed has found the one thing his wealth never bought him—personal happiness. He and the missus will be at home at 810 N. Camden Drive until September 15th and will establish their permanent residence here, where, Ed confided, from now on with his new-found contentment, he hopes to become a great comedian. Whereupon Jules Stein retorted, "What do you mean—BECOME?"

SCOOPING AROUND: Now that Ann Dvorak and Leslie Fenton are no longer Mr. and Mrs. she is dating her favorite choreographer, Igor Dega, and he is tripping the light fantastic with Lina Romay. South America, take it away! . . . Ricardo Cortez, who "vas dere Sharlie" at the original "Merton of the Movies," will return to the screen in the Red Skelton re-make (Metro) as the ham actor of silent days. Twenty years from now I can name a few of today! . . . Satdee nite will hardly be the loneliest night in town with both Sonja Henie's formal dinner party at Crillon's and the shindig honoring newlyweds, John and Evelyn Keyes Huston, tossed by no less than four co-hosts, Buzz Meredith, Paulette Goddard, Cy Bartlett and Charles Grayson . . . Robert Milton's staging of "Dark Victory" at the Laguna Playhouse last week has re-awakened several studios to the fact that this first rate Broadway director has been overlooked in the Hollywoods . . . Clark Gable and Millicent Rogers are continuing at the Beverly Hills where they left off on Long Island . . . The greatest "kudo" paid "Till the Clouds Roll By" (Metro) is that Jerome Kern's widow, Eva, has seen it three times and can't wait to see it again . . . Gregory Peck and MacDonald Carey will be passing out those cigars any day now . . . Add the millenium has been reached department: With ten pictures in production at Columbia (and six of them in the million-dollar bracket) Harry Cohn, accompanied by his wife and two youngsters, left yesterday for a whole month's vacation on his yacht, off Catalina—the first breather he has taken in his career. But if he doesn't find a phone in the middle of the Pacific to call B. B. Kahane every day, the only one who will be amazed is Mr. C. himself! . . . All those lovely murals decorating the David Niven nursery were painted by Rex Harrison's talented frau, Lilli Palmer . . . Just to show you how the lens lads of Hollywood are never stumped by anything, at the Atwater Kent kiddie party on Sunday, one of them yelled to Evie Wynn, riding an elephant with her own offspring, Neddie, and Lana Turner's daughter, Cheryl, "Would you mind turning him around for a better angle?" And if you have ever tried to turn an elephant around, it will discourage you from ever going to India!

PASSING PARADE: Spotted in the lobby crowd at the "Merry Wives of Windsor" preem: C. Aubrey Smith, Billie Burke, Alan Hale, Wally Ford, the Tony Stanfords, DeWitt Bodeen, Peggy Wood, the Zac Scotts, Oliver Thorndike, Celeste Holme, Walter Bullock, Nina Doll, Rouben and Azadia Mamoulian and the Stroocks, Bianca, Geraldine and Gloria. In Charlie Coburn's curtain speech, (which ran longer than Frank Fay or Joe E. Brown —and with a 12 p.m. curfew too, Charlie) he quoted a speech of Chief Justice Holmes, not knowing that the "Magnificent Yankee" himself, Louis Calhern, was listening in the audience from the fourth row.

WURTZEL GETS 3 MONTH OPTION AT SUTHERLAND LOT

Sol Wurtzel has been granted three-month option on stage space at Sutherland studio. Deal calls for him to occupy stages during January, March and May of next year. Arrangement is in addition to his September and November commitment of this year.

Sutherland studio now is booked solid through January. Sig Neufeld currently is shooting "East Side Kids" and will complete "Lady Killer" by end of month, having space for entire month of August. Comet is slated to take over in October and December, and there is possibility Rogers-Cohn company may also engage stage space for next February as well.

John Sutherland, in making deals, has reserved five days out of each month for his own commercial and educational films.

Byrens Plans Play, Pic on 'Appleseed'

Berny Byrens has acquired unproduced play, "Johnny Appleseed," by Ellsworth Conkle, and will produce it as an indie film. Announcement yesterday followed Robert Riskin deciding to abandon plan to use figure as basis for a picture. Before he makes a screen version, Byrens will first do "Appleseed" as a Broadway musical. Plan now is to present it on Broadway in late fall. Producer is now having musical score written.

Greg Marshall Double

Gregory Marshall, moppet thesp, will double between California Pictures and 20th-Fox shortly. Young actor has been inked for roles both in "Vendetta" and "Forever Amber."

UNIVERSITY SKIPS DISTRIBS, TAKES DISCS TO SHOPS

University Records, odd-label outfit headquartered here, is attempting new approach in the disc business by dropping all distribs and attempting direct sales to music shops and jukebox chain owners across the country. Many indie waxeries have talked the idea of late but University, which is operated by oldtime vaude performer Jimmie Richards, is first actually to go out on limb.

Bait offered is added profits for the retailers, who are given the coin which normally would go to distribs. Latter are accustomed to buy a 75c platter for 37½ cents and selling it to retail outlet for 49 cents. The middleman differential is being offered by Richards to stores and jukemen as incentive to buy.

Fact that distribs all over nation have been gradually increasing profits at expense of recorders during past half-year has irritated indie waxeries here and is what prompted University to trail blaze what essentially is a mail-order application to disc selling. Check of a dozen small platteries here yesterday revealed that all were highly interested in Richards' departure from practice, but none is willing to follow until results are observed. University's releases feature sides made by Red Nichols, Gus Arnheim, Anson Weeks and Al Donahue bands.

British 'Journey' Follows 'Open City'

"Journey Together," British film directed by John Boulting, opens at the Esquire Aug. 9, following current run of "Open City." May Whitty Inked Dame May Whitty has been added to the cast of "This Time for Keeps" at Metro. Actress will play a retired circus performer in the film.

Down Mexico Way

By LUISA MARIA ALVAREZ

Mexico City, Aug. 1.—"In Times of The Inquisition," now playing at the Chapultepec, produced by Grovas and directed by Juan Bustillo Oro, is based on Victorien Sardou's "The Witch." Gloria Marin, less beautiful than in real life, plays part of Moorish maid, whose scholar father taught her the science of medicine,, quite beyond that common at the time.

Story is laid in Sixteenth Century Toledo. Spain lived under the shadow of the Holy Office.

The Moorish heroine spends her time healing and aiding her persecuted people.

Jorge Negrete, minus charro togs, does not sing a single song in film, but gives very good portrayal of the Spanish Captain who falls in love with the charming infidel, precisely when investigating the stealing of the body of a noble Moor executed because he had won the love of a Spanish woman. She had been sentenced to solitary confinement. To love an infidel was cruelly punished by the Holy Office.

The Captain (Jorge Negrete) also risks his life and perishes with the woman he loves.

Beatriz Aguirre is appealing and convincing as the young nun. Francisco Jambrina, as the Franciscan priest who insists that the Inquisition was not the Catholic Faith, but the cruelty and stupidity of men, gives an excellent performance.

The picture, on the whole, is good.

DIRECTORS GUILD AIRS DEMANDS TO COAST NET TOPS

position on improvements in wages and working conditions being sought.

Union is suggesting joint, single negotiation of contract with all parties, and has specially informed CBS that net should not interpret overture as a repudiation of contract union recently took over that had existed between CBS and American Federation of Radio Artists. Latter had jurisdiction of CBS directors, along with announcers and actors, before RDG formed.

Exact conditions of contract could not be learned, and will probably be revealed today. However, it's known that Guild seeks to establish basic minimum wage over that generally paid. It's also understood that approximately half of net directors are currently receiving more money than that requested as minimum. Guild is also asking that such wages be continued and no reductions be made. Escalator clauses hike minimum on basis of seniority, also, and Guild is asking that uniform contract and date of effectiveness of proposed ticket be set.

HITCHING POST

Unhitching

Ann Dvorak won uncontested interlocutory divorce from Leslie Fenton, actor-director, on grounds of desertion.

To the Men and Women Behind the Cameras and the Scenes

This is a special word of appreciation for your artistry and technical skill.

To Peverell Marley, A.S.C., and William V. Skall, A.S.C., who were in charge of the magnificent Technicolor photography; Everett A. Brown and David Forrest, sound; John Hughes, art director; David Weisbart, film editor; Herschel Daugherty, dialogue director; Robert Burke, A.S.C., special effects; Armor Marlowe, set decorations.

To Perc Westmore, make-up; Milo Anderson, wardrobe; Travilla, dance costumes; James Leicester, montages; Dudley Chambers, vocal arrangements; Eric Stacey, unit production manager; Fred Applegate, script supervisor; Herbert Plews, property; Frank Flanagan, gaffer; Warren Yaple, grips.

To them, and to all the members of their capable crews goes much credit for helping to make "Night and Day" an example of progress and perfection in modern motion pictures. To them all, my thanks and congratulations.

KFI WILL READ 7 COMICS FOR THE SUNDAY TIMES

Los Angeles Times deal with station KFI is beginning to bear fruit. On Sunday (4) initial cooperative tie-up will be effected with reading of sheet's Sabbath comic strips over station from 8:30 to 9 a.m. Program will be called "Grandpa Tom Reads the Funnies," and Russ Stewart will pay character.

Program will be strictly non-commercial, as differing from Times' sponsored half-hour quiz program which started on KFI two weeks ago. It will be retained by station as non-salable public service sustainer.

Two weeks ago Times concluded agreement with KFI for new regularly sponsored show, and paper discontinued its three-year-old news-on-the-hour connection with KMPC.

Jack Warner In Air Group Dinner

Air Force Association bowed in on Hollywood last night when J. L. Warner, West Coast director of Lt. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's outfit, introduced Lt. Gen. George Stratemeyer to 300 at Hollywood Roosevelt. Group heard Warner make a case for future U.S. security in the vigilance of the one-time air crews now turned civilians. George Jessel was toastmaster, and Red Skelton, The Ushers, Janis Paige and Warner Bros. orchestra contributed to entertainment.

Tatoo By Machine

Jack Dawn, makeup chief for Metro, has his work cut out for him in case of making up 100 extras and bit players for "Green Dolphin Street." Dawn and his assistants must put elaborate tatoos on group, impersonating Maoris in New Zealand, every day they appear in film. To facilitate stint, Dawn has invented a special type of machine which will take place of making up group by hand, a process which ordinarily would require many hours work.

Twin Radio, Pic Release Plan for Story Versions

Precedental simultaneous release of motion picture and radio program of same title and theme is in the works. Story, "Bachelors Children," already completed by indie producer Andrew Stone, is being prepped for transcription audition by William Brighton agency.

Platter will star Adolphe Menjou and Ann Dvorak, stars of film. Radio adaptation has been completed by Tom Pettey from original by Stone, and Fred Jackman. Royalty arrangement has been effected between Brighton, who owns radio rights, and producer and co-author Stone with latter sharing in possible radio take. Radio show will be half-hour serial, using serio-comic theme of original as well as title.

Film will be released this year, and initial test platter will be made this month for possible sale. Deal is now being negotiated to preem-test radio show on "Skippy Hollywood Theatre." Package would be bought by C. P. MacGregor as though a regular free-lance script and would serve to air-audition idea.

DISNEY LAYOFF STARTS

place today in an effort to work out all difficulties.

Yesterday's studio session was a prolonged discussion of studio's present financial condition and the difficulties of keeping full scale operations under way in face of wage demands and other mounting costs. Meeting made progress, resulting in decision to huddle again today to see if an answer to all troubles can be worked out satisfactory to both sides.

UNION REBELLION

Cartoonists' demand that layoff be halted and that studio accept its offer of a shorter work day as a substitute could not be met by Disney. Members of SCG who would continue at work on the lot are also reported in rebellion against union threat that it felt either all or none of its members should work. SCG's Disney unit, after lengthy meeting Wednesday night, wired studio its acceptance of a 12-man fact-finding committee proposed by the studio, but repeated request for abandonment of the layoff.

Attending the joint meeting at Disney's yesterday were, for the unions, William J. Bassett, secretary of the Central Labor Council, Maurice Howard, SCG business agent, John Martin, business agent for the Film Laboratory Technicians, and John Lehners, Film Editors business agent. For the employes were Ray Patin, Leonard Kitty, Eric Larson and Jerry Hathcock. Representing management were John F. Reeder, vice president and general manager, Donar Dyer, Anthony O'Rourke and Jacques Roberts.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Bassett said: "Management and the union have agreed to meet in joint session tomorrow to work out all their difficulties and the danger of a strike has been greatly lessened."

Harry Carey, Jr. Inked

Harry Carey, Jr., signed to a term ticket over the weekend by United States Pictures and immediately assigned a featured role in "Pursued."

NORTH RELEASED FROM REP PACT

Producer Robert North asked for and received his release from Republic over the weekend. Understood reason for the development was disagreement between North and studio toppers on production plans for his next chore, "The Hit Parade." It is reported that Frank McDonald, who originally was set to direct the film, will be given producing-directing chore on the picture. North started at the studio seven years ago and his last production chore was "Earl Carroll's Sketchbook."

Cartoonists, Disney Tops Seek Solution to Layoffs

Conferences of Disney studio officials and Screen Cartoonists Guild continued over the weekend in an effort to reach a solution which would prevent blackout of friendly relations, with the union still in session at a late hour last night without announcement of a decision. After the general lay-off went into effect at the studio Thursday, both groups continued conferences on the following three nights.

Screen Cartoonists Guild, while maintaining that all or none of its members should be kept on the studio payroll, was attempting to evolve a plan acceptable to both sides. Disney officials, faced with the necessity of completing at least two of the four productions now in work, also were considering several plans to keep the studio in at least partial operation.

Barney Oldfield Gets WB Flackery Boost

Barney Oldfield, one-time Variety mugg, has been upped to planting post in Warner Bros. flackery. Oldfield, following his discharge from army after nearly six years service, has been handling special publicity assignments for the studio. He succeeds John Flinn, who moves over to an executive publicity post at Monogram.

Frenzied Finance Wipes Out Metro's Pic Deal With Sutro

New York, Aug. 4.—Frenzied finance, French style, resulted in Metro's calling offits deal with John Sutro, British producer, and two French producers who were to make "Torrents of Spring" in Paris with Hurd Hatfield.

Hatfield was loaned to Sutro, producer of "Seventh Veil," and his French collaborators for $75,000 for a 12-week period. Hatfield, however, stalled around Paris for five weeks without a camera rolling. Apparently the French producers had invested their coin in another venture and when time came for the picture's start no financing was available. "Torrents" was to have been

Jack Karp, Paramount studio legal department head, today takes on new chore as studio management executive. Sidney Justin, for past ten years Karp's assistant, has been upped to head of the legal department.

RADIO SCRIBES TAKE UP M'GREGOR CASE

Question of sanctions against C. P. MacGregor will be taken up at council meeting of Radio Writers Guild tomorrow night. Negotiations between union and plattered program producer on new script payment minimum and contract broke down about three weeks ago. Deal was virtually signed for new ticket guaranteeing $100 per story, a 100 per cent increase over previous minimum, when MacGregor balked at exclusion from subsidiary rights in materials purchased. Guild position is that script buyers own only rights to one broadcast, while writers retain all other rights. Producer has been dropped from RWG lists, and now union takes up question of stronger action, possibly placing on unfair list and members refusing service.

HOLLYWOOD INSIDE

ONE of the most serious problems perplexing the expanding English film industry is the shortage of top screen talent, according to a British picture topper. He pointed out that less than a dozen big names represent the sum total in British star value, as far as b.o. appeal goes. What the British producer must do immediately, the topper said, was to devise a program to create, maintain and retain British stars. Lack of femme stars is a major weakness, he emphasized in flatly stating that if the British film industry is to expand it must have consistent world-wide distribution. Latter development is dependent on both films and players having universal b.o. appeal.

AT the preview of Paramount's "Suddenly It's Spring" at the Academy in Pasadena an unusual problem was created. There are three places where men whistle at Paulette Goddard when she appears in a black negligee. Trouble is that not only do men on the screen whistle but a great many males in the audience also, as if on cue. If they can be sure the men will do this everywhere it would be a good stunt to cut the whistle out of the picture but you cannot trust a man where a black negligee and Goddard are concerned. So far execs haven't decided who will whistle—the actors or the audience.

BERNY Byrens, indie producer, has decided to produce John Steinbeck's "Cannery Row" on his own, after all, following number of lengthy negotiations with several studios, he reports. Script is already completed and ready for shooting, and budget of $1,600,000 tentatively set, with possibility this may be upped if producer can get name players he is dickering for. Stage space is to offer no problem, since picture will be made almost entirely on location at Monterey, scene of story. Screenplay was written with this specifically in view.

LOS Angeles Times will not for present expand its editorial coverage of radio, according to Harry Miller, exec assistant to Norman Chandler, publisher. In answer to query anent report that Times planned expansion of radio log and addition to staff of radio editor-columnist, Miller said that due to present newsprint shortage and other limiting factors Times will not now develop new features. However, he added, when Times is operating in FM radio and television, as now planned, coverage will very probably be increased.

CHARLES Boyer's screen tempo is being entirely changed in Enterprise's "Arch of Triumph." French actor, whose delivery in all past appearances has been slow and languorous, his leisurely manner exerting a spell over femme populace, now will be seen in a characterization which calls for him to be brisk, decisive of speech, with rapid movements. Switch is attributable to Lewis Milestone, directing film, who saw in Boyer changing his pace a performance of greater dramatic intensity.

NUT for the S. S. Lux, offshore palace of pastimes being readied for the squirrels of Hollywood and vicinity by Tony Cornero, is reported heavily shared by film colony figures. Cornero is understood to have been selling pieces of the gaming ship in $10,000 "blocks," with various producers, directors and others in the picture industry purchasers of one or more blocks. Total investment in the enterprise is supposed to be close to $1,000,000.

As It Looks to FLANNERY

(Famous CBS Commentator)

The Mead Committee, as it recesses, says: "Matters investigated . . . do not necessarily involve violations of the criminal laws. The committee is as much, if not more so, interested in acts which, although perfectly legal, are opposed to the public interest." Among acts perfectly legal were those of war contractors who leased trucks, tractors and other equipment, which they owned, to themselves. Thus one Panama man bought sixty trucks at $120,000, made $27,000 a month leasing them, for a total of $500,000. He had them reconditioned by the government and sold them back at 85 per cent of original value. Some escaped United States income taxes on these fantastic profits by incorporating under the laws of a South American country, where rates run 4 per cent and less on income, whether large or not. Some escaped even the small South American tax by not paying themselves any salaries, and not declaring any dividends. They got their money by borrowing from the corporation, to which they wrote a note. Such money could be brought back to the United States tax free for it was not income, but borrowed money. While they're at it, the Mead Committee should learn that this practice of setting up dummy corporations in South America for tax purposes is not confined to war contractors. There are some eastern moneyed men who should be called up—not that they are guilty of breaking any law, for they have broken none—but so that such leaks will be plugged, and they can no longer chortle at their cleverness.

METRO IS RUSHING ATOM PIC FOR OCT. RELEASE

Metro is rushing "The Beginning or the End" through to completion so that picture can go out on an early October release. Shooting on film, depicting human drama of the atomic bomb, wound up last week.

Release of the feature, so soon after last day's rolling, will mark a record for Metro. Ordinarily, at least four months would elapse before film would be shown, and many a high budgeter hasn't gone out under six months, without studio making any attempt to hold it in backlog.

Also chalking up a record is short time span between starting script and date of film's release.

Although they've put the bee on the "B's" and Westerns at Universal it will still be some little time before the horse operas all go thataway off the lot.

Several are being finished up, the principal ones being "The Michigan Kid," "The Vigilantes Return," "Gunmen's Code," and "Lawless Breed."

Final serial to be made by Universal is now being cut under supervision of Morgan Cox, executive producer. Cox, let out in last week's "purge of the B's," is on two months notice.

Korda Tries to Re-coup On Welles Legit in London

New York, Aug. 4.—Alexander Korda is planning to take the legit production of "Around the World" to London for a November opening. Effort will be made to recoup investment in the Orson Welles musical, which folded at the Adelphi here Saturday night. Welles will be the only member of the American company to appear in the London version, rest of the players all being recruited in England.

Welles will go to Britain to get the cast together and begin rehearsals as soon as he completes a film commitment with Columbia. He will serve as producer and director on "World" as well as act, just as he did in New York. He also will perform the same chores in the film version, which Korda will make next year.

Meantime, Korda's office here is preparing to have extension sets and mechanical gear of "World," which filled seven freight cars when the show was on the road, shipped to London. That will cost about $10,000, comparatively a small sum to the one already sunk by Korda.

British producer made a large investment, estimated to be about $100,000 under the pre-production deal, in accordance with terms of the Dramatists' Guild agreement. He also paid hefty coin for film rights and the profit for the nine-week run was very little. In addition, Korda advanced Welles considerable portion of the sum due under his employment contract to do the film version. Welles sunk this coin into the show.

Rank Gets Astor for NY Run Of His 'Caesar and Cleopatra'

New York, Aug. 4.—United Artists and J. Arthur Rank have been able to obtain the Astor theatre for the Broadway run of "Caesar and Cleopatra" due to fact "Duel in the Sun" is not scheduled to open until the fall. "Caesar" opens at the Astor Aug. 29, instead of the Winter Garden on Aug. 15, as previously scheduled. The Winter Garden, on which Rank has a lease, will continue to play other British product as available.

"Caesar" will oust "The Kid from Brooklyn" from the Astor after a very satisfactory 20-week run. Samuel Goldwyn and David O. Selznick have an arrangement with the Astor to keep the house occupied with their product, but if the holdover figure of $17,000 gross is not reached in any one week, and the producers do not have another picture ready, the Astor has the option of bringing in outside product. Astor and the Winter Garden each have 1,300 seats, but the former, in the heart of Times Square, is much more advantageously situated as a film showcase.

Switch of "Caesar" to the Astor should mean considerable in grosses and publicity. Out-of-town openings, set for about 130 spots within a few days of Aug. 15, will not be affected by the move here.

20th Saves Stages; Rewrites Pix for Lensing in Sticks

Stage space shortage problem is being licked at 20th-Fox by company aiming at lengthy location sojourns. In many cases, writers are instructed to develop exterior sequences, to surmount this difficulty.

Breakdown of seven pictures, three currently before cameras, two recently completed and two to roll early in September, discloses that out of total of 528 days of shooting schedules, 324 days will bave been filmed on locations away from studio.

Topping list is "13 Rue Madeleine," Louis de Rochemont production now in Quebec. All of its 75-day schedule is to be shot in east, in Washington, Boston and Quebec, without a single day at studio. Same holds true for "Boomerang," which de Rochemont will start next month, its entire 72-day slate to be filmed at Bridgeport, Conn.

When production on Robert Bassler's "The Home Stretch" winds up in late September, 38 of its 74 days will have been spent on nearby locations. Thirty days out of 65 will be spent by "Bob, Son of Battle" troupe at Kanab. Forty-three of 80 scheduled for "Chicken Every Sunday," to roll in September, will be shot away from studio.

"My Darling Clementine" filmed 30 days in Arizona, on its 90-day slate, and "Carnival in Costa Rica" troupe devoted 36 days to location work, out of its total of 72 days.

WANGER PLANS TWO FILMS A YR. FOR THREE YEARS

Walter Wanger is mapping a two-picture-a-year production program for the remainder of his three-year deal at Universal. OPERETTA ON L.A. BOWS OCT. 22

"Queen of the West," new operetta backgrounded against Los Angeles at the turn of the century, will bow into the Philharmonic Auditorium Oct. 22. Franz Steininger has written the music and Forman Brown the lyrics for the Irving Phillips book. Musical is based on an original story by Robert Spears and Bert Holloway.

Musical Production Guild, of which Steininger is executive producer, has budgeted the musical for $150,000 and plans are to take the show East after break-in run here. Story concerns the building of the aqueduct from Owens Valley to the city.

SUTHERLAND ENDS UA CARTOON AND STARTS SECOND

John Sutherland Productions has finished its first flat animation cartoon for United Artists release, "The Fatal Kiss," and will embark immediately upon its second, "The Missing Ghost." Pied Pipers will do vocal numbers for takeoff film.

"Kiss" is musical cartoon, filmed in Technicolor, with "Ghost," also in Technicolor, a comic crime short. Latter will introduce two new cartoon characters, Forelock Bones and Dr. Woof. George Gordon is director on both, with Pete Burness head animator. "Kiss" goes to color lab today for processing.

Company previously turned out quintet of dimensional shorts for UA release. These used small puppets, instead of animated drawings.

Greek Theatre Opening

"New Moon" opens at the Greek theatre tonight for a two week stand. Joe Sullivan and Marion Bell have the leads with Pinky Lee, Vera Marshe and John Shafer in the top support chores.

NEW FOREIGN BIZ SETUP

each of the ten major film companies to discuss problems and advise how best to shape product for foreign distribution.

Formula was recommended by a committee composed of Jason Joy, Luigi Luraschi and Robert Vogel which was formed after the dissolution of the Motion Picture Society for the Americas, and results from an extensive survey by the trio.

The new setup is in effect a declaration of independence from government domination in the foreign film field.

The committee report stated that "We recommend that every company be urged to exhaust every source of help and information, seeking the common experience of the other companies through the foreign committee as established, their own representatives in Washington and in the foreign country involved, and through the Production Code Administration."

Under the committee's proposals, the Code Administration would continue to advise on the best sources of information on matters involved in production of films intended for foreign distribution.

Studios would continue to ask advice of the State Department and official representatives of other countries on matters affecting the industry.

In announcing the AMPP board action favoring establishment of the informal foreign committee, Byron Price said "the film industry is fully aware of its vital responsibilities in helping to build a better and friendlier world. But we believe firmly that freedom of the screen can best be preserved and all problems more effctively handled if production and distribution matters connected with films destined for foreign countries remain a responsibility of the industry, not of a government agency."

KMPC IS GRANTED POWER BOOST TO 50,000 WATTS

KMPC's power boost from 10,000 to 50,000 watts was formally announced over weekend, official notification having been received from Federal Communications Commission on Aug. 2. Management is now prepping final plans and policy changes for activation by Oct. 1 and expects to be on the air with its new kilowatts by Jan. 1. New transmitter is virtually ready for delivery by Radio Corp. of America when wanted. Event puts indie on par with all top stations locally and across the country.

Wattage hike will mean an automatic increase in basic time rates, upping present base of $200 per hour nightly to $300, according to g.m., Bob Reynolds. It will also mean eventual certainty of station going for live talent shows. Most immediate expansion will be in engineering department. Later, when plans are completed by Fall additions to production and programming departments will follow. Meanwhile, tests and field measurements will be conducted in preparation to installing new equipment.

Present towers in Beverly Hills will be retained with new operation. Only transmitter building will require some alteration to accommodate increase. Present offices and studios will also, for present, remain unaltered, however property immediately adjacent to 5939 Sunset Boulevard site of station has been purchased to allow for expansion if needed, when station also goes into FM activities. Lot is 60 by 140.

Regency Buys Maugham Story for 200G

Regency Productions has purchased Somerset Maugham's "Then and Now" for price reportedly over $200,000 and will star George Sanders as Machiavelli in the story of the Renaissance. Arnold Pressburger will produce the film.

Comet Gets Belmont Studio Space

Comet toppers Buddy Rogers and Ralph Cohn have closed a deal for studio space at Belmont Studios, situated on Gordon street. Space will be used for interior shots needed for outfit's Cinecolor feature, "Adventures of Don Coyote."

NEBENZAL PLANS 2 MORE PIX

Seymour Nebenzal has completed production plans for two additional films for remainder of current year. With winding of "The Chase" this week, producer will deliver to United Artists for release in 1946-47 total of three features. Producer, over the weekend, signed Joe Popkin as production manager, and Jack Voglin as assistant director, both on a two-picture deal.

Nebenzal's next starter, "Heaven Only Knows," goes before the cameras in early September with Albert S. Rogell handling directorial chore. Ernest Haycox is writing the screen treatment for the film, marking the first time author has written something specifically for the screen. Final film on this year's slate will be "The Story of Mayerling."

LIGHT AND AIRY

By JACK HELLMAN

Say what you will about Bing Crosby, he's more than a groaner to us. He's copy and has come through when we needed it most. Like now, for instance. He's had us running around in circles, making phone calls at all hours of the night and tapping every available source of information to get a run-down on his plans for the autumn. First it was Texaco, then it was General Motors, once more back to Texaco and now it looks like the winning hand is held by Philco. Last Friday the rumor spread fast through the Derby that the Philco deal had been closed. A call from New York partly confirmed it, our informant passing along the word of Everett Crosby that it's in the bag, meaning perhaps Philco. Lawyers handling the GM deal for Foote, Cone & Belding had heard nothing of the Philco deal being finalized and at the law office of O'Melveny & Myers, who handle Bing's affairs, they know of no contracts being signed. Bing was out at Bel Air playing golf with Vic Hunter and couldn't be reached and even if he had we'd been told to contact Everett.

That's the way it has been going since der Bingle broke with Kraft and the end is not yet in sight. Informed persons have told us that the Philco deal had but one more river to cross and that achieved the parties of all parts would rendezvous on the dotted line. The big hurdle was the term of the commitment—Philco wanted five years and Bing held out for one year at a time. If a compromise is reached there is a very good chance that The Groaner will be selling Philco's off the wax in the autumnal months to come and into the winter and spring. Still another straw in the wind blowing hot is the side-step of Skitch Henderson at directing the music for Bob Hope. Pepsodent wants no doubling so Skitch passed it up in preference to working with Crosby. Also reported that Glenn Wheaton and Bill Morrow have been told to get working on a few scripts. It all points to an early end of the longest chase in radio.

Chain breaks . . . Jack Runyon closed a deal in New York with Milton Biow last weekend to act as coordinator of the agency's offices in New York and Hollywood. He's an old hand at liaison work, having performed that function for the Office of Inter-American Affairs in the war years. He'll make his headquarters here and shuttle east on occasion . . . James Melton has been signed by McCann-Erickson to replace Raymond Massey on "Harvest of Stars." Being a Sunday show that makes it definite now that Texaco will have a new entry in the fall . . . Spokesmen for Procter & Gamble declare unequivocally that the Cincy soap makers have no interest in movie star testimonials for Camay and will in no way solicit endorsements . . . The better golfers at Lakeside use an iron to negotiate the 180-yard 12th hole but just to be different Vic McLeod picked a wood from his bag. You guessed it—he holed out in one . . . Tony Martin will be back on his Bourjois program Aug. 17. He was so eager to get his release so he could take the Texaco deal that he offered to do 13 weeks for free but prez of the cosmetic outfit wagged his head in negation . . . Ned Calmer will fill for the three weeks Bill Henry is idling . . . Peter Lind Hayes' terms were met by the Thompson agency and he will be coupled with Dinah Shore on the new Ford show . . . Back in N'Yawk they're saying that Judy Canova is the natural choice for the Ethel Merman role in the cinema version of "Annie Get Your Gun."

An interesting commentary on the comedy writer situation crossed our work bench in the form of a critical thesis by Steve Allen, who with Wendell Noble, conducts "radio's zaniest fun show" on Don Lee-Mutual. He writes: "Two years ago I came to town with my teeth brushed, my hair combed and my original gags neatly filed. 'Let me see,' I mused, 'should I write for Hope or does Skelton need me?' To get to the point, I got the old stone wall treatment when I tried quietly to tell Hollywood that I could write a funny line or two. Hollywood eagerly searching for new comedy writers? That's not the way I heard it. Never having been given the chance to exhibit my material I finally figured, 'nuts to it, I'll get a show of my own and write for myself.' With my partner, Wendell Noble, that's just what I've done and the groceries are coming in regularly now. But the next time I read in your column that agencies are even combing college campuses and army papers for undiscovered Abe Burrowses I'll publicly make this suggestion to the boys. If a furtive young man appears at your glazed door and says he can write comedy, for Pete's sake give him a chance to prove it. Every unknown may not be as fortunate as I was in landing a radio show but if there's going to be a search for comedy men start off by taking a look at the guys sitting out in your reception room right now." Gotcha Steve.

Hitch hikes . . . Ben Brady, writer-comic, will produce either the Ginny Simms show or "Duffy's Tavern" next season for Young & Rubicam . . . Joe Rines and Sam Fuller due in from NY Aug. 10 . . . James Lilly moved in as news editor at NBC to replace John McEnroe, who switched to programming . . . Meredith Willson has a new ditty in the disc racks called "Same Little Chapel" . . . Walter White back from NY where he got a good response from a new idea show packaged by Kline-Howard . . . Tom Lewis, an old hand at activating departments, has all the Y & R pitching in to develop new programs. Bob Hussey, chief talent buyer, heads up the operation . . . Ken Burton, who used to troupe with Walter Craig on the legit time back east, in town to set up "Glamour Manor," which he'll direct . . . Andy Russell renewed by American Tobacco for Hit Parade and next fall will be piped in from here with 38-piece orchestra. Line charge will be paid by Luckies . . . Paul Warwick in from NY and all wound around with his recording venture.

GERSHWIN 'FLAME' TO RUN 3 WEEKS AT PHILHARMONIC

"Song of the Flame," George Gershwin-Herb Stothard musical laid in Revolutionary Russia, will move into the Philharmonic Sept. 2 for three week run. Gordon Hilker, Canadian film house owner, is producing the legiter in Vancouver, B.C., at Stanley Park as the final production of series of six. "Flame" bows tonight, with Adrian Awan, who flew North over the weekend, handling staging and lighting.

Serge Jaroff's Don Cossack Choir is starred in the 21 year old show and will play here during the run. Vocal group, however, has signed only for eight weeks and will be replaced by a Jaroff-trained choir following the run here. "Flame" will move into Portland next week, then play San Francisco Opera House for two weeks starting Aug. 20.

OBITUARIES

LEO COTTON

Public funeral services will be held for Leo Cotton at Grace Chapel, Inglewood Cemetery, on Tuesday, at 2 p.m. Cotton was head of The Examiner art department and a widely known landscape artist. His death occurred Saturday. He was 66.

JOHN W. JOHNSTON

Funeral services for John W. (Jack) Johnston, 70, vet film player who died last week, were conducted Saturday morning at Pierce Bros. Hollywood Chapel, followed by cremation. A native of Ireland, Johnston came to Hollywood 20 years ago for screen work after a long career on the stage and in early films in New York. His initial major New York legit role was opposite Blanche Bates in "Under Two Flags." He is survived by a cousin, W. J. Hartney of Boston.

OLIVE HARTZELL

Olive Hartzell, 45, woman circus clown, died in a hospital here Friday after being stricken with a heart attack while she was performing in Dodge's Thrill Circus. Mrs. Hartzell was born in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. She had played in Ringling Bros., Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto circuses among others. Surviving is her husband, Glen "Funnybone" Hartzell, also a clown, and a daughter, Glenna Halle, trapeze artiste.

J. HAMMOND, JR. IN KEYNOTE JOB

John Hammond, Jr., jazz authority who recently quit talent-scout spot with Columbia Records to become a member of board of directors of Keynote plattery ,over weekend linked himself with Majestic label. While keeping position with Keynote, Hammond will attempt to insurge Majestic with crop of talent calculated to make its weight felt as a purveyor of race-records, a facet NY's ex-mayor Jimmy Walker, now Majestic's prez, feels waxery has overlooked. When Hammond first moved into Keynote picture last month his presence at once clashed with that of Harry Lim, who long has been associated with outfit as its jazz idom picker and waxer.

RADIO DIRECTORS SCALE SETS $100 AS BASE PAY

Terms of first contract Radio Directors Guild is asking of networks here were made known over weekend. In one-year agreement, Guild is asking for minimums for staff and assistant directors, names a limitless hours work day in a five-day week, and asks for discharge notice, severance pay, job classification, vacations, commercial fees, air credits and permission to do non-conflicting and non-competitive outside work.

Joint negotiation with all parties is also requested, but solo dickering with each is acceptable. That's probably what Guild will get since nets are generally opposed to mass mulling. Net heads are expected to respond to initial proposals within few days.

$100 MINIMUM SOUGHT

Minimum sought is $100 weekly for those working year, after starting at $75 for first three months. Ten per cent pay hikes per annum are also asked, minimums proposed shall apply to all persons now working or later hired, and shall be effective to Aug. 1, under Guild contract. For assistant directors, salary asked is $75 weekly. After first year and for second year, Guild seeks $87.50 in latter bracket, and for years from third to seventh $100 weekly is sought.

Included are requests for closed shop, clear delineation of duties of directors and assistants, including present chores and excluding night supervisor duty; elimination of the "contact" producer in the case of CBS, and switch of that title to assistant director; continuance of present ratio of two staff men to each assistant, plus clause precluding use of directors as assistants.

NO CUTS TO MINIMUM

Guild also asks that in computation of time worked for determining rate of pay, that the time worked prior to date of contract demands shall be diminished by 50 per cent. It also requires that salaries paid now in excess of minimums asked shall not be lowered as result of agreement (figuring that at least half of those working now enjoy amounts over basic demands), and that transfers within organization shall not adversely affect seniority.

There are no limitations on hours to be worked in day, however Guild states mutual right is reserved to reopen and revise that clause and contract does not preclude opportunity to open question. Five days constitute work week, leaving two consecutive days off, and Guild will permit exceptions where warranted, according to ticket.

SEVERANCE RATES

On discharge, employes with six months or less will be given one week's notice. If working more than six months but less than two years, they will receive not less than two weeks notice. If working over two years, employes will receive month's notice. Severance pay of two weeks per year, if discharged, is also asked. Those with six months employment get 10 day vacations, and after one year they will get three weeks, plus one work day for each year's employment thereafter.

Commercial fees include: Ten per cent of package cost billed agencies, exclusive of station time, on all local house packages. On regional house

Top Band Leaders Reduce Nick As Danceries Rebel

determine line of resistance against top baton-twirlers' coin demands. Generally advocated is an agreement among all hooferies here to hire only local bands at shoe-level scale starting first of year unless the stellar bands lessen calls for cloud-high coin.

Supporting this campaign are virtually all dancery operators in the Far West. A. V. Bamford, whose string of 16 upstate halls in key towns constitutes one of largest name-band buying outfits in the nation, is here now for the meeting, with determined mien. Thus far this year, asserts Bamford, his spots have booked 120 name-band one-niters and 76 per cent of the engagements have lost money for him.

TWO COMBOS ON PCT.

Only two combos ever have gone into percentages, Stan Kenton on three dates and Woody Herman on one. Aside from these crews, only other bands to earn operator any profit on his skein of stands are Bob Wills, Bob Crosby and Alvino Rey. Losers' list is lengthy: Sammy Kaye, Les Brown, Duke Ellington, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Jimmie Lunceford, Henry King, Benny Carter, Buddy Rich, Joe Sanders, Freddie Slack, Skinnay Ennis, Al Donahue, Spade Cooley, Sonny Dunham, Leighton Noble, Harry James, Lawrence Welk, Jan Garber, Gene Krupa, Will Osborne, Jan Savitt.

The crimson coated ledgers of the largest one-nite promoter sing the song for all the other operators this side of the Rockies, too. Also for local spots, save, perhaps, Aragon and Palladium. Operators explain that though they finally have secured some cooperation from booking agencies in attempt to induce leaders to slice demands, batoneers still fail to note the war-born boom has been deflated and that ballroom business is off more than 40 per cent from its high water-mark during hostilities.

FEW MAKE CONCESSIONS

Among the few stick-swishers who have acknowledged the situation and have expressed willingness to make concessions now are James, Kenton, Tommy Dorsey, Herman, Tex Beneke, Frankie Carle and Lionel Hampton.

James, following his far-from-bright fling in the east, bounces back here within fortnight with considerably reduced demands; he goes into Balboa Beach ballroom at only $2,000 guarantee, which is far cry from $3,000 and $4,000 minimum he was given along Atlantic seaboard. Further, James, who was penciled into Pacific Square, San Diego, for 12 weekend evenings in September at $3,000 per night guarantee, now has agreed to Balboa figure, and further, has agreed to play only eight of the nights — with management having choice of which.

TOMMY DORSEY CUTS

Tommy Dorsey, who himself knows operators' headaches through his majority control of Casino Gardens here, has notified Bamford string he is well cognizant of losses incurred by his band past spring and instead of $3,000 this winter he will ask but $2,500, and if any site gets a carmine-dunking, he will lop even that figure. Herman likewise has spoken. Hampton's guarantee for forthcoming trek has dwindled from $3,000 per evening to $2,500 and even $1,500 for some of smaller spots. Beneke has slashed from $3,000 to $2,500.

Music Corp. of America has shown most zeal among agencies in cutting orks. It has reduced quotes on such lesser-draw crews as Bob Crosby, Jack Fina, Garber and Savitt to flat $825 per night and heightened the percentage to 55 per cent of gate. William Morris agency has followed suit precisely with Henry Busse, and General Artists Corp. this week will hold a top-exec huddle to see what it can evolve to aid the danceries.

Ballrooms increasingly have been griping at prima donna attitudes of many leaders and carping at conditions of (or lack of) bandsmen uniforms, hackneyed arrangements, etc. —items which were overlooked when wartime profits poured in. Another, and impatient, beef is that with return of many musikers from armed services, some of top-take bands continue to use many inferior sidemen on tour.

CASE OF JAN SAVITT

There is also the complaint that many a leader is making personally a disproportionate amount of coin. Case in point is Jan Savitt, current at Avodon, where his band is booked at $3,000 per stanza, yet spot had to agitate for two weeks before it could get him to hire a femme thrush for $100 per stanza. His 14-piece crew is in at scale, $90 per instrument, male chirp Bob D'Andrea gets $100; the arranger, $125.

With MCA booking commission of 10 per cent slashed off, that leaves Savitt with clean cut $1,175 for himself. This add-up is just one of list which will be aired at tomorrow's meeting of ops.

Whereas local terpalaces have been well off relatively during this season, business has been boll-weeveled elsewhere. Mission Beach, San Diego, which was a great winner in past years, has lost about $100,000 thus far in 1946. Carle band closed fortnight yesterday with fewer than 5,000 payees drawn during stand, and that is but normal now, apparently, at the Mission. Site has a slew of big-money names set for future and feverishly is attempting to get them to shrink salaries.

THREAT BY BALLROOMS

To implement threat of local ballrooms' turning to strictly lower-case local orks as general policy if name salaries aren't shriveled, the Bamford chain and other western spots have declared themselves in for a boycott. Bamford loop particularly has a lever in that local combos are used in his halls between engagements of names, and he asserts these hometown thrown-togethers generally have been keeping his chain chugging of late. As it is, his string of sites has been losing about $12,000 monthly.
